Peking Casts First Vote—Anti-U.S. One

Resolution Criticizes Rhodesian Chrome Buying

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)— Communist China cast its first vote in the United Nations today in support of a resolution critical of the United States and calling on it to prevent the importation of chrome from white-ruled Rhodesia.

The resolution passed overwhelmingly, 106 to 2, with the American delegation itself not participating in the vote. Only Portugal and South Africa voted against it.

The U.N. action was in response to a move in the U.S. Congress last week which included provision for the procurement of Rhodesian chrome in a procurement bill. The Congressional vote was in violation of a U.N. ban on trade with the white-minority government ruling Rhodesia.

The vote gave the Chinese their first opportunity to vote in the assembly, where Deputy Foreign Minister Chiao Kuanhua and his delegation sat for the first time Monday since the Assembly voted to admit Communist China and expel Nationalist China three weeks ago.

In his first speech Monday night, Chaio made a far-reaching attack on both the United States and Russia.

The U. S. delegation did not join in the debate on today's resolution which expressed "grave concern" at the action of the U. S. Congress which, if confirmed, would violate the U. N. embargo.

The resolution went on to call on the U. S. government to bear in mind its obligations under the U. N. charter.

The resolution went on to request the U. S. government to inform the assembly during its present session what action it will take to prevent the chrome imports and asked assembly President Adam Malik of Indonesia to draw the U. S. government's attention to it.

When China's turn came in the alphabetical order to vote, Chiao shouted, "Yes", in Chinese. He had to be reminded by assembly officials also to push the green "yes" button on his desk which registered the Chinese vote.

The U. S. delegation announced beforehand that it would not participate. Thirteen countries abstained—Belgium, Brazil, Canada, the Dominican Republic, El Salvador, France, Greece, Guatamala, Italy, Luxembourg, Malai, the Netherlands and Britain.

A Soviet proposal for a world disarmament conference is also expected to come before the Assembly later in the day.

Tiburon Council Abandons Strawberry Cove Plans

The Tiburon City Council wrote the final chapter in the saga of its unsuccessful Strawberry annexation bid last night as it voted to not condemn Strawberry Cove for a park. (Another Tiburon City Council story, page 3).

Condemnation of the cove was one inducement dangled in front of Strawberry voters by the city in an attempt to persuade them to annex to Tiburon.

Annexation opponents had charged the city acted in bad faith over the cove issue, which they said was a ploy to win votes in the Oct. 19 election.

The annexation was soundly defeated both in Strawberry and in the areas north of Tiburon Boulevard.

There was no discussion of the matter last night either by the council or the audience as the once controversial matter was shelved. Mayor Denis T. Rice was absent.

The rescinding of the ordinance was the second victory in less than two weeks for developer Paul J. Broman, whose plans to build 72 apartments on the cove have aroused heated opposition from Strawberry residents and Bay Area conservationists.

On Nov. 4 the Bay Conservation and Development Commission approved the apartment plan on a 14-to-4 vote. An earlier plan for 96 units was blocked by the commission in May.

The evaporation of the condemnation threat still leaves two roadblocks to Broman's plans for the 6.7-acre parcel, owned by Leonard B. Fleischman of Belvedere.

One is the Southern Marin building ban that resulted when the regional water quality control board outlawed sewer connections for new construction in the Richardson Bay area because of pollution.

Only a limited amount of new construction can be undertaken until the Richardson Bay district satisfies the regional board that waste discharge from the Trestle Glen treatment plant can meet state-set pollution goals.

The other roadblock is a suit filed by Strawberry Recreation District, claiming the public has a right to access across the entire parcel because of many years of unimpeded public use.

The suit still is lodged in Marin Superior Court.

Coast Bill Dies; Lobbies Blamed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A Senate committee has scuttled the 1971 legislature's biggest ecology bill, a measure to protect the California coastline from slipshod development.

Environmentalists promptly announced they will carry the issue directly to the people by attempting to place an initiative measure on the 1972 general election ballot, thus bypassing the legislature and the governor.

"The legislature doesn't understand the depth of the people's feelings on protection of the environment," said the bill's bitter author, Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Beverly Hills.

"The legislature has been playing the old game, playing with the people closest to the legislative process—the lobbyists."

He blamed lobbyists, developers and Gov. Ronald Reagan for the controversial bill's defeat.

The measure was rejected by the Senate Natural Resources and Wildlife Committee Monday on a 4-4 voice vote.

Backers said one committee member, Sen. James Q. Wedworth, D-Hawthorne, had promised he would vote for the bill. He was the committee's only absent member, being excused from the legislature on "personal business."

Sieroty said if he could obtain Wedworth's support in writing he would seek another committee hearing, but the disappointed assemblyman told a news conference he was not optimistic.

The bill would have established a powerful state commission and six regional commissions to regulate most coastline development by permits until a master plan could be drafted

Retroactive Teacher Pay In Balance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three months of back pay for the nation's 2.2 million teachers, and perhaps others as well, hung in the balance today as the Pay Board prepared to consider possible revisions of its stand against retroactive wage increases.

The board was in session today.

The board's basic position on the issue was not expected to change, but it was possible there would be changes or exceptions to the earlier ruling.

Pay Board Chairman George H. Boldt was on record as saying that the board's original ruling against paying raises that would have come had the freeze not been in effect would not be reconsidered. But he said there would be discussion of matters incidental to or connected with the issue — including back raises for school teachers, many of whom were paid at last term's wages during the freeze.

The Cost of Living Council meanwhile reversed an earlier ruling which had granted an exemption for some firms which want to raise prices. The earlier position had been that companies faced with a wage raise between Nov. 14 and Jan. 1 could raise their prices without notifying the government in advance.

But the council changed that stand Monday, saying that any of the nation's 1,300 largest firms in that position now will have to tell the Price Commission of plans to raise their prices. If the commission does not object the price rises will go into effect 72 hours later — still much faster than the 30-day period generally required.

Monday's reversal had the greatest impact on the auto industry which is scheduled to pay United Auto Workers members a 6.5 per cent contract raise within the next few weeks. Detroit had been planning to raise new car prices by about 2.5 per cent, but '72 model prices will now remain at their freeze levels until the Price Commission receives applications from the car makers and puts them through the 72-hour test.

Courthouse Site Blacktop Rejected

San Rafael's bid for county support to blacktop the old county courthouse was rejected today by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

However, supervisors voted 3 to 2 on a motion by John F. McInnis to allow the city to construct a parking lot on the site at city expense. Supervisors Arnold M. Baptiste and Peter R. Arrigoni opposed the action.

The request for county support, sponsored by the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce and the city, brought strong opposition from McInnis, whose district includes part of San Rafael.

"I'm really astonished at the proposal," he told the board. "All we have to do is put in $10,000 worth of improvements and Northgate (shopping center) will be asking for assistance.

He said all other shopping centers in the county would have the right to request and receive county assistance for parking if the proposal was approved.

"Just because the county is the landowner, he said, "That's no excuse for investing county taxpayers' money to benefit the downtown shopping area."

Supervisors Baptiste and Arrigoni expressed concern that the parking lot proposal could affect the eventual sale of the property adversly.

(The county and city have been negotiating its sale for about five years.)

Both feared that such an improvement would lead to a county owned parking lot, since the city may lose interest in purchasing the site.

Board Chairman Louis H. Baar, whose district also includes part of San Rafael, said he felt the county should do something to help alleviate Christmas time traffic congestion in the downtown area.

The board did, however, authorize the expenditure of $800 for landscaping and other minor improvements at the site.

In related action, the board turned down a staff proposal of new appraisal for the courthouse site.

It rejected on a 3-to-2 vote with Arrigoni and Baptiste against. It needed four favorable votes.

The last appraisal, done in 1969, estimated the value of the site at about $800,000.

Petaluma Facing Water Crisis; Home Construction Enters Scene

By BONNIE BARD

Home construction in Petaluma will come to a grinding halt next summer or the city will be faced with the prospects of rationing water, the city council was told last night. (Another Petaluma story, page 3.)

City Engineer David A. Young told the council that water will be available only for the population expected next summer. "We can't approve anymore subdivisions until more water becomes available," Young said.

The warning of a complete stop to residential development came four months after the council adopted a policy to cut the growth rate in half and limit construction to 500 new homes per year. That policy decision was reached in June after residents complained vigorously that the rapid development did not permit schools, recreation and city services to keep pace.

Young told the council that the city will use 5,000,000 gallons of water per day on the average next summer and that no additional water will be available from the Sonoma County Water Agency until perhaps 1974 or more likely 1975.

He said that with the defeat of the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct plan in Marin County on Nov. 2, the Sonoma Water Agency has scaled down plans and now is considering building a new pipeline from the Russian River to supply water to Southern Sonoma.

Young said he didn't know how much additional water the new pipeline would bring Petaluma, but that it probably wouldn't be completed until 1975 so that severe water shortages would be inevitable if home construction were to continue at a rapid pace.

He said a new two-million-gallon storage tank is 80 per cent complete and that the city will be able to meet the peak summer requirement of 7,000,000 gallons per day next year. "You just can't have more growth past what you'll have next summer," he said.

Young said he would meet with staff members of the water agency to discuss the pipeline plan and a timetable and would report back to the council next month.

The council approved a resolution urging the water agency to go ahead with its plan to build the new pipeline from the river to Cotati to connect with the present north-south line to provide more water to Petaluma.

"This water problem is going to be a very limiting factor on our growth," City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said today. He said temporary measures can be taken to assure that Petalumans don't have to ration water next summer, but said he didn't know what the status of water supply would be after that.

"If the county doesn't move ahead with its pipeline plan, we'll really be in trouble — even with our present population," Meyer said.

Yorty Tosses In Hat; New Hampshire Goal

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mayor Sam Yorty, a maverick Democrat, announced today he will seek the presidential nomination in New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation primary March 7.

Yorty, who made this third political pilgrimage to the state earlier this month, is the second Democrat to announce his bid for the democratic nomination in 1972, following Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D.

"Encouraged by the advice of many friends and supporters I have decided to become a candidate for President," Yorty said in a statement prepared for a Los Angeles news conference.

"Our campaign is already well under way in New Hampshire," Yorty said.

The Los Angeles mayor said, however, he has no intention of entering all the primaries, and at this point the California primary will "climax our campaign."

"The first step is New Hampshire. After that we shall see," Yorty said.

"Other states may be added as the campaign progresses," Yorty said. "We will be selective. We have no intention of trying to raise the huge sums of money necessary to enter all of the primaries."

Yorty said he has no illusions about the difficulties in winning the support of the voters in New Hampshire, which is considered to be strongly behind Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine."

"My position on the issues will be that of a moderate Democrat," Yorty said, "a position I hope will appeal not only to a majority of Democrats but also many Republicans who are disillusioned with the current resort to sheer political expediency by the Nixon administration in its efforts to win the election at all costs or by any means in 1972," he said.

"Prior Nixon promises, positions or commitments seem to me nothing as 1972 approaches," Yorty said. "I am sorry to see this. I do not like to see any president fail because when a president fails, the nation suffers."

Yorty has made a strong bid for conservative voters in New Hampshire and has won the endorsement of the Manchester Union Leader, the state's largest newspaper and the only morning newspaper.

Giacomini To Contest For Seat Held By Baar

He opened his campaign with an attack on Baar for failing to sense "the tide of public sentiment against the overdevelopment of the county."

In a statement announcing his candidacy, Giacomini scored Baar for failing to realize "that unplanned population increase means more air pollution, more water pollution, more traffic congestion, greater demand for tax-supported services such as schools, roads, police and fire protection.

"His lack of awareness was clearly evidenced by his support of the costly Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct measure, Measure B, which the voters of his district turned down almost ten to one — 4,900 to 583."

GARY T. GIACOMINI

Giacomini, who was a sponsor of the campaign against the measure, promised that if elected he would "determine the

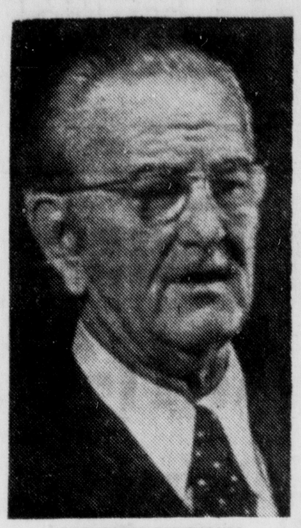
'New Isolationist Coalition' Dangers Cited By Johnson

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former President Lyndon B. Johnson said Monday that a new coalition of conservative and liberal isolationists seeks to diminish America's world leadership role.

"Others will try to go it alone," Johnson told an audience of about 350 business leaders during a speech at New York University's School of Business Administration. "But we cannot, for responsibility is the price of leadership.

"And if we, the representatives of business and labor and government and academia — we, the strongest and wealthiest nation on earth ... if we do not lead, then our system as we know it just cannot survive."

The former Democratic president said he was disturbed by what he said appeared to be the formation of "a new coalition of isolationists which could be mistaken for the majority opinion.



LYNDON JOHNSON
University speech

"It is made up of conservatives and liberals who seek to diminish America's role in the world —for entirely different reasons," he said.

Some of those isolationists, Johnson said, "are angry because what we have done for the world hasn't made other nations automatically do what we say. Some just don't like foreigners. Some think we should spend everything on ourselves instead of trying to help avoid chaos elsewhere. Others just don't like spending money—period. Others just don't want to get involved."

Such viewpoints are "dangerously shortsighted," Johnson said, and could cause irreparable damage to the world order.

"We have to recognize that there is no safety in a sudden turning away from Europe or Asia, from the Middle East or Latin America," said Johnson. "If we fall into isolationism, we will find that we are the ones who are isolated. We cannot afford to repeat the tragic mistakes of the past."

U.S. Jet Strikes In North

SAIGON (UPI)—An American F4 Phantom jet fighterbomber crossed into North Vietnam today to attack a Communist antiaircraft battery which had fired at the U.S. plane as it was carrying out a raid on a truck convoy on the Ho Chi Minh Trail in nearby Laos.

As the U.S. command reported the new attack inside North Vietnam, it also said three American GIs were killed and four injured Monday in accidents. Two U.S. troops were killed in stepping on a mine near Hue and the third death and four injuries were in a road accident 40 miles east of Saigon.

The U.S. command said the latest air strike north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) involved an F4 Phantom that was bombing traffic on the Ho Chi Minh Trial on the Laotian side of Mu Gia Pass, one of the principal Communist infilitration routes into South Vietnam and Laos.

The Phantom damaged one of the Communist guns, military spokesmen said. It was the sixth strike into North Vietnam in nine days. Strikes into the north have become increasingly frequent in past week in the U.S. Air Force's effort to halt a record flow of Communist supplies down the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

In Saigon, the U.S. military command said it was closing out the 150-man headquarters of the 12th Tactical Fighter Wing at Phu Cat Airbase on South Vietnam's Central Coast 270 miles northeast of the capital and turning the $36 million over to the South Vietnamese in early December. About 60 Americans will stay on as advisers.

House-Senate Panel To Iron Out Cancer Attack

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House-Senate conference committee today has the task of resolving a controversy over how to mount a national attack on cancer.

The House by a lopsided 350 to 5 vote Monday approved a $1.6 billion bill which would streamline National Cancer Institute operations. However, the Senate earlier voted to replace the institute with a new cancer agency.

Rep. Paul G. Rogers (D—Fla.), chief sponsor of the House bill, said he hoped a House-Senate conference committee could meet soon to resolve differences in the bills.

Although the Senate measure passed by an overwhelming 79 to 1, Rogers said the House version has many provisions to speed up cancer research that he expects Senate negotiators will adopt.

"I wouldn't think there will be a serious impasse at all," Rogers told reporters. "It would be very easy to resolve these few basic issues." The key question is whether cancer research should remain in NCI as part of the National Institutes of Health as in the House bill, or directed by a new agency, largely independent of NIH, as provided by the Senate measure.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis.) praised the house bill for its "thrust toward conquering cancer. The Senate approach, in my opinion, would begin the dismantling of NIH and handicap the cause of fighting cancer."

Nelson cast the lone dissenting vote when the Senate approved creation of the new agency which would be independent of NIH for its budget and whose director would report to the President.

Rehnquist Denies Affidavits Of Black Voter Harassment

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sworn affidavits that William H. Rehnquist harassed black voters in the 1964 election sparked new demands today that the Senate Judiciary Committee further investigate his fitness to serve on the Supreme Court.

Rehnquist had denied any such harassment in direct testimony to the committee last week. He said he never served as a challenger —only as an arbiter —in settling Election Day disputes. And the Justice Department Monday said the renewed charges were false.

The charges that Rehnquist interfered with voting in two predominantly black precincts of Phoenix, Ariz., in 1964 were made by Clarence Mitchell, Washington representative of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mitchell told the committee last week he had no documentary proof, because witnesses were reluctant to risk economic retaliation if they came forward.

But Monday he turned over to Sen. Birch D. Bayh, D-Ind., affidavits from Jordan Harris, a deputized Democratic party challenger, and Bob Tate, a precinct committeeman, both Negroes, that they saw Rehnquist harass voters at Bethune school precinct.

After the affidavits were released, the Justice Department issued a statement which had been prepared in consultation with Rehnquist and other department officials. It said:

"The original statement of the southwest branch of the NAACP —which proved to be totally incorrect —was that the incident took place in 1968. That statement has now been altered to make it appear that a disturbance which in fact occurred in 1962 occurred instead in 1964."

It said the FBI investigated the incident and found "Mr. Rehnquist was nowhere named ... as either a participant or a witness." It also said Tate was one of those interviewed by the FBI.

President Of Rand Resigns

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI)—The president of the Rand Corporation "think tank" resigned Monday in a reorganization of the institution. A spokesman denied the changes were the result of the Pentagon papers leak.

Henry S. Rowen, 46, president of the corporation since Jan. 1, 1967, submitted his resignation, effective within the next 18 months after a successor has been found.

McNAMARA AIDE

Rowen, formerly a research associate at Harvard University, was deputy assistant secretary of defense for planning and national security affairs from 1961 to 1965 under Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, and assistant director of the Bureau of the Budget under former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Daniel Ellsberg, who admitted leaking the Pentagon papers to the news media, was formerly a researcher at Rand. The Justice Department accused Ellsberg, who faces trial on two counts of violating federal security laws, of misappropriating the secret report on the origins of the Vietnam War from the Rand Corporation's files.

The only person to be jailed in the Pentagon papers leak was Anthony Russo, a friend of Ellsberg's and also a former researcher at Rand. He was jailed for contempt of court because he refused to tell a federal grand jury what he knew about Ellsberg's activities.

DENIES LINK

The resignation of Rowen and the internal reorganization of Rand has "absolutely nothing" to do with the Pentagon papers controversy, a Rand spokesman said.

Rowen said he was resigning because he felt he had accomplished what he set out to do at Rand—"straighten its national security research and apply its analytical skills to the urgent social needs of the country."

In the administrative reorganization, three divisions were established, each headed by a vice president. One will concentrate on programs for the Air Force, another on all other Pentagon work and the third on domestic, non-military, problems.

Welding equipment worth $350 was stolen from the corporation yard of the Marin Municipal Water District between Saturday and yesterday according to Corte Madera police.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

No Sonic Booms?

PARIS (UPI) — The Franco-British supersonic (SST) jetliner Concorde recently made several flights over French territory at twice the speed of sound and nobody apparently noticed, Transport Minister Jean Chamant told the National Assembly.

He said no one seems to have heard the sonic boom when the needle-nosed jetliner, accused of being too noisy, flew over France at 52,000 feet.

Chamant said the price of a passenger ticket aboard Concorde will be only slightly higher than first class tickets aboard subsonci jets.

Sixth SALT Round

VIENNA (UPI) — U.S. and Soviet negotiators began the sixth round of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) today and all indications were they were going splendidly.

The first session lasted two hours and 15 minutes, unusually long for the initial meeting of a new round of SALT.

Conference sources said the session indicated the Soviets, like the Americans, returned to Vienna ready to do business.

"It was quite satisfactory," one source said. "They picked up where they left off in Helsinki the last SALT round. And they left off in Helsinki quite well."

New Storm Brews

MIAMI (UPI) — Tropical storm Laura blew across extreme western Cuba today and the government of Premier Fidel Castro mobilized defense and farm brigades to protect families, cattle and tobacco crops from the storm's 60-mile-an-hour winds.

The rare November storm was expected to turn toward the northeast during the day and pass near Dry Tortugas in the Gulf of Mexico last tonight or early Wednesday.

The National Hurricane Center in Miami issued gale warnings from Dry Tortugas to Key West, Fla.

Soviet Masterspy Abel Is Dead

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet masterspy Rudolf Abel, exchanged in 1962 for U2 spy pilot Francis Gary Powers, died yesterday of lung cancer, unofficial Soviet sources said today. He was 68.

Abel

Abel, a colonel in the KGB secret police, had been ill for six months, the sources said. He died in Moscow and will be buried Thursday.

Abel was arrested in Brooklyn, N.Y., in 1957 on charges of spying for the Soviet Union and was sentenced to 30 years in prison.

In February 1962, Abel was swapped for Powers, the pilot of an American U2 spy plane shot down over the Soviet Union in 1960.

The U2 incident scuttled the Big Four summit conference in Paris in 1960.

Abel's name last appeared in the Soviet press in 1969. The bulletin of the Soviet Law Institute said he had been awarded the Order of the Red Banner for "bravery and fortitude" and was teaching in the Soviet intelligence services.

Meany Alarmed

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany said America is in trouble economically and faces an uncertain future in foreign affairs because of President Nixon's policies.

"The economy is in a state of uncertainty," Meany said Monday in the union executive council's report to the labor federation convention opening here Thursday.

"Intolerable high unemployment prevails," Meany said. "The cost-of-living has not declined. Poverty has increased. The states and major cities are on the brink of bankruptcy.

"The nation is in trouble.

Behind Schedule

IQUIQUE, Chile (UPI) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, detained friendly villagers to speak en route, arrived seven hours late in this northern Chile port yesterday and canceled all activities to get a good night's sleep.

He apologized in an impromptu address from the city hall balcony and said he would be unable to challenge the world spear-fishing champion, a local boy, because of a nagging cold.

Castro said the champion, Raul Choque, will be invited to Cuba to practice his sport.

Castro drove overland the 200-miles from the copper camp of Chuquicamata instead of flying as scheduled. At the salt mining camp of Victoria he was detained by villagers for several hours.

Extremists Escape

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Nine suspected Irish Republican Army (IRA) extremists escaped from Belfast's Crumlin Road prison in a daylight jailbreak today, the British Army said.

Policie sources said the inmates were awaiting trial on charges connected with using arms and explosives.

The prison initially housed several hundred suspected Irish Republican extremists picked up by security forces when the government introduced internment without trial on Aug. 9. Most internees were later transferred to Long Kesh, an army camp south of Belfast.

Will Not Abdicate

TOKYO (UPI) — Emperor Hirohito, at an unprecedented meeting with foreign newsmen, today ruled out the possibility of abdication in favor of his eldest son.

"I think that the Japanese constitution and the imperial household law prevent the occurrence of such a thing," the 70-year-old monarch said. "I don't think such a thing can be done."

Israel Says Surveyors Fired Upon

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Israeli military sources in Tel Aviv said today an Egyptian sniper had fired scattered shots at an Israeli surveying team along the Suez Canal but that Israel was treating the incident as an isolated case.

The military correspondent of the Israeli newspaper Yedioth Aharonoth said the shootings during the past 48 hours had increased tension in the southern sector of the canal.

The incident, though apparently minor, did underscore the tenseness of the Middle East situation. It followed predictions by Libyan Premier Moammar el-Khadfy that a new Middle East war might break out within two months.

Israel and Egypt meanwhile took sharply different attitudes to Secretary of State William P. Rogers' attitude toward the Middle East.

Military sources in Jerusalem said he was "deliberately ignoring the facts" when he said Israel still has the military balance of power in the Middle East.

In Cairo, the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram said recent statements by Rogers show "that the American government has surrendered to Israeli pressure and ceased to mediate the Middle East problem."

FBI Quietly Replacing Its Top People

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation, working quietly under the hand of Director J. Edgar Hoover, has replaced almost half its top staff in the past few months.

Among those ousted during the overhaul was William C. Sullivan, 56, who was considered at least for a brief period by most observers as Hoover's handpicked successor. The bureau's No. 3 man, Sullivan accepted retirement after a long and apparently bitter fight.

Sullivan was pushing for changes in the FBI opposed by Hoover, observers said.

The promotions, demotions and retirements that occurred during the shakeup were not announced. They were noted only in the FBI Recreation Association Magazine, The Investigator. FBI officials have declined comment on the changes.

In late September, Sullivan was reported by the Washington Post to have been locked out of his office. The FBI on Oct. 2 simply announced that Sullivan had retired. Sullivan, who was assistant to the director in charge of investigative operations, declined comment.

The Investigator, in its latest edition, reports the appointment of Alex Rosen, 66, to succeeed Sullivan. The magazine carried a small picture of Sullivan in a group of 20 employes who had retired.

Till Runs Dry For Federal Operations

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Part of the federal government began operating illegally at 12:01 a.m. EST today, at least according to the White House; but no one in Congress appeared to be very worried.

Under the Constitution, the federal government cannot spend money unless it is appropriated by Congress. And at midnight that authority ran out for portions of the Defense Department, the foreign aid program, the war on poverty and the District of Columbia government.

It is a technicality that happens every two or three years that has only a minimal effect on government operations. No one is expecting the Pentagon to shut down.

But President Nixon called congressional leaders to his office Monday to express concern about the situation.

He got from them a promise to pass a resolution as soon as possible —probably toward the end of this week —to continue appropriations for the agencies at the level they have been spending for the past year.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said "We are relatively satisfied that a solution will be reached." But he added:

"The fact of the matter is that as of midnight ... it is not legal to continue to operate AID, OEO, the District of Columbia government and certain aspects of the defense budget."

The foreign aid question is at the bottom of the impasse. The House and Senate have been unable to agree on a new foreign aid bill to replace the one originally killed by the Senate.

Some Senate members don't want a continuing resolution passed because they fear it would circumvent their effort to force House and White House acceptance of the Senate appropriation legislation which calls for a six-month Vietnam withdrawal timetable.

TOPSY-TURVY AFTERMATH

Arty-Lou Richardson of 1645 Weaverly Drive, Petaluma, (and a weaverly drive it was) checks her upside-down automobile. Mrs. Richardson escaped unscathed yesterday according to the California Highway Patrol, when she braked for abruptly slowing traffic ahead on southbound Highway 101, skidded into an embankment and overturned. The narrow escape took place at 11:30 a.m. just north of Novato. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

Planners Reject Campsite

The Marin County Planning Commission reluctantly rejected a proposed campground for camper trucks yesterday amid complaint from Black Point residents that it would detract from their area.

Proposed by Raymond A. Young III, the campground was proposed for a 16-acre parcel at 375 Sunset Trail near the intersection of Highways 101 and 37.

William J. Bell, a nearby resident, said its location adjacent to single-family homes was wrong.

Bell, who said he had spoken with most residents in the area, said that all reacted unfavorably to the proposal.

Commissioner William B. Lynch, who moved rejection, said he agreed that the plan was sound but the location wrong.

Other commissioners voiced similar opinions.

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

PRESERVES — Continued to Jan. 10 proposed new zoning for all properties within the agricultural preserve category. The zoning would increase the minimum lot size in northwest Marin from two acres to as much as 20 to 60 acres.

APARTMENTS — Continued to Dec. 6 a master plan review for a proposed 135-unit apartment house development on 7.4 acres on Tennessee Valley Road near the intersection of Shoreline Highway near Mill Valley.

TOWNHOUSE — Continued to Dec. 20 rezoning and master plan review for a 101-unit townhouse development proposed for North San Pedro Road near Lowell Avenue in Santa Venetia.

PROPERTY SPLIT — Denied an application from Dr. Roy E. Eldred of Bolinas to split his lot on Pine Gulch Road into three parcels. He had earlier received approval to split the lot in half.

LEGISLATION — Endorsed and passed on to the board of supervisors proposed state legislation which the county should support next year. The legislation deals with revision of the state subdivision map act, housing program and general planning proposals.

REZONING — Denied a rezoning petition from R. Edward Olson for property located on Woodside Avenue between Pinehill Road and Springside Way near Mill Valley. Olson has asked it be rezoned from single family to multiple residential zoning.

PROPERTY SPLIT — Denied a proposal from Herman Weaver to split in half his property located on Mountain Land near Redwood Avenue in Mill Valley.

Area North Of Fairfax Rezoned

Partial rezoning of the unincorporated area north of Fairfax was approved yesterday by the Marin County Planning Commission.

Continued to next month, however, was rezoning of the remaining land — the 180-acre William H. Poeschel property on both sides of Oak Manor Road.

Under the proposal submitted months ago by the county planning department, future residential development would be cut to about one-eigth the density allowed under present zoning.

The rezoning approved yesterday, if accepted by the county board of supervisors, will change the Circle V Ranch on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from limited agricultural (one unit per two acres) to resort-commercial zoning.

Also the White's Hill area north of the Circle V Ranch from limited agricultural to planned residential zoning at one unit per four acres and the hilly area north of Glen Drive from planned residential to limited agricultural (one unit per two acres.)

Yesterday's rezoning had been previously approved by the commission but was returned to it by the board of supervisors because of a legal technicality.

Poeschel, through his attorney Joseph E. Sheeks of San Rafael, argued that his property should be excluded from rezoning since development is already planned.

Sheeks said it was unfair to rezone the property since it was rezoned several years ago from a higher density to its present density.

Sheeks said the planning department's figures are contrary to the county's housing policy calling for more low and moderate-income family housing.

He reasoned that by reducing the density, "you are forcing it to go to expensive housing."

Under current zoning, the 80-acre parcel west of Oak Manor Drive could be developed for 160 homes, but for only 40 under proposed new zoning. The 100-acre parcel east of the road can be developed for 50 now, but for only 25 under new zoning.

Any development of the area was opposed by C. F. Stobbe, president of the Oak Manor Homeowners Association.

He complained that development would aggrevate already bad winter-time flooding conditions as well as add to traffic congestion.

"Under the conditions, I can't see that one unit should be built," he told the commission.

On a unanimous vote of the commission, the Poeschel property rezoning was continued to Dec. 20 to allow the planning department to study population densities as they relate to the proposed county-wide general plan.

Grading Damage Attacked

The Marin County Planning Commission called yesterday for an interim emergency ordinance to halt damaging road grading by subdividers.

The recommendation, which was to be considered today by the county board of supervisors, was approved unanimously by the commission.

Included in the recommendation are proposals that the sheriff's office enforce the ordinance which could require developers to post a permit at the excavation site and greatly reduce grading limits now in effect.

In the meantime, the commission said, work should begin on a complete overhaul of the existing ordinance which does not consider the environmental impact of "pioneering" — a new word for cutting roads.

The future ordinance would require developers to submit complete and detailed plans before beginning road grading and those plans would be subject to review by a proposed Environmental Impact Committee made up of county officials.

County officials have expressed shock during the last several months at the extent of unauthorized road grading — particularly in West Marin.

It has prompted county supervisors to call for a report on loopholes in the current grading ordinance.

Grading permits are now issued by the department of public works which can not deny them based on environmental concerns.

Gulf Is Called Ecological Mess

ENSENADA, Mexico (UPI) — The Gulf of California is being turned into an ecological disaster because of dumpings by American and Mexican farmers, according to Katsuo Nishikawa, director of the Institute of Oceanology at Ensanada.

He and five other scientists have been surveying ecological damage in the gulf, which is between the east coast of Baja California and the western shoreline of the Mexican mainland.

"Although our preliminary results will not be available for some time," he said, "our early findings have been frightening."

Marinite's Drug Case Dismissed

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Narcotics and weapons charges against Nancy E. Waldroth, 27, of San Anselmo, have been dismissed in San Francisco Municipal Court at the request of the district attorney's office.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Charles Wood said he asked to have the case dismissed after deciding there was not enough evidence against Mrs. Waldroth to proceed to trial.

Mrs. Waldroth was arrested Sept. 11 along with a San Francisco man after they were stopped for going through a red light.

Police said they found pills and a white substance in boots worn by both as well as a hypodermic needle. While taking the couple to the police station, officers said they heard an ominous click from the back seat where the two were sitting.

They said they found a small derringer pistol tucked into the seat.

Mrs. Waldroth had been charged with felony possession of narcotics and misdemeanor counts of having a loaded gun in a car and possessing drug paraphernalia.

Estate Of Pet Fancier Sued

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The estate of a wealthy pet fancier was sued Monday for more than $25,000 by a neighbor who says she was never paid in 12 years for tending the man's three cats.

Mrs. Nicky Thompson, 60, filed suit in Superior Court alleging that Richard A. Krehfeld promised to compensate her for offering a home to three of his 10 pets.

The woman, who sued for $25,960, said she was promised at least $1 a day for pet care. Krehfeld, 66, died last February and left a $135,000 estate with no provision for payment.

New OEO Health Affairs Officer

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Dr. E. Leon Cooper, 36, will head the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) health affairs program, antipoverty director Philip V. Sanchez announced today.

Cooper has been director of the OEO's Comprehensive Health Services program and director of the Atlanta, Ga., Southside Comprehensive Health Center. As director of the Office of Health Affairs, he will succeed Dr. Carl Smith, who has held the post on an acting basis since the resignation earlier this year of Dr. Carl Bryant.

Bedroom Tax Wins Round In Tiburon

A property development tax ordinance (more commonly called a "bedroom tax"), which has proved controversial in other cities, breezed through its first reading last night by the Tiburon City Council. (Another Tiburon City Council story, page 1.)

No opposition was voiced to the measure, though a similar one was bitterly fought in Novato City Council sessions and one subsequently enacted in San Rafael drew embittered comment from developers.

The Tiburon proposal, according to its initiator, Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood, is based on the belief that new residents entering the community bring with them a need for services not compensated for by initial property taxes.

The measure levies a $125 fee for single-family residences constructed in the city, $100 per unit for multiple residential unit developments and 1.5 cents per square foot for commercial construction.

Councilman Ellinwood repeated her contention that the proposed fees for residential units is too high. Councilman Albert H. Sennett disagreed arguing that the average house in Tiburon cost about $50,000 and "we're talking about adding $125 which must be the most insignificant cost."

Councilman Branwell Fanning said he was not as concerned about the effect of the tax on persons moving into Tiburon as he was for present residents, whom it might help. "I'm concerned with less affluent who are already here and hanging on (financially) by the skin of their teeth."

The proposed ordinance was first submitted in August 1970 but was tabled until last October to await results of a law suit by the Associated Home Builders of the Greater East Bay against the city of Neward which adopted a similar tax. The courts later ruled that the tax was authorized by state law and did not discriminate in taxing residential construction as at a high rate than commercial construction.

The Tiburon City Council also:

APARTMENTS — Heard the first reading on an ordinance to approve the master plan for a proposed 36-unit apartment complex on Marinero Street.

RENTAL SPACE — Continued to its next meeting plans for renting additional city hall space to allow the city manager to check alternatives to the rental.

EXTENSION — Passed an interim ordinance extension to allow the planning commission additional time to devise criteria for design review procedures.

HOUSING — Heard, from Marin County Housing Authority Director Wallace K. Shepherd, a request that the city appoint two residents to be liasions between Tiburon and the authority.

MEETING — Adjourned to its regular meeting Monday.

Kimmel Is Given Five Days In Jail

Former Novato High School teacher James David Kimmel, 36, who was arrested three years ago on marijuana charges which were later dismissed, drew a five-day jail sentence yesterday for resisting arrest.

Kimmel was arrested at Novato High School in November 1968 on charges of getting students to acquire marijuana for him.

A Marin Superior Court Jury convicted him last year of resisting arrest but deadlocked on the pot charges. Last month Judge E. Warren McGuire dismissed the pot charges on the recommendation of Deputy Dist. Atty. Jerry R. Herman. Herman said the dismissal was asked because Kimmel has been convicted of other pot charges in Sonoma County.

Judge McGuire yesterday imposed the five days in jail for Kimmel to run concurrently with any jail time he may get from the Sonoma County conviction. The judge stayed execution of the jail term until Nov. 29 to give Kimmel time to appear for sentencing in Sonoma County.

Bonds Out For Petaluma Sewer Plant

The Petaluma City Council decided last night to finance the required sewer plant addition by shifting money in city funds, raising the tax rate and using connection fees rather than selling bonds. (Another Petaluma City Council story, page 1.)

The council unanimously accepted the proposal made last week by City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer to finance the city's share of the $3.7 million project by intra-departmental borrowing and through projected income from the $600 sewer connection fees.

Meyer said, however, that the plan would require an increase in the property tax rate of 14 cents per $100 assessed valuation. He said that connection fees had been used to repay sewer bonds approved in 1966, but with the connection fees now earmarked to pay for new construction, the tax rate must be increased to repay the old bonds. Homeowners had been paying 8 cents per $100 assessed valuation on the bonds.

The council agreed that the system of using connection fees and short term borrowing would be cheaper than selling revenue or general obligation bonds.

Finance Director Cecil G. Gealta said he believed the $500,000 available in the water fund would be enough to finance the project. The fund would be repaid later after federal money is reimbursed to the city.

Gealta said the city already has $606,416 in its funds for the sewer plant project and that he estimated $166,307 may be needed to be borrowed from the water fund.

The Petaluma City Council also:

SEWERS — Heard that 59 properties found last year to have leaky sewer lines had not been repaired and directed City Atty. Edouard E. Robert to send letters to property owners warning that legal action can be taken for violation of the city ordinance.

RECREATION — Heard that the council committee studying the city recreation program and operational costs of the swim center will meet Thursday at 4 p.m. at city hall.

DEMOLITION — Set a hearing for Dec. 6 on costs of demolishing a building at 96 Hopper Street that was condemned as unsafe.

Overall Crime Rate Declines

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The city's overall crime rate has dropped except rape and robbery cases, Police Chief Donald M. Scott said Monday.

Scott said 67 rape cases were reported in October in comparison with 57 a year ago. Robbery cases, he said, jumped from 570 to 582.

The chief said there were five homicides last month in comparison with 11 in October 1970.

He also reported: aggravated assault, down from 263 to 257; burglary, down from 1,616 to 1,515; auto theft, down from 1,289 to 1,187; larceny, down from 1,409 to 1,187.

Third Quarter Balance Of Payments Is Worst Ever

WASHINGTON (UPI)—During the third quarter of 1971 the United States suffered its worst balance of payments deficits in history.

The Commerce Department issued the trade figures Monday, confirming President Nixon's apprehensions about the dollar when he changed his economic strategy in mid-August.

The report said the "official reserve transactions" balance between July and September recorded a record deficit of $12.1 billion. The balance measures the change in dollar holdings of foreign banks.

During the quarter, the "net liquidity" balance, which measures all private and official transactions with foreigners, ran an estimated $9.3 billion in the red. The figures were adjusted for seasonal variations.

Officials said the figures showed the impact of a strong run on the dollar by foreign speculators in mid-summer.

Since that time, administration officials have confirmed the rapid deterioration was the reason President Nixon put his economic controls into effect Aug. 15 instead of waiting until later this year.

Nixon suspended convertability of dollars into gold. This move shattered the post World War II international monetary system. Nixon also ordered a 10 per cent surcharge on imports in an effort to stem the drain of dollars.

The official reserve transactions balance was $2.3 billion greater in the third quarter than the $9.8 billion deficit for all of 1970. The second quarter figure was $5.7 billion, while the first quarter total was $5.5 billion.

The net liquidity balance worsened by $5.7 billion in the second quarter and $2.5 billion in the first quarter.

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford predicted following a meeting between President Nixon and Republican congressional leaders at the White House today that Nixon's new economic policies, if fully implemented, would help solve the balance of payments problems.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said Treasury Secretary John B. Connally told the lawmakers the United States would continue to demand more favorable treatment in its foreign trade dealings in an effort to close the balance of payments gap.

Senate Votes Cut To Parents Of Collegians

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate has voted to give tax relief to the parents of college students —a politically hard-to-resist tax cut which has cleared the Senate in the past only to die at the last step before enactment.

Ironically it adopted that form of tax relief for the middle-class by a 56 to 27 vote Monday only a few minutes after —by a 58 to 26 vote — rejecting proposed tax relief for people who live at or below the poverty line.

The rejected proposal would have reimbursed poor people with a check from the treasury for what they pay in sales taxes on food and for that portion of their rent which represents property tax on their homes.

Both plans were offered by Sen. Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina, who is believed to have Democratic vice presidential ambitions for 1972.

The reimbursement plan would have cost the government $1.7 billion in lost tax revenue. The plan to reimburse parents for part of their tuition expenses would cost the government $2.2 billion in revenue.

It would permit parents whose income is up to $25,000 a year to subtract from taxes owed the government $325 for each dependent child they send to college or trade school.

Opponents, led by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said the plan represented a subsidy from taxpayers too poor to send their children to college for those wealthy enough to do so. Others argued colleges would only raise their tuitions, leaving parents no better off than before.

When passed by the Senate twice in the past the plan was killed by the House-Senate conference committee which must reconcile differences between House and Senate versions of tax bills.

The previously passed house bill contained no such provision. Under House rules, tax bills reach the floor for an up-or-down vote, with no charge for the members to offer amendments. The proposal thus has never been in a House bill.

The Senate amendment was tacked onto the bill cutting taxes by $15.5 billion over the next three years which President Nixon proposed to stimulate the economy, increase business investment and encourage firms to export more.

Democrats charged the bill is biased toward businesses and against individuals, but they lost, 40 to 39, in a major effort to eliminate a provision that would give a multibillion dollar tax saving to businesses.

Under unsuccessful attack were more liberal rules for depreciating business assets and machinery —rules which Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., called "a windfall on top of a windfall."

Also approved —but vulnerable to the conference committee's close scrutiny —was a new income tax deduction for middle class couples who must hire a babysitter or maid so both spouses can take jobs outside the home.

It would permit a tax deduction of up to $4,800 a year for couples with a joint income of $18,000 or less. The tax advantage would diminish as the couple's income rises and would disappear for couples jointly earning $27,600 or more. Any home with a child under age 15 would qualify.

Long, whose Senate Finance Committee oversees the nation's welfare program, promoted the deduction on the grounds it would create household jobs for women on welfare — and thus cut the welfare rolls.

So it had attracted both as a device to cut welfare costs and to help middle class families. It passed 59 to 24 over administration objections that it would chiefly help women who wanted jobs for luxuries such as new clothing or a new car.

Tam High Trustees Leave Busing Alone

The Tamalpais High School District board last night decided to continue current busing practices through this school year, but said changes may be made for the 1972 school year.

Supt. Wilber D. Hawkins said the board, after reviewing a report on current busing practices, left them as they are, but said it may set up a transportation committee during budget sessions to review busing.

The district now requires most students to pay half their bus fares, but pays the whole cost for poorer students.

Early in 1970, West Marin students boycotted buses to protest charges on previously free busing from that area. The busing issue had been raised again at the board's Nov. 1 meeting.

The Tamalpais High School District board also:

CONTINUATION — Agreed to look for a new location for the continuation school for the next school year after owners of the land refused to reduce the monthly rent from $700 to $600.

MEETINGS — Decided to meet with elementary school boards within the district's attendance area to discuss goals, but set no dates.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Carol Edmiston, a teacher at Tamalpais High School now on maternity leave.

CUSTODIANS — Hired Robert Pedroli and Gary Douglas, effective Oct. 1 and Oct. 26 respectively, as custodians, then fired Pedroli for unsatisfactory work. Douglas's salary was set at $643 a month.

GRIEVANCE — Accepted a student grievance policy allowing each school to set up its own procedure.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to Dec. 14, canceling the regular meeting of Dec. 7.

Leg Broken As Auto Hits Tree

The driver of the car in the Friday night accident, Douglas Eliott, also 16, of Skyland Way, was treated at the hospital for a cut scalp and lip.

Ross police said the accident occurred at about 11 p.m. on a rainslick road.

Sanitary Board Rejects County Idea

The Ross Valley Sanitary District board last night dismissed as presumptuous a proposal by the county administrator for consolidation of all sewage facilities in Marin.

Ralph C. Noah, district manager, said the board rejected the idea of John F. Barrows until studies by the Regional Water Quality Control Board provide more information.

Court Will Study Army Monitoring

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court agreed today to consider whether a group of 13 persons and organizations whose public activities were the object of monitoring by Army intelligence may contest in the courts the constitutionality of such a domestic surveillance system.

The Court will schedule arguments this term and hand down a written opinion. The government appealed after the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia on April 27, 1971 ordered a lower court to hold hearings on the issue.

Arlo Tatum, executive director of the Quaker-sponsored Central Committee for Conscientous Objectors, and 12 other persons and groups filed suit Feb. 17, 1970, claiming the existence of the Army's domestic intelligence system had a "chilling effect" on the First Amendment guarantee of free speech.

The suit, which also sought a court order to destroy all Army records gathered on domestic groups, was dismissed by Federal Judge George A. Hart of the District of Columbia. He refused even to take testimony, saying the Army was only gathering information that is available to news media in the country.

Tatum filed suit —backed by the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) —after learning that a computer card prepared for his Army file at Fort Holabird, Md., contained only the information that he once made a speech about legal rights at the University of Oklahoma.

A similar case filed in Chicago was also dismissed.

The District of Columbia Appeals Court reversed Judge Hart on a 2-1 vote and ordered hearings to determine if the Army's intelligence gathering "does not go beyond that which would be justified by the Army's mission."

Specifically, that court ordered a hearing to determine:

—The exact nature of the surveillance system and the recipients of its information.

What part, if any, of the system was necessary to the Army's statutory mission.

—Whether the system had or might have had an inhibiting effect on domestic groups.

—What relief might be called for.

The appeals court called for the hearings despite the fact that on March 6, 1970, the secretary of the Army issued a directive limiting such intelligence activities.

It said if the secretary could make such a judgment based on facts within his departmental knowledge, "the United States District Court can hear evidence, ascertain the facts, and decide what, if any, further restrictions on the complained of activities are called for to confine the military to their legitimate sphere of activity."

Attorney's Body Found In His Car

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — The body of attorney Daniel Prince, 49, who had most recently been living with his daughter in Sausalito, was found last night in his parked car in Tilden Park.

The Alameda County coroner's office said a ranger found Prince at about 8:30 p.m. in a routine check of a picnic area. Efforts by the ranger to revive him with mouth-to-mouth resuscitation failed, the coroner said. Prince was dead on arrival at Herrick Memorial Hospital.

Found in the car were notes telling of his despondency, a brief case full of legal work and a near-empty bottle of barbiturates.

The daughter, Pamela Prince of 2-A West Court, told the coroner her divorced father had left Sausalito about a week ago, saying he would call her when he found a new place to live. She said he was despondent when he left.

Funeral arrangements were pending.

U.N.

Communist China submitted its own proposal before it was voted into the U.N.

Chiao's speech caught most observers by surprise and was contrary to his earlier statements on the stand his country would take as the newest member of the world body.

Communist China, which was named to replace Nationalist China in the U.N. by a strong vote three weeks ago, was expected to take a soft line—at least at first.

Chiao and 45 other members of China's official delegation arrived in New York Thursday to claim the seat they had been seeking for 22 years.

Chiao proclaimed friendship between the people of China and the people of the United States in his official statement delivered through an interpreter at Kennedy International Airport.

He later hinted Communist China would take a wait and see position in the U.N. and would not make any immediate major policy moves.

Chiao sat smiling and calm through a long series of welcoming speeches following the formal, physical takeover of Nationalist China's spot.

Called on the United States to pull out of Indochina, Taiwan and Korea;

Told developing nations revolution is "the irresistible trend of history... countries want independent... nations want liberation and the people want revolution;"

Took the Arab side in the Mideast crisis;

Criticized United States and Russian disarmament policies.

Soviet Ambassador Yakov Malik, who had warmly shaken Chiao's hand a few hours earlier, was stonefaced after Chiao's speech. Neither he nor U.S. Ambassador George Bush applauded.

Attorney Gets Backing From Inmate

San Rafael attorney C. Douglas Vaughn, fighting to collect $4,350 in attorney fees for representing a San Quentin inmate in an assault case, got unexpected backing from the convict today in Marin Superior Court.

The convict, Louis N. Talamantez, 28, who is also facing murder charges stemming from the Aug. 21 prison violence, told Judge Samuel W. Gardiner:

"If you are not gonna pay the attorney you appointed for me, then let him go, man."

Talamantez told the judge he was distrustful of Vaughn at first when the court appointed him but is now convinced that Vaughn is a good lawyer and deserves the $4,350 fee for work performed since last June.

Last month, Judge Gardiner approved only a $500 fee for Vaughn, explaining that most of the work done by the attorney was repetitious and unnecessary in preparation for the assault case. Talamantez is accused of assaulting another inmate in March 1970.

Vaughn's attorney, Robert B. McCreadie, argued today that the work was not repetitive and was essential for a good defense of Talamantez.

"He's been cut about 98 per cent on the bill," McCreadie said. Even if the judge were to disallow time spent by Vaughn working to get medical help for Talamantez, the most that should have been cut was 20 per cent, McCreadie contended. A 20 per cent cut would mean a fee of $3,480.

Judge Gardiner repeated that most of Vaughn's motions such as one to disqualify him as judge were repetitious. "If you know the judged is biased and prejudiced, he ought to be disqualified," Gardiner said. "But if you don't know, why spend the rest of your life trying to find out if he is?"

and submitted to the 1975 legislature for approval.

Generally, the commissions would have regulated development three miles out to sea and about 1,000 yards inland. But there would have been exemptions, such as San Francisco Bay and Humboldt Bay, Crescent City, Los Angeles and Long Beach harbors.

"If this is such a good bill, why don't they include the whole state?" asked one senator who voted against the measure, Republican Gordon Cologne of Indio.

Another senator, Republican Dennis E. Carpenter of Newport Beach, said he voted no because regional government "is not an idea whose time has come as far as I'm concerned."

There was little testimony during the relatively brief committee hearing. The committee previously had held lengthy hearings on this measure and had killed three other coastline protection bills.

Sieroty called it "the most important bill in the conservation field this year," noted state Attorney General Evelle J. Younger supported it "in principle" and pointed out it passed the Assembly in September, 55-16.

Voting for the bill were committee chairmen John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek; and Sens. Arlen Gregorio, D-San Mateo; Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento, and Robert J. Lagomarsino, R-Ojai.

Sieroty told newsmen "the principal reason for this bill's defeat is the attitude of the governor and his administration."

Reagan generally had been leery of any coastline protection bill this year pending scheduled completion by his administration next March of a comprehensive Ocean Area Plan.

Sieroty said "a second major reason" for the bill's defeat was "the activities of major special interests whose full-time lobbyists have certainly earned their fees killing environmental bills this session."

Several important lobbyists watched from the audience as the committee rejected the bill.

Joining Sieroty at a news conference, Mrs. Janet Adams, director of the Coastal Alliance, announced conservationists would attempt to place an even stronger measure on next November's ballot. They will need to collect approximately 325,000 signatures.

She also said environmentalists will band together next year to campaign for certain legislators and against others.

"The environment is going to be a political factor in every election from now on," Sieroty said. "It's not a fad."

OBITUARIES

Harry C. Doyle, Retired Dentist

Harry C. Doyle, a retired dentist, was found dead yesterday at his residence, 10 Gardiner Street, Apt. 3, Mill Valley, according to the Marin County Coroner's Office.

Coroner's investigator Keith C. Craig said a neighbor discovered Doyle's body in bed at 12:45 p.m. after his wife, Hazel B. Doyle, became worried when she could not reach her husband by telephone. Death apparently was due to natural causes, Craig said.

Doyle, 81, was born in Valparaiso, Ind., and practiced dentistry for 40 years in Chicago before retiring in 1956.

He moved to California the following year and to Marin in 1960. For the past eight years he and his wife had lived in Mill Valley.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a son, Robert, of Los Angeles; two daughters, Virginia Russell, of Novato, and Doris Earhart, of Chicago; five grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Funeral will be Thursday in Valparaiso, with burial at Valparaiso Cemetery. Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley, is in charge of local arrangements.

EDWARD CHASE

Funeral for Edward Chase, 60, of Petaluma, a warehouseman, will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

Chase was killed Sunday when struck by a car while walking on Old Adobe Road near his home.

Chase, born in Russia, came to the U.S. as a child and grew up in Chicago. After serving in the Army Air Force in World War II, Chase moved to Petaluma, where he operated a poultry ranch until 1955.

For the past 15 years he had been employed as a warehouseman at Hamilton Air Force Base.

He is survived by two sons, Sheldon G. Chase of Petaluma and Daniel Chase; a daughter, Sherrill Kimball of Santa Rosa; a sister, Ida Rozner of Petaluma, and a grandson.

Burial will be in B'nai Israel Cemetery.

NORTON WAIS

Norton J. Wais, food services distributor and former band manager who did business in Marin for many years, died in his sleep at his San Francisco home yesterday. He was 79.

Wais was born in Springfield, Ill., and had lived in California about 40 years.

He managed the Harlem Globetrotters on their European tours for many years and later managed bands. In recent years he managed a food services business, selling imported foods to ocean liners and restaurants.

He is survived by two sisters, Beatrice Jacobson of Hillsborough and Lena Friedman of Oakland.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Sinai Memorial Chapel in San Francisco. Inurnment will be at the Home of Peace in Colma.

LOWDEN JESSUP

Memorial services for retired Navy Cmdr. Lowden Jessup Jr. of Ross will be at 2 p.m. Friday in St. John's Church, Ross.

A native of New York City, he was a 1921 graduate of the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

In 1930 as executive officer of the gunboat Palos, he earned commendations from the Secretary of the Navy for his conduct in action against Communist troops while his ship covered the evacuation of Occidentals from Changsha, China.

He had lived in Ross since about 1932 when he was retired because of physical disability. The family home is at 34 Southwood Avenue.

He was recalled to active duty in 1941 and served as an aide to the 12th Naval District commandant during World War II and until his second retirement in July 1946. During his naval career he served as aide to seven admirals.

Commander Jessup was awarded Victory Medals for both world wars, the Yangtse Service Medal and the America Area Service Medal.

He is survived by his wife Gay; a son, Lowden Jessup III of Greenbrae; two daughters, Mrs. John Pearson of Marinwood and Mrs. Harry Likas Jr. of Belvedere; a sister, Mrs. Katherine Taylor of Sewickley, Pa., and 11 grandchildren.

Private inurnment will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

The family prefers donations to the Heart Association or a favorite charity.

S. B. SUHRKE

Private funeral for Sam B. Suhrke, retired maintenance supervisor at College of Marin, will be held tomorrow.

Suhrke, 71, of 8 Garden Avenue, San Rafael, died Sunday in a local hospital following a short illness.

He was born in Soda Springs, Idaho, and came to California 43 years ago. He had worked in the baking industry for 30 years and was maintenance supervisor for 12 years at College of Marin until he retired. He was a member of the Greenbrae Ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

He is survived by two daughters, DeLone Kone of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Marie Tappero of San Rafael; two sons, Ray L. Suhrke and Harold B. Suhrke, both of San Rafael; 12 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Private burial will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

Memorial contributions to the Society of Crippled Children and Adults of Marin in Larkspur would be preferred by the family.

MRS. DOUGLAS

Mrs. Douglas died Saturday at a San Francisco hospital after a long illness. She was born and reared in Northern Ireland and moved to the United States in 1907, settling in New York. She moved to San Francisco in 1911 and to Petaluma in 1913.

Her late husband, Robert A. Douglas, had operated a grocery store, real estate and insurance businesses in Petaluma before his death in 1963.

Mrs. Douglas moved to San Francisco eight years ago to make her home with a daughter, Louise Kyle. She formerly was a member of the Presbyterian Church of Petaluma and the Petaluma Woman's Club.

She is survived by Mrs. Kyle and another daughter, Jean S. Chaffer of Upland, San Bernardino County, and four grandchildren.

DEATH NOTICE

SUHRKE — In San Rafael, Nov. 14, 1971. Sam B. Suhrke, beloved husband of the late Myrtle May Suhrke, loving father of Mrs. DeLone Kone of Salt Lake City, Utah, Mrs. Marie Tappero, Ray L. Suhrke and Hal B. Suhrke of San Rafael. Also survived by 12 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. A native of Soda Springs, Idaho, age 72 years. A member of the Greenbrae Ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Private family services will be held Wednesday, Nov. 17, 1971, at the HARRY M. WILLIAMS MORTUARY, San Rafael. Memorial contributions to the Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Marin, Inc., 555 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, preferred. (11/16)

CARD OF THANKS

THE THOUGHTFULNESS AND SYMPATHY extended by our relatives, neighbors and friends during our recent sorrow will always remain with us a precious memory. A BLANK SILVER DOLLAR

Patricia Blevins of Atlanta shows a blank Eisenhower silver dollar along with a good coin. The blankless coin was found yesterday in a shipment of 1,000 of the Ike coins to an Atlanta bank. The mirror shows both sides. A bank teller, Mrs. Naomi Griffith, found the blank and purchased it.

He Must Return To Prison

A San Quentin convict, who won release on $5,000 bail 18 months ago while his attorney contested his incarceration, must go back to prison for another 10 months to complete his 10-year-term.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court has denied a writ of habeas corpus for Frank A. Nubin, 46, and ordered him to return to San Quentin by Friday of this week. The judge, however, recommended that the California Adult Authority consider Nubin's case for early parole.

Nubin was originally sent to the California Medical Facility at Vacaville on Jan. 4, 1961, for assault with a deadly weapon in Alameda County.

He was paroled in October 1967 and his final discharge date set for Jan. 4, 1969.

On Christmas Eve 1968, Nubin got into an argument with his wife and was accused of assault with a weapon. On that complaint his parole was suspended, and he was returned to San Quentin in February 1969.

San Rafael attorney Salle S. Soladay, then contented that the California Adult Authority had suspended his parole on Jan. 31, 1969, almost a month after his final discharge date. "Therefore, the time served after Jan. 3, 1969, has been illegal," said Mrs. Soladay.

The state attorney general, representing the Adult Authority, contended that parole had been suspended on Jan. 3, 1969, just one day before Nubin's final discharge.

Mrs. Soladay appealed to Marin Superior Court and succeeded in getting Nubin released on $5,000 bail in March of 1970, pending the appeal.

After a two-day hearing last week, McGuire on Friday held that the Adult Authority has the legal right to put Nubin back in prison.

"Unless I can find some way to stop it, he will have to go back to prison on Friday," said Mrs. Soladay. "And he'll lose his job too — a steady construction job in Oakland."

She charged that California's indeterminate sentence system gives the Adult Authority too much power over inmates. On charges that led to suspension of parole, she contended that Nubin had no chance to confront witnesses or put up a legal defense of any kind.

Third Schools Meeting: Previous Points Rehashed

By GEORGE NEVIN

Attention focused on Old Mill School last night at the third and final special Mill Valley School District board meeting to discuss dissatisfaction with teaching methods in the district.

Most of the points raised had been expressed at two previous board meetings, and little new material was brought up by speakers for and against the trends they find in the district schools.

The board, which listened without comment during the three-hour meeting, will discuss the issues at next Monday's regular board meeting.

Most of the discussion centered on discipline and behavior, one of the items on the agenda. But speakers also touched on other topics discussed previously: what options are and should be available and the direction in which the district is headed.

It was concern over alleged lack of discipline at district schools, especially at Old Mill, among other objections, that led more than 1,300 persons in the district to submit a petition to the board asking more evaluation and classroom control.

Hugh M. Brown, of 191 Magee Avenue, read a statement summing up the faults he found with the approach being used in the district. No "definitive methods of evaluation" exist, he said, and "informal teaching methods are being poorly applied in the district."

These failings "are particularly prevalent at Old Mill and are spreading to other schools," he said. In addition, teachers who exhibit only one particular point of view are being hired, and he said he and others have lost confidence in Supt. James A. Collins, who has "fostered this situation."

He asked that "no further experimentation of a major nature be done without proper evaluation."

Another resident, Russell R. Wardner of 305 Cascade Drive, said he thought the schools were trying to go beyond their "mission and ability" in the subjects they taught.

He criticized the "messianic zeal" of some teachers and said "political turmoil" in universities is beginning to filter down into lower schools through some of the younger teachers.

Mrs. Werner H. Buechy, of 408 Spruce Street, Tamalpais Valley, said some teachers "are trying to inculcate our children with anti-bourgeois sentiment." As an example she cited one instructor who customarily read Arthur Hoppe's column in the San Francisco Chronicle to his seventh-grade class daily.

Patsy Simpkin, of 44 Glen Drive, told the crowd of about 250 persons at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church that "I'm not here because my kids are messed up, I'm here because they're bored."

In many classes, she said, "the teacher sits in the back of the room and there are clumps of fistfights all over. I don't want to go back to having everyone glued to the varnish of their desks. I just want my children challenged."

Clifford B. Wilton, of 215 Tamalpais Avenue, began a recap of two private meetings held between board members and dissident parents before the current round of special meetings got under way, but was cut off by Chairman William P. Everts Jr., who said he thought the subject was inappropriate.

Linda Klink, who followed Wilton as speaker, defended Wilton's specifics, and stated, "I don't care what you call it, innovation or whatever, but I want my kid to be able to spell it and pronounce it."

For every critic of Old Mill School and the district in general, however, there was a supporter. Colleen Michaels, who said she has a child at Old Mill, said she's "seen parents at schools hungry for the alternatives we have at Old Mill."

Too much attention to the demands of the petitioners could make many teachers and administrators fear to undertake any innovation for many years, she warned. But she defended the right of dissatisfied parents to be provided alternatives that they request.

Robert Pierson, who identified himself as a teacher at Strawberry Point School, said the district shouldn't "switch direction in response to every new educational whim sweeping the country." He urged dissatisfied parents to "observe your children to see if we're getting through to them."

One parent, Dianne McClung of 30 Stetson Avenue, said she sympathized with dissident parents because she too was unhappy with Old Mill School when her eldest daughter first started school there, not because of innovation but lack of it. "My attitude, however, has changed, just as Old Mill has changed," she said. She's now happy with the education her daughters are receiving, she said.

She defended the school because "it helps children cope with the world as it exists. They're not in an artificial situation like we were at school."

Everts said Collins will bring recommendations on a course of action by the board to Monday's meeting, and the superintendent announced one recommendation he will make then: hiring an outside consultant to evaluate the district's testing program, one of the key criticisms of dissident parents.

Lawyers Receive A Warning

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court warned yesterday he will impose fines of up to $500 on attorneys who make substitutions or other changes that cause unnecessary delays in the court calendar without notifying the court.

He backed up his warning with a $100 fine yesterday on the San Francisco law firm of Rudy, Rapoport and White, defense attorneys in a civil action involving alleged violation of building restrictions on Heathcliff Drive in Tiburon.

The plaintiffs were all set to go, but the defense attorneys were not ready because the Rudy firm had pulled out and substituted Leland H. Jordan of San Rafael as attorney for one of the defendants.

San Rafael attorney Philip A. Torre, who appeared for Jordan, asked for a continuance because the Rudy firm had not conveyed the documents to Jordan until last Thursday, too late for Jordan to prepare for trial yesterday. Jordan was tied up in another case in Northern California.

The judge held that the delay could have been avoided if the original legal firm had notified Jordan in time.

The judge ordered the $100 fine to be paid either by the original attorneys (Rudy's firm) or by the substitute attorney, Jordan. "That should be worked out between the attorneys," said Gardiner.

The judge noted that the trial calendar is always congested and tightly scheduled, so that a sudden disruption wreaks havoc with the scheduling. Furthermore, he said, clients who show up for the trial are inconvenienced when attorneys cause sudden delays.

"It is the duty of attorneys to jointly advise the calendar clerk of any changes of attorneys and to advise one another so that cases will be ready for trial," Gardiner said.

He warned that future failures on the part of attorneys to notify calendar changes in time could cost $500.

Tomales Environmental Study Gets Under Way Next Month

An environmental impact study of Tomales Bay, to be conducted by the Conservation Foundation of Washington, D.C., will start nest month, it was announced yesterday.

Dr. Martin Griffin of Bolinas, chairman of the Tomales Bay Study advisory committee and project coordinator, said yesterday that enough funds have been collected to begin the study, estimated to cost from $25,000 to $50,000. So far, he said, the study has received $5,000 from the San Francisco Foundation and $1,500 from the Sierra Club, with the Conservation Foundation matching all contributions.

The study, larger in scope than one done by the same foundation for the Bolinas Lagoon, will assess, among other things, the impact of development and transportation on the people, agriculture, marine life, wildlife, and open space of Tomales Bay and its watershed.

David W. Walker, Conservation Foundation project director responsible for the earlier Bolinas study, will conduct the new Tomales Bay investigation. Walker, scientist Rowen Roundtree of University of California at Berkeley and Ruth Ann Corwin of Bolinas, project research assistant, will do most of the organization work.

Assisting them will be a citizen group headed by Jerry Friedman of Inverness and several organizations, including the Marin County Planning Department, Marin Conservation League, Environmental Action Committee of West Marin, the Audubon Canyon Ranch, Inverness Improvement Association, and the Tomales Bay Association.

Nine consultants, many of whom worked on the Bolinas study, will aid in specific areas of planning, natural resources, and environment. They will share the resources of the University of Pacific Marine Station, Pt. Reyes Bird Observatory, College of Marin and University of California.

Tomales Bay, "the second largest estuary on the California coast," remains unpolluted enough to have a "productive natural ecosystem," project director Walker wrote the county in August. He believes the Tomales study will affect West Marin planning in particular and nationwide planning in general.

The plan's advisory committee already has requested the Marin County Planning Commission, in absence of the defunct West Marin Master Plan, "to enact zoning that will afford maximum protection to open space and agriculture pending the outcome of the study," said chairman Dr. Griffin.

The study, to be completed sometime next fall, probably will have an impact on highway development along Tomales Bay. Work on the new State Route One has been delayed until a balanced transportation study is completed, and the Tomales Bay Study will proceed that, Corwin said yesterday.

Dynamite-Laden Truck Is Halted

RESEDA (UPI)—A dynamite-laden pickup truck found transporting loaded firearms and $4,000 in gold coins was halted Monday shortly after the driver burst through a Highway Patrol vehicle inspection site.

The CHP said the driver, Daniel Churchill, 24, and a companion following closely behind on a motorcycle, Glen Mecum, 23, had been waved over for a routine inspection but instead ran the barricade.

Both were booked on suspicion of possessing explosives. Officers said that along with 40 dynamite sticks and explosive paraphernalia, they found 11 guns and 200 $20 gold coins.

Creation Of Service District To Be Eyed

A hearing on a proposal to create a service district in the unincorporated area of Greenbrae has been set for next Monday at 7:30 p.m. by the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

The hearing in the supervisors' chambers at the Civic Center was scheduled at the request of the Greenbrae Property Owners Association, which has expressed concern over maintenance and landscaping of public areas in the community.

Adventures Of A Wallet

CAIRO (UPI)—Ceylon embassy officials are looking for the owner of a wallet which made the 4,000 mile trip from Alexandria, Egypt, to Ceylon in a bale of cotton and the return journey in a diplomatic pouch.

The wallet's adventures began in an Alexandria cotton factory where it apparently fell into a bale of cotton bound for Ceylon.

It contained several Egyptian pounds and smaller currency.

After being shipped across the Indian Ocean, an employe at a local yarn factory found it, turned it into the factory management, which in turn sent it to the Egyptian embassy in Colombo, the capital.

Ambassador Khalifa Abdel Aziz thanked the yarn worker and then brought the wallet back to Egypt in a diplomatic pouch.

He handed it to Ceylon embassy officials here who are looking for the owner.

AEC In Defense Of Protesters

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chairman James R. Schlesinger of the Atomic Energy Commission has told a congressional hearing most environmental groups acted responsibily when they tried to stop a Nov. 6 underground nuclear test at Amchitka Island in the Aleutians.

"In the wake of the test there has been a tendency to criticize the environmentalists who sought to block the test," Schlesinger said. "Most acted with great responsibility. Some of the more extreme statements attributed to environmentalists did not come from the bulk of environmental organizations."

Schlesinger, in hcs testimony Monday before a House public works subcommittee, did not identify individuals or groups whom he said made extreme statements.

Information On Customers Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate voted Monday night to make it illegal for firms which prepare income tax returns for a fee to sell personal information about their customers.

On a voice vote, it adopted an amendment to its tax bill offered by Sen. Charles McC Mathias, Jr., R-Md., that would impose a $1,000 fine or a year's imprisonment on violators. Taxpayer's consent would be required before such firms could sell information about their clients.

The Federal Trade Commission has accused H. & R.. Block, the nation's largest tax service, of selling information gleaned from the forms it prepared.

Mathias said nearly half of all tax returns are filled out by someone other than the taxpayer.

Confiscated Booze Goes On Block

And, if you were one of the sailors on the aircraft carrier USS Ranger who had hopes of a big time in the Golden City curtailed by customs officials—you may be interested to know that the more than 100 quarts of alcohol confiscated from you and your buddies has been sold.

But you probably won't want to know that hard-eyed experts were purchasing 10-case lots of beer for $11 by the end of the auction.

The event was the Customs Bureau's twice-a-year booze auction. On sale were what was officially described as "various items of seized or unclaimed alcoholic beverages which have been forfeited to the government."

Chennault Fete Next Summer

A Marin County man will coordinate the convention next summer in San Francisco of Gen. Claire Chennault's China Command.

Grant A. Robbins, vice-president of the 14th Air Force Association, said that tentative plans for the convention during the first week in August call for delegates to visit Marin for dinner at the Alta Mira in Sausalito and at the Hamilton Air Force Base officers club.

The 14th Air Force was the successor to General Chennault's Flying Tigers, said Robbins, who resides at 2201 Lucas Valley Road. He said he expects several World War II flying aces to attend the convention.

$15,000 Robbery

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A gunman wearing a ski mask and brandishing a revolver robbed a UCLA cashier's vault of $15,000 Monday, then managed to slip through police roadblocks set up at campus exits.

Lead-Based Paint Ban Under Study

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has proposed a ban on the use of lead-based paint in federally financed housing, including homes built under VA or FHA programs.

The paint has come under attack because children who eat paint chips sometimes suffer lead poisoning. The department said interested parties have 30 days in which to submit comments to the Bureau of Community Environmental Management, after which the ban will become effective.

JUST A LITTLE SHY

Little Smokey, a year-and-one-half-old orphaned bear seemed totally unconcerned over all the fuss at the Agriculture Department in Washington, D.C., yesterday at which he was installed as the official heir to Smokey the Bear. When the original Smokey, now 21, symbol of the Forest Fire Prevention Campaign, and his mate, Goldie, failed to produce a heir after nine years of "marriage," it was decided to give them an "adopted" son to carry on the campaign.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Used Car Smog Device Now Law

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The owners of an estimated five million California used cars will be required to equip their vehicles with emission control devices under a bill that has been signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The bill by Sen. Gordon Cologne, R-Indio, requires the State Air Resources Board to set standards which reduce pollutant oxides of nitrogen emission from the exhaust pipes of 1966-70 vehicles.

The antismog devices would have to be installed on the cars by January 1973 at the time their registrations are due for renewal.

Under the new law, which will take effect 90 days after adjournment of the current legislative session, the devices must not cost more than $35 each and must not require maintenance more than once each 13,000 miles.

REMAPPING

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly reapportionment negotiators from both parties held a three-hour session last night, emerging to face what one participant described as the need for "more line drawings."

The meeting, which broke up shortly after midnight, was called by Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti in an effort to iron out differences with Republicans over redistricting the lower house.

"We are both going back and do some more line drawings," said Republican caucus chairman John Stull of Leucadia following the late night talks.

When asked by a newsman whether an agreement was near, Stull replied: "Well, we didn't get mad at each other, so I guess we are a step closer."

DRUG VETO

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill reclassifying marijuana from a narcotic to a restricted drug was vetoed yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan who said it was a "name change measure only."

In his veto message, Reagan said he felt the bill "would merely compound the uncertainty and confusion which already exists on the subject of marijuana."

The bill by Assemblyman William Campbell, R-Hacienda Heights, would make no substantive changes in current law and penalties would remain the same.

FOOD TAX

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Senate committee has approved a bill extending the 5 per cent sales tax to all hot foods sold in restaurants, but exempting candy and chewing gum.

The measure by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, was sent to the Senate floor on a split voice vote of the Finance Committee. The bill was opposed by the state Board of Equalization and the California School Employes Association.

Bagley said hot foods eaten on the premises are currently taxed, but hot food items not consumed on the premises are tax free. He said there should be uniformity.

TAX BEATEN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate has rejected by a lopsided margin a bill that would boost the cigarette tax a nickel a pack to raise $90 million annually for cancer and other medical research.

The measure by Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton, who said smoking "sinners" should help pay for the health consequences of their "sin" and provide funds for medical research, was defeated yesterday.

The bill needed 27 votes for passage but received only 12. Eighteen Senators voted against it after a floor debate in which non-smoking Sen. Walter Stiern, D-Bakersfield, said "I don't think we should lower the boom on those people who might be cigarette smokers."

SCHOOL AID

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill that would pump $256 million into the state's school finance program has been sent to a select Senate committee studying possible new ways of providing money for schools.

The committee was created in the wake of the state Supreme Court ruling that the present school finance formula was unconstitutionally discriminatory against children in poor districts.

The measure by Assemblyman Leroy Greene, D-Sacramento, was sidetracked to the select committee yesterday by the Senate Finance Committee.

Greene's bill would provide the new money — the equivalent of $66 more per student each year —on an equalization formula giving low-wealth districts first crack at the funds. It would also write into law a guaranteed 5 per cent annual cost-of-living increase for schools in the state financial aid program.

School Districts Warned On Spending Practices

Two Marin County school districts have been warned that their spending rates may mean they will end the fiscal year with a deficit, and a third district has been cautioned that expenditures are seriously depleting reserves.

The warnings were sent by the county schools office to San Anselmo Elementary and Shoreline Unified districts — the two that face a deficit by next June if spending practices are not changed — and Sausalito Elementary School District, where reserves are being depleted.

Byron W. Mauzy, assistant superintendent for business services in the county schools office, said today the notices were sent as part of a new program of the State Department of Education to identify districts engaged in deficit financing. The state will send teams, on request, to review spending in the districts.

Shoreline Unified District, hit hard by removal of assessed valuation by Point Reyes National Seashore and large agricultural preserve tax reductions in Sonoma County, ended the past fiscal year with a deficit and faces another one this year despite budget cuts.

Mauzy said, however, that federal funds may rescue Shoreline from its financial embarrassment.

He said an application is being prepared for federal funds under Public Law 874. This is the law that provides money for "federally impacted" districts. Its customary application is where schools must accept many students of federal employees, as in the vicinity of military bases. But Mauzy reported that "impaction" by removing of land from the tax rolls for the national seashore might qualify the Shoreline District for up to $400,000 under the law.

Sausalito School District's position is made more critical because its voted maximum tax rate of $2.40 per $100 assessed valuation expires this year. Unless an extension is voted, the district's rate will fall to 90 cents for next year.

Mauzy said a team from the State Department of Education already has visited the Sausalito district, and San Anselmo has invited a team to review its spending.

Woman Prison Drug Smuggling Suspect Jailed

A 26-year-old San Anselmo woman was arrested yesterday while trying to smuggle drugs into San Quentin, prison officials said.

Information officer Joseph R. O'Brien said the woman, Linda Jean Mitchell of 84 Scenic Avenue, was found to be carrying several balloons containing what appeared to be heroin and several small pills thought to be dangerous drugs when she showed up at the prison to visit her inmate husband, Clarence Mitchell.

O'Brien said the contraband was found in the woman's coat pocket at one of the gates leading into the prison.

His wife, arrested by sheriff's deputies summoned to the prison, was booked at Marin County Jail on suspicion of possessing dangerous drugs and bringing unauthorized drugs into a state prison. She was held in $5,000 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Policies, Review Of Rules On Agenda

A discussion of departmental policies and a review of rules and regulations will be on the agenda of the Kentfield Fire District board when it meets at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The board will meet at the fire department on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, according to Chief Kenneth T. Kamp.

"Blood Alley" Soon To Be Thing Of The Past

BRADLEY (UPI)—A seven-mile, $10 million stretch of freeway will be dedicated Thursday between San Ardo and Bradley, making "blood alley" a thing of the past.

The section of Highway 101 drew its nickname because of the large number of accidents there.

What makes you see?

To send the signals that let you see, your nervous system needs calcium. The calcium you get primarily in milk. And that's only one reason to drink two glasses of milk a day.

Because you also need calcium to send the signals that let you hear, smell, feel—as well as see. And you need it to make your muscles contract. And to make your blood clot. And to keep your bones strong and healthy throughout life.

How much calcium should you have? For adults, the National Research Council recommends 800 milligrams a day: about as much as you get in a normal diet if it includes two glasses of milk. (Children need more: up to age nine, 3 glasses; up to eighteen, 4 glasses. Pregnant and nursing women also need the calcium in 4 glasses of milk daily.)

Can you get enough calcium from other foods? Not easily. For example, two glasses of milk give you as much calcium as each of the following:

23 slices of bread, 13 cups of brussels sprouts, 14 grapefruit, 13 cups of raw carrots, 1½ pints of ice cream, 2½ cups of cottage cheese.

When it comes to calcium, there's no real substitute for milk.

Every body needs calcium.

Every body needs milk.®

FOSTER HOME IDEA

Mongrel's New Paradise

Mollie, a shy 8-month-old mongrel, has not only found a new confidence and contentment in a foster home, she has also adopted a kitten called Baby.

Foster homes for dogs are just like those for children, according to Mrs. Helen Galantiere of the St. Francis Animal Protection Society, a new group of Marin and San Francisco animal lovers.

Mrs. Galantiere's group finds temporary homes for dogs such as Mollie, who have been abandoned, mistreated or who are no longer wanted by their owners. From the foster home, the pets are placed in permanent homes.

Mollie came to live with the Hildreth family at 250 Emerystone Terrace in Marinwood a few weeks ago after 15-year-old Stacy Hildreth learned of the homeless dog.

Stacy's mother, Helen Hildreth, said Mollie was so cowed from abuse that the dog was frightened even of slight noises.

Although still shy, Mollie now romps through the Hildreth home along with two other dogs, three cats and three rabbits and her own baby, a 5-week-old kitten.

Mollie, who gave birth to a litter of pups that had to be taken from her because she was too young to care for them, has literally adopted the kitten, a waif, also brought home by Stacy.

Mollie is credited with saving the kitten's life by nursing her. She also carries Baby around the house, much as a mother cat would pick up a kitten by the scruff of its neck.

When Baby seems threatened by the other animals in the household, Mollie wraps a front paw around her protectively. The little kitten — which was so weak and undernourished when Stacy found it that "we didn't think we could save her," according to Mrs. Hildreth — now scampers about the house. Baby is still a little skinny but very much alive.

Both Mrs. Galentiere and Mrs. Hildreth said, "We don't believe in cages for animals."

Mrs. Hildreth practices what she believes — a pet iguana was allowed to mingle with the other household pets during the many years he lived with the family until he died last year.

Even the mother rabbit who lives primarily in the backyard is housebroken and enters the house through a dog door.

As for Mollie and Baby, they are both gaining strength and confidence, and "I guess we'll have to find a home for them together one of these days," Mrs. Hildreth said.

MOTHERLY — Mollie, an 8-month-old mongrel dog who is now living in a "foster home" in Marinwood, nestles with Baby, the abandoned kitten she has adopted and mothered.

Tear Gas Bill Reaches Reagan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill allowing licensed private detectives and security patrolmen to use tear gas weapons reached Gov. Ronald Reagan today.

The Assembly voted 45-1 Monday to accept Senate amendments to the measure by Assemblyman John P. Quimby, D-Rialto, that would restrict the use of such weapons to "defensive purposes."

Private investigators, private patrol operators and employes of private patrols would be allowed to use the tear gas weapons only after they had satisfactorily completed a state-approved course in tear gas instruction.

$26 Million Hike For State Workers Loses

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation appropriating $26.8 million to finance a 5 per cent pay increase for all state workers except University of California and state college faculty members has been defeated by the Senate.

The bill by Sen. George R. Moscone, D-San Francisco, was rejected Monday on a 23-11 vote after Republican caucus Chairman John L. Harmer of Glendale labeled the measure a "false hope."

Railroads, Signalmen In Accord

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The nation's railroads announced today they had reached agreement with the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen on a new 42-month contract covering 11,000 workers.

Terms of the agreement were not announced, but were expected to follow the pattern of 42 per cent wage and benefit increases over three and a half years established with other rail unions earlier this year.

The signalmen are the last of the major rail unions to reach agreement with the carriers during a prolonged series of negotiations.

A spokesman for the Association of American Railroads said final agreement was reached Monday at the Labor Department with the aid of Assistant Labor Secretary W. J. Usery Jr. and Chairman George Ives of the National Mediation Board.

The new contract, subject to ratification by the members of the union, was made retroactive to January, 1970, with an expiration date of July, 1973.

The average 12 per cent annual increase is more than twice the 5.5 per cent annual limit established as a general rule by the Pay Board. And on the surface, the board's ban on retroactive increases before Nov. 14 would appear to nullify nearly two years of extra pay for the Signalmen dating back to when the new contract period began on Jan. 1, 1970.

But union sources indicated that the Signalmen would claim exemption under the equity clause of the Pay Board's guidelines on the basis that most other rail workers have already gotten the pay raises scheduled to go into effect before Aug. 15.

The Signalmen went on strike for about 40 hours last May 17-18 to back up their contract demands. Congress ordered them back to work until Oct. 1. Because of the wage freeze in effect at that time.

'Big 4' Automakers Say Car Sales Are Doubled

DETROIT (UPI)—The nation's four major automobile makers sold more than twice as many new cars during the first 10 days of November than they did in the comparable period of 1970.

However, sales for the period, the last complete one under the price freeze, were down markedly from the final 10 days of October.

General Motors Corp. sold 292,023 new cars in the first 10 days of this month, compared with 113,116 during the same time a year ago while GM was strikebound.

The 10-day total compared with 348,174 for the closing third of October. Usually, the last 10 days of the month are better selling periods than first-of-the-month times and October, the first full month for selling new models after introduction, traditionally is a good sales month.

Ford reported an all-time sales high for the period, 79,288 compared with 65,591 a year ago. During the last 10 days of October, Ford sold 96,868 cars.

GM sold 166,953 new autos, compared with 178,553 in the final days in October and 31,354 during early November, 1970. Chevrolet Division sales for the first 10 days of this month also set a record high.

Sales of 38,236 new cars so far this month by Chrysler compared with 59,411 in the last part of October and 28,279 a year ago.

AMC was the only one of the "Big Four" reporting a decline in sales from a year ago. The 1971 figure of 7,546 for the first part of this month compared with 7,892 a year ago and 13,342 in the final portion of October.

Federal Court Upholds Military On Pregnancies

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A federal appeals court has upheld military regulations regarding pregnant officers by refusing to block the discharge of Capt. Susan Struck, the first Air Force officer to give birth while on active duty.

The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled Monday that the 27-year-old unwed nurse could be discharged because of "a compelling public interest in not having pregnant female soldiers in the military establishment."

Capt. Struck became pregnant while serving at Cam Rahn Bay, Vietnam in early 1970 and gave her baby girl, Tanya Marie, up for adoption after its birth in Tacoma, Wash. She went to court over Air Force moves to discharge her, arguing that military pregnancy rules were unconstitutional.

The court Monday turned down her petition to remain in the service, upholding a regulation providing for the honorable discharge of officers who become pregnant.

"We are not persuaded that it (the regulation) is either arbitrary or irrational," the court said in an opinion by Justice J. Warren Madden.

The court said that in hospitals in combat zones in Vietnam, a pregnant nurse could suffer a miscarriage during an attack and become "a liability and a burden to the Air Force" instead of an effective member of the military team.

The circuit court had already ruled last year the Air Force had a right to discharge Capt. Struck, but before the Air Force could act, U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas ordered all further attempts to discharge her suspended until the completion of proceedings.

The wine industry publication "Wines and Vines" says 73 California wineries market a minimum of 660 table wines.

KATHLEEN PETERS
Sets April date

Marriage In April Is Planned

The engagement of Kathleen A. Peters of San Anselmo to Vladimir Kovaleff, also of San Anselmo, has been announced by her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Hans H. Peters of San Anselmo.

A graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, Kathleen attended the College of Marin and is employed as a secretary with the Union Square Garage in San Francisco. She is the step-sister of Louise Lynn Peters of San Anselmo.

Vladimir is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Kovaleff of San Anselmo and the brother of Alexander Kovaleff of Novato. He also is a Drake High School graduate and attended the College of Marin. He is now a pilot for the City and County of San Francisco.

The couple plan to be married on April 23.

1st Lady Doer For Savings

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mrs. Linwood Holton, first lady of Virginia, has turned her talents as a political campaigner into another type of drive—to help families get the most for their food dollar.

Specifically, she heads the campaign for her husband's constituents, but what goes for Virginians applies just as aptly to families in the other 49 states.

As far as Mrs. Holton knows, she's the only wife of a governor involved in a real grass roots campaign, making personal appearances at seminars with experts both from government and business going to the housewife with information on food budgeting, meal planning and nutrition.

"WE'RE WORKING the hardest at the lower income level," said Virginia "Jinks" Holton. "But we find the middle income families are having a difficult time too."

Officially, the "family food dollar" sessions were scheduled for fall in 22 geographical divisions devised to prevent duplication. But Mrs. Holton says the program, which already has reached thousands, will be a continuing educational one with the food stamp people, the extension service and Roy Farmer and his state consumer affairs staff carrying on.

One big phase of the program has been to teach food stamp recipients use of such basics as lentils, flour, peanut butter, chick peas, butter and meats.

"WE FOUND women throwing out powdered milk because they didn't know how to use it," she said. "These are the people we really need to reach."

Mrs. Holton discussed the Virginia program in a telephone conversation from the executive mansion in Richmond. She said the women want to know more about meal planning on the food stamp plan, how to plan meals for a family working on several shifts, some even ask about tools of the kitchen.

"We've found some women who had to be told what an egg beater is," she said.

Available at the conferences were "The Budget Watcher's Cookbook," prepared by the Roanoke Valley Nutrition Committee and the nutrition section of the Virginia Department of Health. It's full of low-cost menus and buying tips ("If you shop while you're hungry, you may buy more than you need and your food bill will go up. It's wise to shop after you have eaten").

THE SEMINARS also make available tips from the U.S. Department of Ayriculture. Samples: Plan at home. This is where good buying begins. Jot down items as you think of them.

Make decisions before you start your shopping trip. As you plan, keep in mind what you have, what you need, how the item will be used, the size, color, quantity and quality you want, the price, the advertised specials.

Smart shoppers buy needed things first, then add the extras. One woman told a seminar that she took along one of those purse-size calculators, clicked off the price of each item as she went through the store and when she got to her limit of $20, stopped.

Read labels, compare quality and price, check weights of fresh produce, check sales slips and count your change.

MRS. HOLTON attended Roanoke public schools, is a graduate of Wellesley College and the Middlebury College French School. She met her husband while working in Washington and the couple has four children ages five to 15.

A "born doer," she helped to ring doorbells and otherwise campaign when her Republican husband ran for governor. Now, she said, "I guess I'm honorary chairman of about everything in Virginia."

The executive mansion has a budget to provide for a staff of mansion director (housekeeper), cook, four maids, three butlers and a laundress.

"I try to watch the food budget to the extent I can," said Virginia Holton, "but people coming to the mansion don't expect peanut butter."

Technological First On Fashion Stage

For the first time a scientist-artist, a fashion designer, and a master textile print technician have combined their talents to bring a technological first to the fashion stage — the light art print.

TV College Class Reaps Letters

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — So what's a college teacher to do when a student calls her — "dearest little teacher" or "you, you sweet little cutie"?

And a male teacher, how's he to react when a student says:

"Your handsome appearance and infectious enthusiasm merely enhance the fascination of your lecture material."

Followed by: "Men and boys are attracted by the slides and film clips . . . but girls and ladies would rather look at you!"

The "cutie" remarks were aimed at Dr. Isabelle Hyman, assistant professor of fine arts, Washington Square College of Arts and Sciences at New York University.

THE "HANDSOME appearance" remarks were directed to Dr. Peter Chelkowski, assistant professor of the Persian department at the same school.

Other eggheads at the university from time to time have seemingly odd remarks or questions sent their way — considering the proper limits of a relationship between student and teacher, even in this era of freedom.

Dr. Fleur L. Strand, associate professor of biology, for example, was asked:

"Beautiful lady . . . it would be a favor to me if you could tell me what causes hammer toes?"

The teachers in these cases are amused, flattered and accept with mixed feelings the personal remarks, according to Tom Brophy, a major domo for the classroom setting that inspires students to such thoughts.

DR. FLEUR L. STRAND
Television Professor

BROPHY IS producer of Sunrise Semester, the 6:30 a.m. televised college course that is aired on some 90 stations from Orlando to the island of Oahu six days a week.

The personal remarks come in letters, so no matter how adoring a student sounds in print, no teacher need fear being hugged to a pulp by a student who can't control his or her emotions.

Brophy, who has been producer of the Emmy Award-winning college series since it went on the tube 15 years ago, said the casualness of the remarks in the letters is better understood when one knows the "students" wear mostly housecoats and bathrobes.

Some, proppped up on pillows, take in the lecture on the bedroom television set.

Brophy and Patricia Myers, co-producer of the CBS network production, discussed in an interview the unusual pupil-teacher relationships that have surfaced — through the mail — during their association with Sunrise Semester.

TO BROPHY and Mrs. Myers falls the task of answering the letters when the teachers cannot.

DR. PETER CHELKOWSKI
Lectures on Sunrise Semester

Brophy cheers for the fact that the teachers establish warm relationships with the students. When the show started he feared that the professors, accustomed to having a classroom lecture broken up by questions from "live" students, might have difficulty keeping the subject matter matter running in a viable fashion for 28 uninterrupted minutes.

"I always set them up by telling them that they've got to keep the attention of the person on the other side of the set," he said. "I tell them the typical student out there probably is a woman who has her hair in curlers.

"I tell them she undoubtedly has a coffee cup in one hand and a cigarette in the other. And —she's wearing a bathrobe and may even be in her bare feet."

"We get many, many letters either commenting on the clothes the women professor wears or asking — where did she buy that and how much did it cost?"

DURING THE midi-mini-maxi crisis in fashion last year, Mrs. Myers said she instructed the camera crew not to show below the knees.

"There was such emotion over the length of hemlines," she said, "we didn't want Sunrise in the middle of it —as might have been the case if a woman appeared in a midi.

Brophy's picture of the typical viewer isn't far off target. "The murky figures with coffee cups and bathrobes" is the way Mrs. Jeanne Sattely of Jamaica Plain, Mass., signs letters to Sunrise. She is spokesman for a group that watches Sunrise together.

Both Brophy and Mrs. Myers said they continue to be amazed at the cross-section of the viewing public, as revealed by letters from the "students" — estimated at 1.2 million each morning.

The steadiest Sunrise pen pal is Dr. Stephen Van D. Chandler of Somerville, N.J., a Harvard graduate, class of '53. He has been watching Sunrise on and off since the inception and would like more music and art classes.

"I am presently confined on death row in Tamal, Calif., awaiting the final determination of my appeal," Lee Anthony Crosier wrote to Dr. Strand. "I cannot describe how much I enjoy your lectures regarding biology. You are a terrific and brilliant educator. There are not enough adjectives in the dictionary to describe you. . ."

About the same time the man in death row was writing a fan letter to Dr. Strand, a policeman and judge were writing similarly.

"I cannot put into words just how much your program has kept me abreast of the surge of the times," the policeman from Dedham, Mass., wrote. "I am only a high school graduate and police officer in Boston. Yyur program sort of puts someone like me in the state of mind that our colleges still are in good hands." He signed himself — "Fuzzy from Boston."

Judge Hugh MacMillan of the Circuit Court of the 15th judicial circuit of Florida, West Palm Beach, Fla., wrote to Dr. Strand:

"I LOOK forward to each lecture with enthusiasm and anticipation." A man from Columbus, Ohio, wrote to Dr. Hyman, "You cannot measure the artistic . . . uplift you bring to my day."

From Eureka, Mo., a Franciscan brother and one of his co-workers in a hospital wrote to Dr. Hyman, referring to her course on Italian Renaissance art:

"You have brightened many a morning on the job as we take care of our patients. We both admire the classic beauty of your countenance, your beautiful soft eyes . . . thank you for being."

Red Cross Is Accepting Viet Servicemen Gifts

Packages for servicemen in Vietnam are being accepted at the Red Cross Chapter House in San Rafael. The packages will be sent air mail, space available until the ultimate deadline of Dec. 15, according to Nancy King Hayden of the Marin County Chapter, American National Red Cross.

Recipes tested by the Marin Chapter that have proven to ship well are for apricot bars, choco-marshmallows and chocolate crackies.

The Red Cross recommends the following methods of packing, wrapping, addressing and mailing the finished product:

Place a layer of unsalted, popped popcorn, about two inches deep in an empty two pound metal coffee can. Put the cookies in a large plastic bag and seal; place the bag in the can on top of the popcorn. Fill the top of the can with more popped popcorn. Seal the can.

Wrap each can individually in several layers of brown paper, taped securely with masking tape. Tie it securely with heavy string.

Address the can:

Bring the package to the Red Cross Chapter House.

APRICOT BARS
(32 bars)

⅔ cup dried apricots
½ cup soft butter or margarine
¼ cup granulated sugar
1 cup sifted flour; ⅓ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking powder
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs, well beaten
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped nuts
Confectioners sugar

Rinse apricots; cover with water, boil 10 minutes. Drain, cool, and chop. Mix until crumbly butter, granulated sugar and 1 cup flour. Pack into greased 8"x8"x2" pan. Bake in preheated oven, 350 degrees, for about 25 minutes or until lightly browned. Sift together one third cup flour, baking powder and salt. Gradually beat brown sugar into eggs. Add flour mixture; mix well. Add vanilla, nuts and apricots. Spread over baked layer. Bake 30 minutes or until done. Cool in pan. Cut in bars and roll in confectioner's sugar.

CHOCO-MARSHMALLOW
(3 dozen)

1¾ cup sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ cup cocoa
½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup milk
18 marshmallows cut in halves

Sift together flour, salt, soda and cocoa. Cream shortening and sugar. Add egg, vanilla and milk, beating well. Add dry ingredients and mix. Drop by teaspoons on greased baking sheet. Bake in preheated oven, 350 degrees, for 8 minutes. Remove from oven and press half marshmallow, cut side down, on top of each cookie. Bake two minutes longer. Cool. Top with cocoa frosting. Frosting: Combine two cups sifted confectioners sugar, five tablespoons cocoa, one-eighth teaspoon salt, three teaspoons soft butter or margarine, and four to five teaspoons light cream.

CHOCOLATE CRACKIES
(6 dozen)

4 squares unsweetened chocolate
½ cup salad oil
2 cups granulated sugar
4 eggs, unbeaten
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoons baking powder
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 cup confectioners sugar
½ teaspoon salt

Melt chocolate in top of large double boiler or mixing bowl over hot water. Remove from water and blend in oil and sugar. Add eggs one at a time, and beat well after each addition. Add vanilla. Sift flour with baking powder and salt; stir into chocolate mixture. Add nuts and mix thoroughly. Chill the dough several hours or overnight. Drop by teaspoonsful of dough onto confectioners sugar. Roll around and shape into small balls and place on greased baking sheet. Bake in pre-heated oven, 350 degrees, for 10 to 12 minutes. The confectioners sugar coating will crack during baking, giving an interesting effect.

Man-Tailored Suits On Fashion Front

Corporate apparel has become corporate fashion, says the Wool Bureau. No more man-tailored suits to hide pretty young women. Fine, fun, mixable versatile colorful fashion is what's on deck, according to a bureau booklet featuring silhouettes from the drawing board of Chuck Howard.

There are blazers and pant and skirt suits with turtlenecks; sleeveless front-zip tunics over fuil-long sleeved blouses and kicky skirts. Fabrics for the coporate uniforms include wool double knit, crepe, faille, and double woven gabardine.

THE GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Cut The Strings Completely And Take Pity On Such A Poor Slob

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I went with a guy for over nine months and was very much in love with him. I'm 22 and he's 27, so it wasn't just a high school romance.

I loved him so much that I took his abusive language and cruelties, thinking my love would change him. I would hold my breath sometimes, trying not to cry because tears made him even madder. I made excuses for him — his bad childhood, the tough breaks he'd had, his insecurity which made him put others down to build himself up — and that included a lot of bragging but not much truth about important things.

The more I babied him, the more he drank. His weekends became seven days long, and I was drinking more too, trying to "understand" him. I hated myself so much that I figured we deserved each other — he'd destroyed all my self-confidence: Could anyone want the "fool" he insisted I was?

Finally I realized this kind of love was killing me, especially since he found himself an 18-year-old girl he could manipulate better. He kept her to do his housework and sleep with him, but took me out to show off as his "college girl date." I finally left the whole mess.

Now, I'm seeing a dear friend of mine who happens to be my ex's friend too. It isn't love (I'm through with that for a while), but we're good pals. He's helping me get my head back together.

But... my ex has such an ego hangup that he thinks I'm trying to get back at him by seeing his buddy. The other night he even managed an "emergency" so my pal broke a date with me 20 minutes before we were to go out. Ex won't quit till he destroys our friendship, and probably others I'll have in the future.

Should I call this jerk and tell him to leave my life alone? What can I do with an egomaniac who pulls the strings no matter how I try to cut loose? — PUPPET

DEAR PUPPET:

You'll only feed his self-importance if you phone this dog in the manger. Pity him as a manipulator whose ego trip is a lonesome journey to nowhere. Demolish him (to yourself and others) with "I feel so sorry for poor ——. He'll be an overage adolescent all his life."

And forget him! I know this is hard, when a fascinating man (isn't it sad how cruelty attracts?) has dominated almost a year of your life. But once you really cut the strings, he can't hurt you. — HELEN

DEAR PUPPET:

Don't look at him as a dog in the manger, but a "mangy dog," and laugh when you say it. The only "friends" you'll lose because of him are ones you'd be better off without. — SUE

DEAR RAP:

I'm almost 16. I help out at the home of a married friend, Georgia, who is a sort of distant cousin of my mother. Our families are real close, and Georgia often asks me over to stay a weekend or longer. She works, so I fix meals for her husband, Nat, and take care of the house.

Nat is 28, and very affectionate, but Georgia doesn't pay much attention to him. He's been kissing and hugging me a lot but I thought it was just his way. The other night he came into my bedroom and started saying kinda wild things. I felt like screaming, but I didn't.

If I refuse to go over to their house, Georgia and Mom will be hurt. If I tell, there goes a marriage. I don't want to lose a great friendship. — HELP

P.S. It's fun taking care of a house and pretending it's mine. I like that part.

DEAR HELP:

While you're playing house, Nat is making a play for you, and you don't know the rules well enough to play this kind of game. I suspect you're more than a little fascinated — and that's dangerous, especially when you excuse his come-ons with Georgia's coldness. (Maybe even encourage them a bit, right?)

Get so busy with school and your own social life that you "just can't make it this weekend, Georgia," and plan never to be alone with Nat — at his house or yours. — HELEN

DEAR HELP:

...And tell him (if he does corner you) that you don't dig junior dirty old men — just before you stomp on his instep! — SUE

INSIDE YOUR HOME

The 20th Century Gypsy Must Adapt Lifestyle, Furnishings

By CAROLYN S. MURRAY

Gypsies come in all ages, creeds, colors and vocations. The technical journal writer whose assignment lasts only as long as the government contract to which he's committed; the baseball player who moves up and down the farm-team system; the Peace Corps volunteers who spend two years in a foreign land or the Vista volunteers who live and work within the country's boundaries. All gypsies, 20th-Century style. And there are thousands of others who adjust to new environments every four or five years because their life's work requires that kind of mobility.

What about the quality of family life for such individuals? Psychologists tell us that man can better survive the mobile life when he can relate to some of his surroundings. Small possessions do the job for the military man; family china, a few flowers and favorite toys work for his wife and children.

BUT MAJOR purchases are often made by young and old couples on the move. How can they be integrated into the shifting mobile life?

Start by acquiring the accouterments to comfortable living, instead of the basic necessities. For example, you can always find an apartment or mobile home furnished with the usual sofas and beds. But wall surfaces are frequently bland. So invent a series of roll-up panels of striking wallpaper or fabric, a kind of springless window shade idea.

You simply hang and unroll the decorative material when you move into a new residence. Or if you have a one or two-year stay in mind, find some of the prepasted, strippable wall coverings, such as the one shown by Dunn-Edwards. It's a landlord pleaser, since you can take it with you when you leave. And the bold graphic designs available make a nice positive statement about this being a very personal place — even though temporary.

Smaller pieces of furniture can be added to the family possessions if they are light, portable and add color to the new home. For example, the folding chairs shown today. Finished in bright lacquer colors and upholstered in a Pucci-print fabric, they add another splash of individuality to a temporary home. Four folded chairs, such as these by Brown-Saltman, take little space on moving day.

THE CONSOLE table is another space-saving idea by the same manufacturer. It has two drop-down leaves and when at rest, it fits into a very narrow space. But when mealtimes arrive, pop up one or two wings and seat two, four and even six, if needed.

The longer, clean-lined table might be another good investment. It serves for dining, homework or can be used as a sofa-back table. Designed by Robert Thorpe for Brown-Saltman it comes in lacquer colors.

This kind of table encourages you to move the sofa away from the wall — and in a temporary home the one sure way to feel "at home" is to rearrange all of the upholstered pieces until you create the best groupings for your family.

Despite Botulism Reports, Canned Foods Are Safe

Are canned foods really safe to eat? Despite the doubt injected into many homes throughout the country by a recent fatal case of botulism poisoning from canned vichyssoise, the answer remains an unqualified, "Yes."

The recent death was only the fourth such fatality in the last 45 years, reports the November issue of Family Health magazine. The article notes that the four deaths resulted from just three contaminated cans.

The article suggests ways to avoid the possibility, though remote, of becoming one of those isolated cases.

It is only when canned food is exposed to the air, either while still in the can or following its removal, that botulism may develop. Examine the condition of the cans that are purchased for...

Dents. A small, shallow dent isn't dangerous, but a large, deep crease may damage a seam or put a crack in the metal and thus destroy airtightness. Buying badly dented cans at marked-down prices is not worth the risk.

Bulges. The rule: don't use a can with swollen or bulging ends. Return it to the store manager immediately, so he can check for possible defects in other cans of the same product.

Odors. If you detect any off-odor when you open a can of food, don't taste; throw it out.

Leakage. Sure sign that internal security has been breached. Don't use the can.

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

In Tournament Play, A Mere Overtrick Worth A Pot Of Gold

In the national bridge tournament that begins in Phoenix on Friday, the contestants must struggle for the smallest possible advantage. A mere overtrick, which we all disregard in regular rubber bridge, is of the highest importance in tournament bridge. There are safety plays for an overtrick just as in ordinary bridge there are safety plays to assure the contract.

FINESSE TRY

South wins the first trick with the queen of clubs and leads a spade to try a finesse with the queen. When this succeeds, declarer continues with dummy's ace of spades. The king doesn't fall, unfortunately for South.

Let us shed no tears for declarer since when he next leads a low club from dummy the king of clubs pops up. South naturally wins with the ace of clubs and can now be sure of the contract since he will lose only two hearts and a trump at most.

This is not enough for any aggressive tournament player, since South can make sure of an overtrick if he can only guess which opponent has the king of diamonds. The important thing is to make sure of the 11th trick regardless of which opponent has the king and without having to guess.

HELP FROM ENEMY

South should call on the enemy for help in this situation. He leads the six of clubs to dummy's jack, cashes the ace of diamonds and ruffs a diamond. Then he leads a trump to put West in with the king.

Since West is out of clubs and spades he must return a red card. If West returns a heart, South's king is sure to win a trick. If West returns a low diamond, dummy's jack will win; and if West returns the king of diamonds, South ruffs and leads the four of clubs to dummy's five in order to discard a heart on dummy's good diamond. The same play would work, of course, if East had the king of diamonds.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one spade, and the next player passes.

You hold:
♠ - 6 3
♥ - Q J 10 4 2
♦ - 9 8 3 2
♣ - K 7.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one no-trump, promising about 6 to 10 points in high cards.

The hand is not strong enough for a response of two hearts since you would need at least 10 points for such a bid.

Breakfast Doe

POMPEII, Mich. (UPI)—A whitetail doe, apparently being tracked by hunters on the opening day of deer hunting, went out of her way to escape and joined the Homer Schroeder family for breakfast yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Schroder said the doe broke through their dining room window, crashed into a stove, bounced off a wall, and ran out.

Farm Insurance Hearing Urged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The state Board of Agriculture has been urged by the California State Grange to hold a public hearing before making any recommendation to Gov. Ronald Reagan on unemployment insurance for farm workers.

The request was made by Grange Master Chester Deaver of board president Allan Grant in a letter.

An Assembly-passed bill to extend unemployment insurance to farm laborers is pending on the Senate floor.

Kent Clerk Destroys Jury Report

RAVENNA, Ohio (UPI)—A county clerk yesterday destroyed a grand jury report that accused 25 persons of criminal actions in the disorders at Kent State University which ended in the shooting deaths of four students by National Guardsmen, May 4, 1970.

Complying with an order by a federal judge, Portage County Clerk of Courts Lucy De Leone ceremoniously burned the report and the only copy in a waste basket in the parking lot of the county courthouse.

A group of 25 persons watched the burning which prompted New York attorney, David Scribner, who represents some of the 25 persons indicted, to say:

"I hope the Ohio Supreme Court will order the burning of the indictments."

The report, issued Oct. 16, 1970, by a grand jury investigating the violence on the campus, was ordered destroyed by U. S. District Court Judge William K. Thomas in Cleveland last Jan. 28.

In Washington, U. S. Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart temporarily blocked the prosecution of the 25 persons pending action by the court later this week. The defendants are scheduled to go on trial Nov. 22.

Attorneys for the 25 argued they could not get a fair trial because of the grand jury report.

After studying the report, which accompanied the indictment of 24 students and former students and one professor, Thomas ruled: "These findings and conclusions, unlawful violations of the grand jury oath of secrecy, prejudice the indicted persons."

"I bet there won't be a dry eye in the place," said the 22-year-old senior, Sunday night.

"Burning the report isn't going to change anybody's opinions. The report has already done irreparable harm, but I guess destroying it at least demonstrates that the report was illegal," he said.

The grand jury report cited a "permissive" Kent State administration for blame in allowing an atmosphere conducive to the formenting of disorders, and it absolved the National Guardsmen who fired on the crowd of anti-war demonstrators.

Thomas's ruling was later appealed to the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati, which upheld destruction of the report. But the court also upheld the indictment. Prosecution of the 25 could begin as early as Nov. 22.

Drake High Schedules 'Matchmaker' Six Times

Sir Francis Drake High School's drama department will present "The Matchmaker," by Wilder, Thursday, Friday and Saturday and Dec. 2-4 at 8:30 p.m. in the school's Little Theater.

The comedy, upon which "Hello, Dolly" was based, concerns a matchmaker Dolly Levi, played by Laura Smyth, who seeks the affections of a hot-tempered but very rich merchant of Yonkers, Horace Vandergelder, acted by James Owen.

Dolly plots to marry Horace, while she matches up clerk Cornelius Hackyl (James Nichols) and widow Irene Molly (Denise Hockley), and turns New York upside down and inside out in a span of less than 24 hours.

Petaluma Hosts Wild West Show

Chief Red Feather's Wild West Show will be presented Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at the Petaluma Veteran's Memorial Building.

Proceeds will benefit the Petaluma Youth Association. The show will feature Indian dances and archery.

Wayne Tom, known as Chief Red Feather, was born in China and was adopted by Chief White Cloud of the Sioux tribe. Dancers in the show include Apache, Navajo, Chippewa and Sioux tribesmen.

Occidental Youth Held In Assault

John Andrew Short, 18, of Occidental, was arraigned yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court on charges of rape and second degree armed robbery.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon set bail at $10,000 and scheduled Short to enter a plea tomorrow. Short was arrested yesterday after a 19-year-old girl said he raped her and took $12 from her purse in a remote area on Lakeville Highway, Petaluma, Sunday night.

COSTLY

The Road To Being Top Citizen

I-J Special Report

WILMINGTON, N.C. — Roger D. Paxton, just old enough to vote, has found out it takes time and costs money to be a good citizen.

He volunteered to appear against the driver of a petroleum tanker he saw weaving on a main highway one evening in November 1970. It took the courts nine months to convict the driver of drunken driving, and young Paxton had to make no less than seven trips to court over that period of time.

"People said I was a fool," Paxton said. "I got $3 a day and gas, and I could have made almost $3 an hour overtime on my job. I figure I drove almost 1,000 miles before the case was ended."

But work on a rescue squad has made the young man conscious of the terrible results of careless and drunken driving.

"When I saw that petroleum truck swerving all over the place, I just had to keep that driver off the road," he said.

Would he go through it all again if he had it to do over?

"Any time!" Roger declared.

Film Developed In River Water

AMSTERDAM (UPI)—Dutch river water is so polluted by chemicals that you can develop a film in it, the daily De Telegraaf said today.

The newspaper said its photographer took the water from the river in Rotterdam, where at the same time he shot a photograph of some houses. The printed picture clearly showed the houses.

MARIN APPEARANCE — Bill Cosby along with Bill Withers will appear in a concert of music and comedy at 7 p.m. and 10 p.m. performances Saturday at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

CASA To Hold Meeting Nov. 24

The Committee for Adequate Shelter for All (CASA) will present two speakers on the topic, "Should second units be permitted in single-family neighborhoods," at a luncheon meeting on Nov. 24 at 11:45 a.m. in the old Northwestern Pacific Railroad Depot, 930 Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael.

Speakers will be Jack R. Adams, a Tamalpais Valley home owner, and San Anselmo resident Jack Olive, chairman of the San Anselmo citizen's advisory committee studying such second units.

Mayors, Councilmen To Discuss Bicycles

The Marin County Council of Mayors and Councilmen will discuss proposed uniform bicycle registration and noise abatement ordinances at a dinner meeting at 7:15 p.m. tomorrow at Le Tonneau Restaurant in Corte Madera.

A social hour at 6:30 p.m. will precede the dinner.

Hunter Fires, Wounds Buddy

A San Anselmo pheasant hunter suffered minor pellet wounds last Saturday when a fellow hunter swung his shotgun after a flying pheasant and fired in his direction.

He told sheriff's deputies he and two other friends were hunting about 9 a.m. at the St. Vincent's Pheasant Club behind St. Vincent's School for Boys.

They were walking three abreast, about 50 yards apart.

Items Valued At $245 Are Stolen

Computer cards and sanitary pads for children valued at $245 were stolen yesterday from a car parked in the Corte Madera Shopping Center, police said.

The items taken shortly before 2:30 p.m. were in a car belonging to Pacific International Co. of San Rafael, police said.

College Board And Advisers Will Meet

The Marin Community College District board will meet with its citizens advisory panel at 8 p.m. today to discuss what steps should be taken in the wake of the failure of the district's $16.7 building bond.

The meeting will be in room OC-160 at the College of Marin.

BROTHERHOOD OF MAN — Participants in "The Changing Way," a class offered by the experimental college at the College of Marin, join hands for a stretching and balancing exercise. The class is dedicated to the "brotherhood of man" unlike classes in the last experimental college, which, critics claimed, were dedicated to destruction.

DESIGN FOR LEARNING

Experimental College Is Revived

By LARRY MOWELL

The Experimental College at the College of Marin, dead for about two years, has been revived with a new, considerably less revolutionary character.

Since the fledgling school opened last month about 35 classes have sprouted. Most concentrate on personal development, not politics.

The old Experimental College featured courses like "You and Your Draft Board — Win, Lose or Draw," "Religion as Revolution," and "U.S. Imperialism in Latin America."

One offering was condemned by some groups because, they charged, revolutionary tactics were being taught.

For example, the college offers a class called the "Changing Way" taught by Michael A. Gneck. Each Tuesday and Thursday at the College of Marin gym Gneck's ministerial tones guide his pupils through a series of complicated, synchronized exercises.

To the casual observer, it looks like coeducational calisthenics, but to Gneck and his college-age students the class is as serious as a High Mass.

Body control assumes an almost religious air as Gneck spices the ballet-like exercises with brief homilies based on the philosophy of movement he has developed.

His 20 students are among more than 500 persons who have signed up for courses since the executive council of the Associated Students of the College of Marin took the fledgling college under its wing last month.

However, the class seems to typify the emphasis on individual growth evident in other course offerings. The college's brochure lists classes on belly dancing, Bible literature, first aid, yoga and organic eating.

Brian Horwitz, founder and director of the school and executive council member, said his school supports its curriculum on a budget of $250.

All 35 classes meet at the College of Marin, but no credit is given, he said.

Like most educational reform groups, the rallying cry of the experimental college is "relevance."

"We make it possible for people to learn and teach what many people feel is relevant, but isn't in the general curriculum," Horwitz said.

The credit courses offered at the college simply do not meet everyone's needs, he said.

"There is a lot of talk on this campus about what you learned last semester and what usually comes out is not a whole hell of a lot," he said.

Apparently the need for relevant education extends beyond the bounds of the Kentfield campus since, according to Horwitz, many of the classes attract the middle-aged and elderly.

Creating a learning environment is the goal of experimenting educators claim in their class brochure, but to college officials it is simply a student activity, according to Irwin P. Diamond, dean of students. The dean said the experimental college is not affecting the established curriculum.

However, merely adding courses to the College of Marin curriculum is clearly not the goal of the experimental college. Meeting interests is, Horwitz said.

The previous extracurricular experimental college failed in 1969 because "the interest wasn't super there," he said.

Keeping the interest "super there" has led to a rather loose structure. The $250 budget is devoted to educational materials and printing class descriptions, Horwitz said.

Otherwise, teachers fend for themselves. They either donate their time or charge fees ranging up to $3 a session, Horwitz said. About three-fourths of the classes are free.

Teachers are as varied as the classes they teach, Horwitz said. Karate is taught by John Pell, coach of the United States team at the First World Karate Championship in Tokyo last year. Other classes are taught by college professors, students and persons without any formal teaching background, Horwitz said.

Parents' Stop Sign Victory

The Corte Madera Town Council last night bowed to demands by parents who live near Granada School and ordered four-way stop for the intersection of Granada Drive and El Camino Way.

The intersection currently has two stops signs, one of which was recently moved from the foot of Granada Hill. Several parents last night complained cars were going too fast through the intersection and endangering children.

Although Arthur Morrison, the town engineer, recommended against the new stop signs, saying they would cause many persons to come to a "rolling stop," the council voted four to one to install them. Mayor Holmes S. Norville cast the dissenting vote.

The council turned down an appeal from a design review denial for three units on a parcel of land at the corner of Paradise Drive and El Camino Way.

The applicant, W. F. Riley, had wanted to build a duplex and a single-family home. Councilmen indicated they did not object to the use of the land (currently zoned single-family) but did not like the "boxy" modern structures planned.

The council also introduced an ordinance that would cut down the requirements for a planned unit development zoning from 25 acres to one acre, saying this was more realistic about the size of undeveloped parcels in the town.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

POSTPONED — Continued to the Dec. 6 meeting an application to rezone lots in the 5100 block of Paradise Drive from single-family to medium density multiple dwelling.

HEARING — Set a public hearing from 8 p.m. Dec. 6 on an application to rezone a lot at the corner of Corte Madera Avenue and First Street.

BOARDS — Adopted an ordinance setting four-year terms for boards and commissions which will start Jan. 1.

PERMIT — Granted a home occupation permit for G. K. Potter to do art work at his home at 105 Sonora Way.

RECREATION — Postponed to the Dec. 6 meeting further discussion of the town's recreation program for next year.

San Rafael Will Push Courthouse Parking Plans

City Manager To Ask Supervisor Accord On Joint Development

The San Rafael City Council last night agreed to pursue plans for development of more parking at the old courthouse site, and hoped to get county approval of the plans today.

City Mgr. James H. McCown today was to ask the board of supervisors to agree to joint development of the property for parking, but he warned the council last night that the county administrator's office did not favor the plan.

If the county won't share the cost of developing the parking, the council instructed McCown to seek the supervisors' permission for the city to pave the property on its own.

In that case the city would hope to recoup the estimated $10,050 cost of the project from parking revenues, but would want county assurance that the city would be reimbursed for any improvements if the county sells the property before the costs have been recovered.

If the supervisors agree neither to participate in the proposal nor allow the city to go it alone, the council directed McCown to insist that the county correct drainage problems and improve the appearance of the site.

The city's plan calls for 147 parking spaces on the site, an increase from about 80 spaces on the sides of the courthouse square before the building was destroyed by fire earlier this year.

The council agreed unanimously (with the exception of John A. Miskimen who was absent) on its directions to McCown, but not before Councilmen Harry A. Barbier and Fred E. Jensen attacked the concept as subsidizing parking for downtown merchants.

Jensen said Montecito and Northgate shopping centers provide their own parking and some plan should be worked out in the future where downtown merchants would "kick in" for downtown parking.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

CURBS — Continued for further discussion during budget sessions a proposal for ramping curbs on Fourth Street for wheelchairs after City Engineer Ely Caillouette Jr. reported cost of the project would be $10,000 to $15,000.

FIREHOUSE — Authorized spending $3,400 for repairs to the roof of the fire station at Fifth Avenue and C Street.

SALARIES — Heard a report from City Atty. Fred C. Robbins Jr. that the federal Office of Emergency Preparedness had informed him that 4 per cent salary increases approved for city employees by the council Aug. 16 could be retroactive to July 1. McCown said the raises would be included in the employees' next paychecks Saturday.

APPOINTMENTS — Approved a plan presented by McCown for establishment of a "reservoir of citizens" and system file for filling vacancies on city boards and commissions. McCown said the system would first be used to fill a vacancy on the library board and he said applications were available at his office.

LIBRARY — Approved the library board's recommendation of San Rafael architects Andrew James Ring III and Taco Enomoto to prepare preliminary plans for expansion of the San Rafael Library.

CLOSED MEETING — Went into closed session to discuss pending litigation against the city and set another closed session for 9 a.m. Saturday to interview candidates for the position of assistant city manager.

ZONING — Adopted rezoning for expansion of Kaiser Hospital and for a 107-unit townhouse development on an extension of Manuel T. Freitas Parkway.

TRAFFIC — Agreed to install stop signs on Tamarack and Trellis drives at Montecillo Road. Only Montecillo Road traffic now has stop signs at the two intersections.

ROAD — Referred to staff for a report Dec. 6 a San Rafael Chamber of Commerce recommendation that a network of roads be established to provide alternate north-south routes to Highway 101.

WEEDS — Rejected a protest by Stanley Kurland of 1504 Lincoln Avenue concerning a $99 bill sent him by the city for weed abatement on property he owns on Brookdale Avenue.

San Rafael Council Notes Marin Plan's 'Conflicts'

By C. P. McCARTHY

The San Rafael City Council last night took its first look at the proposed Marin preliminary countywide general plan and noted some conflict with city planning.

Councilmen took no action on the plan, but it drew criticism from Mayor C. Paul Bettini who said it must be "refined" before he would approve it.

The plan is to be presented Dec. 2 to the City-County Planning Council of Marin for its recommendation on adoption of the plan as an "interim guide" until a more detailed plan is completed, Harvey E. Bragdon, county chief of current planning, told the city council.

Bettini said he was concerned about differences in the plan for San Rafael from the city's own 1966 general plan. In particular, he referred to the county's emphasis on the Northgate-Civic Center area as a commercial center to the disadvantage of downtown San Rafael; the county's elimination of a shoreline parkway the city proposes along the bay; and a county-proposed open-space area south of proposed light industrial development south of St. Vincent's Hill, an area to be developed under the city's general plan.

The mayor also expressed concern over plans for roads linking Terra Linda with the Sleepy Hollow area and Lucas Valley Road with the White's Hill area near Fairfax.

Robert Harrison of the county planning department said the roads were in the plan now but that they had met great opposition in the Sleepy Hollow area.

Bettini said he would want the roads, but would want to know exactly where they were going before he would approve the plan.

Bragdon said he welcomed Bettini's comments on the plan, and emphasized that it was a "conceptual" plan, and that the planning department realized there will be areas of disagreement between cities and the county which will have to be resolved.

Bus Baggage Bill Defeated

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill requiring a bus company to pay up to $500 for losing or damaging a traveler's baggage was defeated Monday by the Assembly and handed to a conference committee to work out a solution.

The measure by Assemblyman John J. Miller, D-Berkeley, was rejected when the lower house refused to grant Miller's request that it accept Senate amendments to his bill.

The 30-19 vote, 11 short of the 41 required for approval, set the stage for appointment of an Assembly-Senate conference committee to iron out differences.

A concert by the Different Fur, a group that produces special electronic effects with unconventional instruments, is scheduled for Sunday at 8:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theater of the College of Marin.

Building Security Bill Approved

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly has given overwhelming approval to a bill ordering the state Justice Department to draft building security standards aimed at reducing burglaries and the planting of bombs.

The bill by Speaker Bob Moretti was sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan Monday on a 57-1 vote. It orders that the standards be prepared for recommendation to the 1973 and 1974 legislatures.

In a declaration of intent, the bill asserts that burglary and unlawful entry of a building for other purposes such as "robbery or placing explosives or incendiary devices, can be reduced by devoting greater attention to construction methods and materials as well as intrusion and alerting devices."

San Francisco Rally Request Rejected

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—the Board of Supervisors has rejected a request that it close Polk Street in front of the City Hall on Saturday for a rally by those favoring abortions.

The request on Monday came from the Women's National Abortion Action Coalition which said it planned a similar rally in Washington, D.C.

Coast Guard Figures Released

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — One hundred and sixty seven persons owe their lives to rescue by the 12th District Coast Guard, during fiscal 1971, according to statistics just released here.

The Coast Guard handled 3,334 distress cases in Northern California and assisted 6,447 persons. An estimated $11.1 million worth of maritime property was also saved between July 1, 1970, and June 30, 1971.

Youth Arraigned On Burglary Count

Dennis K. Smith, 18, of 1034 Las Pavadas Avenue, San Rafael, has been arraigned on a burglary charge for allegedly taking a circular electric saw from the garage of a San Rafael home last Thursday.

He is scheduled to plead today to the charges in Marin Municipal Court.

Boys' Club In Novato On Way To Success

A group of dedicated men in Novato feel they are well on the way to providing Marin's second largest city with a boys' club. They have raised nearly half of the money needed to put up a clubhouse. They figure that once they build the clubhouse, the boys' club will prove its worth and draw sufficient financial support to keep going.

Southern Marin has a boys' club, which has a hard time raising funds. One who believes strongly that San Rafael, the county's biggest city, also should have such a club is Jack MacPhee, recently appointed to the city parks and recreation commission. MacPhee formerly operated what he called the Mar-Vel Athletic Club "on his own," fitting up the basement of his house with body-building and weight-lifting equipment. He knows from experience that providing what is needed is no one-man job.

MacPhee has his sights set high. He envisions an Olympic-sized pool, among other equipment.

THE STORY of the Novato Boys' Club headquarters, still not a reality, shows what he and other boosters for a San Rafael Boys' Club are up against.

Joseph Bonamolo got the Novato Boys' Club started a few years back. But it lacked facilities and scarcely got off the ground. Eugene Trombley next took over as club president, but was unable to drum up enough enthusiasm in the city. David E. Milano became president last year, and it is he who has sparked the current fund-raising drive.

BOYS' CLUBS, affiliated with Boys' Club of America, are privately operated. Sometimes support from the bureaucracy in city and county recreation departments is lacking. The bureaucrats sometimes see a boys' club as an encroachment on their preserve.

It is an advantage to a boys' club, however, to remain privately sponsored and operated — even though this deprives it of ready funds from the tax dollar. Much of today's recreation for young people is too structured, over-organized, over-supervised. As a city function it perhaps has to be that way. As a privately sponsored function, it can be more flexible.

Boys' clubs are of long standing and recognized benefit in many of the larger cities. We recall as an example that three decades and more ago, Utah Power and Light Co. underwrote the costs of the West Side Boys' Club in the "tough side of town" in Salt Lake City — claiming that the company saved more than the club cost because the boys had something else to do and didn't break so many street lights.

Such clubs are relatively new to the suburbs. But they have a place here, too. We wish success to the Novato Boys' Club in its campaign for clubhouse funds. And we think it's time that something similar got started in San Rafael.

By RUS WALTON:

Sales Tax On Gasoline Wrong Approach To Need

SACRAMENTO — Well, they've done it to you again — the politicians.

At least they are going to — starting July 1, 1972.

A five per cent sales tax on gasoline! That comes out to 1½ to 2.2 cents a gallon. And, that's on top of the 11 cents a gallon tax already there — four cents federal, seven cents state.

So, starting next summer, every time you crank up the family buggy, 40 per cent of your gas dollar goes for taxes.

The idea behind the sales tax on gasoline is to promote local mass rapid transit projects by providing $170 million a year to help pay for trains and tracks and busses, and some additional roads and expressways. That is a worthy undertaking, to be sure.

It's just that they have gone about it the wrong way.

LOOK AT IT THIS WAY. They put in a new rapid transit system — sleek new trains, fancy stations, computerized traffic controls. And, who benefits?

Sure, the commuter gets a service. And maybe — just maybe — there are fewer cars on the roads and less smog. But, the guy who really profits is the fellow who owns land around the train stations and the terminals. He hasn't done a thing and he stands to clean up.

Take BART, for example, the Bay Area Rapid Transit district funded by taxpayer money. Estimates are that the value of the land around BART's 33 stations will jump about $1 billion. A tidy windfall for a few landowners who reap the rewards of socially created, taxpayer-induced wealth! The public pays; they profit.

So, instead of laying it on the motorist, who is already paying for the highways, why not tax the folks who make the tremendous profits for doing nothing — except, maybe, speculating in land? They would still come out ahead.

CITIES WITH MASS transit problems and plans should form special districts and use their sovereign power to tax the land, not the improvements, along the routes and around the stations. Such taxes, along with reasonable fares for the commuter, would go most of the way toward paying the costs of rapid transit.

That's not such a hare-brained idea. It's been done, and it works. And everyone involved benefits.

It's been done for other public works projects, too.

The locally financed, multi-purpose reclamation projects around Modesto and Turlock and surrounding Stanislaus County are landmark examples. Those water projects transformed that area from a semi-arid treeless expanse into a fertile and flourishing plain. And, it was all locally-financed — no federal grants, no cash from Sacramento.

The projects were financed through local irrigation districts which were formed to levy annual assessments on the land, exclusive of crops and improvements. The levies were sufficient to meet district financial obligations. Did it work? Well, today the water and power projects are paid for, in full, and Don Pedro Dam is one of the monuments to their smarts and their guts.

CITIES, OR AREAS, wrestling with rapid transit problems could take a lesson. The problem, of course, is that for such logic to work men must be more willing to support their own efforts. And, politicians must be less prone to skin one cat to get a fur coat for someone else.

It's a matter of honest, rather than expedient, tax reform, of getting off the dime and making intelligent use of the land value tax.

Where Goes Money From Tax Increases?

Along with many taxpayers in Marin, we have been shocked by the enormous leap in our property taxes.

Could you tell us how much money has been raised throughout the county by this extraordinary reassessment and what are the plans by the county to disburse it.

LOIS McMANUS
Kentfield

(The Independent-Journal on July 23 carried a story quoting County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell that the change in assessment ratio from 23 to 25 per cent of appraised value would add $5.4 million to Marin tax rolls without any change in tax rates. How the money is used varies widely among the multitude of taxing agencies. — Editor.)

Plan Doesn't Get Good Marks Here

In reference to your article from Nov. 6, "Corte Madera Plan Gets Good Marks," that depends on the teacher marking the report card.

If Mr. Cooke believes the 1,500-2,000 new residents can be protected by two additional firemen and policemen, he surely has not looked into the current situation at all. His estimate is ridiculous and if it is any indication of his work, I seriously believe the town should replace him as their consultant.

The proposed Meadowsweet Station development does not fit the makeup of Corte Madera and should not be approved in its present form.

Taxes will not be reduced. Maybe Mr. Cooke can cite specific examples of a town or towns where a development of this nature actually reduced taxes.

Suggests Recall Over Mundialization

In letter to the editor, Nov. 3, Norman Leach has taken upon himself to be the spokesman for all of San Anselmo.

By what right has he usurped the office of the mayor to make policy statements for our city?

A small minority of people did attend a strange flag raising ritual on Oct. 25, but this in no way represented the total opinion of the residents of San Anselmo.

Most San Anselmans probably do not know that anything different happened on that day, or even care.

Regardless — how is it possible for Norman Leach to state unequivocally that San Anselmo could not support the stand of the United States Government in the UN, on the China question?

Is he the peer of elder statesmen, telling us that he is more knowledgeable than government, and international statesmen who deal with these problems first hand, day in and day out?

There is such a thing as recall.

DON PONTIUS
San Anselmo.

Nixon Precipitated Confirmation Fight

A considerable amount of confusion surrounds those people President Nixon has nominated for the Supreme Court. The confusion centers on whether they are or should be liberal or conservative; activists or strict constructionists; or whether or not they are qualified to serve. Liberal and activist are not necessarily synonomous, nor are conservative and strict constructionist.

A liberal justice would probably rule in favor of extending civil rights or voting rights, but if he were an activist he would extrapolate his decision from a particular situation to cover as many similar situations as possible. If he were a strict constructionist he would rule in a similar way, but would restrict it to that specific case.

Similarly, a conservative justice would probably favor the government in a case concerning national security or surveillance of citizens. Likewise, if he were an activist he would try to extrapolate it as widely as possible and if he were a strict constructionist, he would make a narrow interpetation covering only that specific situation. I naturally hope Mr. Nixon really means it when he says his men are both conservative and strict constructionists.

As to qualifications, both men seem to be so. Normally their conservatism would not be a valid issue, except Mr. Nixon made it so in his nominating speech. This was unwise of him for their political views are now fair game for Senate liberals, if they choose to make them so. Mr. Nixon may have precipitated a confirmation fight where none would have taken place if he had been a bit more careful in what he said while nominating them.

Nobel Prize Honors Remarkable Achievements Of Onetime Refugee

WASHINGTON — A candle lighted against the darkness of a troubled world casts a long beam. It illuminates an act counter to the violence and hatred that are symptoms of the sickness of our time.

Anyone predicting 25 years ago that a German would receive the Nobel Peace Prize would have been considered daft. The award this year went to Chancellor Willy Brandt, and it is remarkable not only as tribute to his diplomacy but as a testament to his career.

If no one could have believed in 1946, after the Nazi horde had ravaged so much of Europe and the war crimes trials were revealing the sinister depths of the Hitler conspiracy, that a German would be tapped, certainly Willy Brandt would have seemed a candidate beyond the remotest possibility. The illegitimate son of a waitress in Lubeck, he never knew his father. As the Nazis consolidated their power he fled to Norway, since to have stayed would have meant certain death.

HE WAS GIVEN the Nobel Prize for carrying through a dialogue with the East that has resulted in treaties establishing postwar boundaries in accord with present reality. The chancellor dared to challenge and overcome the lingering belief in Germany that the border with Poland could be pushed back to what it had been before the Nazi invation in 1939.

More daring even, he started a series of talks with East Germany looking to a workable arrangement for the status of Berlin and for the two Germanys. After prolonged discussion among the four occupying powers in Berlin, in which the United States played the dubious role of reluctant dragon, the ambassadors of the four underwrote the Brandt initiative. Chances are good for an agreement stabilzing the rights of the West and enlargint the privilege of passage between East and West Berlin for the Germans.

The power brokers, conspiciously in Washington, frowned on the brash interloper. It was presumptuous, outrageous, for this Socialist to go rushing off to Moscow in pursuit of his ost-politik.

If Brandt was concerned about the frowning visages turned on him, he gave no sign of it. He had the same experience at home, where the Christian Democrats sought to make his diplomacy a cornerstone for their opposition. Short of some untoward event, the treaties will be ratified by a narrow majority in the Bundestag before Brandt's term expires in 1973.

WILLY BRANDT

first push for Brandt came from Danish parliamentarians. He had support at home, and finally it was up to an autonomous committee of the Norwegian storting, with each of six members casting a secret ballot. Three of the six are Socialists, three Conservatives. The vote for the German chancellor was unanimous.

So on Dec. 10 he will go to Oslo to deliver an address before the storting. It will be an emotional homecoming to the country that offered him refuge in time of direst need. The exile from Nazi tyranny will be speaking to the world.

Once before a German statesman received the Nobel Peace Prize. After the first world war, Gustav Stresemann had served as a bridge between the monarchist past and the struggling Weimar Republic. He became foreign minister and took the first steps with Britian and France toward the pace of Locarno, a guarantee by the three powers of the peace of Europe.

The Nobel committee in 1926 divided the prize among Stresemann; Aristide Briand, foreign minister of France, and Austen Chamberlain, the British foreign secretary. They had together brought Europe to a peak of hope. It was not to last for long, as Germany struggled under a load of reparations and the aftermath of runaway inflation. In 1930 the United States went protectionist with the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act that helped to trigger the worldwide depression. This was made to order for Hitler. It can happen again with the fear of recession haunting Europe today.

WINDOW ON THE WORLD

Emigration Hints Russia Expects Peace In Mid-East

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In the first 10 months of 1971 the Soviet Union has permitted some 7,500 Jews to emigrate to Israel, nearly three quarters as many as were allowed to leave the Soviet Union in the preceding 10 years. That total came to 10,330.

The natural question then is what happened to reverse a policy under which the Russian government frowned on the department of any useful citizen.

And what compelling force led so many Jews to apply for exit visas and thus risk government anger?

THE ANSWER to the first question lies in the fact the Soviet Union is in the midst of a campaign in which it seeks to project to the western world a policy of moderation and that it is a question that has been put to Soviet leaders as they barnstormed world capitals.

Outside the government level, other pressures also have been applied.

One has come from the noisy Jewish Defense League as led in the United States by Rabbi Mair Kahane. Probably more effective than the league's harrassment of Soviet representatives in the United States was the Brussels meeting of some 750 delegates from 27 countries that included most of the prominent national and international organizations in Jewry.

That meeting concentrated upon the Soviet Union probably the heaviest international criticism of Soviet internal policy it has experienced since the purge trials carried out by Josef Stalin in the 1930s.

AS TO WHAT HAPPENED to lead Soviet Jews to risk Kremlin wrath not merely by applying for exit visas but by demonstrations to insure international publicity for their actions, observers inside Russia trace it to the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

It led to increased attendance at synagogues among all levels and to increased interest in the study of Hebrew despite government oppositon.

The Soviet Union denies all charges of antisemitism, although antisemitism has a long history in Russia. It further declares that assimilation is reducing the number of Jews in the Soviet Union. The total is uncertain but is believed to be about 2.7 million. Of these, it is said perhaps 300,000 would like to emigrate.

Settlers from Russia and neighboring states in eastern Europe played a huge early role in the building of the state of Israel.

Approximately half of the top officials in today's Israeli government have their cultural origins in Russia. Until the Soviet Union broke relations with Israel in 1967, Russian ambassadors serving in Israel had no difficulty being understood in their native tongue.

The lowering of Soviet bars to emigration to Israel has been carried out over the objections of the Arabs, who see in it an addition to Israel's economic and military strength.

This alone has led to the further speculation that Soviet planners are looking ahead to settlement of the Mideast conflict and to a renewal of relations with Israel.

Townhouses, Apartments Show Need For Joint Safety Efforts

There is a proliferation of cluster housing, townhouses, condominium and apartment houses in Novato. The Novato Planning department estimates that there are approximately 2,000 such units under construction, approved, or in various stages of planning.

This is causing some concern in the Novato Fire Department. The city requires a one-hour fire wall of 5/8th inch gypsum board between cluster houses. There is no requirement for fire walls in townhouses, condominiums or apartment houses, according to the city building department.

Fire Chief Jack Kidder said that as long as the units are new, he is not concerned, but he will be in a few years when the shingles and shakes dry out and become weathered.

The chief said one of his major concerns is the shingle and shake construction, especially of the roofs. When these dry out, a grass or brush fire with a strong wind could set many of them on fire.

He was concerned also with the new St. Anthony de Padua Catholic Church at the south end of Cambridge Street. The church sits alone in a wilderness of grass, brush and trees. The plans called for a shake roof, but through the persuasion of the fire department, it was changed.

"With a good wind blowing a grass fire, that church would have been vulnerable to fire," Kidder said.

The city and fire district, which are separate entities, meet occasionally to discuss fire hazards of the buildings, the chief said. However, the city does not ask the fire department for its approval on plans for wooden structures.

With the apartment houses getting larger and larger in Novato, city and fire district should work together in setting up codes for fire protection. Anyone in these larger apartment complexes is at the mercy of everyone else's carelessness with fire.

AT THE TIME, nothing was said, but now the Air Force's role in the recent hijacking of a Boeing 747 in Anchorage, Alaska, can be revealed.

The hijacked plane was never out of the watchful radar eye of the North American Air Defense Command from the time it left Anchorage until it was recovered in Vancouver, B.C.

In addition, fighter interceptor planes always had the hijacked plane in visual sight. Taking part in this portion of the watch were two Delta Darts from Hamilton Air Force Base.

I cannot see what good the fighters could have done. I'm sure that under no circumstances would they have shot down the plane.

Brazil Due Sales Pitch For Planes

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)— Both the United States and France like to see the Brazilian air force fly into the wide blue yonder. However, the United States wants the planes made in the U.S.A. while France wants them Air France.

This may be the jet age, but French and American arms specialists have rolled up their sleeves for a knockdown, dragout battle of salesmenship over turboprop aircraft. They are trying to convince President Emilio Garrastazu Medici and the Brazilian air force that they can sell the best antisubmarine patrol aircraft for the money.

NOT LARGE

Military sources said Brazil intends to buy only about six or seven of the patrol planes. France has offered the two-engine Atlantic, the NATO plane used by Holland and Germany, as well as by France. The United States is pushing the four-engine Orion, from Lockheed, now used by Australia and New Zealand.

U.S. diplomatic sources said the airplane sale is important for U.S. security.

"The U.S. overseas bases need facilities that can service the type of planes we use. That's why we're trying to sell the Orion," a U. S. diplomatic source said.

The Orion costs an estimated $7 million, not including spare parts. According to the aircraft supplement of "Jane's Fighting Ships," the Orion has a maximum speed of 413 knots at 15,000 feet, with a range of 4,993 miles. The Atlantic, designed by Breguet, has a maximum speed of 330 knots and a range of 3,6000 miles.

FOR BOAT SPOTTING?

Ironically, if either plane is bought, Brazil is likely to employ them in spotting French and U.S. fishing boats that shrimp within the claimed 200-mile limit. Brazil joined nine sister Latin American republics last year in claiming jurisdiction 200 miles off its coast. On June 1, it began giving fishing boats warnings, but none were seized. France and the U.S. are negotiating with Brazil over the 200-mile claim, but an agreement has not yet been signed by either nation. U.S. arms specialists argue that the longer range of the Orion will allow the Brazilian air force to spot more pirate shrimp boats, while the French point to the lower operating cost of their two-engine plane.

A U.S. salesman said, "that Atlantic flies too low and picks up salt water. The Dutch had a lot of trouble with it."

But economic factors are not the only ones in the sale.

The French argue that Brazil should buy French to give itself more political independence from the United States.

ARMS POLICY

"The will of France is for an independent armaments policy, without foreign injunctions, be it of the United States or Russia," said Gen. Huges de Estoile, chief of a French armaments delegation, in a closed-door talk before officers of the chief of staff in Brasilia.

U.S. diplomats counterattacked by reminding Brazilians of the traditional U.S.-Brazilian alliance in the hemisphere and the "special relationship" which is always present but not written down in U.S.-Brazilian affairs.

Teddy Busy Not Running In More And More Places

WASHINGTON — If the American people are suspicious of Sen. Edward Kennedy's political intentions, they certainly cannot be blamed. Every time you pick up the newspaper there is another story about Teddy Kennedy confirming he is not a presidential candidate in 1972. It isn't the denial that has people confused as much as where Senator Kennedy denies it.

As the campaign heats up we can expect more and more news stories on the subject. They might look like this:

WINDY FALLS, IOWA — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy told a cheering throng of 10,000 persons at the Windy Falls County Fair that he would not accept the presidential nomination under any circumstances in 1972.

The senator from Massachusetts said that the people must defeat Nixon or the country would be faced with inflation, unemployment, drought and financial ruin. He called on the citizens of Iowa to turn out the Republicans in 1972 and elect a Democratic President from the fine list of candidates who were now running, of which he was not one.

After his speech Senator Kennedy visited an Indian reservation, a Mexican-American migrant labor camp, a United Auto Workers communion breakfast, a chamber of commerce awards banquet, and made a short speech during half-time ceremonies at the Iowa State-Nebraska Tech homecoming game, reiterating his determination not to run for the highest office in the land.

NEW YORK — Sen. Edward Kennedy spent 14 hours in New York City yesterday in a whirlwind tour. A Kennedy aide said that the senator from Massachusetts wanted to take his message that he was not a presidential candidate personally to all the five boroughs.

The senator unequivocally denied any higher political ambitions at a rally in Harlem, a Jewish temple in Queens, the Sons of St. Patrick in Staten Island, the Brothers of Italy in Brooklyn and the Save Yankee Stadium Citizens League in the Bronx.

Senator Kennedy also met with Democratic Party leaders of New York State in his brother-in-law Steve Smith's Fifth Avenue apartment, to discuss ways of keeping his name off the ballot.

He then talked for an hour with Mayor John Lindsay in an effort to persuade Lindsay not to start a grass-roots Kennedy presidential campaign.

After the ride Kennedy appeared on the Johnny Carson Show, the Dick Cavett Show, the David Frost Show and the Late-Night Movie, stating he would not even accept a draft at the convention in Miami.

Before leaving the city Kennedy visited a children's hospital, the women's house of detention and made a surprise visit backstage to shake hands with the cast of "Jesus Christ Superstar."

WASHINGTON — A spokesman for Sen. Edward Kennedy said today that while the senator was flattered that he was leading Muskie in both the Harris and Gallup polls and was half a point behind President Nixon, he still would not consider under any circumstances the race for President of the United States.

Sen. Kennedy was unavailable for comment as he was en route to Ireland, Italy and Israel, where he hoped to explain to those countries' leaders why he would not run in 1972.

Auditions For Instrumental Prizes Slated

An opportunity to win a cash prize of $50 in the northern district and a national award of $1,000 will be offered music instrumentalists under the age of 17 in district auditions to be held at Dominican College.

Applications must be received by Feb. 1, and auditions will be held at Dominican College on Feb. 12.

These Stillman-Kelly Awards are offered every four years in the 10-state western region of the National Federation of Music Clubs. This year's winner in the state will compete by tape with winners in the other western states.

The $1,000 national award is divided into $250 for four consecutive years to be used for further study with a teacher of the winner's choice.

Application blanks and further information may be obtained in Marin by calling Mrs. Gustav J. Snelling of Tiburon or by writing Sister M. Dominic, O.P. at Dominican College, San Rafael.

Doesn't Wait For Probers' Return

PARIS (UPI)—When three gunmen claiming to be police officers knocked at his door, Javery Mussenalli, 71, a merchant, did his best to cooperate.

When they took jewels from his safe, he became suspicious. When they took the $25 in his pants pocket, he began to fear the worst.

They said they would return Thursday to complete their "investigation," but Mussenalli decided not to wait and went to the police.

HOW TO WATCH YOUR PROPERTY GO DOWN THE DRAIN

Just be a do-it-yourselfer.

If you don't have the know-how, profits could drain away without your knowing it.

A better idea is to put your property in the hands of one of our experts who specializes in property management.

We're Realtors; professionals who'll see that your property is operated in an efficient manner. And all the time you'll know we're working in your best interests, because we're pledged to a strict code of ethics.

Keep us in mind when you have property to manage.

WHAT A REALTOR CAN DO FOR YOU

Many, many things — whether you are a buyer or seller. For instance, a realtor will advise you about locations and give you expert advice on complex matters of maintenance, taxes, quality of construction, adequacy of public services.

'66 OPEL
COUPE
$625

This little Opel sport coupe in baby blue with bucket seats would make the perfect 2nd or 3rd car for some Marin family with teen-agers.

Built in Germany by General Motors and distributed in the US by Buick — we sold this car new in '66 to local family and have taken back on another new Opel.

We've just gone through the engine on this clean little Opel — so you should drive trouble-free for quite awhile. Over 25 miles-per-gallon of gas.

Free Psychiatric Care Offered

BERKELEY (UPI) — Free care for students is being offered by 10 of the 17 persons who were either suspended or resigned from the University of California's psychiatric unit in Cowell Memorial Hospital.

Dr. David Fong, a member of the group, said Monday he expected "we will provide the opportunity for students to come in and talk over whatever they want to talk about just as they did at Cowell."

Meetings will be held, he said, in the university student union.

The suspensions came in a dispute between some staff members and the hospital's psychiatric chief, Dr. D. Harvey Powelson.

Those suspended, accused of refusing to discuss cases with supervisors, contended Powelson had violated the confidential nature of the doctor-patient relationship. Powelson denied those accusations.

Certificates Taken

Her purse, valued at $20, containing $3,000 in stock certificates, was taken between 11:05 and 11:10 a.m. yesterday from her locked car at the Mayfair Market parking lot at Third and Union Streets, San Rafael, Panagoita Morf, 56, of 9 Lido Lane, San Rafael, reported to police.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Fast-Growing Volunteer Group Has Chapters All Over World

Fish — the name of one of our fastest growing volunteer movements — is a loosely organized group of neighbors willing to help others. Its members respond to a variety of appeals, such as temporary babysitting in a broken home, calming the upset, doing chores for the suddenly ill or driving a person to the hospital emergency room.

Their symbol, a fish, is the same as used secretly by early Christians as a means of identifying one another. "Love thy neighbor" is their slogan and they do much of their work by telephone. In this respect, the Fishline is an answering service. Often the person in need will place the fish symbol in his window. Dues are a dollar a month.

Fish was started in England 10 years ago by Rev. Derek Eastman and Dr. Donald Richards, a layman. The two men believed that a prime cause of our modern malaise is the decline of neighborliness. The Fish movement has spread all over the world and it is estimated that there are more than 100 chapters in the United States. Since the organization has no central headquarters, the exact number is not known. Most of the chapters, however, are sponsored by churches. Expenses are nil.

Each month the chairman prepares a roster. The volunteers sets aside one 24-hour period (per month) for answering the telephone or supplying needed services. Volunteers on the night shift usually work in pairs. Reserve or back-up members also are selected. Most Fish volunteers are average people.

Shut-ins (in groups of eight) are contacted to find out how they are getting along. No. 1 calls No. 2, etc., until No. 8 calls the Fish chairman. In this way, each lonely convalescent gets to talk to at least two people a day.

FALLOUT IN MILK

Mrs. E. D. writes: Is it dangerous to drink milk because of radioactive fallout?

REPLY

No. Tests show that the amount of fallout in milk is at a safe level. The government does these tests periodically to keep tabs on the concentration and will notify us if the level goes up.

EYEBALL PRESSURE

L. W. writes: What is the medical term for increased pressure in the eyeball?

REPLY

Glaucoma (glaw-ko-mah). Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on this condition.

BRANDY AND THE HEART

Mr. T. K. writes: Is brandy good for the heart?

REPLY

It does not harm when it is used in moderation and is a good first aid measure should a heart attack develop.

BUERGER'S DISEASE

Mrs. K. C. writes: A friend recently was diagnosed as in the early stages of Buerger's disease. What is the cause and treatment of this disorder?

REPLY

The cause is not known although every victim is a smoker. Many physicians also believe that Buerger's disease is premature hardening of the arteries. The symptoms vary from pain in the calf of the leg to gangrene of the foot.

Pair Faces Obscene Book Trial

Two men, accused of having a warehouse full of obscene magazines in San Rafael almost two years ago, face a jury trial next Jan. 10 in Marin Municipal Court.

Donald Calvin Warnecke, 39, of Corte Madera and Eddie Louis Burleson, 32, of San Francisco are accused of 49 misdemeanor counts of possessing obscene matter with intent to distribute in Marin County.

Judge Peter Allen Smith yesterday set the trial for Jan. 10. The two men were arrested in December 1969 after a raid on a warehouse at 62 Belvedere Street, San Rafael, netted hundreds of racy magazines with titles like "Pussy Willow", "Pleasure Partners" and "Raunchy."

Death Suspects Appear In Court

ROSEBURG, Ore. (UPI) — Two young jail escapers have appeared in court on first degree murder charges in the deaths of three members of a rural Yoncalla family.

Larry A. Harnden, 20, and Darrell Rook, 22, were accused of "unlawfully and deliberately with malice and premeditation" killing Edward Williams, 79, his wife, Mabel, 54, and their deaf-mute daughter, Sharon, 27. Williams was stabbed to death while the women died from gunshot wounds.

District Court Judge Gerald Kabler said Monday a court-appointed attorney would be named for Harnden, who claimed he was indigent. Rook said he had $500 with which to engage or attempt to hire an attorney.

Kabler ordered the two suspects held without bail.

SUMMONS
No. 60127

Superior Court of the State of California for the County of Marin
WILLARD D. RAND, JR. and MADELEINE G. RAND, husband and wife, Plaintiffs,
vs.
SAMUEL I. MOORE, also known as S. I. MOORE, and ALSO ALL OTHER PERSONS UNKNOWN, CLAIMING ANY RIGHT, TITLE, ESTATE, LIEN OR INTEREST IN THE REAL PROPERTY DESCRIBED IN THE COMPLAINT ADVERSE TO PLAINTIFF'S OWNERSHIP OR ANY CLOUD UPON PLAINTIFF'S TITLE THERETO, Defendants.

To the Defendants:

A civil complaint has been filed by the plaintiffs against you. If you wish to defend this lawsuit, you must file in this court a written pleading in response to the complaint within thirty (30) days after this summons is served on you. Otherwise your default will be entered on application by the plaintiffs and the court may enter a judgment against you for the money or other relief requested in the complaint.

The object of this action is to make the above-named defendants set forth the nature of their claim or claims to the real property in the complaint and hereinafter described, if any they have, and that such claim or claims be adjudged to be of no effect and void, and that plaintiffs' title to said real property be quieted against them.

That said real property is situate in the City of Belvedere, County of Marin, State of California, and is particularly described as follows:

Parcel One:

Beginning at a point in the northeasterly line of Beach Road, formerly "Bay View Ave." which point is the most southerly corner of Lot 12, Block 1, as said lot and block are shown on that certain map entitled, "Map No. 3 of the Belvedere Peninsula, Marin County, Cal." filed June 26, 1891 in the Office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin; running thence from said point of beginning along said road line south 38° 21' east 51.36 feet to the most southerly corner of the parcel of land described in the deed from Rose M. Rotchy to Martha M. Morrison, recorded July 25, 1955 in Book 958 of Official Records at page 161; thence along the southeasterly line of the parcel of land described in said last mentioned deed north 38° 26' east 134.72 feet to a point distant 65.02 feet from the easterly corner thereof; thence leaving said line north 77° 51' west 89.22 feet; thence south 28° 26' west 50.0 feet; thence south 27° 23' east 32.89 feet and south 38° 26' and west 20.0 feet to the point of beginning.

Parcel Two:

Beginning at the most easterly corner of the property described above as Parcel One and running north 38° 26' east 65.02 feet to the northeasterly line of Lot 11 in Block 1, map above referred to.

IF YOU WISH TO SEEK THE ADVICE OF AN ATTORNEY IN THIS MATTER, YOU SHOULD DO SO PROMPTLY SO THAT YOUR PLEADING, IF ANY, MAY BE FILED ON TIME.

Estate of ADOLPH A. TISCORNIA, also known as A. A. TISCORNIA, Deceased.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on or after the 26th day of November, 1971, the undersigned ALICE B. COPELAND, as executrix of the Will of Adolph A. Tiscornia, also known as A. A. Tiscornia, deceased, will sell at private sale to the highest net bidder, subject to confirmation by the above-entitled Court, all the right, title and interest the estate has, consisting of a remainder interest only, by operation of law or otherwise, acquired other than or in addition to that of the decedent at the time of his death, in and to that certain real property situated in the City of Larkspur, County of Marin, State of California, described as:

Beginning at a point on the southerly line of King Street distant thereon 100 feet easterly from the point of intersection of the southerly line of King Street and the easterly line of Magnolia Avenue; running thence easterly along the said southerly line of King Street 50 feet to the northwest corner of the parcel of land described in the deed from Giovanni Gianelli to The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, recorded May 19, 1955, in Book 942 of Official Records at page 597, Marin County Records; thence at a right angle southerly along the westerly boundary line of said parcel of land 100 feet; thence at a right angle westerly 50 feet along the southerly line of the parcel of land described in the deed from Walter G. Sellmer to A. B. Copeland, recorded June 13, 1935, in Book 298 of Official Records at page 426, Marin County Records; thence at a right angle northerly along the westerly line of said Copeland parcel (298-426) 100 feet to the southerly line of King Street and the point of beginning.

SUBJECT TO:

Current taxes, covenants, conditions, restrictions, rights, rights of way and easements of record.

Bid or offers for the property are invited, must be in writing, and may be delivered to the executrix at the office of her attorney, ALBERT G. EVANS, 111 Sutter Street, San Francisco, California 94104, or may be filed at the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court at any time after the first publication of the instant notice and before the making of the sale.

Terms and conditions of sale: The executrix will entertain bids involving delayed payments, or cash, or grant an option subject to zoning, provided a deposit is made, and cash shall be paid upon exercise of the option. The maximum option granted shall not exceed 180 days.

Taxes to be prorated as of date of recordation. All costs of title search, escrow, recordation and title insurance to be borne by the purchaser.

The property is unimproved.

INVITATION FOR PROPOSAL

Sealed bids will be received at the office of Marin Municipal Water District, 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, California 94925, until 2:00 p.m., Monday November 22, 1971, at which time they will be opened and read in the Board of Directors room by the Secretary or her designated representative for the furnishing and installation of approximately 3,650 lineal feet of 16" (inch) steel pipe and appurtenances. The work to be done lies in and adjacent to California State Highway 101 in the Manzanita area of Marin County, California.

The general prevailing rate of wages in the locality in which work is to be performed has been ascertained by the District and published under the provisions of Section 1773 of the California Labor Code.

Copies of the prevailing wage rates are on file in the office of the Secretary of the District at 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, and in the office of the Marin County Clerk, and are available upon request from the Secretary at the above address and also from the Marin County Department of Public Works, Civic Center, Room 304, San Rafael, California.

Sundays and holidays shall not be less than two (2) times the above rates. The holidays upon which such rates shall be paid shall be all holidays recognized in the collective bargaining agreement applicable to the particular craft, classification or type of workman employed on the project.

It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor to whom the contract is awarded and upon any subcontractor under him to pay not less than the said specified rates to all laborers, workmen and mechanics employed by them in the execution of the contract.

Proposals will be considered for the complete job only. The proposal must be submitted on the form provided and must be accompanied by a Certified Check, Cash, Post Office Money Order or Bid Bond as a guarantee that the bidder will, if successful, promptly execute a satisfactory contract and furnish bonds as required by these specifications. The Certified Check, Cash, Post Office Money Order or Bid Bond shall be not less than ten (10) percent of the total amount of the bid and shall be made payable to the Treasurer of the Marin Municipal Water District.

Proposals must be submitted in a sealed envelope addressed to the attention of Mrs. Norma L. Smith, Secretary, with the words "Proposal for Relocation South of the Richardson Bay Bridge" clearly marked on the outside of the envelope.

Specifications may be obtained at 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, the office of the District. The $25.00 deposit required for each set of specifications will be refunded when specifications are returned to the District. It is requested that those Contractors wishing a Water District representative to accompany them on their first visit to the site of the work, notify the District sufficiently in advance so that necessary arrangements may be made.

Progress payments will be made.

It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor to whom the contract is awarded and upon any subcontractor under him to pay not less than the said specified rates to all laborers, workmen and mechanics employed by them in the execution of the contract.

Proposals will be considered for the complete job only. The proposal must be submitted on the form provided and must be accompanied by a Certified Check, Cash, Post Office Money Order or Bid Bond as a guarantee that the bidder will, if successful, promptly execute a satisfactory contract and furnish bonds as required by these specifications. The Certified Check, Cash, Post Office Money Order or Bid Bond shall be not less than ten (10) percent of the total amount of the bid and shall be made payable to the Treasurer of the Marin Municipal Water District.

Proposals must be submitted in a sealed envelope addressed to the attention of Mrs. Norma L. Smith, Secretary, with the words "Proposal for Tank Fencing" clearly marked on the outside of the envelope.

Specifications may be obtained at 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, the office of the District. The $25.00 deposit required for each set of specifications will be refunded when specifications are returned to the District. It is requested that those Contractors wishing a Water District representative to accompany them on their first visit to the site of the work, notify the District sufficiently in advance so that necessary arrangements may be made.

Progress payments will be made.

An Inmate Is Angel To Family

I-J Special Report

SPERRY, Okla. — Recent prison riots won't change Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Davis' opinion about convicts.

The couple, who has a dairy farm near here, didn't know where to turn for help when their 7-year-old daughter, Mary Lou, mangled in a farm accident, needed $5,000 for surgical care. Medical bills on top of heavy debts for cattle and equipment threatened to wipe them out.

But Leo Darrell Chandler, inmate-artist serving 50 years at Oklahoma State Penitentiary at McAlester for armed robbery, heard of the case and offered along with three other inmates to donate paintings for a benefit art sale. They even bought their own materials.

The 53 paintings put on sale in Tulsa brought in $1,950 and an additional $300 was contributed.

When the money was turned over to Mary Lou's parents, the father said, "You just don't know how to thank them," and Mrs. Davis added, "This certainly has changed my attitude about men in prison."

Rest Of Series Is Announced

The new Marin Concert Association, whose first season opens on Nov. 22 with "Frula," a Yugoslavian dance production, has announced the other programs in the series to be presented at the Veterans Memorial Building.

The programs and dates are Gold and Fizdale, duo pianists, Jan. 25; Soprano Maralin Niska, Feb. 6; Alma Chamber Trio, March 15; and Christopher Parkening, guitarist, April 12.

Miss Niska's concert will be performed at 3 p.m. All the others start at 8:15 p.m.

Job-Training Programs Due Study

The Marin Community College District board will review job-training programs offered at the College of Marin tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Room 101 of the science building at the college.

The board will also consider a recommendation that the proposed classroom center be built near the present office center.

Head Start Meeting

Directors of Marin Head Start will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at 11 Pine Drive in Fairfax to elect officers, according to Ruth Kennedy, vice chairman of the parent policy council of Head Start.

Three Hurt In Two Accidents

Three persons received minor injuries in two separate accidents Saturday in San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

Josephine Mary Hannan, 44, of 216 Mountain View Avenue, San Rafael, and her daughter, Caroline Anne Hannon, 6, were to see their own doctor for minor facial cuts, according to police.

They were westbound on Third Street near Cijos Street at 6:10 p.m. when their car hit the rear of a stopped car driven by Allen C. Anderson, 65, of Shafter, Kern County, police reported.

Dan William Edwards, 20, of Yorkville, Mendocino County, was to see his own doctor for head pains. He was towing a car north on Racquet Club Drive at 1:40 p.m. Saturday when the towed car knocked his car off the road near River Oaks Drive, according to police.

Pair Treated; Minor Injuries

Two Novato women have been treated at Marin General Hospital for minor injuries suffered in an accident on the Ignacio Boulevard overcrossing of Highway 101 in Novato Saturday.

Natsuko Robinette, 42, of 785 Clausing Avenue, suffered a bruised scalp and neck sprain when her eastbound auto collided head-on with a westbound car at 10:25 a.m., according to the California Highway Patrol.

The driver of the other auto, Abner A. Hyden, 34, of 101 Nova Albion Way, was uninjured, officers said, but a passenger, Gisela Hyden, 35, suffered bruises of the left leg.

NAILING IT DOWN

Marin Catholic 'Going Smoothly'

Classes reportedly "went very smoothly" yesterday at Marin Catholic High School, one of seven Bay Area high schools affected by the first faculty strike against Roman Catholic schools in California's history.

Rev. Francis A. Lacey, Marin Catholic principal, said 14 teachers of the 38-teacher faculty stayed out yesterday but that students attended regular classes on a minimum day schedule with nonstriking teachers filling the gaps.

A minimum of disruption took place, he said, with the school's 767 students on a new schedule of five periods instead of seven with not all classes meeting each day.

Of the 14 striking teachers, 10 are lay persons and the others are sympathetic nuns, he said.

The lay teachers are members of the Secondary Teachers Association which went on strike yesterday against the high schools operated by the San Francisco Archdiocese in a dispute over salaries.

In San Francisco, STA Pres. George Killian said negotiations under way for the past nine months have failed to win an adequate pay offer. He said salaries are 18 per cent behind public school pay.

Rev. Bernard Cummings of the archdiocese said the lay teachers were offered a 4 per cent raise each year from 1972 through 1974, but the offer was rejected.

Cummins said he did not know of any nonpublic school system that was able to keep up with public school teachers' salaries.

"We are trying very hard right now to work out a three-year contract so we can tell parents how much it will cost to send their children to school over a two or three-year period," he said.

He also said negotiations would resume with STA "by the end of the week."

The striking teachers are demanding a 6 per cent pay increase this year and next, a limit on class size and a guarantee that paid substitutes will take over when they are sick.

Picket lines were present at all the struck schools yesterday as well as in front of the offices of Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken.

Hardest hit was Sacred Heart High School in San Francisco, where all 32 of the lay teachers failed to show up, leaving 12 brothers and one priest to teach the 940 boys enrolled.

One class was sent to nearby Cathedral High School for girls and others watched educational movies during a shortened school day.

Other schools struck were Cathedral and Riordan in San Francisco, Serra in San Mateo and Mitty and St. Lawrence in Santa Clara County.

Baseball Field Is Gained

Mill Valley gained a new baseball field near the Shelter Ridge development last night, but the outcome of a protest over an overhead telephone cable to the new subdivision was left hanging.

Security Capital Corp., developers of the 114-unit townhouse project, agreed to provide $15,000 worth of labor and materials to install a sprinkling system and turfed ball field on a 1.5 acre, city-owned parcel below the Shelter Ridge subdivision, and to cover a nearby drainage ditch. In exchange, the city eased open space requirements for the subdivision and permitted the developers to relocate their swimming pool and tennis courts to a larger, more central location. The exchange was proposed by Councilman Jerome C. Hauk.

Mayor George E. Wickham questioned whether the donated grass would last five years. Hauke assured him it would.

Councilman Robert H. Andresen voted against the recreation area proposal, and again against the final map of the Shelter Ridge Unit One because, he said, its density was too high.

The telephone cable, newly hung above Kipling Drive as a link to Shelter Ridge, was described by Enchanted Knolls residents as "a three inch conduit" and a "zig-zagging overhead sewer pipe." They handed the council a protest petition bearing 189 signatures.

Franklin Rudolph, recently appointed Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. manager for Mill Valley, said in a letter to Mill Valley City Engr. Stanley M. Bala that "the most logical alternative would be to bury the cable under Kipling Drive." But, he wrote, the estimated $6,500 cost would have to be paid by the city or by an underground utility assessment district in the neighborhood. Utilities in Shelter Ridge itself are buried.

Neither the residents nor the council favored bearing the cost of the "phone company's insensitivity." Councilman Hauke said the city must "instill sensitivity in utility companies to design projects properly."

Councilman Jean S. Barnard said Rudolph "should have notified us first."

The council asked the firm to return to its Nov. 29 meeting with another proposal.

Second Dwelling Opinion Divided

Public opinion on a proposal to legalize some nonconforming uses in single-family neighborhoods was equally divided at a hearing of the San Anselmo Planning Commission last night.

Catherine Mullins, commission secretary, said about 60 residents packed the city council chambers for almost three hours of discussion both for and against the recommendations of the Citizens Committee on Zoning and Housing.

After about nine months of study, the committee in August offered its conclusion that second dwellings on single-family lots provide badly needed low-cost housing in San Anselmo. The committee advocated allowing the now illegal dwellings under some circumstances.

Last night's hearing on the report was the first.

Opponents argued that the dwellings lower the standards of single family neighborhoods, according to Mrs. Mullins. They argued that legalizing the units would increase congestion and lower property values, she said.

The committee's recommendations were supported by the League of Women Voters, Mrs. Mullins said.

The committee was established last November after the city council abated the home of Gay Kagy at 280 Redwood Avenue.

Mrs. Kagy supported herself and her four-year-old son by renting out her house and living in an apartment behind, — an arrangement the city council ordered abated. However, Mrs. Kagy won so much public support that the council set up the committee to study the zoning ordinance, which makes such apartments illegal.

The planning commission delayed a public hearing on the use permit of the Lion's Share, Mrs. Mullins said. The delay was granted to Michael Considine, who took out the use permit for the night spot at 60 Red Hill Avenue, so that the city attorney can make a rule whether the hearing must be confined to parking problems or be expanded to include neighbors' complaints about garbage and noise as well.

Education Board Moves On District Workers' Pay

The Marin County Board of Education moved last night to thaw wage negotiations with administrators and clerical workers stuck in the national wage-price freeze.

Robert E. Spain, assistant superintendent, said the board met in closed session to instruct its negotiators, but drew up no firm proposal pending guidelines on Phase II of the wage-price freeze.

Clerical workers had requested an 8 per cent raise, but its move was trapped in the wage freeze so negotiations stopped, Spain said.

The board in August suggested raises of less than 2.5 per cent.

Administrators are seeking a 2.5 per cent raise through negotiations with the board, Spain said.

Administrators and clerical workers are now working without a contract, he said.

Marin County Board of Education Also:

READING TEACHER — Hired Marion Peller as a reading teacher for six hours a week at $7 an hour.

BUS DRIVERS — Hired Rosemary Lara and David Lim to drive school buses for $2.87 an hour.

CASH GIFT — Accepted $4,800 from the Marin Ballet-Aquacade for the Marindale School program.

APPROVAL — Approved an appeal by Carol Pukis to transfer her son, Anthony, from the San Anselmo School District to the Sausalito School District.

ADJOURNED MEETING — Set an adjourned meeting for Nov. 29 at 8 p.m. at the district office in Corte Madera to discuss board policies on employer-employee relations.

Ross School Suffers Second Grade 'Bulge'

Faced with a "bulge" of second grade pupils, the Ross School District board last night decided to create a third class in that grade and hire an additional teacher.

Supt. Thomas A. Anderson said that although this year's total enrollment at Ross School is down slightly (479 as compared to last year's average daily attendance of 487), there were more than 30 children in each of two second grade classes.

The Ross School District board also:

CLOSED — Went into closed session for four minutes to discuss the recent suspension of a pupil for two days for misbehavior.

TRANSFER — Agreed that Susan Doolittle be allowed to attend school in the San Anselmo School District.

COUNCIL — Approved a $10 institutional membership in the Marin County Industry-Education Council.

HIRING — Discussed methods of teacher selection.

SOCCER — Postponed to the Dec. 22 meeting a report from the Ross Soccer League.

MONEY — Learned that $800 in federal funds had been received for audiovisual equipment and materials for humanities studies.

REVIEW — Set a special meeting for 7:45 p.m. Dec. 13 for a closed board review of the school's administrators.

200-Acre Annex Plea Rejected

The Rohnert Park City Council last night denied an annexation request for more than 200 acres despite pressure from several organized groups.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the council by 24-to-1 vote rejected the request by Land Investors Research to annex property adjacent to Sonoma State College. He said the council considered the plan too large and premature since a great deal of land within the city is undeveloped. Councilman Vernon P. Smith was the only council member to favor of the proposal.

The plan included development of student apartments, a subdivision of homes in the $25,000 to $30,000 price range for faculty members and dedication of some acreage for the college botanical gardens.

The developers had spoken before several groups and received endorsement from the Rohnert Park Homeowners Association, chamber of commerce and Sonoma State planners. Callinan said the support failed to sway the council.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

REZONING — Approved the rezoning of 16 acres on the northeast corner of Commerce Boulevard and Rohnert Park Expressway to regional-commercial for a shopping center.

LOTS — Introduced an ordinance reducing minimum residential lot size from 6,500 square feet to 6,000.

SALES — Rejected the design for a building for marine, bicycle and camper sales and service on Commerce Boulevard, saying a steel building would be unattractive.

MARKET — Rejected the request of Everett Giffin for a convenience market on Snyder Lane because of traffic congestion.

GOLF — Heard that golf professional Robert Porter will not renew his contract with the city after Jan. 30 and directed Callinan to seek a replacement.

COMMISSION — Set a special meeting for Nov. 29 to interview candidates for the newly reactivated planning commission. Interviews will be in closed session followed by public questioning.

Plans For Apartments Given Nod

The Novato Planning Commission last night approved precise development plans for 180 apartment units on the east side of Marin Valley Drive, south of Bolling Drive.

The plan by Leo S. Wout and Associates is for an apartment complex on 8.89 acres with the layout designed to minimize building on slopes.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

OAKS UNIT NO. 2 — Approved precise development plans by A. K. Condiotti Enterprises for 80 single-family dwellings on 37.5 acres adjacent to Oaks Unit No. 1.

PLEASANT HILL — Continued indefinitely review of precise development plans by Condiotti Enterprises for 50 townhouse and two single family units at the south end of Libra Drive.

HOUSING HEARING — Set Dec. 13 at 8 p.m. at the Novato Community House for a public hearing on the housing element of the Novato General plan.

SCOTTSDALE — Continued until Dec. 6 at 8 p.m. at the Novato Community House a hearing on the Scottsdale-Crossroads area study in connection with revisions to the general plan.

CONTINUANCES — Continued 10 other items on the agenda including a proposed amendment to the Loma Verde Master Plan until its Dec. 13 meeting.

FIRE CALLS

YESTERDAY:

1:14 p.m., San Rafael — Fire of undetermined origin in wastepaper basket in Room 5, Marin Hotel, 720 B Street, occupied by John Contantive; burned rug, wall and floor; $150 damage.

2:47 p.m., San Rafael — Carburetor backfire in car belonging to Renee Brown of 139 Park Street, San Rafael while car was at 703 B Street; $50 damage to car.

10:58 p.m., Marin City — Open fire at 720 Drake Avenue, cause unknown; Marin County Fire Department responded.

Miller Avenue Will Get A Facelifting

Mill Valley City Council voted 4-1 last night to begin a $350,000 to $400,000 facelifting project for Miller Avenue, after resolving objections that it would remove at least half the existing parking along part of the thoroughfare.

Councilmen Edward J. Boessenecker and Robert H. Andresen insisted the plan be amended to provide alternative parking areas for the spaces lost. The plans were approved 4 to 1, with Mayor George E. Wickham dissenting.

The plan will provide a green belt with pedestrian and bicycle paths in the center of Miller Avenue from Reed Street to Willow Avenue. Edmond C. Kagi, planner for the Sasaki Walker Associates landscape architects, said the project would "rejuvinate one of the seediest streets in Marin County" but primarily would improve traffic flow rather than be merely a beautification scheme.

Residents objected both to the loss of parking spaces, and to the plans for a park in front of Brown's Hall and the 2 A.M. Club.

First stage of the project will be a $65,000 improvement of the Miller Avenue-La Goma Street intersection. The council voted $6,000 for City Engr. Stanley M. Bala to complete preliminary plans for the intersection by Jan. 1 to qualify for participating state and federal funds.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

EXTENSION — Heard a report from Supervisor Michael Wornum and Raymond W. Foreaker, county public works director, that no progress had been made on the extension of Miller Avenue through Tamalpais Valley junction. The topic again will be discussed Dec. 6.

FREEZE — Approved vote of confidence for city employees to receive pay increases in accordance with Phase II of the Federal wage and price guidelines.

APPOINTMENT — Appointed Normand Black as new sentative to the city's architectural advisory committee. Councilmen Jerome C. Hauke and Jean S. Barnard dissented. Placed the name of Eldon Beck in nomination for the committee.

OVERPAYMENT — Appropriated $3,093 to reimburse the state for overpayment of costs for 1968-69 storm damage projects.

RETIREMENT CENTER — Approved filing a condemnation suit against property owned by K.S.W. Properties if the Community Church Retirement Center has not taken title to the land by Nov. 22.

MASTER PLAN — Declined to have the county planning department make a presentation of the Preliminary Marin Countywide Plan to the council.

HOOKUP — Told the Citizens Assistance League to County Sanitary District that one year remained before new sewer hookups would be granted and that the league could work out a priority list with the city.

RETIREMENT — Approved a contract allowing city employees to participate in the Public Employees' Retirement System.

TEST — Granted $6,200 to begin testing of city's sewer system.

SEWER BONDS — Accepted the Bank of Marin's 4.99 per cent bid on $250,000 worth of sewer bonds.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Nov. 29 when the council will hold a special "town council" open meeting on citizens' complaints.

Mill Valley Sign Grace Period Ends

Mill Valley merchants were warned last night that a long grace period on their nonconforming signs has come to an end. The sign ordinance, passed in 1967, required removal of nonconforming signs by July 1971.

Councilman Jean S. Barnard last night told fellow councilmen and the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce that the city should start enforcing the ordinance with a citation ordinance like that used in Novato.

Granville L. Beedle, chamber manager, suggested that merchants first be warned about their offending signs before being cited on misdemeanors. Councilman Robert H. Andresen agreed, proposing that Beedle and Thomas W. Newton, director of community development, draft a form letter.

Newton objected that the process would take too much of his time. "Over 50 per cent of Mill Valley's signs are illegal now, anyway," he said. Mrs. Barnard agreed, but Andresen said the city would have to compile a lit of nonconforming signs in any case.

Beedle and Newton were instructed to submit proposed enforcement procedures to the council Dec. 6.

British Lord Rebukes Martha's Uncouthness

LONDON (UPI)—A British lord, the Earl of Lindsay, has written to Martha Mitchell, wife of the U.S. Attorney General, rebuking her for "uncouth behavior" in refusing to curtsy to Queen Elizabeth at a Buckingham Palace garden party.

Mrs. Mitchell, writing in the Ladies Home Journal, said she did not curtsy, a traditional mark of respect, because she did not feel an American should bow to a foreign monarch.

"On this principle," Lord Lindsay wrote in his letter to Mrs. Mitchell published today in the Daily Telegraph, "I take it that it is your considered opinion I should remain seated during the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner"'.

"It has never entered my head not to stand" when the U.S. national anthem was played, Lindsay said.

Knowing "how to behave in polite society was something which has obviously been omitted from your education," he wrote.

"You have merited a stern rebuke for your uncouth behavior, but do not despair—I am confident that if you keep your eyes open or apply your mind to the problem you will learn in time and, who knows, one of these days you may find yourself a credit to your husband," Lindsay said.

Lindsay suggested to Mrs. Mitchell "that you refrain from visiting Buckingham Palace or any similar establishments in the future, but remain at home in Keokuk, Iowa, or Kalamazoo, Mich., or wherever it was you originated. In such places it is unlikely you will be able to perpetrate any social solecism."

Mrs. Mitchell is from Pine Bluff, Ark.

Auto Stolen

His 1964 Volkwagen was stolen between 9:55 and 10:10 p.m. yesterday from 917 C Street, San Rafael, Fredrick W. Ulrich of 990 Idylberry Road, San Rafael, reported to police.

80 Urge Preserving Of Lagoon

About 80 West Marin residents called last night for preservation of Bolinas Lagoon and urged prohibition of development around it.

According to Pierre W. Joske, county director of Parks and recreation, the meeting at the Stinson Beach Community Building was a repeat of one held last week in Bolinas.

"They are concerned about any development in the area," he said today, adding that the county development plan for Bolinas Lagoon may undergo modification as a result.

The plan, to be considered along with modifications tomorrow by the county parks and recreation commission calls for observation points and parking areas and nature interpretation centers along the lagoon.

Joske said several of the parking areas may be eliminated and boat-launching facilities moved.

The plan also calls for an ecological reserve status for all tidal areas of the lagoon.

Joske said the residents also voiced strong opposition to proposed improvement of Highway 1, which follows the scenic coastline through their communities.

Marinites' Trial Opens In Marijuana Case

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A federal prosecutor said here yesterday that two Marin County men, two other westerners and two Pennsylvanians plotted to fly in a ton of marijuana that federal agents seized here March 15.

U.S. Attorney Jeffrey Miller outlined his case in opening remarks for the federal district court trial of five men in the alleged conspiracy to smuggle $4 million worth of pot from Mexico, by hiring a Brownsville, Tex., pilot.

Miller said that Leonard M. Glassberg, 35, of Novato, was among the six indicted in April, but already had pleaded guilty and was scheduled to testify for the government. Among the five still on trial are David Miller, 34, of Corte Madera; Edson L. Whipple, 45, of California, and Pennsylvanians Thomas P. Vallejo, 24; Norman Kein, 34; and Charles C. Cornet, 44, of Las Vegas, Nev.

The prosecutor said the pilot, Al Seltzer, notified customs officials in Brownsville after Whipple asked him to fly in "some goods" belonging to David Miller.

The attorney said the alleged plot dated back to a Jan. 2 meeting between Glassburg and three others in a Mexican hotel room, and that Glassburg and a girl friend later met Whipple in a Florida hotel to arrange for a pilot.

Three Injured In Crash Of Three Vehicles

Three persons were injured in a three-car accident yesterday in San Rafael, police reported.

Marlene J. Perry, 39, of 8 Lagoon Place, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital for neck and back strain. Jill Perry, 8, of Anacortes, Wash. was treated at the same hospital for a bruised nose. Ethel Craig, 40, of Richmond was treated at the same hospital for neck and back sprain.

Mrs. Perry was stopped in her car on Second Street at Hetherton Street at 8:45 a.m., according to police, when it was hit from the rear by a car driven by Richard Andrew Duste, 18, of 43 Terra Linda Drive, San Rafael. The impact knocked the Perry car into another stopped car driven by John R. Oliveira, 40, of 2416 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, police reported.

Coroner's Helper Jailed For Theft

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)— Coroner Paul Jensen suspended an employe Monday who had been arrested in the theft of a belt buckle and a tie clasp from the body of a heart attack victim.

The San Mateo County coroner said the suspended man, John Devlin, 52, had been employed for two months in a temporary capacity.

Devlin is charged with petty theft.

Coast Building Hearings Set

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Department of Navigation and Ocean Development has announced hearings in six California cities on coastline development.

In announcing the hearings Monday, the department said they were part of its preparation of a comprehensive ocean area plan for Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The location and dates of the hearings: Santa Monica, Nov. 22-23; Santa Barbara, Nov. 29-30; Fresno, Dec. 1-2; Eureka, Dec. 8-9; San Francisco, Dec. 13-14; and San Diego, Dec. 15-16.

Borrower Takes Screwdriver Along With Cash

Officers said the suspect, a slender man in his 20s about six feet, six inches tall, had borrowed a screwdriver from the attendant supposedly to work on his car at about 5:30 p.m.

While returning the screwdriver, he loitered near the cash box at the gasoline pump island until the attendant told him to leave. The box had been pried open, police said. A check of the station's books at opening yesterday morning revealed that $80 was missing, police said. He also took the screwdriver, making the total loss $85.

Methadone Bill Signed Into Law

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill allowing persons released from the California Rehabilitation Center to participate in methadone maintenance programs for drug addiction was signed Monday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The measure by Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose, requires a person taking methadone to receive approval from the Department of Corrections and the Narcotic Addict Evaluation Authority.

Experimental School Program Bill Signed

The programs authorized under the measure by Assemblywoman March Fong, D-Oakland, will be established in two or more school districts selected by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Wilson Riles.

SPORT NOTES

Other Side Of Rohde Revealed In Marin

By RALPH CHATOIAN

The two faces of Len Rohde. Members of the Marin Chapter, 49er Goal Rushers yesterday saw the face that few defensive linemen in the National Football League ever see — the smiling linemen in the National Football League ever see — the smiling one.

Rohde, 6-foot-4, 248-pound offensive tackle for the 49ers, doesn't do much smiling on the field, but off it he shows a great sense of humor. He's a funny guy.

IN ADDITION to Rohde, 49er promotions director Dick Berg came to the luncheon at Holiday Inn, and brought with him one of the Niner Nuggets, pretty Brenda Davis of Sausalito, an airlines stewardess when she's not riding around in a fire engine at Candlestick Park during 49er games.

Rohde shrugged off the 49ers' 26-20 loss to the New Orleans Saints Sunday. The loss didn't mean the end of the world to him.

"WE'RE STILL in first place," he said. "We still have to beat Los Angeles Sunday. I don't want to back into any championship . . . we'll just have to beat L.A." The Rams are trailing the 49ers by just one-half game in the Western Division standings in the National Football Conference.

Rohde was asked his estimation of the New Orleans Saints. "I have to think their offensive line is good. They gave Edd Hargett time to throw. I've tried to block Cedrick Hardman in practice and he's so fast," he said about the S.F. defensive end who got to Hargett just twice, once too late for a costly penalty.

IN EXPLAINING how an offensive tackle judges the other team's toughness, Rohde quipped, "They put a big guy across from you and tell you his number. If he's tough, the whole team is tough to you."

When asked to name the biggest "cream puff" he ever played against, Rohde, a 12-year pro out of Utah State, deadpanned, "Jim Leo," obviously pulling the leg of his questioner. Offensive linemen are the last persons on earth who want to antagonize defensive linemen. He wasn't about to name a real, honest to goodness player as an easy mark.

ATTORNEY ROGER P. Garety questioned Rohde about the need of offensive changes in pro football to catch up with the defense.

"When you try new things if may work for awhile, you can move the ball, but it lacks consistency," he said. "But there is more chance for error. The more basic you can get, the less chance of mistakes."

WHEN ASKED by Goal Rushers president Ray Bennigson his opinion of Joe Reed, the 49ers' taxi squad quarterback, the 33-year-old Rohde said, "He throws the ball well in practice, he's an easy going guy, and he really has a great voice." He didn't say whether he was a tenor or baritone.

Leonard Emil Rohde is a man who doesn't hurt easily. When he takes the field against the Rams Sunday in L.A., it will be his 162nd consecutive conference game. He played in the Pro Bowl last year and was second team All-NFL selection the year before. Married, he and wife Beverly have a 2-year-old son.

COMING OUT AHEAD — Drake High School played "heads up" soccer yesterday to defeat San Rafael High, 1-0 and win the Marin County Athletic League championship, as this "header" by an unidentified Pirate indicates.

UNANIMOUS PICK

Duncan Tops All-League

Scott Duncan of co-champion San Rafael was a unanimous selection on both offense and defense on the Marin County Athletic League all-star football team announced today.

Duncan, a 5-foot-10, 176-pound senior, was named as a running back and defensive back. He heads a group of six players who were picked both ways by the MCAL coaches.

Joining Duncan in this iron man role are his teammates Dirk Correnti and Bill Lechner, both linemen. Russ Weklych of co-champion Novato was named at offensive tackle and defensive lineman, and Mike Connor of Redwood made both teams at running back and defensive back. Connor's teammate Dan Young is a lineman both ways.

Duncan was the only unanimous selection on offense. Defensively, Weklych, Correnti and defensive back John Buckley of Terra Linda were unanimous, in addition to Duncan.

Connor was the only junior on the offensive unit. Defensively, lineback Steve Withers of Terra Linda and defensive back Hoza Wright of San Marin were juniors, in addition to Connor. All other selections were seniors.

Four running backs were selected, due to the difficulty in choosing among the top runners. They were Duncan, Connor, Mark Farrar of San Rafael and Leo Magers of Novato. For similar reasons, four interior linemen were tabbed on defense — Weklych, Lechner, Don Seward of Drake and Dan Young of Redwood. Consequently, there were 12 selections on offense and 13 on defense.

Marty Moroski of Novato, who overtook Terra Linda's Kevin Donohoe in the passing statistics last week, was named quarterback.

San Rafael dominated the team, filling five spots on offense and four on defense. Novato placed four players on offense and one on defense, while Redwood filled two spots on each platoon. Terra Linda had three defensive players, Drake two defenders and San Marin one. Tamalpais placed one offensive star.

DRAKE BOOTERS WIN TITLE

Harnsberger Goal Tips San Rafael

Although Drake High School needed only a tie yesterday to win the Marin County Athletic League soccer title, the Pirates played their usual aggressive style and defeated San Rafael, 1-0.

Doug Harnsberger scored the goal late in the third quarter on a short shot directly in front of the goal mouth. A pass by Rolf Bell set him up.

The victory at San Rafael gave Drake an 11-1-2 season record for 24 points, while San Rafael finished second at 9-2-3. The game was a replay of their disputed 0-0 tie Oct. 1.

"It sounds like a cliche, but the best defense is a good offense," said Drake coach Imants Abers. "We've been playing that way all year and saw no reason to change now. This is quite a change from last year, when we played defensively." In 1970, the Pirates tied for third with Terra Linda while San Rafael won the championship. This is Drake's first title.

Abers cited good play on offense and defense by halfback Bradley Herbert. "He came up with some good heading (hitting the ball with his head) and was always in position," Abers said.

The coach also liked the play of goalie Eric Hein, who made several fine stops including one late in the game in which he advanced far out of the goal mouth to make the play while surrounded with red San Rafael jerseys.

"We had our opportunities, but we missed on two or three," said San Rafael coach Bill Monti. "It just wasn't our day.

"It might have made a difference if we'd played the other man, but Drake beat us fair and square and deserved the championship on the strength of it."

Monti was referring to the San Rafael player who was ejected Oct. 1. The referee's refusal to allow the Bulldogs to substitute for that player touched off the dispute that caused yesterday's replay.

The player was not allowed to play yesterday, either, although the game was replayed from the beginning. "I consulted soccer officials in San Francisco and Oakland over the weekend," said league commissioner George Corson, "and determined that this is the way the situation is handled at the high school and college level. International rules are different."

World Series Play May Feature Japan

NEW YORK (UPI)—Baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn disclosed today that he has taken the first steps toward creating "an international World Series" of baseball between the champion of the U.S. major leagues and the champion of the Japanese major leagues.

"I wouldn't care to make a guess as to what year this might come about," Kuhn said after returning from a trip to Japan. "There are a number of problems, but I believe the problems can be solved."

Kuhn said the first step was taken during his trip when he reached an agreement with Nobumoto Ohama, baseball commissioner of Japan, for a joint "feasibility study" of an international World Series.

"We are both going to begin a study of the problems that need to be solved in order to bring this about," Kuhn said. "And then at an early date we are going to get back together again and at regular dates get together to determine what progress we have made."

The commissioner, who spent 2 1-2 weeks visiting Tokyo and Osaka, identified the two chief problems as the quality of the competition and travel.

How far the Japanese leagues have to go in order to produce teams that would be a match in quality for the U.S. champion may be measured perhaps by the results of the tour of Japan by the Baltimore Orioles, the losing team in this year's U.S. World Series. Of the first 16 of their scheduled 18 games against various teams in Japan, the Orioles won 11, tied four and suffered only one defeat.

Drake Puts 3 Booters On All-Stars

Champion Drake High School, runner-up San Rafael and third-place Redwood each landed three men on the Marin County Athletic League all-star soccer team announced today.

Drake's selections were forwards Rolf Bell and Richard Larsen and halfback Bradley Herbert. San Rafael had forward Adalpho Flores and backs Misak Pirinjian and Dave Mason. Redwood placed forwards Sariar Sarabi and David Harvard and back Jeff Cox.

The team:

Forwards — Rolf Bell, Drake; Bob Nissen, Novato; Adalpho Flores, San Rafael; Sariar Sarabi, Redwood; Richard Larsen, Drake; Bill Aaker, Terra Linda; Ken Niebur, San Marin; David Harvard, Redwood.

Goalie — Mick Simmons, Marin Catholic.

SAN JOSE STATE BOSS

King Named Year's Top Coach

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—San Jose State's Dewey King was named coach of the year Monday by the Northern California Sportswriters Association.

King led the Spartans to three straight upsets after a slow start this season, climaxing the string with a stunning 13-12 victory over tenth-ranked Stanford last Saturday.

"I was speechless after the game Saturday," King said after his selection, "and I'm even more so now. I never dreamt this could happen. I believe so strongly in our kids and in college football, and I'm very proud to be a coach."

Before the Stanford victory, the Spartans, now 4-4-1 for the year, knocked off University of Pacific, 28-18, and overwhelmed defending Pacific Coast Athletic Association champion San Diego State, 45-7.

"Beating Stanford has to be the biggest victory in San Jose State's history," King said. "I looked back through the records and no team at San Jose has played the defending Rose Bowl champion and the No. 10 ranked team in the United States."

Meanwhile, Stanford's John Ralston and California's Ray Willsey were talking about Saturday's "Big Game," the 74th meeting between the Bears and Indians.

"I think Stanford is probably the best team we will play this year," Willsey said, "and that includes Arkansas and Ohio State."

California running back Steve Kemnitzer and San Jose State linebacker Dave Chaney were chosen as offensive and defensive players of the week.

Kenitzer, the Bears' rushing leader, ran for 95 yards in California's 17-10 victory over Oregon. Chaney practically demolished Stanford with 17 tackles, two fumble recoveries and a tackle of the Stanford punter on the Indians one-yard line to set up a Spartans touchdown.

In the college division, Santa Clara quarterback Clyde Lebaron was honored as the top offensive player for his five touchdown passes—a school record.

Redwood Harriers Seek Sectional Championship

Division III champion Redwood High School will send "our strongest team ever" to the North Coast Sectional cross-country meet tomorrow, but it is a team that is being steadily chewed up by injuries.

The meet will be held at 3:30 p.m. at Lake Elizabeth in Fremont. In addition to the Redwood varsity, Novato's Don Hutton will run as an individual. On the freshman-sophomore level, both Redwood and San Rafael have full teams and Tamalpais has an individual, Joey Biancalana.

The best performance by a Marin County Athletic League team at the meet in recent years was Redwood's seventh-place finish in 1969. "This team is stronger than that one," said coach Doug Basham.

But Redwood's hopes received a severe blow when Bryan Tracy, who normally runs fourth or fifth, injured his knee in an automobile accident over the weekend.

This may force Basham to bring up Kevin Glasner from the frosh-soph, a move which would severely weaken that squad. Glasner ran with the varsity during the dual meet season but was dropped to frosh-soph for the post-season events and responded with a victory in the MCAL meet.

But the younger team is already hurting because of heel injuries sustained by fourth and fifth men Lars Moller and Tim Killeen.

Marin's Pop Warner Teams Win 3 Contests

Marin County Pop Warner football teams won three of four post-season bowl games over the weekend at the expense of Northern California opponents.

Terra Linda's teams traveled to Anderson and swept two games, with the Trobabes defeating the Anderson Wildcats, 21-6, in senior pee wee and the Junior Trojans edging the Yreka Cyclones, 12-7, in senior midget.

Redwood hosted two games at College of Marin, with the Junior Giants of the senior midget division beating the Paradise Golden Saints, 12-0, and the Gremlins losing to the Corning Cubs, 30-13.

The touchdown scored by Anderson against the Trobabes was the first score in 13 games over two seasons. Terra Linda had an 8-0-1 record this year, with 140 points scored and zero surrendered.

The Junior Giants' defeat of Paradise marked the first time in 31 games over three years that the Golden Saints have been beaten.

Farley Nets 24 To Pace KSJO

Craig Farley scored 24 points to lead KSJO to a 61-49 victory over the San Rafael Teachers in play last night in the adult basketball league run by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Dept.

Bill Letterman scored 20 points as Kettle defeated Harvey Wallbanger, 85-45..

FISH AND GAME

No Weather For Pheasants

By AL GIDDINGS

The pheasant season opener was considered from poor to fair in most areas. In checking Black Point to Vallejo, most of the hunters were trying for ducks. Out at St. Vincent's Pheasant Club, quite a few hunters showed at one place. I saw three roosters running along a levee there but no hunters in sight. The rain and the mud didn't make things easy.

At the state shooting areas, pheasant hunting was slow — duck hunting was great. The heavy winds moved the ducks, but made pheasant hunting tough.

KEITH SOWARD of Oakland, my wildlife painting friend, came over to try for salmon or stripers out at Tomales Bay near Inverness on Saturday. I had spent a little time there Friday, catching a striper on a daredevil casting from shore, and Kay Schneider took a salmon and a bass fishing next to me. Two boats trolling took three salmon.

Keith put in about two hours Saturday without so much as a touch. Kay Schneider then showed up, naturally taking a salmon and two bass fishing right next to Keith. Keith was ready to explode and now has an idea for another funny cartoon — on himself. Kay gave him a salmon — nice guy that Kay — so all ended well.

NORM QUADROS called saying he was taking his son, Tony, out on their yearly sturgeon trip. It went the same as last year when Tony hooked a big one and lost it at the side of the boat during the landing process. This year, his fish took two jumps, then headed south toward the net depot off Tiburon. The last I heard it was still going. It had stripped Tony's reel of 200 yards of line.

I asked Quadros why he didn't pull the anchor. His answer, "I didn't have time to even think about anything." I said it was lack of experience. Quadros called me a few minutes ago to saythat his son says he isn't fishing with him anymore because he lacks experience! That's what the kid told his mother too, when they got home. I guess he must have overheard my remark. These kids!

Another boat fishing close by caught two nice stripers. From shore, it looked like most of the boats were trolling or drifting live bait below the Richmond Bridge near the white buoy.

THE SALMON season ended Sunday with Chuck Ibbotson of Danville, taking the top party boat derby prize with his 44½-pound salmon. He caught the fish off the New Vera II. The grand prize — a seven day six night trip and stay in Hawaii included taking three other persons. All expenses paid. Who did Chuck take? He took the boat skipper of the Vera II and the wives along too. You can't beat that!

The fishing changes to be determined by the California State Fish and Game Commission were announced this past week. The changes will be studied and discussed, then voted on at the Fish and Game commission meeting Dec. 1. These two new sections may be added to the Fish and Game regulations if passed.

SECTION 57 reads: "Point Reyes Headlands Reserve (Marin County). No form of marine life may be taken from the ocean area within 1,000 feet of the high tide mark in the Point Reyes Headlands bounded on the west by a line extending due west (true) from the Point Reyes Lighthouse and on the east by a line extending due east (true) from Chimney Rock, without a written permit from the Department."

Section 58 will be added to read: "Estero de Limantour Reserve. (Marin County). No forms of marine life may be taken below the high water mark in Esterode Limantour without a written permit from the Department. Estero de Limantour includes all tideland waters to the high water mark in an easterly direction from a line drawn due north (true) from the extreme westerly point of Limantour Spit." Any questions? If you have none, you better read the above again!

Fuel Added To Fire For 49er-Ram Game

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A bit of extra ingredients, as if any were needed, has been added to the do or die game Sunday in Los Angeles when San Francisco meets the Rams.

A Los Angeles sportswriter has said the 49ers, who now find themselves fighting for their lives in the National Football Conference Western Division, lost the first game to the Rams because they "don't enjoy contact."

To add salt to the wounds, Hugh McElhenny, a former 49er and now a radio commentator for the 49er games, groaned last Sunday on the air that San Francisco fell to lowly New Orleans because the team tried to finesse the Saints.

"Why not take it to them," McElhenny said.

Jerry Rhome, a backup Los Angeles quarterback, didn't win any friends in San Francisco either when he said the Rams won the first game because they "outphysicalled the 49ers."

San Francisco quarterback John Brodie's response to Rhome's remark was a short "how would he know?"

Asked about the Los Angeles writer's comments at a boosters club luncheon Monday, San Francisco coach Dick Nolan said, "I don't agree with it. I haven't talked to the writer in three years, although he sometimes quotes me."

Unknown Receiver Buie Triggers Raider Burst

OAKLAND (UPI) —The Oakland Raiders have finally exploded with some of the fireworks of past years, but it took a relatively unknown receiver from Catawba College to help them do it.

Drew Buie, who has been playing in the shadows of the more well-known Oakland receivers for three years, caught touchdown passes of 63 and 25 yards Sunday in the Raiders 4121 wipeout of Houston.

But Buie, a starter in the last two games, has taken his newfound glory with an uncanny calmness.

"I don't think one game makes a season," he said. "I was just glad I could make a couple of catches because we had to win the game."

Daryle Lamonica, who threw the touchdown strikes, says the catches will help Buie's confidence, but Buie says he already has that.

"I've always felt I can catch any ball I can get to," he said. "I don't worry about pressure. I never think of dropping the ball."

With the Houston victorsan the Raiders increased their record to 6-1-2 and remained ahead of Kansas City (6-2-1) in the America Football Conference West.

MONTREAL (UPI) —The California Golden Seals are having a good National Hockey League season thus far in comparison to earlier years, but they still haven't won a game on the road.

MARIN BASKETBALL PROSPECTS

Trojans Change Look

(First in a series on Marin County Athletic League basketball prospects.)

By LEW CODDINGTON

If you go to see Terra Linda High School play basketball this season, be sure to buy a program, because you won't recognize many of the players.

The five starters responsible for last-season's third-place finish in the Marin County Athletic League have graduated, leaving the Trojans with a collection of ex-reserves and ex-junior varsity players.

But nobody is grieving. The young Trojans, while unsung, are not unskilled, and they will beat some people this year.

"Our JVs finished second in the league at 11-3 last year," said coach Bob Corley. "We've got some good athletes coming up. We'll have fair height, but we won't be as quick as last season."

The sixth and seventh men from last year's 8-6 team, who saw a lot of playing time, will form the nucleus for Terra Linda. They are John Buckley, a 5-9 guard, and Todd Young, a 5-11 forward. Both are seniors. Buckley is a fine all-round athlete who starred at flanker and played occasional quarterback for the football team.

There are three other seniors who were varsity reserves last year — 6-1 forward Andy Mora, 6-0 guard Eric Borcherding and 6-3 forward-center Rick Love.

The JVs offer a potential starting center, 6-4 Mark Lowey, who caould provide the essential rebounding and defense. Other talented former junior varsity players include 5-9 guard Nick Mattos, 6-3 forward Mike Bodeen and 6-0 Rich Mullin.

If these players do as well at the varsity level as they did for the JVs, Terra Linda will be tough indeed. While they are learning, the Trojans are likely to be erratic.

On offense, Terra Linda will use the same "controlled break" style that characterizes Marin County basketball — the Trojans will fast break if they can, but won't be reckless about it. Defensively, they play man-to-man.

Rose Bowl Picture Unclear

SAN FRANCISCO — The printers are preparing the Rose Bowl program — with Stanford and Michigan getting top billing — but there could be a late cast change if California beats the Indians Saturday and gets a court injunction to go with it.

And Pacific-8 conference executive director Wiles Hallock said yesterday he doesn't know what will happen if those two "ifs" become realities.

If the Bears defeat Stanford in the "big game" Saturday, the two teams would finish the season with identical 5-2 records. If this happens, a meeting of the conference council probably would be required to determine the Rose Bowl representative.

MONTGOMERY ELATED

Partee Boot Saves Rook From Being Charger Goat

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—A rookie National Football League halfback named Mike Montgomery had to be the happiest man in San Diego Stadium Monday night when Dennis Partee kicked a 45-yard field goal as the gun sounded.

The kick gave the San Diego Chargers a 20-17 win over the St. Louis Cardinals, a win Montgomery almost blew 1:25 earlier by fumbling on his 33 with a 17-10 lead. But Montgomery was the hero of the game before he almost became the coat, accounting for 208 yards for the Chargers.

St. Louis middle linebacker Jamie Rivers recovered and Cid Edwards tied the game 17-17 five plays later with a one-yard plunge with 17 seconds left. An onside kick backfired, however, and Partee's kick won it.

"About 20 seconds earlier I felt so bad I could have crawled out of the stadium," Montgomery said. "Then I felt so good I can't describe it."

Starting in place of veteran Mike Garrett, the 6-foot-2, 205-pound Montgomery stood the Cardinals on their ear, running for 98 yards in 17 tries, catching six passes for 77 yards and completing one for 33 yards.

Cardinals coach Bob Hollway, fighting to stay in the National Conference Eastern Division race, said he went for the onside kick for two reasons:

"We wanted to gain possession of the ball and we wanted to run off the clock."

Merger Skeptic Speaks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A skeptical senator will have to see the income tax returns of professional basketball teams and their owners before he is convinced a merger between the American and National Basketball Associations is necessary.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, Jr., D-N.C., called for the financial reports Monday as he directed a subcommittee hearing on a bill that would allow the merger of the ABA and NBA by granting an exemption under the anti-trust laws.

Wendell Cherry, one of the owners of the Kentucky Colonels, told the Senate Anti-Turst and Monopoly Subcommittee the "very future existence of professional basketball is at stake" in the merger bill.

Cherry said the 11 ABA teams lost more than $20 million in the four years the league has been in existence. NBA figures showed $8.2 million in losses for 13 of the 17 teams over the same period.

The NBA Commissioner, Walter Kennedy, testified the biggest factor in financial losses has been "the intense interleague fight to sign college superstars ..."

But Ervin questioned Cherry closely about figures the Colonels' executive game for his team. The North Carolina senator cited salaries and bonuses totalling $260,958 paid in 1970 against losses totalling $466,747.

"If the players had played for nothing at all —no salaries at all —you still would have lost money," Ervin said.

The subcommittee chairman said he wanted to see the income tax returns of all owners of the professional clubs as well as financial data of the clubs themsleves. Cherry said he would turn over his personal income tax returns. But he said he could not speak for the others.

Bob Murphy Among Top TV Broadcasters

If he isn't the best TV sports commentator, Bob Murphy certainly rates among the Top Ten. And as an interviewer the man from Stanford is superb.

Murphy does the weekly 49er Huddle show each Saturday afternoon on Channel 2. He knows all of football's technical stuff but never gets ensnarled in technical explanations of complicated plays. Murphy's comments are incisive and crystal clear.

More importantly, Murphy knows when to keep his mouth shut and let the game film speak for itself. "How's this for a play," he will say and then remain silent as the play unfolds.

MURPHY NEVER talks down to his viewers, never creates the impression that they are lacking in intelligence. He makes his points with a minimum of words devoid of clichés.

"It looks like he has a little margarine on his iegs the way those Vikes are slipping off them," was Murphy's comment on a fancy punt return by Bruce Taylor in the 49er-Viking game.

ON A CLASSY run by Vic Washington in the same game, a run Washington started outside Minnesota's left end and finished with a cut inside, Murphy said: "He can run against the grain, too."

On the grass-top pass of John Brodie to Gene Washington — the pass that won the game — Murphy didn't rehash the controversy the pass provoked. "We ran the film on that one a dozen times," Murphy said simply. "He caught it cleanly."

When Murphy's guest, Mike Giddings, commented that the ex-Stanford star was "a great one," Murphy didn't give it a "That's right, Mike," treatment. What Murphy did say was this: "Gene's understudy at Stanford, Randy Vataha, is doing a pretty good job, too."

MURPHY DIDN'T belabor his top o' the hat to Vataha with an unnecessary explanation that Vataha now is catching passes from his ex-Stanford teammate Jim Plunkett for the Patriots. Such an explanation would have been an insult to the background knowledge of local football fans.

Murphy has the good grace and wisdom to avoid superfluous comments that some of his fellow commentators are unable to resist. Murphy never talks himself into a see-how-smart-I-am-corner.

And when Murphy puts questions to his guests he doesn't preface them with long-winded, built-in answers. He asks questions simply and lets his guests supply the answers.

Series Monies Divided

NEW YORK (UPI) —The players on the 13 first division teams in major league baseball have divided up $1.7 million in World Series loot.

The commissioner's office released the final money statistics Monday and the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates and the American League champion Baltimore Orioles got to divvy up $1.1 million of the funds.

Both champions gave out 31 full shares with the Pittsburgh share amounting to $18,164.58 and the Baltimore Share to $13,906.46.

The playoff losers, Oakland and San Francisco, each got $217,790.66 to divide. However, a full share for the Oakland players was worth $6,365.58 while a San Francisco full share was worth $6,198.29 because the Giants included more players in their winnings.

The shares for the other National League teams included $1,140.28 for Los Angeles, $1,-101.02 for St. Louis, $278.04 for Atlanta, $138.73 for Chicago and $134.43 for New York.

The shares for the other American League Clubs included $1,182.90 for Detroit, $1,-168.24 for Kansas City, $286.57 for Chicago and $294.32 for Boston.

Sharon Walsh Takes Net Win In Comeback

She teamed with instructor Paul Wilkins to defeat Pauline Peischov of Isreal and Bob Foly of Phoenix, 7-6, 6-4.

PREP OF THE WEEK

Injuries Boon To Connor's Career

Mike Connor once had dreams of being another Gene Washington. The Redwood High School coaching staff saw him as another Vic Washington. Last Saturday against Tamalpais he was another Frank Merriwell.

Connor set a Marin County Athletic League record by scoring five touchdowns to lead the Giants' 45-18 romp, thereby earning Independent-Journal Prep of the Week honors.

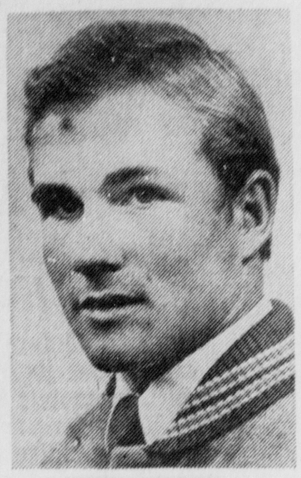
"I always wanted to be an end," said the 6-2, 185-pound junior. "I kind of patterned myself after Gene Washington of the 49ers."

Indeed, Connor was a flanker for Redwood the first two games of this season before he was switched to halfback. "Injuries dictated the move," said head coach Phil Roark, although backfield coach Al Endriss insists he had his eye on Connor from the start.

Connor was pleased. "I was all for it; I wanted to see more action," he said. Redwood's normal strategy calls for quite a few passes to the backs, so Connor actually was having his cake and eating it, too.

Mike proceeded to learn how to play his position in nothing flat, to the delight of his coaches. The Redwood coaches tend to rhapsodize when asked about him. . ."most coachable boy I ever had" . . ."tremendous self-discipline" . . ."he sets his goals very high and then attains them" . . ."very hard working."

Connor didn't go out for football last year as a sophomore because he wanted to direct his full attention toward basketball. He was a starting guard for Redwood's league champions. This makes his quick assimilation of football even more remarkable.



MIKE CONNOR
Rushing whiz

Connor's attitude draws as much praise as his ability, which is a lot of praise. He fits perfectly the All-America mold that supposedly was thrown away in the mid-'60s — quiet, polite, respectful, modest and generous in his praise of others.

He is also highly intelligent, carrying a perfect 4.0 average. "I want to go into medicine eventually," he said, "either as a general surgeon or a neurosurgeon. The high school courses I like best are the ones related to medicine, like chemistry, biology and advanced algebra."

Most of Mike's interests center around sports. In addition to basketball, he started in centerfield for the baseball team. In a league last summer he was switched to catcher and says he prefers it: "You're into the game more at catcher."

A good swimmer, Mike taught swimming last summer for the Paul Daly Swimming School in Larkspur. "Mostly I taught little kids," he said, quietly indicating that he enjoyed the experience.

"I'd have to admit that playing college football has crossed my mind," he said. The only letter he's received so far was from the Naval Academy, but that figures to change next year.

He is drawn to Stanford. "My sister goes there, and I like the campus," he said.

A few more performances like Saturday's and he'll be overwhelmed with dozens of competing schools. He scored on runs of 75, 54 and 9 yards and caught two scoring passes of 67 and 38 yards. He rushed for 190 yards in just nine tries, which comes out to a staggering 21.1 yards a whack. Another touchdown was nullified by a penalty.

Two of the runs were off-tackle traps, and the other was an option outside. In the Redwood scheme of things, he does most of his running off-tackle or outside. He generally carries six to eight times a game; nine was his season high.

"I'm generally satisfied with the progress I've been making at halfback," he said. Then, characteristically, he added, "The Redwood coaches are good teachers."

He says the toughest problem he has as a back is hitting the hole quickly. His best assets? "I've got pretty good balance," he said, "and a good line in front of me."

Mike also plays defensive back, and well, but prefers offense because he can get his hands on the ball. And when he does, things happen.

ON ROAD

Golden State Seeks End To Losing String

DETROIT (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors try to snap their longest losing streak of the season — a mere two games — tonight when they meet the Detroit Pistons.

The Warriors, coming off two days of rest, have a 11-6 mark in the young national basketball association season and are tied with Seattle for second place in the Pacific division, three games behind Los Angeles.

Golden State defeated Detroit, which has also lost two straight, in an overtime game last month in the two teams' first meeting of the year.

Since that game, the Pistons have had a coaching change. Bill Van Breda Kolff ended his short NBA career when he quit, and Earl Lloyd, a former pistons player and former office executive, was named to replace him.

The Warriors, a scrambling outfit which has improved dramatically with the addition of high scoring forward Cazzie Russell, are seeking to make another run at the pacesetting Los Angeles Lakers. To accomplish this, the Warriors must slip by two "down" teams, the Pistons, and the expansion Trailblazers of Portland.

Washington State Sets Pass Defense

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

PULLMAN — Pass defense was stressed most during a strenuous two-hour workout by the Washington State Cougars Monday as they began preparation for Saturday's game at Husky Stadium against the University of Washington.

"No one we have played has better execution and versatility in the passing game than the Huskies," Cougar coach Jim Sweeney said. "We have great respect for their running attack, but our first concern is the aerial attack."

Washington

SEATTLE — Washington's football squad will be missing three men Saturday when the Huskies wind up the 1971 football season against traditional cross-state rival Washington State.

Oregon

EUGENE — The University of Oregon held a light workout stressing conditioning Monday as the Ducks began preparations for their annual "civil war" with Oregon State Saturday.

The defense worked out on Beaver offensive sets while the offense worked on the passing game with Dan Fouts doing the throwing.

Coach Jerry Frei said all is well in the injury department and Leland Glass and Maurice Anderson, who have been sidelined for two weeks, should be ready to go Saturday.

Oregon State

CORVALLIS — Coach Dee Andros let his Beavers work out on their own Monday as Oregon State warmed up for its cross-state battle with Oregon at Eugene Saturday.

Andros said the Beavers did not suffer any injuries in their 21-14 win over Washington State last Saturday.

Monday's practice consisted mostly of light conditioning.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Gulfstream Key To Grumman's Future

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I bought Grumman Corp. (NYSE) at 14½. What is the present outlook? — F.T.

A. Near-term, Grumman shares are hampered by reduced government funding, runaway costs and sluggish commercial demand. In 1970 more than 90 per cent of sales were to the government, military orders accounted for the bulk of business. Commercial orders, which contributed only 7 per cent of sales last year, are derived substantially from a $3 million executive jet, Gulfstream II. Demand dropped off sharply in 1970 with only 16 planes delivered compared with 36 in 1969. Production, which had been reduced drastically, was recently doubled to one plane a month.

Longer-term outlook is more optimistic particularly if the economic pace accelerates. The Navy has ordered an additional 48 F-14 fighters as well as 11 E2C reconnaissance planes. Although the initial 38-plane order will be modestly profitable, skyrocketing costs have forced Grumman to request contract renegotiation.

The program originally called for 722 aircraft but may be curtailed to 300-400 units because of cost overruns. This in itself would increase unit cost. A more favorable contract is probable. With time and patience Grumman could prove to be a rewarding investment.

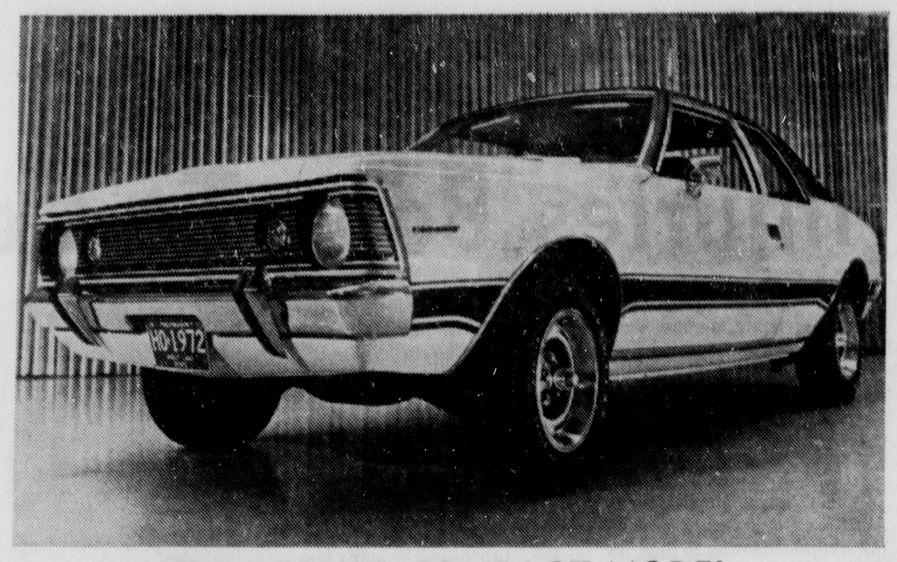
Q. In a recent column a man was advised to hold his shares for their 6.8 per cent yield. His stock cost $25 and the dividend was $1. Why wouldn't his yield be 4 per cent on his investment? — J.P. & J.C.

A. Although you are correct in stating that yield figured on the reader's cost would be 4 per cent, figured on his investment's present value — $14.50 per share — is 6.8 per cent. In discussing yields the latter figure is more meaningful, since it represents the return on his capital as it stands at the present. In other words, if he sold his shares he would have only the reduced amount of principal to reinvest for income. Thus, for the purpose of comparison with other potential investments, the yield is calculated on current share price rather than on cost.

PLANS RETIREMENT — Armando J. Zirpoli of Greenbrae, a veteran of 46 years with Bank of America, will retire Dec. 31. For the past five years he has been vice president and manager of the Columbus branch in San Francisco and has spent his entire career with the bank in that city, except for four years as head of the Westlake branch in Daly City. He has been a vice president and director of the San Francisco Market Corp. and active in many other San Francisco civic organizations.

UNICOA Report

CHICAGO (BW) — UNICOA Corp., reporting on a consolidated basis with its wholly owned subsidiary, United Insurance Co. of America, reported earnings of $10,548,000, or $1.77 per share, for the nine-month period ended Sept. 30, based on average number of shares outstanding during the period of 5,951,680.



NEW HORNET COMPACT MODEL

American Motors' new Rallye X will make its debut at the Detroit Automobile Show Nov. 28-30. As a "performance" package, it offers front disc brakes, 20-to-one ratio steering gear, synchronized three-speed transmission with floor shift, heavy duty springs and shock absorbers, high-back bucket seats and a sports steering wheel. In Marin it may be ordered through Larry Brink Motors, Mill Valley; Marin Automobile Co., San Rafael, and Auto Fair, Novato.

No Growth Advocates Under Sharp Attack

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — The president of the American Petroleum Institute has criticized advocates of a "no-growth" national policy, pointing out that continued economic growth is necessary if national goals are to be attained.

In an address before the API's annual meeting yesterday, Frank N. Ikard struck at what he called "cipher Cassandras" who preach "zero population growth, zero economic growth, zero technological development and zero energy growth."

He asserted that "no growth" proponents argue that "further economic growth will exhaust our resources, destroy the amenities of life, and lead to the eventual disintegration of the planet."

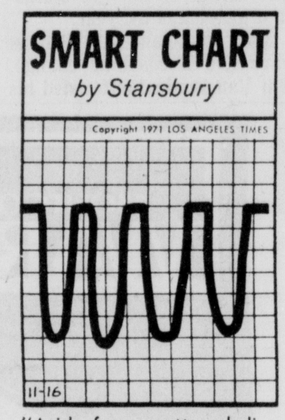
Ikard pointed out, however, that many nations of the world have per capita incomes barely above subsistence level. "They are the 'have not' nations and peoples," he said, "And what they 'have not' most of all is inanimate energy — the energy to pull themselves away from the human toil and the primitive conditions that, surely, are alien to the better world we all seek and desire . . . for them, as well as ourselves."

He added that "It is surely no accident that countries with low per capita income are those with low levels of energy consumption.

And, conversely, countries — like the United States — with higher standards of living are those that have harnessed mechanical energy courses."

Ikard asserted that one major goal must be "the alleviation of poverty," and pointed out that "energy is essential if we are to provide the jobs, supply the food, and construct the housing that will raise up those among us at the lower end of the social and economic ladder."

Another national goal, he said, is a secure nation, "economically and militarily strong enough to repulse or discourage outside attack.



"Aside from scattered dips, we are pleased to report a generally favorable year."

Bank Of Marin Opens Seventh Branch For Larkspur, Kentfield

Now open is Bank of Marin's newest office (its seventh), located at 1177 Magnolia Avenue at the Larkspur-Kentfield line and serving both areas.

An open house is scheduled, starting next Friday and extending through the balance of November.

Kenneth B. Howard of San Rafael has been appointed manager of the new branch facility. Before joining the bank in August of last year as an assistant cashier he had been several years with Bell Savings and Loan Association and its predecessor, Marin County Savings. He was made an assistant vice president last July.

Howard

Drury

SAMUEL S. DRURY JR. of Tiburon has been named assistant vice president and manager of Wells Fargo Bank's training department. With the bank since 1964, he was at the New Montgomery and Golden Gateway offices in San Francisco before being assigned to the training department in 1968.

SHERMAN CLAY, which is phasing out all its lines of band instruments and general musical instruments to concentrate on and expand its organ and piano business, is now selling out its stocks at the special instrument store in San Rafael at 1408 Fourth Street.

TWO OF Northgate Industrial Park's occupants have had to expand their facilities. Sta-Power Industries, Inc. at 70 Mitchell Boulevard has taken another 1,120 square feet of warehouse at 55 Mitchell. Professional Real Estate Publishing Co. at 55 Mitchell has taken another 600 square feet at 45 Mitchell. Leases were made through William Hoey Co.

THE ROBERT KUNST PAINT CENTER, San Rafael, has added the Pratt and Lambert line of paint products, available both at retail and for the contractor. It is continuing its line of Glidden paints. The center is now open on Sundays from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Dividend Declared

LOS ANGELES (BW) — Unionamerica Inc. has declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 20 cents per share for the quarter ended Dec. 31, payable Jan. 3 to shareholders of record Dec. 1.

Market On Quiet Side

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks trended easier in quiet trading through the first two hours today.

Traders and investors generally appeared to be "playing a waiting game" prior to Treasury Secretary John Connally's speech tonight, which has been billed as a major economic address.

On the Big Board, stocks on the most active list generally surrendered fractions. American Telephone and Ford lost 1-4 each, and Penn Central gave up 1-8.

Steels and chemicals were fractionally mixed, as were rails and airlines.

Peking Casts First Vote—Anti-U.S. One

Resolution Criticizes Rhodesian Chrome Buying

UNITED NATIONS (UPI)— Communist China cast its first vote in the United Nations today in support of a resolution critical of the United States and calling on it to prevent the importation of chrome from white-ruled Rhodesia.

The resolution passed overwhelmingly, 106 to 2, with the American delegation itself not participating in the vote. Only Portugal and South Africa voted against it.

The U.N. action was in response to a move in the U.S. Congress last week which included provision for the procurement of Rhodesian chrome in a procurement bill. The Congressional vote was in violation of a U.N. ban on trade with the white-minority government ruling Rhodesia.

The vote gave the Chinese their first opportunity to vote in the assembly, where Deputy Foreign Minister Chiao Kuanhua and his delegation sat for the first time Monday since the Assembly voted to admit Communist China and expel Nationalist China three weeks ago.

In his first speech Monday night, Chaio made a far-reaching attack on both the United States and Russia.

The U. S. delegation did not join in the debate on today's resolution which expressed "grave concern" at the action of the U. S. Congress which, if confirmed, would violate the U. N. embargo.

The resolution went on to call on the U. S. government to bear in mind its obligations under the U. N. charter.

The resolution went on to request the U. S. government to inform the assembly during its present session what action it will take to prevent the chrome imports and asked assembly President Adam Malik of Indonesia to draw the U. S. government's attention to it.

When China's turn came in the alphabetical order to vote, Chiao shouted, "Yes", in Chinese. He had to be reminded by assembly officials also to push the green "yes" button on his desk which registered the Chinese vote.

The U. S. delegation announced beforehand that it would not participate. Thirteen countries abstained—Belgium, Brazil, Canada, the Dominican Republic, El Salvador, France, Greece, Guatamala, Italy, Luxembourg, Malai, the Netherlands and Britain.

A Soviet proposal for a world disarmament conference is also expected to come before the Assembly later in the day.

Tiburon Council Abandons Strawberry Cove Plans

The Tiburon City Council wrote the final chapter in the saga of its unsuccessful Strawberry annexation bid last night as it voted to not condemn Strawberry Cove for a park. (Another Tiburon City Council story, page 3).

Condemnation of the cove was one inducement dangled in front of Strawberry voters by the city in an attempt to persuade them to annex to Tiburon.

Annexation opponents had charged the city acted in bad faith over the cove issue, which they said was a ploy to win votes in the Oct. 19 election.

The annexation was soundly defeated both in Strawberry and in the areas north of Tiburon Boulevard.

There was no discussion of the matter last night either by the council or the audience as the once controversial matter was shelved. Mayor Denis T. Rice was absent.

The rescinding of the ordinance was the second victory in less than two weeks for developer Paul J. Broman, whose plans to build 72 apartments on the cove have aroused heated opposition from Strawberry residents and Bay Area conservationists.

On Nov. 4 the Bay Conservation and Development Commission approved the apartment plan on a 14-to-4 vote. An earlier plan for 96 units was blocked by the commission in May.

The evaporation of the condemnation threat still leaves two roadblocks to Broman's plans for the 6.7-acre parcel, owned by Leonard B. Fleischman of Belvedere.

One is the Southern Marin building ban that resulted when the regional water quality control board outlawed sewer connections for new construction in the Richardson Bay area because of pollution.

Only a limited amount of new construction can be undertaken until the Richardson Bay district satisfies the regional board that waste discharge from the Trestle Glen treatment plant can meet state-set pollution goals.

The other roadblock is a suit filed by Strawberry Recreation District, claiming the public has a right to access across the entire parcel because of many years of unimpeded public use.

The suit still is lodged in Marin Superior Court.

Coast Bill Dies; Lobbies Blamed

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A Senate committee has scuttled the 1971 legislature's biggest ecology bill, a measure to protect the California coastline from slipshod development.

Environmentalists promptly announced they will carry the issue directly to the people by attempting to place an initiative measure on the 1972 general election ballot, thus bypassing the legislature and the governor.

"The legislature doesn't understand the depth of the people's feelings on protection of the environment," said the bill's bitter author, Assemblyman Alan Sieroty, D-Beverly Hills.

"The legislature has been playing the old game, playing with the people closest to the legislative process—the lobbyists."

He blamed lobbyists, developers and Gov. Ronald Reagan for the controversial bill's defeat.

The measure was rejected by the Senate Natural Resources and Wildlife Committee Monday on a 4-4 voice vote.

Backers said one committee member, Sen. James Q. Wedworth, D-Hawthorne, had promised he would vote for the bill. He was the committee's only absent member, being excused from the legislature on "personal business."

Sieroty said if he could obtain Wedworth's support in writing he would seek another committee hearing, but the disappointed assemblyman told a news conference he was not optimistic.

The bill would have established a powerful state commission and six regional commissions to regulate most coastline development by permits until a master plan could be drafted

Retroactive Teacher Pay In Balance

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Three months of back pay for the nation's 2.2 million teachers, and perhaps others as well, hung in the balance today as the Pay Board prepared to consider possible revisions of its stand against retroactive wage increases.

The board was in session today.

The board's basic position on the issue was not expected to change, but it was possible there would be changes or exceptions to the earlier ruling.

Pay Board Chairman George H. Boldt was on record as saying that the board's original ruling against paying raises that would have come had the freeze not been in effect would not be reconsidered. But he said there would be discussion of matters incidental to or connected with the issue — including back raises for school teachers, many of whom were paid at last term's wages during the freeze.

The Cost of Living Council meanwhile reversed an earlier ruling which had granted an exemption for some firms which want to raise prices. The earlier position had been that companies faced with a wage raise between Nov. 14 and Jan. 1 could raise their prices without notifying the government in advance.

But the council changed that stand Monday, saying that any of the nation's 1,300 largest firms in that position now will have to tell the Price Commission of plans to raise their prices. If the commission does not object the price rises will go into effect 72 hours later — still much faster than the 30-day period generally required.

Monday's reversal had the greatest impact on the auto industry which is scheduled to pay United Auto Workers members a 6.5 per cent contract raise within the next few weeks. Detroit had been planning to raise new car prices by about 2.5 per cent, but '72 model prices will now remain at their freeze levels until the Price Commission receives applications from the car makers and puts them through the 72-hour test.

Courthouse Site Blacktop Rejected

San Rafael's bid for county support to blacktop the old county courthouse was rejected today by the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

However, supervisors voted 3 to 2 on a motion by John F. McInnis to allow the city to construct a parking lot on the site at city expense. Supervisors Arnold M. Baptiste and Peter R. Arrigoni opposed the action.

The request for county support, sponsored by the San Rafael Chamber of Commerce and the city, brought strong opposition from McInnis, whose district includes part of San Rafael.

"I'm really astonished at the proposal," he told the board. "All we have to do is put in $10,000 worth of improvements and Northgate (shopping center) will be asking for assistance.

He said all other shopping centers in the county would have the right to request and receive county assistance for parking if the proposal was approved.

"Just because the county is the landowner, he said, "That's no excuse for investing county taxpayers' money to benefit the downtown shopping area."

Supervisors Baptiste and Arrigoni expressed concern that the parking lot proposal could affect the eventual sale of the property adversly.

(The county and city have been negotiating its sale for about five years.)

Both feared that such an improvement would lead to a county owned parking lot, since the city may lose interest in purchasing the site.

Board Chairman Louis H. Baar, whose district also includes part of San Rafael, said he felt the county should do something to help alleviate Christmas time traffic congestion in the downtown area.

The board did, however, authorize the expenditure of $800 for landscaping and other minor improvements at the site.

In related action, the board turned down a staff proposal of new appraisal for the courthouse site.

It rejected on a 3-to-2 vote with Arrigoni and Baptiste against. It needed four favorable votes.

The last appraisal, done in 1969, estimated the value of the site at about $800,000.

Petaluma Facing Water Crisis; Home Construction Enters Scene

By BONNIE BARD

Home construction in Petaluma will come to a grinding halt next summer or the city will be faced with the prospects of rationing water, the city council was told last night. (Another Petaluma story, page 3.)

City Engineer David A. Young told the council that water will be available only for the population expected next summer. "We can't approve anymore subdivisions until more water becomes available," Young said.

The warning of a complete stop to residential development came four months after the council adopted a policy to cut the growth rate in half and limit construction to 500 new homes per year. That policy decision was reached in June after residents complained vigorously that the rapid development did not permit schools, recreation and city services to keep pace.

Young told the council that the city will use 5,000,000 gallons of water per day on the average next summer and that no additional water will be available from the Sonoma County Water Agency until perhaps 1974 or more likely 1975.

He said that with the defeat of the Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct plan in Marin County on Nov. 2, the Sonoma Water Agency has scaled down plans and now is considering building a new pipeline from the Russian River to supply water to Southern Sonoma.

Young said he didn't know how much additional water the new pipeline would bring Petaluma, but that it probably wouldn't be completed until 1975 so that severe water shortages would be inevitable if home construction were to continue at a rapid pace.

He said a new two-million-gallon storage tank is 80 per cent complete and that the city will be able to meet the peak summer requirement of 7,000,000 gallons per day next year. "You just can't have more growth past what you'll have next summer," he said.

Young said he would meet with staff members of the water agency to discuss the pipeline plan and a timetable and would report back to the council next month.

The council approved a resolution urging the water agency to go ahead with its plan to build the new pipeline from the river to Cotati to connect with the present north-south line to provide more water to Petaluma.

"This water problem is going to be a very limiting factor on our growth," City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer said today. He said temporary measures can be taken to assure that Petalumans don't have to ration water next summer, but said he didn't know what the status of water supply would be after that.

"If the county doesn't move ahead with its pipeline plan, we'll really be in trouble — even with our present population," Meyer said.

Yorty Tosses In Hat; New Hampshire Goal

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Mayor Sam Yorty, a maverick Democrat, announced today he will seek the presidential nomination in New Hampshire's first-in-the-nation primary March 7.

Yorty, who made this third political pilgrimage to the state earlier this month, is the second Democrat to announce his bid for the democratic nomination in 1972, following Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D.

"Encouraged by the advice of many friends and supporters I have decided to become a candidate for President," Yorty said in a statement prepared for a Los Angeles news conference.

"Our campaign is already well under way in New Hampshire," Yorty said.

The Los Angeles mayor said, however, he has no intention of entering all the primaries, and at this point the California primary will "climax our campaign."

"The first step is New Hampshire. After that we shall see," Yorty said.

"Other states may be added as the campaign progresses," Yorty said. "We will be selective. We have no intention of trying to raise the huge sums of money necessary to enter all of the primaries."

Yorty said he has no illusions about the difficulties in winning the support of the voters in New Hampshire, which is considered to be strongly behind Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine."

"My position on the issues will be that of a moderate Democrat," Yorty said, "a position I hope will appeal not only to a majority of Democrats but also many Republicans who are disillusioned with the current resort to sheer political expediency by the Nixon administration in its efforts to win the election at all costs or by any means in 1972," he said.

"Prior Nixon promises, positions or commitments seem to me nothing as 1972 approaches," Yorty said. "I am sorry to see this. I do not like to see any president fail because when a president fails, the nation suffers."

Yorty has made a strong bid for conservative voters in New Hampshire and has won the endorsement of the Manchester Union Leader, the state's largest newspaper and the only morning newspaper.

Giacomini To Contest For Seat Held By Baar

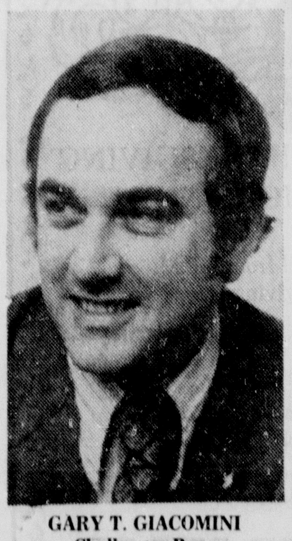
He opened his campaign with an attack on Baar for failing to sense "the tide of public sentiment against the overdevelopment of the county."

In a statement announcing his candidacy, Giacomini scored Baar for failing to realize "that unplanned population increase means more air pollution, more water pollution, more traffic congestion, greater demand for tax-supported services such as schools, roads, police and fire protection.

"His lack of awareness was clearly evidenced by his support of the costly Sonoma-Marin Aqueduct measure, Measure B, which the voters of his district turned down almost ten to one — 4,900 to 583."



GARY T. GIACOMINI
Challenges Baar

Giacomini, who was a sponsor of the campaign against the measure, promised that if elected he would "determine the

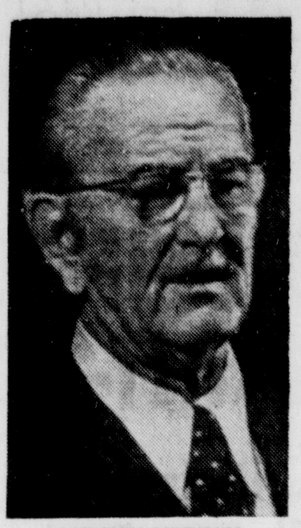
'New Isolationist Coalition' Dangers Cited By Johnson

NEW YORK (UPI)—Former President Lyndon B. Johnson said Monday that a new coalition of conservative and liberal isolationists seeks to diminish America's world leadership role.

"Others will try to go it alone," Johnson told an audience of about 350 business leaders during a speech at New York University's School of Business Administration. "But we cannot, for responsibility is the price of leadership.

"And if we, the representatives of business and labor and government and academia — we, the strongest and wealthiest nation on earth ... if we do not lead, then our system as we know it just cannot survive."

The former Democratic president said he was disturbed by what he said appeared to be the formation of "a new coalition of isolationists which could be mistaken for the majority opinion.



LYNDON JOHNSON
University speech

"It is made up of conservatives and liberals who seek to diminish America's role in the world —for entirely different reasons," he said.

Some of those isolationists, Johnson said, "are angry because what we have done for the world hasn't made other nations automatically do what we say. Some just don't like foreigners. Some think we should spend everything on ourselves instead of trying to help avoid chaos elsewhere. Others just don't like spending money—period. Others just don't want to get involved."

Such viewpoints are "dangerously shortsighted," Johnson said, and could cause irreparable damage to the world order.

"We have to recognize that there is no safety in a sudden turning away from Europe or Asia, from the Middle East or Latin America," said Johnson. "If we fall into isolationism, we will find that we are the ones who are isolated. We cannot afford to repeat the tragic mistakes of the past."

U.S. Jet Strikes In North

SAIGON (UPI)—An American F4 Phantom jet fighterbomber crossed into North Vietnam today to attack a Communist antiaircraft battery which had fired at the U.S. plane as it was carrying out a raid on a truck convoy on the Ho Chi Minh Trail in nearby Laos.

As the U.S. command reported the new attack inside North Vietnam, it also said three American GIs were killed and four injured Monday in accidents. Two U.S. troops were killed in stepping on a mine near Hue and the third death and four injuries were in a road accident 40 miles east of Saigon.

The U.S. command said the latest air strike north of the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) involved an F4 Phantom that was bombing traffic on the Ho Chi Minh Trial on the Laotian side of Mu Gia Pass, one of the principal Communist infilitration routes into South Vietnam and Laos.

The Phantom damaged one of the Communist guns, military spokesmen said. It was the sixth strike into North Vietnam in nine days. Strikes into the north have become increasingly frequent in past week in the U.S. Air Force's effort to halt a record flow of Communist supplies down the Ho Chi Minh Trail.

In Saigon, the U.S. military command said it was closing out the 150-man headquarters of the 12th Tactical Fighter Wing at Phu Cat Airbase on South Vietnam's Central Coast 270 miles northeast of the capital and turning the $36 million over to the South Vietnamese in early December. About 60 Americans will stay on as advisers.

House-Senate Panel To Iron Out Cancer Attack

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A House-Senate conference committee today has the task of resolving a controversy over how to mount a national attack on cancer.

The House by a lopsided 350 to 5 vote Monday approved a $1.6 billion bill which would streamline National Cancer Institute operations. However, the Senate earlier voted to replace the institute with a new cancer agency.

Rep. Paul G. Rogers (D—Fla.), chief sponsor of the House bill, said he hoped a House-Senate conference committee could meet soon to resolve differences in the bills.

Although the Senate measure passed by an overwhelming 79 to 1, Rogers said the House version has many provisions to speed up cancer research that he expects Senate negotiators will adopt.

"I wouldn't think there will be a serious impasse at all," Rogers told reporters. "It would be very easy to resolve these few basic issues." The key question is whether cancer research should remain in NCI as part of the National Institutes of Health as in the House bill, or directed by a new agency, largely independent of NIH, as provided by the Senate measure.

Sen. Gaylord Nelson (D-Wis.) praised the house bill for its "thrust toward conquering cancer. The Senate approach, in my opinion, would begin the dismantling of NIH and handicap the cause of fighting cancer."

Nelson cast the lone dissenting vote when the Senate approved creation of the new agency which would be independent of NIH for its budget and whose director would report to the President.

President Of Rand Resigns

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI)—The president of the Rand Corporation "think tank" resigned Monday in a reorganization of the institution. A spokesman denied the changes were the result of the Pentagon papers leak.

Henry S. Rowen, 46, president of the corporation since Jan. 1, 1967, submitted his resignation, effective within the next 18 months after a successor has been found.

McNAMARA AIDE

Rowen, formerly a research associate at Harvard University, was deputy assistant secretary of defense for planning and national security affairs from 1961 to 1965 under Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara, and assistant director of the Bureau of the Budget under former President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Daniel Ellsberg, who admitted leaking the Pentagon papers to the news media, was formerly a researcher at Rand. The Justice Department accused Ellsberg, who faces trial on two counts of violating federal security laws, of misappropriating the secret report on the origins of the Vietnam War from the Rand Corporation's files.

The only person to be jailed in the Pentagon papers leak was Anthony Russo, a friend of Ellsberg's and also a former researcher at Rand. He was jailed for contempt of court because he refused to tell a federal grand jury what he knew about Ellsberg's activities.

DENIES LINK

The resignation of Rowen and the internal reorganization of Rand has "absolutely nothing" to do with the Pentagon papers controversy, a Rand spokesman said.

Rowen said he was resigning because he felt he had accomplished what he set out to do at Rand—"straighten its national security research and apply its analytical skills to the urgent social needs of the country."

In the administrative reorganization, three divisions were established, each headed by a vice president. One will concentrate on programs for the Air Force, another on all other Pentagon work and the third on domestic, non-military, problems.

Rehnquist Denies Affidavits Of Black Voter Harassment

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Sworn affidavits that William H. Rehnquist harassed black voters in the 1964 election sparked new demands today that the Senate Judiciary Committee further investigate his fitness to serve on the Supreme Court.

Rehnquist had denied any such harassment in direct testimony to the committee last week. He said he never served as a challenger —only as an arbiter —in settling Election Day disputes. And the Justice Department Monday said the renewed charges were false.

The charges that Rehnquist interfered with voting in two predominantly black precincts of Phoenix, Ariz., in 1964 were made by Clarence Mitchell, Washington representative of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

Mitchell told the committee last week he had no documentary proof, because witnesses were reluctant to risk economic retaliation if they came forward.

But Monday he turned over to Sen. Birch D. Bayh, D-Ind., affidavits from Jordan Harris, a deputized Democratic party challenger, and Bob Tate, a precinct committeeman, both Negroes, that they saw Rehnquist harass voters at Bethune school precinct.

After the affidavits were released, the Justice Department issued a statement which had been prepared in consultation with Rehnquist and other department officials. It said:

"The original statement of the southwest branch of the NAACP —which proved to be totally incorrect —was that the incident took place in 1968. That statement has now been altered to make it appear that a disturbance which in fact occurred in 1962 occurred instead in 1964."

It said the FBI investigated the incident and found "Mr. Rehnquist was nowhere named ... as either a participant or a witness." It also said Tate was one of those interviewed by the FBI.

FBI Quietly Replacing Its Top People

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Federal Bureau of Investigation, working quietly under the hand of Director J. Edgar Hoover, has replaced almost half its top staff in the past few months.

Among those ousted during the overhaul was William C. Sullivan, 56, who was considered at least for a brief period by most observers as Hoover's handpicked successor. The bureau's No. 3 man, Sullivan accepted retirement after a long and apparently bitter fight.

Sullivan was pushing for changes in the FBI opposed by Hoover, observers said.

The promotions, demotions and retirements that occurred during the shakeup were not announced. They were noted only in the FBI Recreation Association Magazine, The Investigator. FBI officials have declined comment on the changes.

In late September, Sullivan was reported by the Washington Post to have been locked out of his office. The FBI on Oct. 2 simply announced that Sullivan had retired. Sullivan, who was assistant to the director in charge of investigative operations, declined comment.

The Investigator, in its latest edition, reports the appointment of Alex Rosen, 66, to succeeed Sullivan. The magazine carried a small picture of Sullivan in a group of 20 employes who had retired.

Till Runs Dry For Federal Operations

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Part of the federal government began operating illegally at 12:01 a.m. EST today, at least according to the White House; but no one in Congress appeared to be very worried.

Under the Constitution, the federal government cannot spend money unless it is appropriated by Congress. And at midnight that authority ran out for portions of the Defense Department, the foreign aid program, the war on poverty and the District of Columbia government.

It is a technicality that happens every two or three years that has only a minimal effect on government operations. No one is expecting the Pentagon to shut down.

He got from them a promise to pass a resolution as soon as possible —probably toward the end of this week —to continue appropriations for the agencies at the level they have been spending for the past year.

White House Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said "We are relatively satisfied that a solution will be reached." But he added:

"The fact of the matter is that as of midnight ... it is not legal to continue to operate AID, OEO, the District of Columbia government and certain aspects of the defense budget."

The foreign aid question is at the bottom of the impasse. The House and Senate have been unable to agree on a new foreign aid bill to replace the one originally killed by the Senate.

Some Senate members don't want a continuing resolution passed because they fear it would circumvent their effort to force House and White House acceptance of the Senate appropriation legislation which calls for a six-month Vietnam withdrawal timetable.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

No Sonic Booms?

PARIS (UPI) — The Franco-British supersonic (SST) jetliner Concorde recently made several flights over French territory at twice the speed of sound and nobody apparently noticed, Transport Minister Jean Chamant told the National Assembly.

He said no one seems to have heard the sonic boom when the needle-nosed jetliner, accused of being too noisy, flew over France at 52,000 feet.

Chamant said the price of a passenger ticket aboard Concorde will be only slightly higher than first class tickets aboard subsonci jets.

Sixth SALT Round

VIENNA (UPI) — U.S. and Soviet negotiators began the sixth round of the Strategic Arms Limitation Talks (SALT) today and all indications were they were going splendidly.

The first session lasted two hours and 15 minutes, unusually long for the initial meeting of a new round of SALT.

Conference sources said the session indicated the Soviets, like the Americans, returned to Vienna ready to do business.

"It was quite satisfactory," one source said. "They picked up where they left off in Helsinki the last SALT round. And they left off in Helsinki quite well."

New Storm Brews

MIAMI (UPI) — Tropical storm Laura blew across extreme western Cuba today and the government of Premier Fidel Castro mobilized defense and farm brigades to protect families, cattle and tobacco crops from the storm's 60-mile-an-hour winds.

The rare November storm was expected to turn toward the northeast during the day and pass near Dry Tortugas in the Gulf of Mexico last tonight or early Wednesday.

The National Hurricane Center in Miami issued gale warnings from Dry Tortugas to Key West, Fla.

Soviet Masterspy Abel Is Dead

MOSCOW (UPI) — Soviet masterspy Rudolf Abel, exchanged in 1962 for U2 spy pilot Francis Gary Powers, died yesterday of lung cancer, unofficial Soviet sources said today. He was 68.

Abel

Abel, a colonel in the KGB secret police, had been ill for six months, the sources said. He died in Moscow and will be buried Thursday.

Abel was arrested in Brooklyn, N.Y., in 1957 on charges of spying for the Soviet Union and was sentenced to 30 years in prison.

In February 1962, Abel was swapped for Powers, the pilot of an American U2 spy plane shot down over the Soviet Union in 1960.

The U2 incident scuttled the Big Four summit conference in Paris in 1960.

Abel's name last appeared in the Soviet press in 1969. The bulletin of the Soviet Law Institute said he had been awarded the Order of the Red Banner for "bravery and fortitude" and was teaching in the Soviet intelligence services.

Meany Alarmed

MIAMI BEACH (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany said America is in trouble economically and faces an uncertain future in foreign affairs because of President Nixon's policies.

"The economy is in a state of uncertainty," Meany said Monday in the union executive council's report to the labor federation convention opening here Thursday.

"Intolerable high unemployment prevails," Meany said. "The cost-of-living has not declined. Poverty has increased. The states and major cities are on the brink of bankruptcy.

"The nation is in trouble.

Behind Schedule

IQUIQUE, Chile (UPI) — Cuban Premier Fidel Castro, detained friendly villagers to speak en route, arrived seven hours late in this northern Chile port yesterday and canceled all activities to get a good night's sleep.

He apologized in an impromptu address from the city hall balcony and said he would be unable to challenge the world spear-fishing champion, a local boy, because of a nagging cold.

Castro said the champion, Raul Choque, will be invited to Cuba to practice his sport.

Castro drove overland the 200-miles from the copper camp of Chuquicamata instead of flying as scheduled. At the salt mining camp of Victoria he was detained by villagers for several hours.

Extremists Escape

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (UPI) — Nine suspected Irish Republican Army (IRA) extremists escaped from Belfast's Crumlin Road prison in a daylight jailbreak today, the British Army said.

Policie sources said the inmates were awaiting trial on charges connected with using arms and explosives.

The prison initially housed several hundred suspected Irish Republican extremists picked up by security forces when the government introduced internment without trial on Aug. 9. Most internees were later transferred to Long Kesh, an army camp south of Belfast.

Will Not Abdicate

TOKYO (UPI) — Emperor Hirohito, at an unprecedented meeting with foreign newsmen, today ruled out the possibility of abdication in favor of his eldest son.

"I think that the Japanese constitution and the imperial household law prevent the occurrence of such a thing," the 70-year-old monarch said. "I don't think such a thing can be done."

The Japanese monarch said he enjoyed his recent trip to Europe.

Israel Says Surveyors Fired Upon

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

Israeli military sources in Tel Aviv said today an Egyptian sniper had fired scattered shots at an Israeli surveying team along the Suez Canal but that Israel was treating the incident as an isolated case.

The military correspondent of the Israeli newspaper Yedioth Aharonoth said the shootings during the past 48 hours had increased tension in the southern sector of the canal.

The incident, though apparently minor, did underscore the tenseness of the Middle East situation. It followed predictions by Libyan Premier Moammar el-Khadfy that a new Middle East war might break out within two months.

Israel and Egypt meanwhile took sharply different attitudes to Secretary of State William P. Rogers' attitude toward the Middle East.

Military sources in Jerusalem said he was "deliberately ignoring the facts" when he said Israel still has the military balance of power in the Middle East.

In Cairo, the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram said recent statements by Rogers show "that the American government has surrendered to Israeli pressure and ceased to mediate the Middle East problem."

TOPSY-TURVY AFTERMATH

Arty-Lou Richardson of 1645 Weaverly Drive, Petaluma, (and a weaverly drive it was) checks her upside-down automobile. Mrs. Richardson escaped unscathed yesterday according to the California Highway Patrol, when she braked for abruptly slowing traffic ahead on southbound Highway 101, skidded into an embankment and overturned. The narrow escape took place at 11:30 a.m. just north of Novato. (Independent-Journal photo by Bob Hax)

Planners Reject Campsite

The Marin County Planning Commission reluctantly rejected a proposed campground for camper trucks yesterday amid complaint from Black Point residents that it would detract from their area.

Proposed by Raymond A. Young III, the campground was proposed for a 16-acre parcel at 375 Sunset Trail near the intersection of Highways 101 and 37.

William J. Bell, a nearby resident, said its location adjacent to single-family homes was wrong.

Bell, who said he had spoken with most residents in the area, said that all reacted unfavorably to the proposal.

Commissioner William B. Lynch, who moved rejection, said he agreed that the plan was sound but the location wrong.

Other commissioners voiced similar opinions.

The Marin County Planning Commission also:

PRESERVES — Continued to Jan. 10 proposed new zoning for all properties within the agricultural preserve category. The zoning would increase the minimum lot size in northwest Marin from two acres to as much as 20 to 60 acres.

APARTMENTS — Continued to Dec. 6 a master plan review for a proposed 135-unit apartment house development on 7.4 acres on Tennessee Valley Road near the intersection of Shoreline Highway near Mill Valley.

TOWNHOUSE — Continued to Dec. 20 rezoning and master plan review for a 101-unit townhouse development proposed for North San Pedro Road near Lowell Avenue in Santa Venetia.

PROPERTY SPLIT — Denied an application from Dr. Roy E. Eldred of Bolinas to split his lot on Pine Gulch Road into three parcels. He had earlier received approval to split the lot in half.

LEGISLATION — Endorsed and passed on to the board of supervisors proposed state legislation which the county should support next year. The legislation deals with revision of the state subdivision map act, housing program and general planning proposals.

REZONING — Denied a rezoning petition from R. Edward Olson for property located on Woodside Avenue between Pinehill Road and Springside Way near Mill Valley. Olson has asked it be rezoned from single family to multiple residential zoning.

PROPERTY SPLIT — Denied a proposal from Herman Weaver to split in half his property located on Mountain Land near Redwood Avenue in Mill Valley.

Area North Of Fairfax Rezoned

Partial rezoning of the unincorporated area north of Fairfax was approved yesterday by the Marin County Planning Commission.

Continued to next month, however, was rezoning of the remaining land — the 180-acre William H. Poeschel property on both sides of Oak Manor Road.

Under the proposal submitted months ago by the county planning department, future residential development would be cut to about one-eigth the density allowed under present zoning.

The rezoning approved yesterday, if accepted by the county board of supervisors, will change the Circle V Ranch on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard from limited agricultural (one unit per two acres) to resort-commercial zoning.

Also the White's Hill area north of the Circle V Ranch from limited agricultural to planned residential zoning at one unit per four acres and the hilly area north of Glen Drive from planned residential to limited agricultural (one unit per two acres.)

Yesterday's rezoning had been previously approved by the commission but was returned to it by the board of supervisors because of a legal technicality.

Poeschel, through his attorney Joseph E. Sheeks of San Rafael, argued that his property should be excluded from rezoning since development is already planned.

Sheeks said it was unfair to rezone the property since it was rezoned several years ago from a higher density to its present density.

Sheeks said the planning department's figures are contrary to the county's housing policy calling for more low and moderate-income family housing.

He reasoned that by reducing the density, "you are forcing it to go to expensive housing."

Under current zoning, the 80-acre parcel west of Oak Manor Drive could be developed for 160 homes, but for only 40 under proposed new zoning. The 100-acre parcel east of the road can be developed for 50 now, but for only 25 under new zoning.

Any development of the area was opposed by C. F. Stobbe, president of the Oak Manor Homeowners Association.

He complained that development would aggrevate already bad winter-time flooding conditions as well as add to traffic congestion.

"Under the conditions, I can't see that one unit should be built," he told the commission.

On a unanimous vote of the commission, the Poeschel property rezoning was continued to Dec. 20 to allow the planning department to study population densities as they relate to the proposed county-wide general plan.

Grading Damage Attacked

The Marin County Planning Commission called yesterday for an interim emergency ordinance to halt damaging road grading by subdividers.

The recommendation, which was to be considered today by the county board of supervisors, was approved unanimously by the commission.

Included in the recommendation are proposals that the sheriff's office enforce the ordinance which could require developers to post a permit at the excavation site and greatly reduce grading limits now in effect.

In the meantime, the commission said, work should begin on a complete overhaul of the existing ordinance which does not consider the environmental impact of "pioneering" — a new word for cutting roads.

The future ordinance would require developers to submit complete and detailed plans before beginning road grading and those plans would be subject to review by a proposed Environmental Impact Committee made up of county officials.

County officials have expressed shock during the last several months at the extent of unauthorized road grading — particularly in West Marin.

It has prompted county supervisors to call for a report on loopholes in the current grading ordinance.

Grading permits are now issued by the department of public works which can not deny them based on environmental concerns.

Gulf Is Called Ecological Mess

ENSENADA, Mexico (UPI) — The Gulf of California is being turned into an ecological disaster because of dumpings by American and Mexican farmers, according to Katsuo Nishikawa, director of the Institute of Oceanology at Ensanada.

He and five other scientists have been surveying ecological damage in the gulf, which is between the east coast of Baja California and the western shoreline of the Mexican mainland.

"Although our preliminary results will not be available for some time," he said, "our early findings have been frightening."

Marinite's Drug Case Dismissed

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Narcotics and weapons charges against Nancy E. Waldroth, 27, of San Anselmo, have been dismissed in San Francisco Municipal Court at the request of the district attorney's office.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Charles Wood said he asked to have the case dismissed after deciding there was not enough evidence against Mrs. Waldroth to proceed to trial.

Mrs. Waldroth was arrested Sept. 11 along with a San Francisco man after they were stopped for going through a red light.

Police said they found pills and a white substance in boots worn by both as well as a hypodermic needle. While taking the couple to the police station, officers said they heard an ominous click from the back seat where the two were sitting.

They said they found a small derringer pistol tucked into the seat.

Mrs. Waldroth had been charged with felony possession of narcotics and misdemeanor counts of having a loaded gun in a car and possessing drug paraphernalia.

Estate Of Pet Fancier Sued

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The estate of a wealthy pet fancier was sued Monday for more than $25,000 by a neighbor who says she was never paid in 12 years for tending the man's three cats.

Mrs. Nicky Thompson, 60, filed suit in Superior Court alleging that Richard A. Krehfeld promised to compensate her for offering a home to three of his 10 pets.

The woman, who sued for $25,960, said she was promised at least $1 a day for pet care. Krehfeld, 66, died last February and left a $135,000 estate with no provision for payment.

New OEO Health Affairs Officer

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Dr. E. Leon Cooper, 36, will head the Office of Economic Opportunity (OEO) health affairs program, antipoverty director Philip V. Sanchez announced today.

Cooper has been director of the OEO's Comprehensive Health Services program and director of the Atlanta, Ga., Southside Comprehensive Health Center. As director of the Office of Health Affairs, he will succeed Dr. Carl Smith, who has held the post on an acting basis since the resignation earlier this year of Dr. Carl Bryant.

Bedroom Tax Wins Round In Tiburon

A property development tax ordinance (more commonly called a "bedroom tax"), which has proved controversial in other cities, breezed through its first reading last night by the Tiburon City Council. (Another Tiburon City Council story, page 1.)

No opposition was voiced to the measure, though a similar one was bitterly fought in Novato City Council sessions and one subsequently enacted in San Rafael drew embittered comment from developers.

The Tiburon proposal, according to its initiator, Councilman Anne L. Ellinwood, is based on the belief that new residents entering the community bring with them a need for services not compensated for by initial property taxes.

The measure levies a $125 fee for single-family residences constructed in the city, $100 per unit for multiple residential unit developments and 1.5 cents per square foot for commercial construction.

Councilman Ellinwood repeated her contention that the proposed fees for residential units is too high. Councilman Albert H. Sennett disagreed arguing that the average house in Tiburon cost about $50,000 and "we're talking about adding $125 which must be the most insignificant cost."

Councilman Branwell Fanning said he was not as concerned about the effect of the tax on persons moving into Tiburon as he was for present residents, whom it might help. "I'm concerned with less affluent who are already here and hanging on (financially) by the skin of their teeth."

The proposed ordinance was first submitted in August 1970 but was tabled until last October to await results of a law suit by the Associated Home Builders of the Greater East Bay against the city of Neward which adopted a similar tax. The courts later ruled that the tax was authorized by state law and did not discriminate in taxing residential construction as at a high rate than commercial construction.

The Tiburon City Council also:

APARTMENTS — Heard the first reading on an ordinance to approve the master plan for a proposed 36-unit apartment complex on Marinero Street.

RENTAL SPACE — Continued to its next meeting plans for renting additional city hall space to allow the city manager to check alternatives to the rental.

EXTENSION — Passed an interim ordinance extension to allow the planning commission additional time to devise criteria for design review procedures.

HOUSING — Heard, from Marin County Housing Authority Director Wallace K. Shepherd, a request that the city appoint two residents to be liasions between Tiburon and the authority.

MEETING — Adjourned to its regular meeting Monday.

Kimmel Is Given Five Days In Jail

Former Novato High School teacher James David Kimmel, 36, who was arrested three years ago on marijuana charges which were later dismissed, drew a five-day jail sentence yesterday for resisting arrest.

Kimmel was arrested at Novato High School in November 1968 on charges of getting students to acquire marijuana for him.

A Marin Superior Court Jury convicted him last year of resisting arrest but deadlocked on the pot charges. Last month Judge E. Warren McGuire dismissed the pot charges on the recommendation of Deputy Dist. Atty. Jerry R. Herman. Herman said the dismissal was asked because Kimmel has been convicted of other pot charges in Sonoma County.

Judge McGuire yesterday imposed the five days in jail for Kimmel to run concurrently with any jail time he may get from the Sonoma County conviction. The judge stayed execution of the jail term until Nov. 29 to give Kimmel time to appear for sentencing in Sonoma County.

Bonds Out For Petaluma Sewer Plant

The Petaluma City Council decided last night to finance the required sewer plant addition by shifting money in city funds, raising the tax rate and using connection fees rather than selling bonds. (Another Petaluma City Council story, page 1.)

The council unanimously accepted the proposal made last week by City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer to finance the city's share of the $3.7 million project by intra-departmental borrowing and through projected income from the $600 sewer connection fees.

Meyer said, however, that the plan would require an increase in the property tax rate of 14 cents per $100 assessed valuation. He said that connection fees had been used to repay sewer bonds approved in 1966, but with the connection fees now earmarked to pay for new construction, the tax rate must be increased to repay the old bonds. Homeowners had been paying 8 cents per $100 assessed valuation on the bonds.

The council agreed that the system of using connection fees and short term borrowing would be cheaper than selling revenue or general obligation bonds.

Finance Director Cecil G. Gealta said he believed the $500,000 available in the water fund would be enough to finance the project. The fund would be repaid later after federal money is reimbursed to the city.

Gealta said the city already has $606,416 in its funds for the sewer plant project and that he estimated $166,307 may be needed to be borrowed from the water fund.

The Petaluma City Council also:

SEWERS — Heard that 59 properties found last year to have leaky sewer lines had not been repaired and directed City Atty. Edouard E. Robert to send letters to property owners warning that legal action can be taken for violation of the city ordinance.

RECREATION — Heard that the council committee studying the city recreation program and operational costs of the swim center will meet Thursday at 4 p.m. at city hall.

DEMOLITION — Set a hearing for Dec. 6 on costs of demolishing a building at 96 Hopper Street that was condemned as unsafe.

Overall Crime Rate Declines

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The city's overall crime rate has dropped except rape and robbery cases, Police Chief Donald M. Scott said Monday.

Scott said 67 rape cases were reported in October in comparison with 57 a year ago. Robbery cases, he said, jumped from 570 to 582.

The chief said there were five homicides last month in comparison with 11 in October 1970.

He also reported: aggravated assault, down from 263 to 257; burglary, down from 1,616 to 1,515; auto theft, down from 1,289 to 1,187; larceny, down from 1,409 to 1,187.

Third Quarter Balance Of Payments Is Worst Ever

WASHINGTON (UPI)—During the third quarter of 1971 the United States suffered its worst balance of payments deficits in history.

The Commerce Department issued the trade figures Monday, confirming President Nixon's apprehensions about the dollar when he changed his economic strategy in mid-August.

The report said the "official reserve transactions" balance between July and September recorded a record deficit of $12.1 billion. The balance measures the change in dollar holdings of foreign banks.

During the quarter, the "net liquidity" balance, which measures all private and official transactions with foreigners, ran an estimated $9.3 billion in the red. The figures were adjusted for seasonal variations.

Officials said the figures showed the impact of a strong run on the dollar by foreign speculators in mid-summer.

Since that time, administration officials have confirmed the rapid deterioration was the reason President Nixon put his economic controls into effect Aug. 15 instead of waiting until later this year.

Nixon suspended convertability of dollars into gold. This move shattered the post World War II international monetary system. Nixon also ordered a 10 per cent surcharge on imports in an effort to stem the drain of dollars.

The official reserve transactions balance was $2.3 billion greater in the third quarter than the $9.8 billion deficit for all of 1970. The second quarter figure was $5.7 billion, while the first quarter total was $5.5 billion.

The net liquidity balance worsened by $5.7 billion in the second quarter and $2.5 billion in the first quarter.

House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford predicted following a meeting between President Nixon and Republican congressional leaders at the White House today that Nixon's new economic policies, if fully implemented, would help solve the balance of payments problems.

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said Treasury Secretary John B. Connally told the lawmakers the United States would continue to demand more favorable treatment in its foreign trade dealings in an effort to close the balance of payments gap.

Senate Votes Cut To Parents Of Collegians

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate has voted to give tax relief to the parents of college students —a politically hard-to-resist tax cut which has cleared the Senate in the past only to die at the last step before enactment.

Ironically it adopted that form of tax relief for the middle-class by a 56 to 27 vote Monday only a few minutes after —by a 58 to 26 vote — rejecting proposed tax relief for people who live at or below the poverty line.

The rejected proposal would have reimbursed poor people with a check from the treasury for what they pay in sales taxes on food and for that portion of their rent which represents property tax on their homes.

Both plans were offered by Sen. Ernest F. Hollings of South Carolina, who is believed to have Democratic vice presidential ambitions for 1972.

The reimbursement plan would have cost the government $1.7 billion in lost tax revenue. The plan to reimburse parents for part of their tuition expenses would cost the government $2.2 billion in revenue.

It would permit parents whose income is up to $25,000 a year to subtract from taxes owed the government $325 for each dependent child they send to college or trade school.

Opponents, led by Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said the plan represented a subsidy from taxpayers too poor to send their children to college for those wealthy enough to do so. Others argued colleges would only raise their tuitions, leaving parents no better off than before.

When passed by the Senate twice in the past the plan was killed by the House-Senate conference committee which must reconcile differences between House and Senate versions of tax bills.

The previously passed house bill contained no such provision. Under House rules, tax bills reach the floor for an up-or-down vote, with no charge for the members to offer amendments. The proposal thus has never been in a House bill.

The Senate amendment was tacked onto the bill cutting taxes by $15.5 billion over the next three years which President Nixon proposed to stimulate the economy, increase business investment and encourage firms to export more.

Democrats charged the bill is biased toward businesses and against individuals, but they lost, 40 to 39, in a major effort to eliminate a provision that would give a multibillion dollar tax saving to businesses.

Under unsuccessful attack were more liberal rules for depreciating business assets and machinery —rules which Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., called "a windfall on top of a windfall."

Also approved —but vulnerable to the conference committee's close scrutiny —was a new income tax deduction for middle class couples who must hire a babysitter or maid so both spouses can take jobs outside the home.

It would permit a tax deduction of up to $4,800 a year for couples with a joint income of $18,000 or less. The tax advantage would diminish as the couple's income rises and would disappear for couples jointly earning $27,600 or more. Any home with a child under age 15 would qualify.

Long, whose Senate Finance Committee oversees the nation's welfare program, promoted the deduction on the grounds it would create household jobs for women on welfare — and thus cut the welfare rolls.

So it had attracted both as a device to cut welfare costs and to help middle class families. It passed 59 to 24 over administration objections that it would chiefly help women who wanted jobs for luxuries such as new clothing or a new car.

Tam High Trustees Leave Busing Alone

The Tamalpais High School District board last night decided to continue current busing practices through this school year, but said changes may be made for the 1972 school year.

Supt. Wilber D. Hawkins said the board, after reviewing a report on current busing practices, left them as they are, but said it may set up a transportation committee during budget sessions to review busing.

The district now requires most students to pay half their bus fares, but pays the whole cost for poorer students.

Early in 1970, West Marin students boycotted buses to protest charges on previously free busing from that area. The busing issue had been raised again at the board's Nov. 1 meeting.

The Tamalpais High School District board also:

CONTINUATION — Agreed to look for a new location for the continuation school for the next school year after owners of the land refused to reduce the monthly rent from $700 to $600.

MEETINGS — Decided to meet with elementary school boards within the district's attendance area to discuss goals, but set no dates.

RESIGNATION — Accepted the resignation of Carol Edmiston, a teacher at Tamalpais High School now on maternity leave.

CUSTODIANS — Hired Robert Pedroli and Gary Douglas, effective Oct. 1 and Oct. 26 respectively, as custodians, then fired Pedroli for unsatisfactory work. Douglas's salary was set at $643 a month.

GRIEVANCE — Accepted a student grievance policy allowing each school to set up its own procedure.

ADJOURNED — Adjourned to Dec. 14, canceling the regular meeting of Dec. 7.

Leg Broken As Auto Hits Tree

The driver of the car in the Friday night accident, Douglas Eliott, also 16, of Skyland Way, was treated at the hospital for a cut scalp and lip.

Ross police said the accident occurred at about 11 p.m. on a rainslick road.

Court Will Study Army Monitoring

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Supreme Court agreed today to consider whether a group of 13 persons and organizations whose public activities were the object of monitoring by Army intelligence may contest in the courts the constitutionality of such a domestic surveillance system.

The Court will schedule arguments this term and hand down a written opinion. The government appealed after the U.S. District Court for the District of Columbia on April 27, 1971 ordered a lower court to hold hearings on the issue.

Arlo Tatum, executive director of the Quaker-sponsored Central Committee for Conscientous Objectors, and 12 other persons and groups filed suit Feb. 17, 1970, claiming the existence of the Army's domestic intelligence system had a "chilling effect" on the First Amendment guarantee of free speech.

The suit, which also sought a court order to destroy all Army records gathered on domestic groups, was dismissed by Federal Judge George A. Hart of the District of Columbia. He refused even to take testimony, saying the Army was only gathering information that is available to news media in the country.

Tatum filed suit —backed by the American Civil Liberties Union (ACLU) —after learning that a computer card prepared for his Army file at Fort Holabird, Md., contained only the information that he once made a speech about legal rights at the University of Oklahoma.

A similar case filed in Chicago was also dismissed.

The District of Columbia Appeals Court reversed Judge Hart on a 2-1 vote and ordered hearings to determine if the Army's intelligence gathering "does not go beyond that which would be justified by the Army's mission."

Specifically, that court ordered a hearing to determine:

—The exact nature of the surveillance system and the recipients of its information.

What part, if any, of the system was necessary to the Army's statutory mission.

—Whether the system had or might have had an inhibiting effect on domestic groups.

—What relief might be called for.

The appeals court called for the hearings despite the fact that on March 6, 1970, the secretary of the Army issued a directive limiting such intelligence activities.

It said if the secretary could make such a judgment based on facts within his departmental knowledge, "the United States District Court can hear evidence, ascertain the facts, and decide what, if any, further restrictions on the complained of activities are called for to confine the military to their legitimate sphere of activity."

Sanitary Board Rejects County Idea

The Ross Valley Sanitary District board last night dismissed as presumptuous a proposal by the county administrator for consolidation of all sewage facilities in Marin.

Ralph C. Noah, district manager, said the board rejected the idea of John F. Barrows until studies by the Regional Water Quality Control Board provide more information.

U.N.

Communist China submitted its own proposal before it was voted into the U.N.

Chiao's speech caught most observers by surprise and was contrary to his earlier statements on the stand his country would take as the newest member of the world body.

Communist China, which was named to replace Nationalist China in the U.N. by a strong vote three weeks ago, was expected to take a soft line—at least at first.

Chiao and 45 other members of China's official delegation arrived in New York Thursday to claim the seat they had been seeking for 22 years.

Chiao proclaimed friendship between the people of China and the people of the United States in his official statement delivered through an interpreter at Kennedy International Airport.

He later hinted Communist China would take a wait and see position in the U.N. and would not make any immediate major policy moves.

Chiao sat smiling and calm through a long series of welcoming speeches following the formal, physical takeover of Nationalist China's spot.

In his 2,600-word acceptance speech, delivered in Chinese Chiao:

Called on the United States to pull out of Indochina, Taiwan and Korea;

Told developing nations revolution is "the irresistible trend of history... countries want independent... nations want liberation and the people want revolution;"

Took the Arab side in the Mideast crisis;

Criticized United States and Russian disarmament policies.

Soviet Ambassador Yakov Malik, who had warmly shaken Chiao's hand a few hours earlier, was stonefaced after Chiao's speech. Neither he nor U.S. Ambassador George Bush applauded.

Attorney Gets Backing From Inmate

San Rafael attorney C. Douglas Vaughn, fighting to collect $4,350 in attorney fees for representing a San Quentin inmate in an assault case, got unexpected backing from the convict today in Marin Superior Court.

The convict, Louis N. Talamantez, 28, who is also facing murder charges stemming from the Aug. 21 prison violence, told Judge Samuel W. Gardiner:

"If you are not gonna pay the attorney you appointed for me, then let him go, man."

Talamantez told the judge he was distrustful of Vaughn at first when the court appointed him but is now convinced that Vaughn is a good lawyer and deserves the $4,350 fee for work performed since last June.

Last month, Judge Gardiner approved only a $500 fee for Vaughn, explaining that most of the work done by the attorney was repetitious and unnecessary in preparation for the assault case. Talamantez is accused of assaulting another inmate in March 1970.

Vaughn's attorney, Robert B. McCreadie, argued today that the work was not repetitive and was essential for a good defense of Talamantez.

"He's been cut about 98 per cent on the bill," McCreadie said. Even if the judge were to disallow time spent by Vaughn working to get medical help for Talamantez, the most that should have been cut was 20 per cent, McCreadie contended. A 20 per cent cut would mean a fee of $3,480.

Judge Gardiner repeated that most of Vaughn's motions such as one to disqualify him as judge were repetitious. "If you know the judged is biased and prejudiced, he ought to be disqualified," Gardiner said. "But if you don't know, why spend the rest of your life trying to find out if he is?"

The judge took the fee matter under submission for a decision later.

Attorney's Body Found In His Car

I-J Special Report

BERKELEY — The body of attorney Daniel Prince, 49, who had most recently been living with his daughter in Sausalito, was found last night in his parked car in Tilden Park.

The Alameda County coroner's office said a ranger found Prince at about 8:30 p.m. in a routine check of a picnic area. Efforts by the ranger to revive him with mouth-to-mouth resuscitation failed, the coroner said. Prince was dead on arrival at Herrick Memorial Hospital.

Found in the car were notes telling of his despondency, a brief case full of legal work and a near-empty bottle of barbiturates.

The daughter, Pamela Prince of 2-A West Court, told the coroner her divorced father had left Sausalito about a week ago, saying he would call her when he found a new place to live. She said he was despondent when he left.

Funeral arrangements were pending.

and submitted to the 1975 legislature for approval.

Generally, the commissions would have regulated development three miles out to sea and about 1,000 yards inland. But there would have been exemptions, such as San Francisco Bay and Humboldt Bay, Crescent City, Los Angeles and Long Beach harbors.

"If this is such a good bill, why don't they include the whole state?" asked one senator who voted against the measure, Republican Gordon Cologne of Indio.

Another senator, Republican Dennis E. Carpenter of Newport Beach, said he voted no because regional government "is not an idea whose time has come as far as I'm concerned."

There was little testimony during the relatively brief committee hearing. The committee previously had held lengthy hearings on this measure and had killed three other coastline protection bills.

Sieroty called it "the most important bill in the conservation field this year," noted state Attorney General Evelle J. Younger supported it "in principle" and pointed out it passed the Assembly in September, 55-16.

Voting for the bill were committee chairmen John A. Nejedly, R-Walnut Creek; and Sens. Arlen Gregorio, D-San Mateo; Albert S. Rodda, D-Sacramento, and Robert J. Lagomarsino, R-Ojai.

Sieroty told newsmen "the principal reason for this bill's defeat is the attitude of the governor and his administration."

Reagan generally had been leery of any coastline protection bill this year pending scheduled completion by his administration next March of a comprehensive Ocean Area Plan.

Sieroty said "a second major reason" for the bill's defeat was "the activities of major special interests whose full-time lobbyists have certainly earned their fees killing environmental bills this session."

Several important lobbyists watched from the audience as the committee rejected the bill.

Joining Sieroty at a news conference, Mrs. Janet Adams, director of the Coastal Alliance, announced conservationists would attempt to place an even stronger measure on next November's ballot. They will need to collect approximately 325,000 signatures.

She also said environmentalists will band together next year to campaign for certain legislators and against others.

"The environment is going to be a political factor in every election from now on," Sieroty said. "It's not a fad."

OBITUARIES

Harry C. Doyle, Retired Dentist

Harry C. Doyle, a retired dentist, was found dead yesterday at his residence, 10 Gardiner Street, Apt. 3, Mill Valley, according to the Marin County Coroner's Office.

Coroner's investigator Keith C. Craig said a neighbor discovered Doyle's body in bed at 12:45 p.m. after his wife, Hazel B. Doyle, became worried when she could not reach her husband by telephone. Death apparently was due to natural causes, Craig said.

Doyle, 81, was born in Valparaiso, Ind., and practiced dentistry for 40 years in Chicago before retiring in 1956.

He moved to California the following year and to Marin in 1960. For the past eight years he and his wife had lived in Mill Valley.

In addition to his wife, he is survived by a son, Robert, of Los Angeles; two daughters, Virginia Russell, of Novato, and Doris Earhart, of Chicago; five grandchildren and a great-grandchild.

Funeral will be Thursday in Valparaiso, with burial at Valparaiso Cemetery. Russell and Gooch Funeral Chapel, Mill Valley, is in charge of local arrangements.

EDWARD CHASE

Funeral for Edward Chase, 60, of Petaluma, a warehouseman, will be held at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

Chase, born in Russia, came to the U.S. as a child and grew up in Chicago. After serving in the Army Air Force in World War II, Chase moved to Petaluma, where he operated a poultry ranch until 1955.

For the past 15 years he had been employed as a warehouseman at Hamilton Air Force Base.

He is survived by two sons, Sheldon G. Chase of Petaluma and Daniel Chase; a daughter, Sherrill Kimball of Santa Rosa; a sister, Ida Rozner of Petaluma, and a grandson.

Burial will be in B'nai Israel Cemetery.

NORTON WAIS

Norton J. Wais, food services distributor and former band manager who did business in Marin for many years, died in his sleep at his San Francisco home yesterday. He was 79.

Wais was born in Springfield, Ill., and had lived in California about 40 years.

He managed the Harlem Globetrotters on their European tours for many years and later managed bands. In recent years he managed a food services business, selling imported foods to ocean liners and restaurants.

He is survived by two sisters, Beatrice Jacobson of Hillsborough and Lena Friedman of Oakland.

Funeral will be at 11 a.m. tomorrow at the Sinai Memorial Chapel in San Francisco. Inurnment will be at the Home of Peace in Colma.

LOWDEN JESSUP

Memorial services for retired Navy Cmdr. Lowden Jessup Jr. of Ross will be at 2 p.m. Friday in St. John's Church, Ross.

A native of New York City, he was a 1921 graduate of the Naval Academy at Annapolis.

In 1930 as executive officer of the gunboat Palos, he earned commendations from the Secretary of the Navy for his conduct in action against Communist troops while his ship covered the evacuation of Occidentals from Changsha, China.

He had lived in Ross since about 1932 when he was retired because of physical disability. The family home is at 34 Southwood Avenue.

He was recalled to active duty in 1941 and served as an aide to the 12th Naval District commandant during World War II and until his second retirement in July 1946. During his naval career he served as aide to seven admirals.

Commander Jessup was awarded Victory Medals for both world wars, the Yangtse Service Medal and the America Area Service Medal.

He is survived by his wife Gay; a son, Lowden Jessup III of Greenbrae; two daughters, Mrs. John Pearson of Marinwood and Mrs. Harry Likas Jr. of Belvedere; a sister, Mrs. Katherine Taylor of Sewickley, Pa., and 11 grandchildren.

Private inurnment will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

The family prefers donations to the Heart Association or a favorite charity.

S. B. SUHRKE

Private funeral for Sam B. Suhrke, retired maintenance supervisor at College of Marin, will be held tomorrow.

Suhrke, 71, of 8 Garden Avenue, San Rafael, died Sunday in a local hospital following a short illness.

He was born in Soda Springs, Idaho, and came to California 43 years ago. He had worked in the baking industry for 30 years and was maintenance supervisor for 12 years at College of Marin until he retired. He was a member of the Greenbrae Ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints.

He is survived by two daughters, DeLone Kone of Salt Lake City, Utah, and Marie Tappero of San Rafael; two sons, Ray L. Suhrke and Harold B. Suhrke, both of San Rafael; 12 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Private burial will be at Mount Tamalpais Cemetery in San Rafael.

Memorial contributions to the Society of Crippled Children and Adults of Marin in Larkspur would be preferred by the family.

MRS. DOUGLAS

Mrs. Douglas died Saturday at a San Francisco hospital after a long illness. She was born and reared in Northern Ireland and moved to the United States in 1907, settling in New York. She moved to San Francisco in 1911 and to Petaluma in 1913.

Her late husband, Robert A. Douglas, had operated a grocery store, real estate and insurance businesses in Petaluma before his death in 1963.

Mrs. Douglas moved to San Francisco eight years ago to make her home with a daughter, Louise Kyle. She formerly was a member of the Presbyterian Church of Petaluma and the Petaluma Woman's Club.

She is survived by Mrs. Kyle and another daughter, Jean S. Chaffer of Upland, San Bernardino County, and four grandchildren.

DEATH NOTICE

SUHRKE — In San Rafael, Nov. 14, 1971. Sam B. Suhrke, beloved husband of the late Myrtle May Suhrke, loving father of Mrs. DeLone Kone of Salt Lake City, Utah, Mrs. Marie Tappero, Ray L. Suhrke and Hal B. Suhrke of San Rafael. Also survived by 12 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. A native of Soda Springs, Idaho, age 72 years. A member of the Greenbrae Ward of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

Private family services will be held Wednesday, Nov. 17, 1971, at the HARRY M. WILLIAMS MORTUARY, San Rafael. Memorial contributions to the Society for Crippled Children and Adults of Marin, Inc., 555 Magnolia Avenue, Larkspur, preferred. (11/16)

A BLANK SILVER DOLLAR

Patricia Blevins of Atlanta shows a blank Eisenhower silver dollar along with a good coin. The blankless coin was found yesterday in a shipment of 1,000 of the Ike coins to an Atlanta bank. The mirror shows both sides. A bank teller, Mrs. Naomi Griffith, found the blank and purchased it.

He Must Return To Prison

A San Quentin convict, who won release on $5,000 bail 18 months ago while his attorney contested his incarceration, must go back to prison for another 10 months to complete his 10-year-term.

Judge E. Warren McGuire of Marin Superior Court has denied a writ of habeas corpus for Frank A. Nubin, 46, and ordered him to return to San Quentin by Friday of this week. The judge, however, recommended that the California Adult Authority consider Nubin's case for early parole.

Nubin was originally sent to the California Medical Facility at Vacaville on Jan. 4, 1961, for assault with a deadly weapon in Alameda County.

He was paroled in October 1967 and his final discharge date set for Jan. 4, 1969.

On Christmas Eve 1968, Nubin got into an argument with his wife and was accused of assault with a weapon. On that complaint his parole was suspended, and he was returned to San Quentin in February 1969.

San Rafael attorney Salle S. Soladay, then contented that the California Adult Authority had suspended his parole on Jan. 31, 1969, almost a month after his final discharge date. "Therefore, the time served after Jan. 3, 1969, has been illegal," said Mrs. Soladay.

The state attorney general, representing the Adult Authority, contended that parole had been suspended on Jan. 3, 1969, just one day before Nubin's final discharge.

Mrs. Soladay appealed to Marin Superior Court and succeeded in getting Nubin released on $5,000 bail in March of 1970, pending the appeal.

After a two-day hearing last week, McGuire on Friday held that the Adult Authority has the legal right to put Nubin back in prison.

"Unless I can find some way to stop it, he will have to go back to prison on Friday," said Mrs. Soladay. "And he'll lose his job too — a steady construction job in Oakland."

She charged that California's indeterminate sentence system gives the Adult Authority too much power over inmates. On charges that led to suspension of parole, she contended that Nubin had no chance to confront witnesses or put up a legal defense of any kind.

Third Schools Meeting: Previous Points Rehashed

By GEORGE NEVIN

Attention focused on Old Mill School last night at the third and final special Mill Valley School District board meeting to discuss dissatisfaction with teaching methods in the district.

Most of the points raised had been expressed at two previous board meetings, and little new material was brought up by speakers for and against the trends they find in the district schools.

The board, which listened without comment during the three-hour meeting, will discuss the issues at next Monday's regular board meeting.

Most of the discussion centered on discipline and behavior, one of the items on the agenda. But speakers also touched on other topics discussed previously: what options are and should be available and the direction in which the district is headed.

It was concern over alleged lack of discipline at district schools, especially at Old Mill, among other objections, that led more than 1,300 persons in the district to submit a petition to the board asking more evaluation and classroom control.

Hugh M. Brown, of 191 Magee Avenue, read a statement summing up the faults he found with the approach being used in the district. No "definitive methods of evaluation" exist, he said, and "informal teaching methods are being poorly applied in the district."

These failings "are particularly prevalent at Old Mill and are spreading to other schools," he said. In addition, teachers who exhibit only one particular point of view are being hired, and he said he and others have lost confidence in Supt. James A. Collins, who has "fostered this situation."

He asked that "no further experimentation of a major nature be done without proper evaluation."

Another resident, Russell R. Wardner of 305 Cascade Drive, said he thought the schools were trying to go beyond their "mission and ability" in the subjects they taught.

He criticized the "messianic zeal" of some teachers and said "political turmoil" in universities is beginning to filter down into lower schools through some of the younger teachers.

Mrs. Werner H. Buechy, of 408 Spruce Street, Tamalpais Valley, said some teachers "are trying to inculcate our children with anti-bourgeois sentiment." As an example she cited one instructor who customarily read Arthur Hoppe's column in the San Francisco Chronicle to his seventh-grade class daily.

Patsy Simpkin, of 44 Glen Drive, told the crowd of about 250 persons at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church that "I'm not here because my kids are messed up, I'm here because they're bored."

In many classes, she said, "the teacher sits in the back of the room and there are clumps of fistfights all over. I don't want to go back to having everyone glued to the varnish of their desks. I just want my children challenged."

Clifford B. Wilton, of 215 Tamalpais Avenue, began a recap of two private meetings held between board members and dissident parents before the current round of special meetings got under way, but was cut off by Chairman William P. Everts Jr., who said he thought the subject was inappropriate.

Linda Klink, who followed Wilton as speaker, defended Wilton's specifics, and stated, "I don't care what you call it, innovation or whatever, but I want my kid to be able to spell it and pronounce it."

For every critic of Old Mill School and the district in general, however, there was a supporter. Colleen Michaels, who said she has a child at Old Mill, said she's "seen parents at schools hungry for the alternatives we have at Old Mill."

Too much attention to the demands of the petitioners could make many teachers and administrators fear to undertake any innovation for many years, she warned. But she defended the right of dissatisfied parents to be provided alternatives that they request.

Robert Pierson, who identified himself as a teacher at Strawberry Point School, said the district shouldn't "switch direction in response to every new educational whim sweeping the country." He urged dissatisfied parents to "observe your children to see if we're getting through to them."

One parent, Dianne McClung of 30 Stetson Avenue, said she sympathized with dissident parents because she too was unhappy with Old Mill School when her eldest daughter first started school there, not because of innovation but lack of it. "My attitude, however, has changed, just as Old Mill has changed," she said. She's now happy with the education her daughters are receiving, she said.

She defended the school because "it helps children cope with the world as it exists. They're not in an artificial situation like we were at school."

Everts said Collins will bring recommendations on a course of action by the board to Monday's meeting, and the superintendent announced one recommendation he will make then: hiring an outside consultant to evaluate the district's testing program, one of the key criticisms of dissident parents.

Lawyers Receive A Warning

Judge Samuel W. Gardiner of Marin Superior Court warned yesterday he will impose fines of up to $500 on attorneys who make substitutions or other changes that cause unnecessary delays in the court calendar without notifying the court.

He backed up his warning with a $100 fine yesterday on the San Francisco law firm of Rudy, Rapoport and White, defense attorneys in a civil action involving alleged violation of building restrictions on Heathcliff Drive in Tiburon.

The plaintiffs were all set to go, but the defense attorneys were not ready because the Rudy firm had pulled out and substituted Leland H. Jordan of San Rafael as attorney for one of the defendants.

San Rafael attorney Philip A. Torre, who appeared for Jordan, asked for a continuance because the Rudy firm had not conveyed the documents to Jordan until last Thursday, too late for Jordan to prepare for trial yesterday. Jordan was tied up in another case in Northern California.

The judge held that the delay could have been avoided if the original legal firm had notified Jordan in time.

The judge ordered the $100 fine to be paid either by the original attorneys (Rudy's firm) or by the substitute attorney, Jordan. "That should be worked out between the attorneys," said Gardiner.

The judge noted that the trial calendar is always congested and tightly scheduled, so that a sudden disruption wreaks havoc with the scheduling. Furthermore, he said, clients who show up for the trial are inconvenienced when attorneys cause sudden delays.

"It is the duty of attorneys to jointly advise the calendar clerk of any changes of attorneys and to advise one another so that cases will be ready for trial," Gardiner said.

He warned that future failures on the part of attorneys to notify calendar changes in time could cost $500.

Tomales Environmental Study Gets Under Way Next Month

An environmental impact study of Tomales Bay, to be conducted by the Conservation Foundation of Washington, D.C., will start nest month, it was announced yesterday.

Dr. Martin Griffin of Bolinas, chairman of the Tomales Bay Study advisory committee and project coordinator, said yesterday that enough funds have been collected to begin the study, estimated to cost from $25,000 to $50,000. So far, he said, the study has received $5,000 from the San Francisco Foundation and $1,500 from the Sierra Club, with the Conservation Foundation matching all contributions.

The study, larger in scope than one done by the same foundation for the Bolinas Lagoon, will assess, among other things, the impact of development and transportation on the people, agriculture, marine life, wildlife, and open space of Tomales Bay and its watershed.

David W. Walker, Conservation Foundation project director responsible for the earlier Bolinas study, will conduct the new Tomales Bay investigation. Walker, scientist Rowen Roundtree of University of California at Berkeley and Ruth Ann Corwin of Bolinas, project research assistant, will do most of the organization work.

Assisting them will be a citizen group headed by Jerry Friedman of Inverness and several organizations, including the Marin County Planning Department, Marin Conservation League, Environmental Action Committee of West Marin, the Audubon Canyon Ranch, Inverness Improvement Association, and the Tomales Bay Association.

Nine consultants, many of whom worked on the Bolinas study, will aid in specific areas of planning, natural resources, and environment. They will share the resources of the University of Pacific Marine Station, Pt. Reyes Bird Observatory, College of Marin and University of California.

Tomales Bay, "the second largest estuary on the California coast," remains unpolluted enough to have a "productive natural ecosystem," project director Walker wrote the county in August. He believes the Tomales study will affect West Marin planning in particular and nationwide planning in general.

The plan's advisory committee already has requested the Marin County Planning Commission, in absence of the defunct West Marin Master Plan, "to enact zoning that will afford maximum protection to open space and agriculture pending the outcome of the study," said chairman Dr. Griffin.

The study, to be completed sometime next fall, probably will have an impact on highway development along Tomales Bay. Work on the new State Route One has been delayed until a balanced transportation study is completed, and the Tomales Bay Study will proceed that, Corwin said yesterday.

Dynamite-Laden Truck Is Halted

RESEDA (UPI)—A dynamite-laden pickup truck found transporting loaded firearms and $4,000 in gold coins was halted Monday shortly after the driver burst through a Highway Patrol vehicle inspection site.

The CHP said the driver, Daniel Churchill, 24, and a companion following closely behind on a motorcycle, Glen Mecum, 23, had been waved over for a routine inspection but instead ran the barricade.

Both were booked on suspicion of possessing explosives. Officers said that along with 40 dynamite sticks and explosive paraphernalia, they found 11 guns and 200 $20 gold coins.

Creation Of Service District To Be Eyed

A hearing on a proposal to create a service district in the unincorporated area of Greenbrae has been set for next Monday at 7:30 p.m. by the Marin County Local Agency Formation Commission.

The hearing in the supervisors' chambers at the Civic Center was scheduled at the request of the Greenbrae Property Owners Association, which has expressed concern over maintenance and landscaping of public areas in the community.

Adventures Of A Wallet

CAIRO (UPI)—Ceylon embassy officials are looking for the owner of a wallet which made the 4,000 mile trip from Alexandria, Egypt, to Ceylon in a bale of cotton and the return journey in a diplomatic pouch.

The wallet's adventures began in an Alexandria cotton factory where it apparently fell into a bale of cotton bound for Ceylon.

It contained several Egyptian pounds and smaller currency.

After being shipped across the Indian Ocean, an employe at a local yarn factory found it, turned it into the factory management, which in turn sent it to the Egyptian embassy in Colombo, the capital.

Ambassador Khalifa Abdel Aziz thanked the yarn worker and then brought the wallet back to Egypt in a diplomatic pouch.

He handed it to Ceylon embassy officials here who are looking for the owner.

AEC In Defense Of Protesters

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Chairman James R. Schlesinger of the Atomic Energy Commission has told a congressional hearing most environmental groups acted responsibily when they tried to stop a Nov. 6 underground nuclear test at Amchitka Island in the Aleutians.

"In the wake of the test there has been a tendency to criticize the environmentalists who sought to block the test," Schlesinger said. "Most acted with great responsibility. Some of the more extreme statements attributed to environmentalists did not come from the bulk of environmental organizations."

Schlesinger, in hcs testimony Monday before a House public works subcommittee, did not identify individuals or groups whom he said made extreme statements.

Information On Customers Hit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Senate voted Monday night to make it illegal for firms which prepare income tax returns for a fee to sell personal information about their customers.

On a voice vote, it adopted an amendment to its tax bill offered by Sen. Charles McC Mathias, Jr., R-Md., that would impose a $1,000 fine or a year's imprisonment on violators. Taxpayer's consent would be required before such firms could sell information about their clients.

The Federal Trade Commission has accused H. & R.. Block, the nation's largest tax service, of selling information gleaned from the forms it prepared.

Mathias said nearly half of all tax returns are filled out by someone other than the taxpayer.

Confiscated Booze Goes On Block

And, if you were one of the sailors on the aircraft carrier USS Ranger who had hopes of a big time in the Golden City curtailed by customs officials—you may be interested to know that the more than 100 quarts of alcohol confiscated from you and your buddies has been sold.

But you probably won't want to know that hard-eyed experts were purchasing 10-case lots of beer for $11 by the end of the auction.

The event was the Customs Bureau's twice-a-year booze auction. On sale were what was officially described as "various items of seized or unclaimed alcoholic beverages which have been forfeited to the government."

Chennault Fete Next Summer

A Marin County man will coordinate the convention next summer in San Francisco of Gen. Claire Chennault's China Command.

Grant A. Robbins, vice-president of the 14th Air Force Association, said that tentative plans for the convention during the first week in August call for delegates to visit Marin for dinner at the Alta Mira in Sausalito and at the Hamilton Air Force Base officers club.

The 14th Air Force was the successor to General Chennault's Flying Tigers, said Robbins, who resides at 2201 Lucas Valley Road. He said he expects several World War II flying aces to attend the convention.

$15,000 Robbery

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A gunman wearing a ski mask and brandishing a revolver robbed a UCLA cashier's vault of $15,000 Monday, then managed to slip through police roadblocks set up at campus exits.

Lead-Based Paint Ban Under Study

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has proposed a ban on the use of lead-based paint in federally financed housing, including homes built under VA or FHA programs.

The paint has come under attack because children who eat paint chips sometimes suffer lead poisoning. The department said interested parties have 30 days in which to submit comments to the Bureau of Community Environmental Management, after which the ban will become effective.

JUST A LITTLE SHY

Little Smokey, a year-and-one-half-old orphaned bear seemed totally unconcerned over all the fuss at the Agriculture Department in Washington, D.C., yesterday at which he was installed as the official heir to Smokey the Bear. When the original Smokey, now 21, symbol of the Forest Fire Prevention Campaign, and his mate, Goldie, failed to produce a heir after nine years of "marriage," it was decided to give them an "adopted" son to carry on the campaign.

School Districts Warned On Spending Practices

Two Marin County school districts have been warned that their spending rates may mean they will end the fiscal year with a deficit, and a third district has been cautioned that expenditures are seriously depleting reserves.

The warnings were sent by the county schools office to San Anselmo Elementary and Shoreline Unified districts — the two that face a deficit by next June if spending practices are not changed — and Sausalito Elementary School District, where reserves are being depleted.

Byron W. Mauzy, assistant superintendent for business services in the county schools office, said today the notices were sent as part of a new program of the State Department of Education to identify districts engaged in deficit financing. The state will send teams, on request, to review spending in the districts.

Shoreline Unified District, hit hard by removal of assessed valuation by Point Reyes National Seashore and large agricultural preserve tax reductions in Sonoma County, ended the past fiscal year with a deficit and faces another one this year despite budget cuts.

Mauzy said, however, that federal funds may rescue Shoreline from its financial embarrassment.

He said an application is being prepared for federal funds under Public Law 874. This is the law that provides money for "federally impacted" districts. Its customary application is where schools must accept many students of federal employees, as in the vicinity of military bases. But Mauzy reported that "impaction" by removing of land from the tax rolls for the national seashore might qualify the Shoreline District for up to $400,000 under the law.

Sausalito School District's position is made more critical because its voted maximum tax rate of $2.40 per $100 assessed valuation expires this year. Unless an extension is voted, the district's rate will fall to 90 cents for next year.

Mauzy said a team from the State Department of Education already has visited the Sausalito district, and San Anselmo has invited a team to review its spending.

Woman Prison Drug Smuggling Suspect Jailed

A 26-year-old San Anselmo woman was arrested yesterday while trying to smuggle drugs into San Quentin, prison officials said.

Information officer Joseph R. O'Brien said the woman, Linda Jean Mitchell of 84 Scenic Avenue, was found to be carrying several balloons containing what appeared to be heroin and several small pills thought to be dangerous drugs when she showed up at the prison to visit her inmate husband, Clarence Mitchell.

O'Brien said the contraband was found in the woman's coat pocket at one of the gates leading into the prison.

His wife, arrested by sheriff's deputies summoned to the prison, was booked at Marin County Jail on suspicion of possessing dangerous drugs and bringing unauthorized drugs into a state prison. She was held in $5,000 bail to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Policies, Review Of Rules On Agenda

A discussion of departmental policies and a review of rules and regulations will be on the agenda of the Kentfield Fire District board when it meets at 7:30 p.m. tomorrow.

The board will meet at the fire department on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, according to Chief Kenneth T. Kamp.

SACRAMENTO ROUNDUP

Used Car Smog Device Now Law

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The owners of an estimated five million California used cars will be required to equip their vehicles with emission control devices under a bill that has been signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The bill by Sen. Gordon Cologne, R-Indio, requires the State Air Resources Board to set standards which reduce pollutant oxides of nitrogen emission from the exhaust pipes of 1966-70 vehicles.

The antismog devices would have to be installed on the cars by January 1973 at the time their registrations are due for renewal.

Under the new law, which will take effect 90 days after adjournment of the current legislative session, the devices must not cost more than $35 each and must not require maintenance more than once each 13,000 miles.

REMAPPING

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Assembly reapportionment negotiators from both parties held a three-hour session last night, emerging to face what one participant described as the need for "more line drawings."

The meeting, which broke up shortly after midnight, was called by Assembly Speaker Bob Moretti in an effort to iron out differences with Republicans over redistricting the lower house.

"We are both going back and do some more line drawings," said Republican caucus chairman John Stull of Leucadia following the late night talks.

When asked by a newsman whether an agreement was near, Stull replied: "Well, we didn't get mad at each other, so I guess we are a step closer."

DRUG VETO

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill reclassifying marijuana from a narcotic to a restricted drug was vetoed yesterday by Gov. Ronald Reagan who said it was a "name change measure only."

In his veto message, Reagan said he felt the bill "would merely compound the uncertainty and confusion which already exists on the subject of marijuana."

The bill by Assemblyman William Campbell, R-Hacienda Heights, would make no substantive changes in current law and penalties would remain the same.

FOOD TAX

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A Senate committee has approved a bill extending the 5 per cent sales tax to all hot foods sold in restaurants, but exempting candy and chewing gum.

The measure by Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, was sent to the Senate floor on a split voice vote of the Finance Committee. The bill was opposed by the state Board of Equalization and the California School Employes Association.

Bagley said hot foods eaten on the premises are currently taxed, but hot food items not consumed on the premises are tax free. He said there should be uniformity.

TAX BEATEN

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — The Senate has rejected by a lopsided margin a bill that would boost the cigarette tax a nickel a pack to raise $90 million annually for cancer and other medical research.

The measure by Sen. Alan Short, D-Stockton, who said smoking "sinners" should help pay for the health consequences of their "sin" and provide funds for medical research, was defeated yesterday.

The bill needed 27 votes for passage but received only 12. Eighteen Senators voted against it after a floor debate in which non-smoking Sen. Walter Stiern, D-Bakersfield, said "I don't think we should lower the boom on those people who might be cigarette smokers."

SCHOOL AID

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill that would pump $256 million into the state's school finance program has been sent to a select Senate committee studying possible new ways of providing money for schools.

The committee was created in the wake of the state Supreme Court ruling that the present school finance formula was unconstitutionally discriminatory against children in poor districts.

The measure by Assemblyman Leroy Greene, D-Sacramento, was sidetracked to the select committee yesterday by the Senate Finance Committee.

Greene's bill would provide the new money — the equivalent of $66 more per student each year —on an equalization formula giving low-wealth districts first crack at the funds. It would also write into law a guaranteed 5 per cent annual cost-of-living increase for schools in the state financial aid program.

"Blood Alley" Soon To Be Thing Of The Past

BRADLEY (UPI)—A seven-mile, $10 million stretch of freeway will be dedicated Thursday between San Ardo and Bradley, making "blood alley" a thing of the past.

The section of Highway 101 drew its nickname because of the large number of accidents there.

What makes you see?

To send the signals that let you see, your nervous system needs calcium. The calcium you get primarily in milk. And that's only one reason to drink two glasses of milk a day.

Because you also need calcium to send the signals that let you hear, smell, feel—as well as see. And you need it to make your muscles contract. And to make your blood clot. And to keep your bones strong and healthy throughout life.

How much calcium should you have? For adults, the National Research Council recommends 800 milligrams a day: about as much as you get in a normal diet if it includes two glasses of milk. (Children need more: up to age nine, 3 glasses; up to eighteen, 4 glasses. Pregnant and nursing women also need the calcium in 4 glasses of milk daily.)

Can you get enough calcium from other foods? Not easily. For example, two glasses of milk give you as much calcium as each of the following:

23 slices of bread, 13 cups of brussels sprouts, 14 grapefruit, 13 cups of raw carrots, 1½ pints of ice cream, 2½ cups of cottage cheese.

When it comes to calcium, there's no real substitute for milk.

Every body needs calcium.

Every body needs milk.®

FOSTER HOME IDEA

Mongrel's New Paradise

Mollie, a shy 8-month-old mongrel, has not only found a new confidence and contentment in a foster home, she has also adopted a kitten called Baby.

Foster homes for dogs are just like those for children, according to Mrs. Helen Galantiere of the St. Francis Animal Protection Society, a new group of Marin and San Francisco animal lovers.

Mrs. Galantiere's group finds temporary homes for dogs such as Mollie, who have been abandoned, mistreated or who are no longer wanted by their owners. From the foster home, the pets are placed in permanent homes.

Mollie came to live with the Hildreth family at 250 Emerystone Terrace in Marinwood a few weeks ago after 15-year-old Stacy Hildreth learned of the homeless dog.

Stacy's mother, Helen Hildreth, said Mollie was so cowed from abuse that the dog was frightened even of slight noises.

Although still shy, Mollie now romps through the Hildreth home along with two other dogs, three cats and three rabbits and her own baby, a 5-week-old kitten.

Mollie, who gave birth to a litter of pups that had to be taken from her because she was too young to care for them, has literally adopted the kitten, a waif, also brought home by Stacy.

Mollie is credited with saving the kitten's life by nursing her. She also carries Baby around the house, much as a mother cat would pick up a kitten by the scruff of its neck.

When Baby seems threatened by the other animals in the household, Mollie wraps a front paw around her protectively. The little kitten — which was so weak and undernourished when Stacy found it that "we didn't think we could save her," according to Mrs. Hildreth — now scampers about the house. Baby is still a little skinny but very much alive.

Both Mrs. Galentiere and Mrs. Hildreth said, "We don't believe in cages for animals."

Mrs. Hildreth practices what she believes — a pet iguana was allowed to mingle with the other household pets during the many years he lived with the family until he died last year.

Even the mother rabbit who lives primarily in the backyard is housebroken and enters the house through a dog door.

As for Mollie and Baby, they are both gaining strength and confidence, and "I guess we'll have to find a home for them together one of these days," Mrs. Hildreth said.

MOTHERLY — Mollie, an 8-month-old mongrel dog who is now living in a "foster home" in Marinwood, nestles with Baby, the abandoned kitten she has adopted and mothered.

Tear Gas Bill Reaches Reagan

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill allowing licensed private detectives and security patrolmen to use tear gas weapons reached Gov. Ronald Reagan today.

The Assembly voted 45-1 Monday to accept Senate amendments to the measure by Assemblyman John P. Quimby, D-Rialto, that would restrict the use of such weapons to "defensive purposes."

Private investigators, private patrol operators and employes of private patrols would be allowed to use the tear gas weapons only after they had satisfactorily completed a state-approved course in tear gas instruction.

$26 Million Hike For State Workers Loses

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Legislation appropriating $26.8 million to finance a 5 per cent pay increase for all state workers except University of California and state college faculty members has been defeated by the Senate.

The bill by Sen. George R. Moscone, D-San Francisco, was rejected Monday on a 23-11 vote after Republican caucus Chairman John L. Harmer of Glendale labeled the measure a "false hope."

Railroads, Signalmen In Accord

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The nation's railroads announced today they had reached agreement with the Brotherhood of Railroad Signalmen on a new 42-month contract covering 11,000 workers.

Terms of the agreement were not announced, but were expected to follow the pattern of 42 per cent wage and benefit increases over three and a half years established with other rail unions earlier this year.

The signalmen are the last of the major rail unions to reach agreement with the carriers during a prolonged series of negotiations.

A spokesman for the Association of American Railroads said final agreement was reached Monday at the Labor Department with the aid of Assistant Labor Secretary W. J. Usery Jr. and Chairman George Ives of the National Mediation Board.

The new contract, subject to ratification by the members of the union, was made retroactive to January, 1970, with an expiration date of July, 1973.

The average 12 per cent annual increase is more than twice the 5.5 per cent annual limit established as a general rule by the Pay Board. And on the surface, the board's ban on retroactive increases before Nov. 14 would appear to nullify nearly two years of extra pay for the Signalmen dating back to when the new contract period began on Jan. 1, 1970.

But union sources indicated that the Signalmen would claim exemption under the equity clause of the Pay Board's guidelines on the basis that most other rail workers have already gotten the pay raises scheduled to go into effect before Aug. 15.

The Signalmen went on strike for about 40 hours last May 17-18 to back up their contract demands. Congress ordered them back to work until Oct. 1. Because of the wage freeze in effect at that time.

'Big 4' Automakers Say Car Sales Are Doubled

DETROIT (UPI)—The nation's four major automobile makers sold more than twice as many new cars during the first 10 days of November than they did in the comparable period of 1970.

However, sales for the period, the last complete one under the price freeze, were down markedly from the final 10 days of October.

General Motors Corp. sold 292,023 new cars in the first 10 days of this month, compared with 113,116 during the same time a year ago while GM was strikebound.

The 10-day total compared with 348,174 for the closing third of October. Usually, the last 10 days of the month are better selling periods than first-of-the-month times and October, the first full month for selling new models after introduction, traditionally is a good sales month.

Ford reported an all-time sales high for the period, 79,288 compared with 65,591 a year ago. During the last 10 days of October, Ford sold 96,868 cars.

GM sold 166,953 new autos, compared with 178,553 in the final days in October and 31,354 during early November, 1970. Chevrolet Division sales for the first 10 days of this month also set a record high.

Sales of 38,236 new cars so far this month by Chrysler compared with 59,411 in the last part of October and 28,279 a year ago.

AMC was the only one of the "Big Four" reporting a decline in sales from a year ago. The 1971 figure of 7,546 for the first part of this month compared with 7,892 a year ago and 13,342 in the final portion of October.

Federal Court Upholds Military On Pregnancies

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A federal appeals court has upheld military regulations regarding pregnant officers by refusing to block the discharge of Capt. Susan Struck, the first Air Force officer to give birth while on active duty.

The 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruled Monday that the 27-year-old unwed nurse could be discharged because of "a compelling public interest in not having pregnant female soldiers in the military establishment."

Capt. Struck became pregnant while serving at Cam Rahn Bay, Vietnam in early 1970 and gave her baby girl, Tanya Marie, up for adoption after its birth in Tacoma, Wash. She went to court over Air Force moves to discharge her, arguing that military pregnancy rules were unconstitutional.

The court Monday turned down her petition to remain in the service, upholding a regulation providing for the honorable discharge of officers who become pregnant.

"We are not persuaded that it (the regulation) is either arbitrary or irrational," the court said in an opinion by Justice J. Warren Madden.

The court said that in hospitals in combat zones in Vietnam, a pregnant nurse could suffer a miscarriage during an attack and become "a liability and a burden to the Air Force" instead of an effective member of the military team.

The circuit court had already ruled last year the Air Force had a right to discharge Capt. Struck, but before the Air Force could act, U.S. Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas ordered all further attempts to discharge her suspended until the completion of proceedings.

KATHLEEN PETERS
Sets April date

Marriage In April Is Planned

The engagement of Kathleen A. Peters of San Anselmo to Vladimir Kovaleff, also of San Anselmo, has been announced by her mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. Hans H. Peters of San Anselmo.

A graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, Kathleen attended the College of Marin and is employed as a secretary with the Union Square Garage in San Francisco. She is the step-sister of Louise Lynn Peters of San Anselmo.

Vladimir is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Kovaleff of San Anselmo and the brother of Alexander Kovaleff of Novato. He also is a Drake High School graduate and attended the College of Marin. He is now a pilot for the City and County of San Francisco.

The couple plan to be married on April 23.

1st Lady Doer For Savings

NEW YORK (UPI)—Mrs. Linwood Holton, first lady of Virginia, has turned her talents as a political campaigner into another type of drive—to help families get the most for their food dollar.

Specifically, she heads the campaign for her husband's constituents, but what goes for Virginians applies just as aptly to families in the other 49 states.

As far as Mrs. Holton knows, she's the only wife of a governor involved in a real grass roots campaign, making personal appearances at seminars with experts both from government and business going to the housewife with information on food budgeting, meal planning and nutrition.

"WE'RE WORKING the hardest at the lower income level," said Virginia "Jinks" Holton. "But we find the middle income families are having a difficult time too."

Officially, the "family food dollar" sessions were scheduled for fall in 22 geographical divisions devised to prevent duplication. But Mrs. Holton says the program, which already has reached thousands, will be a continuing educational one with the food stamp people, the extension service and Roy Farmer and his state consumer affairs staff carrying on.

One big phase of the program has been to teach food stamp recipients use of such basics as lentils, flour, peanut butter, chick peas, butter and meats.

"WE FOUND women throwing out powdered milk because they didn't know how to use it," she said. "These are the people we really need to reach."

Mrs. Holton discussed the Virginia program in a telephone conversation from the executive mansion in Richmond. She said the women want to know more about meal planning on the food stamp plan, how to plan meals for a family working on several shifts, some even ask about tools of the kitchen.

"We've found some women who had to be told what an egg beater is," she said.

Available at the conferences were "The Budget Watcher's Cookbook," prepared by the Roanoke Valley Nutrition Committee and the nutrition section of the Virginia Department of Health. It's full of low-cost menus and buying tips ("If you shop while you're hungry, you may buy more than you need and your food bill will go up. It's wise to shop after you have eaten").

THE SEMINARS also make available tips from the U.S. Department of Ayriculture. Samples: Plan at home. This is where good buying begins. Jot down items as you think of them.

Make decisions before you start your shopping trip. As you plan, keep in mind what you have, what you need, how the item will be used, the size, color, quantity and quality you want, the price, the advertised specials.

Smart shoppers buy needed things first, then add the extras. One woman told a seminar that she took along one of those purse-size calculators, clicked off the price of each item as she went through the store and when she got to her limit of $20, stopped.

Read labels, compare quality and price, check weights of fresh produce, check sales slips and count your change.

MRS. HOLTON attended Roanoke public schools, is a graduate of Wellesley College and the Middlebury College French School. She met her husband while working in Washington and the couple has four children ages five to 15.

A "born doer," she helped to ring doorbells and otherwise campaign when her Republican husband ran for governor. Now, she said, "I guess I'm honorary chairman of about everything in Virginia."

The executive mansion has a budget to provide for a staff of mansion director (housekeeper), cook, four maids, three butlers and a laundress.

"I try to watch the food budget to the extent I can," said Virginia Holton, "but people coming to the mansion don't expect peanut butter."

Technological First On Fashion Stage

For the first time a scientist-artist, a fashion designer, and a master textile print technician have combined their talents to bring a technological first to the fashion stage — the light art print.

TV College Class Reaps Letters

By PATRICIA McCORMACK

NEW YORK (UPI) — So what's a college teacher to do when a student calls her — "dearest little teacher" or "you, you sweet little cutie"?

And a male teacher, how's he to react when a student says:

"Your handsome appearance and infectious enthusiasm merely enhance the fascination of your lecture material."

Followed by: "Men and boys are attracted by the slides and film clips . . . but girls and ladies would rather look at you!"

The "cutie" remarks were aimed at Dr. Isabelle Hyman, assistant professor of fine arts, Washington Square College of Arts and Sciences at New York University.

Other eggheads at the university from time to time have seemingly odd remarks or questions sent their way — considering the proper limits of a relationship between student and teacher, even in this era of freedom.

DR. FLEUR L. STRAND
Television Professor

Dr. Fleur L. Strand, associate professor of biology, for example, was asked:

"Beautiful lady . . . it would be a favor to me if you could tell me what causes hammer toes?"

The teachers in these cases are amused, flattered and accept with mixed feelings the personal remarks, according to Tom Brophy, a major domo for the classroom setting that inspires students to such thoughts.

BROPHY IS producer of Sunrise Semester, the 6:30 a.m. televised college course that is aired on some 90 stations from Orlando to the island of Oahu six days a week.

The personal remarks come in letters, so no matter how adoring a student sounds in print, no teacher need fear being hugged to a pulp by a student who can't control his or her emotions.

Brophy, who has been producer of the Emmy Award-winning college series since it went on the tube 15 years ago, said the casualness of the remarks in the letters is better understood when one knows the "students" wear mostly housecoats and bathrobes.

Some, proppped up on pillows, take in the lecture on the bedroom television set.

Brophy and Patricia Myers, co-producer of the CBS network production, discussed in an interview the unusual pupil-teacher relationships that have surfaced — through the mail — during their association with Sunrise Semester.

TO BROPHY and Mrs. Myers falls the task of answering the letters when the teachers cannot.

DR. PETER CHELKOWSKI
Lectures on Sunrise Semester

Brophy cheers for the fact that the teachers establish warm relationships with the students. When the show started he feared that the professors, accustomed to having a classroom lecture broken up by questions from "live" students, might have difficulty keeping the subject matter matter running in a viable fashion for 28 uninterrupted minutes.

"I always set them up by telling them that they've got to keep the attention of the person on the other side of the set," he said. "I tell them the typical student out there probably is a woman who has her hair in curlers.

"I tell them she undoubtedly has a coffee cup in one hand and a cigarette in the other. And —she's wearing a bathrobe and may even be in her bare feet."

"We get many, many letters either commenting on the clothes the women professor wears or asking — where did she buy that and how much did it cost?"

DURING THE midi-mini-maxi crisis in fashion last year, Mrs. Myers said she instructed the camera crew not to show below the knees.

"There was such emotion over the length of hemlines," she said, "we didn't want Sunrise in the middle of it —as might have been the case if a woman appeared in a midi.

Brophy's picture of the typical viewer isn't far off target. "The murky figures with coffee cups and bathrobes" is the way Mrs. Jeanne Sattely of Jamaica Plain, Mass., signs letters to Sunrise. She is spokesman for a group that watches Sunrise together.

Both Brophy and Mrs. Myers said they continue to be amazed at the cross-section of the viewing public, as revealed by letters from the "students" — estimated at 1.2 million each morning.

The steadiest Sunrise pen pal is Dr. Stephen Van D. Chandler of Somerville, N.J., a Harvard graduate, class of '53. He has been watching Sunrise on and off since the inception and would like more music and art classes.

"I am presently confined on death row in Tamal, Calif., awaiting the final determination of my appeal," Lee Anthony Crosier wrote to Dr. Strand. "I cannot describe how much I enjoy your lectures regarding biology. You are a terrific and brilliant educator. There are not enough adjectives in the dictionary to describe you. . ."

About the same time the man in death row was writing a fan letter to Dr. Strand, a policeman and judge were writing similarly.

"I cannot put into words just how much your program has kept me abreast of the surge of the times," the policeman from Dedham, Mass., wrote. "I am only a high school graduate and police officer in Boston. Yyur program sort of puts someone like me in the state of mind that our colleges still are in good hands." He signed himself — "Fuzzy from Boston."

Judge Hugh MacMillan of the Circuit Court of the 15th judicial circuit of Florida, West Palm Beach, Fla., wrote to Dr. Strand:

"I LOOK forward to each lecture with enthusiasm and anticipation." A man from Columbus, Ohio, wrote to Dr. Hyman. "You cannot measure the artistic . . . uplift you bring to my day."

From Eureka, Mo., a Franciscan brother and one of his co-workers in a hospital wrote to Dr. Hyman, referring to her course on Italian Renaissance art:

"You have brightened many a morning on the job as we take care of our patients. We both admire the classic beauty of your countenance, your beautiful soft eyes . . . thank you for being."

Red Cross Is Accepting Viet Servicemen Gifts

Packages for servicemen in Vietnam are being accepted at the Red Cross Chapter House in San Rafael. The packages will be sent air mail, space available until the ultimate deadline of Dec. 15, according to Nancy King Hayden of the Marin County Chapter, American National Red Cross.

Recipes tested by the Marin Chapter that have proven to ship well are for apricot bars, choco-marshmallows and chocolate crackies.

The Red Cross recommends the following methods of packing, wrapping, addressing and mailing the finished product:

Place a layer of unsalted, popped popcorn, about two inches deep in an empty two pound metal coffee can. Put the cookies in a large plastic bag and seal; place the bag in the can on top of the popcorn. Fill the top of the can with more popped popcorn. Seal the can.

Wrap each can individually in several layers of brown paper, taped securely with masking tape. Tie it securely with heavy string.

Address the can:

Bring the package to the Red Cross Chapter House.

APRICOT BARS
(32 bars)

⅔ cup dried apricots
½ cup soft butter or margarine
¼ cup granulated sugar
1 cup sifted flour; ⅓ cup flour
¼ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking powder
1 cup brown sugar, firmly packed
2 eggs, well beaten
½ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup chopped nuts
Confectioners sugar

Rinse apricots; cover with water, boil 10 minutes. Drain, cool, and chop. Mix until crumbly butter, granulated sugar and 1 cup flour. Pack into greased 8"x8"x2" pan. Bake in preheated oven, 350 degrees, for about 25 minutes or until lightly browned. Sift together one third cup flour, baking powder and salt. Gradually beat brown sugar into eggs. Add flour mixture; mix well. Add vanilla, nuts and apricots. Spread over baked layer. Bake 30 minutes or until done. Cool in pan. Cut in bars and roll in confectioner's sugar.

CHOCO-MARSHMALLOW
(3 dozen)

1¾ cup sifted cake flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
½ cup cocoa
½ cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
¼ cup milk
18 marshmallows cut in halves

Sift together flour, salt, soda and cocoa. Cream shortening and sugar. Add egg, vanilla and milk, beating well. Add dry ingredients and mix. Drop by teaspoons on greased baking sheet. Bake in preheated oven, 350 degrees, for 8 minutes. Remove from oven and press half marshmallow, cut side down, on top of each cookie. Bake two minutes longer. Cool. Top with cocoa frosting. Frosting: Combine two cups sifted confectioners sugar, five tablespoons cocoa, one-eighth teaspoon salt, three teaspoons soft butter or margarine, and four to five teaspoons light cream.

CHOCOLATE CRACKIES
(6 dozen)

4 squares unsweetened chocolate
½ cup salad oil
2 cups granulated sugar
4 eggs, unbeaten
2 teaspoons vanilla
2 cups sifted flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoons baking powder
½ cup chopped walnuts
1 cup confectioners sugar
½ teaspoon salt

Melt chocolate in top of large double boiler or mixing bowl over hot water. Remove from water and blend in oil and sugar. Add eggs one at a time, and beat well after each addition. Add vanilla. Sift flour with baking powder and salt; stir into chocolate mixture. Add nuts and mix thoroughly. Chill the dough several hours or overnight. Drop by teaspoonsful of dough onto confectioners sugar. Roll around and shape into small balls and place on greased baking sheet. Bake in pre-heated oven, 350 degrees, for 10 to 12 minutes. The confectioners sugar coating will crack during baking, giving an interesting effect.

Man-Tailored Suits On Fashion Front

Corporate apparel has become corporate fashion, says the Wool Bureau. No more man-tailored suits to hide pretty young women. Fine, fun, mixable versatile colorful fashion is what's on deck, according to a bureau booklet featuring silhouettes from the drawing board of Chuck Howard.

There are blazers and pant and skirt suits with turtlenecks; sleeveless front-zip tunics over full-long sleeved blouses and kicky skirts. Fabrics for the coporate uniforms include wool double knit, crepe, faille, and double woven gabardine.

Danielle's after-hours pantsuit. That's what's new. It's soft and resilient, both subtle and brilliant (if you'll permit us a rhyme). A marvelous knit print fashions the pants and bolero; the blouse is copper crepe. Altogether, it defies description, but, believe us, it will do the most for you. In sizes 10 to 14.

THE GENERATION RAP

by Helen and Sue Bottel

Cut The Strings Completely And Take Pity On Such A Poor Slob

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I went with a guy for over nine months and was very much in love with him. I'm 22 and he's 27, so it wasn't just a high school romance.

I loved him so much that I took his abusive language and cruelties, thinking my love would change him. I would hold my breath sometimes, trying not to cry because tears made him even madder. I made excuses for him — his bad childhood, the tough breaks he'd had, his insecurity which made him put others down to build himself up — and that included a lot of bragging but not much truth about important things.

The more I babied him, the more he drank. His weekends became seven days long, and I was drinking more too, trying to "understand" him. I hated myself so much that I figured we deserved each other — he'd destroyed all my self-confidence: Could anyone want the "fool" he insisted I was?

Finally I realized this kind of love was killing me, especially since he found himself an 18-year-old girl he could manipulate better. He kept her to do his housework and sleep with him, but took me out to show off as his "college girl date." I finally left the whole mess.

Now, I'm seeing a dear friend of mine who happens to be my ex's friend too. It isn't love (I'm through with that for a while), but we're good pals. He's helping me get my head back together.

But... my ex has such an ego hangup that he thinks I'm trying to get back at him by seeing his buddy. The other night he even managed an "emergency" so my pal broke a date with me 20 minutes before we were to go out. Ex won't quit till he destroys our friendship, and probably others I'll have in the future.

Should I call this jerk and tell him to leave my life alone? What can I do with an egomaniac who pulls the strings no matter how I try to cut loose? — PUPPET

DEAR PUPPET:

You'll only feed his self-importance if you phone this dog in the manger. Pity him as a manipulator whose ego trip is a lonesome journey to nowhere. Demolish him (to yourself and others) with "I feel so sorry for poor ——. He'll be an overage adolescent all his life."

And forget him! I know this is hard, when a fascinating man (isn't it sad how cruelty attracts?) has dominated almost a year of your life. But once you really cut the strings, he can't hurt you. — HELEN

DEAR PUPPET:

Don't look at him as a dog in the manger, but a "mangy dog," and laugh when you say it. The only "friends" you'll lose because of him are ones you'd be better off without. — SUE

DEAR RAP:

I'm almost 16. I help out at the home of a married friend, Georgia, who is a sort of distant cousin of my mother. Our families are real close, and Georgia often asks me over to stay a weekend or longer. She works, so I fix meals for her husband, Nat, and take care of the house.

Nat is 28, and very affectionate, but Georgia doesn't pay much attention to him. He's been kissing and hugging me a lot but I thought it was just his way. The other night he came into my bedroom and started saying kinda wild things. I felt like screaming, but I didn't.

If I refuse to go over to their house, Georgia and Mom will be hurt. If I tell, there goes a marriage. I don't want to lose a great friendship. — HELP

P.S. It's fun taking care of a house and pretending it's mine. I like that part.

DEAR HELP:

While you're playing house, Nat is making a play for you, and you don't know the rules well enough to play this kind of game. I suspect you're more than a little fascinated — and that's dangerous, especially when you excuse his come-ons with Georgia's coldness. (Maybe even encourage them a bit, right?)

Get so busy with school and your own social life that you "just can't make it this weekend, Georgia," and plan never to be alone with Nat — at his house or yours. — HELEN

DEAR HELP:

...And tell him (if he does corner you) that you don't dig junior dirty old men — just before you stomp on his instep! — SUE

INSIDE YOUR HOME

The 20th Century Gypsy Must Adapt Lifestyle, Furnishings

By CAROLYN S. MURRAY

Gypsies come in all ages, creeds, colors and vocations. The technical journal writer whose assignment lasts only as long as the government contract to which he's committed; the baseball player who moves up and down the farm-team system; the Peace Corps volunteers who spend two years in a foreign land or the Vista volunteers who live and work within the country's boundaries. All gypsies, 20th-Century style. And there are thousands of others who adjust to new environments every four or five years because their life's work requires that kind of mobility.

What about the quality of family life for such individuals? Psychologists tell us that man can better survive the mobile life when he can relate to some of his surroundings. Small possessions do the job for the military man; family china, a few flowers and favorite toys work for his wife and children.

BUT MAJOR purchases are often made by young and old couples on the move. How can they be integrated into the shifting mobile life?

Start by acquiring the accouterments to comfortable living, instead of the basic necessities. For example, you can always find an apartment or mobile home furnished with the usual sofas and beds. But wall surfaces are frequently bland. So invent a series of roll-up panels of striking wallpaper or fabric, a kind of springless window shade idea.

You simply hang and unroll the decorative material when you move into a new residence. Or if you have a one or two-year stay in mind, find some of the prepasted, strippable wall coverings, such as the one shown by Dunn-Edwards. It's a landlord pleaser, since you can take it with you when you leave. And the bold graphic designs available make a nice positive statement about this being a very personal place — even though temporary.

Smaller pieces of furniture can be added to the family possessions if they are light, portable and add color to the new home. For example, the folding chairs shown today. Finished in bright lacquer colors and upholstered in a Pucciprint fabric, they add another splash of individuality to a temporary home. Four folded chairs, such as these by Brown-Saltman, take little space on moving day.

THE CONSOLE table is another space-saving idea by the same manufacturer. It has two drop-down leaves and when at rest, it fits into a very narrow space. But when mealtimes arrive, pop up one or two wings and seat two, four and even six, if needed.

The longer, clean-lined table might be another good investment. It serves for dining, homework or can be used as a sofa-back table. Designed by Robert Thorpe for Brown-Saltman it comes in lacquer colors.

This kind of table encourages you to move the sofa away from the wall — and in a temporary home the one sure way to feel "at home" is to rearrange all of the upholstered pieces until you create the best groupings for your family.

Despite Botulism Reports, Canned Foods Are Safe

Are canned foods really safe to eat? Despite the doubt injected into many homes throughout the country by a recent fatal case of botulism poisoning from canned vichyssoise, the answer remains an unqualified, "Yes."

The recent death was only the fourth such fatality in the last 45 years, reports the November issue of Family Health magazine. The article notes that the four deaths resulted from just three contaminated cans.

The article suggests ways to avoid the possibility, though remote, of becoming one of those isolated cases.

It is only when canned food is exposed to the air, either while still in the can or following its removal, that botulism may develop. Examine the condition of the cans that are purchased for...

Dents. A small, shallow dent isn't dangerous, but a large, deep crease may damage a seam or put a crack in the metal and thus destroy airtightness. Buying badly dented cans at marked-down prices is not worth the risk.

Bulges. The rule: don't use a can with swollen or bulging ends. Return it to the store manager immediately, so he can check for possible defects in other cans of the same product.

Odors. If you detect any off-odor when you open a can of food, don't taste; throw it out.

Leakage. Sure sign that internal security has been breached. Don't use the can.

BIRTHDAY QUIZ

By GORDON B. GREB

Guess who was born today, Nov. 16, and became famous as:

1. America's first broadcaster? Experimenting with wireless in 1909, this ex-Stanford student succeeded in broadcasting voice and music from San Jose, thereby establishing the world's first broadcasting station: (A) Charles David Herrold; (B) Frank Conrad; (C) Lee De Forest.

2. A versatile Hollywood character actor? A twinkle in his eyes characterizes this man's style and at 63 he's still sought by stage and screen directors, being remembered for his role in Steinbeck's "Of Mice and Men": (A) Melvyn Douglas; (B) Burgess Meredith; (C) George Sanders.

3. An award-winning American playwright? He switched from newspaper reporting to play writing in 1920, sharing a Pulitzer Prize in 1931 for "Of Thee I Sing" and in 1936 for "You Can't Take It with You": (A) George Kaufman; (B) Moss Hart; (C) Morris Ryskind.

4. A German violinist and composer? After Hitler banned his compositions, this talented Berlin teacher decided to escape to the U.S. in 1939 and three years later Yale University made him head of its music department: (A) Paul Hindemith; (B) Richard Strauss; (C) Max Steiner.

ANSWERS

1 (A) (Charles David Herrold); 2 (B) (Burgess Meredith); 3 (A) (George Hauftman); 4 (A) (Paul Hindemith).

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

In Tournament Play, A Mere Overtrick Worth A Pot Of Gold

In the national bridge tournament that begins in Phoenix on Friday, the contestants must struggle for the smallest possible advantage. A mere overtrick, which we all disregard in regular rubber bridge, is of the highest importance in tournament bridge. There are safety plays for an overtrick just as in ordinary bridge there are safety plays to assure the contract.

FINESSE TRY

South wins the first trick with the queen of clubs and leads a spade to try a finesse with the queen. When this succeeds, declarer continues with dummy's ace of spades. The king doesn't fall, unfortunately for South.

Let us shed no tears for declarer since when he next leads a low club from dummy the king of clubs pops up. South naturally wins with the ace of clubs and can now be sure of the contract since he will lose only two hearts and a trump at most.

This is not enough for any aggressive tournament player, since South can make sure of an overtrick if he can only guess which opponent has the king of diamonds. The important thing is to make sure of the 11th trick regardless of which opponent has the king and without having to guess.

HELP FROM ENEMY

South should call on the enemy for help in this situation. He leads the six of clubs to dummy's jack, cashes the ace of diamonds and ruffs a diamond. Then he leads a trump to put West in with the king.

Since West is out of clubs and spades he must return a red card. If West returns a heart, South's king is sure to win a trick. If West returns a low diamond, dummy's jack will win; and if West returns the king of diamonds, South ruffs and leads the four of clubs to dummy's five in order to discard a heart on dummy's good diamond. The same play would work, of course, if East had the king of diamonds.

ANSWER: Bid one no-trump, promising about 6 to 10 points in high cards.

The hand is not strong enough for a response of two hearts since you would need at least 10 points for such a bid.

Farm Insurance Hearing Urged

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The state Board of Agriculture has been urged by the California State Grange to hold a public hearing before making any recommendation to Gov. Ronald Reagan on unemployment insurance for farm workers.

The request was made by Grange Master Chester Deaver of board president Allan Grant in a letter.

An Assembly-passed bill to extend unemployment insurance to farm laborers is pending on the Senate floor.

Breakfast Doe

POMPEII, Mich. (UPI)—A whitetail doe, apparently being tracked by hunters on the opening day of deer hunting, went out of her way to escape and joined the Homer Schroeder family for breakfast yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Schroder said the doe broke through their dining room window, crashed into a stove, bounced off a wall, and ran out.

COSTLY

The Road To Being Top Citizen

I-J Special Report

WILMINGTON, N.C. — Roger D. Paxton, just old enough to vote, has found out it takes time and costs money to be a good citizen.

He volunteered to appear against the driver of a petroleum tanker he saw weaving on a main highway one evening in November 1970. It took the courts nine months to convict the driver of drunken driving, and young Paxton had to make no less than seven trips to court over that period of time.

"People said I was a fool," Paxton said. "I got $3 a day and gas, and I could have made almost $3 an hour overtime on my job. I figure I drove almost 1,000 miles before the case was ended."

But work on a rescue squad has made the young man conscious of the terrible results of careless and drunken driving.

"When I saw that petroleum truck swerving all over the place, I just had to keep that driver off the road," he said.

Would he go through it all again if he had it to do over?

"Any time!" Roger declared.

The Committee for Adequate Shelter for All (CASA) will present two speakers on the topic, "Should second units be permitted in single-family neighborhoods," at a luncheon meeting on Nov. 24 at 11:45 a.m. in the old Northwestern Pacific Railroad Depot, 930 Tamalpais Avenue, San Rafael.

Speakers will be Jack R. Adams, a Tamalpais Valley home owner, and San Anselmo resident Jack Olive, chairman of the San Anselmo citizen's advisory committee studying such second units.

Hunter Fires, Wounds Buddy

A San Anselmo pheasant hunter suffered minor pellet wounds last Saturday when a fellow hunter swung his shotgun after a flying pheasant and fired in his direction.

He told sheriff's deputies he and two other friends were hunting about 9 a.m. at the St. Vincent's Pheasant Club behind St. Vincent's School for Boys.

They were walking three abreast, about 50 yards apart.

Kent Clerk Destroys Jury Report

RAVENNA, Ohio (UPI)—A county clerk yesterday destroyed a grand jury report that accused 25 persons of criminal actions in the disorders at Kent State University which ended in the shooting deaths of four students by National Guardsmen, May 4, 1970.

Complying with an order by a federal judge, Portage County Clerk of Courts Lucy De Leone ceremoniously burned the report and the only copy in a waste basket in the parking lot of the county courthouse.

A group of 25 persons watched the burning which prompted New York attorney, David Scribner, who represents some of the 25 persons indicted, to say:

"I hope the Ohio Supreme Court will order the burning of the indictments."

The report, issued Oct. 16, 1970, by a grand jury investigating the violence on the campus, was ordered destroyed by U. S. District Court Judge William K. Thomas in Cleveland last Jan. 28.

In Washington, U. S. Supreme Court Justice Potter Stewart temporarily blocked the prosecution of the 25 persons pending action by the court later this week. The defendants are scheduled to go on trial Nov. 22.

Attorneys for the 25 argued they could not get a fair trial because of the grand jury report.

After studying the report, which accompanied the indictment of 24 students and former students and one professor, Thomas ruled: "These findings and conclusions, unlawful violations of the grand jury oath of secrecy, prejudice the indicted persons."

"I bet there won't be a dry eye in the place," said the 22-year-old senior, Sunday night.

"Burning the report isn't going to change anybody's opinions. The report has already done irreparable harm, but I guess destroying it at least demonstrates that the report was illegal," he said.

The grand jury report cited a "permissive" Kent State administration for blame in allowing an atmosphere conducive to the formenting of disorders, and it absolved the National Guardsmen who fired on the crowd of anti-war demonstrators.

Thomas's ruling was later appealed to the U.S. 6th Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati, which upheld destruction of the report. But the court also upheld the indictment. Prosecution of the 25 could begin as early as Nov. 22.

Drake High Schedules 'Matchmaker' Six Times

Sir Francis Drake High School's drama department will present "The Matchmaker," by Wilder, Thursday, Friday and Saturday and Dec. 2-4 at 8:30 p.m. in the school's Little Theater.

The comedy, upon which "Hello, Dolly" was based, concerns a matchmaker Dolly Levi, played by Laura Smyth, who seeks the affections of a hot-tempered but very rich merchant of Yonkers, Horace Vandergelder, acted by James Owen.

Dolly plots to marry Horace, while she matches up clerk Cornelius Hackyl (James Nichols) and widow Irene Molly (Denise Hockley), and turns New York upside down and inside out in a span of less than 24 hours.

Occidental Youth Held In Assault

John Andrew Short, 18, of Occidental, was arraigned yesterday in Southern Sonoma Municipal Court on charges of rape and second degree armed robbery.

Judge Alexander J. McMahon set bail at $10,000 and scheduled Short to enter a plea tomorrow. Short was arrested yesterday after a 19-year-old girl said he raped her and took $12 from her purse in a remote area on Lakeville Highway, Petaluma, Sunday night.

Film Developed In River Water

AMSTERDAM (UPI)—Dutch river water is so polluted by chemicals that you can develop a film in it, the daily De Telegraaf said today.

The newspaper said its photographer took the water from the river in Rotterdam, where at the same time he shot a photograph of some houses. The printed picture clearly showed the houses.

BROTHERHOOD OF MAN — Participants in "The Changing Way," a class offered by the experimental college at the College of Marin, join hands for a stretching and balancing exercise. The class is dedicated to the "brotherhood of man" unlike classes in the last experimental college, which, critics claimed, were dedicated to destruction.

DESIGN FOR LEARNING

Experimental College Is Revived

By LARRY MOWELL

The Experimental College at the College of Marin, dead for about two years, has been revived with a new, considerably less revolutionary character.

Since the fledgling school opened last month about 35 classes have sprouted. Most concentrate on personal development, not politics.

The old Experimental College featured courses like "You and Your Draft Board — Win, Lose or Draw," "Religion as Revolution," and "U.S. Imperialism in Latin America."

One offering was condemned by some groups because, they charged, revolutionary tactics were being taught.

Although the new college does include a class taught by the White Panther Party, its goal seems less politically motivated than designed for learning.

For example, the college offers a class called the "Changing Way" taught by Michael A. Gneck. Each Tuesday and Thursday at the College of Marin gym Gneck's ministerial tones guide his pupils through a series of complicated, synchronized exercises.

To the casual observer, it looks like coeducational calisthenics, but to Gneck and his college-age students the class is as serious as a High Mass.

Body control assumes an almost religious air as Gneck spices the ballet-like exercises with brief homilies based on the philosophy of movement he has developed.

Gneck is not a College of Marin instructor. He is a man who wants to pass on something he enjoys — the only credential needed to teach a class in the experimental college.

His 20 students are among more than 500 persons who have signed up for courses since the executive council of the Associated Students of the College of Marin took the fledgling college under its wing last month.

However, the class seems to typify the emphasis on individual growth evident in other course offerings. The college's brochure lists classes on belly dancing, Bible literature, first aid, yoga and organic eating.

Brian Horwitz, founder and director of the school and executive council member, said his school supports its curriculum on a budget of $250.

All 35 classes meet at the College of Marin, but no credit is given, he said.

Like most educational reform groups, the rallying cry of the experimental college is "relevance."

"We make it possible for people to learn and teach what many people feel is relevant, but isn't in the general curriculum," Horwitz said.

The credit courses offered at the college simply do not meet everyone's needs, he said.

"There is a lot of talk on this campus about what you learned last semester and what usually comes out is not a whole hell of a lot," he said.

Apparently the need for relevant education extends beyond the bounds of the Kentfield campus since, according to Horwitz, many of the classes attract the middle-aged and elderly.

Creating a learning environment is the goal of experimenting educators claim in their class brochure, but to college officials it is simply a student activity, according to Irwin P. Diamond, dean of students. The dean said the experimental college is not affecting the established curriculum.

However, merely adding courses to the College of Marin curriculum is clearly not the goal of the experimental college. Meeting interests is, Horwitz said.

The previous extracurricular experimental college failed in 1969 because "the interest wasn't super there," he said.

Keeping the interest "super there" has led to a rather loose structure. The $250 budget is devoted to educational materials and printing class descriptions, Horwitz said.

Otherwise, teachers fend for themselves. They either donate their time or charge fees ranging up to $3 a session, Horwitz said. About three-fourths of the classes are free.

Teachers are as varied as the classes they teach, Horwitz said. Karate is taught by John Pell, coach of the United States team at the First World Karate Championship in Tokyo last year. Other classes are taught by college professors, students and persons without any formal teaching background, Horwitz said.

San Rafael Council Notes Marin Plan's 'Conflicts'

By C. P. McCARTHY

The San Rafael City Council last night took its first look at the proposed Marin preliminary countywide general plan and noted some conflict with city planning.

Councilmen took no action on the plan, but it drew criticism from Mayor C. Paul Bettini who said it must be "refined" before he would approve it.

The plan is to be presented Dec. 2 to the City-County Planning Council of Marin for its recommendation on adoption of the plan as an "interim guide" until a more detailed plan is completed, Harvey E. Bragdon, county chief of current planning, told the city council.

Bettini said he was concerned about differences in the plan for San Rafael from the city's own 1966 general plan. In particular, he referred to the county's emphasis on the Northgate-Civic Center area as a commercial center to the disadvantage of downtown San Rafael; the county's elimination of a shoreline parkway the city proposes along the bay; and a county-proposed open-space area south of proposed light industrial development south of St. Vincent's Hill, an area to be developed under the city's general plan.

The mayor also expressed concern over plans for roads linking Terra Linda with the Sleepy Hollow area and Lucas Valley Road with the White's Hill area near Fairfax.

Robert Harrison of the county planning department said the roads were in the plan now but that they had met great opposition in the Sleepy Hollow area.

Bettini said he would want the roads, but would want to know exactly where they were going before he would approve the plan.

Bragdon said he welcomed Bettini's comments on the plan, and emphasized that it was a "conceptual" plan, and that the planning department realized there will be areas of disagreement between cities and the county which will have to be resolved.

Bus Baggage Bill Defeated

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill requiring a bus company to pay up to $500 for losing or damaging a traveler's baggage was defeated Monday by the Assembly and handed to a conference committee to work out a solution.

The measure by Assemblyman John J. Miller, D-Berkeley, was rejected when the lower house refused to grant Miller's request that it accept Senate amendments to his bill.

The 30-19 vote, 11 short of the 41 required for approval, set the stage for appointment of an Assembly-Senate conference committee to iron out differences.

A concert by the Different Fur, a group that produces special electronic effects with unconventional instruments, is scheduled for Sunday at 8:30 p.m. in the Fine Arts Theater of the College of Marin.

Building Security Bill Approved

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Assembly has given overwhelming approval to a bill ordering the state Justice Department to draft building security standards aimed at reducing burglaries and the planting of bombs.

The bill by Speaker Bob Moretti was sent to Gov. Ronald Reagan Monday on a 57-1 vote. It orders that the standards be prepared for recommendation to the 1973 and 1974 legislatures.

In a declaration of intent, the bill asserts that burglary and unlawful entry of a building for other purposes such as "robbery or placing explosives or incendiary devices, can be reduced by devoting greater attention to construction methods and materials as well as intrusion and alerting devices."

Parents' Stop Sign Victory

The Corte Madera Town Council last night bowed to demands by parents who live near Granada School and ordered four-way stop for the intersection of Granada Drive and El Camino Way.

The intersection currently has two stops signs, one of which was recently moved from the foot of Granada Hill. Several parents last night complained cars were going too fast through the intersection and endangering children.

Although Arthur Morrison, the town engineer, recommended against the new stop signs, saying they would cause many persons to come to a "rolling stop," the council voted four to one to install them. Mayor Holmes S. Norville cast the dissenting vote.

The council turned down an appeal from a design review denial for three units on a parcel of land at the corner of Paradise Drive and El Camino Way.

The applicant, W. F. Riley, had wanted to build a duplex and a single-family home. Councilmen indicated they did not object to the use of the land (currently zoned single-family) but did not like the "boxy" modern structures planned.

The council also introduced an ordinance that would cut down the requirements for a planned unit development zoning from 25 acres to one acre, saying this was more realistic about the size of undeveloped parcels in the town.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

POSTPONED — Continued to the Dec. 6 meeting an application to rezone lots in the 5100 block of Paradise Drive from single-family to medium density multiple dwelling.

HEARING — Set a public hearing from 8 p.m. Dec. 6 on an application to rezone a lot at the corner of Corte Madera Avenue and First Street.

BOARDS — Adopted an ordinance setting four-year terms for boards and commissions which will start Jan. 1.

PERMIT — Granted a home occupation permit for G. K. Potter to do art work at his home at 105 Sonora Way.

RECREATION — Postponed to the Dec. 6 meeting further discussion of the town's recreation program for next year.

San Francisco Rally Request Rejected

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—the Board of Supervisors has rejected a request that it close Polk Street in front of the City Hall on Saturday for a rally by those favoring abortions.

The request on Monday came from the Women's National Abortion Action Coalition which said it planned a similar rally in Washington, D.C.

San Rafael Will Push Courthouse Parking Plans

City Manager To Ask Supervisor Accord On Joint Development

The San Rafael City Council last night agreed to pursue plans for development of more parking at the old courthouse site, and hoped to get county approval of the plans today.

City Mgr. James H. McCown today was to ask the board of supervisors to agree to joint development of the property for parking, but he warned the council last night that the county administrator's office did not favor the plan.

If the county won't share the cost of developing the parking, the council instructed McCown to seek the supervisors' permission for the city to pave the property on its own.

In that case the city would hope to recoup the estimated $10,050 cost of the project from parking revenues, but would want county assurance that the city would be reimbursed for any improvements if the county sells the property before the costs have been recovered.

If the supervisors agree neither to participate in the proposal nor allow the city to go it alone, the council directed McCown to insist that the county correct drainage problems and improve the appearance of the site.

The city's plan calls for 147 parking spaces on the site, an increase from about 80 spaces on the sides of the courthouse square before the building was destroyed by fire earlier this year.

The council agreed unanimously (with the exception of John A. Miskimen who was absent) on its directions to McCown, but not before Councilmen Harry A. Barbier and Fred E. Jensen attacked the concept as subsidizing parking for downtown merchants.

Jensen said Montecito and Northgate shopping centers provide their own parking and some plan should be worked out in the future where downtown merchants would "kick in" for downtown parking.

The San Rafael City Council Also:

CURBS — Continued for further discussion during budget sessions a proposal for ramping curbs on Fourth Street for wheelchairs after City Engineer Ely Caillouette Jr. reported cost of the project would be $10,000 to $15,000.

FIREHOUSE — Authorized spending $3,400 for repairs to the roof of the fire station at Fifth Avenue and C Street.

SALARIES — Heard a report from City Atty. Fred C. Robbins Jr. that the federal Office of Emergency Preparedness had informed him that 4 per cent salary increases approved for city employees by the council Aug. 16 could be retroactive to July 1. McCown said the raises would be included in the employees' next paychecks Saturday.

APPOINTMENTS — Approved a plan presented by McCown for establishment of a "reservoir of citizens" and system file for filling vacancies on city boards and commissions. McCown said the system would first be used to fill a vacancy on the library board and he said applications were available at his office.

LIBRARY — Approved the library board's recommendation of San Rafael architects Andrew James Ring III and Taco Enomoto to prepare preliminary plans for expansion of the San Rafael Library.

CLOSED MEETING — Went into closed session to discuss pending litigation against the city and set another closed session for 9 a.m. Saturday to interview candidates for the position of assistant city manager.

ZONING — Adopted rezoning for expansion of Kaiser Hospital and for a 107-unit townhouse development on an extension of Manuel T. Freitas Parkway.

TRAFFIC — Agreed to install stop signs on Tamarack and Trellis drives at Montecillo Road. Only Montecillo Road traffic now has stop signs at the two intersections.

ROAD — Referred to staff for a report Dec. 6 a San Rafael Chamber of Commerce recommendation that a network of roads be established to provide alternate north-south routes to Highway 101.

WEEDS — Rejected a protest by Stanley Kurland of 1504 Lincoln Avenue concerning a $99 bill sent him by the city for weed abatement on property he owns on Brookdale Avenue.

Coast Guard Figures Released

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — One hundred and sixty seven persons owe their lives to rescue by the 12th District Coast Guard, during fiscal 1971, according to statistics just released here.

The Coast Guard handled 3,334 distress cases in Northern California and assisted 6,447 persons. An estimated $11.1 million worth of maritime property was also saved between July 1, 1970, and June 30, 1971.

Boys' Club In Novato On Way To Success

A group of dedicated men in Novato feel they are well on the way to providing Marin's second largest city with a boys' club. They have raised nearly half of the money needed to put up a clubhouse. They figure that once they build the clubhouse, the boys' club will prove its worth and draw sufficient financial support to keep going.

Southern Marin has a boys' club, which has a hard time raising funds. One who believes strongly that San Rafael, the county's biggest city, also should have such a club is Jack MacPhee, recently appointed to the city parks and recreation commission. MacPhee formerly operated what he called the Mar-Vel Athletic Club "on his own," fitting up the basement of his house with body-building and weight-lifting equipment. He knows from experience that providing what is needed is no one-man job.

MacPhee has his sights set high. He envisions an Olympic-sized pool, among other equipment.

THE STORY of the Novato Boys' Club headquarters, still not a reality, shows what he and other boosters for a San Rafael Boys' Club are up against.

Joseph Bonamolo got the Novato Boys' Club started a few years back. But it lacked facilities and scarcely got off the ground. Eugene Trombley next took over as club president, but was unable to drum up enough enthusiasm in the city. David E. Milano became president last year, and it is he who has sparked the current fund-raising drive.

BOYS' CLUBS, affiliated with Boys' Club of America, are privately operated. Sometimes support from the bureaucracy in city and county recreation departments is lacking. The bureaucrats sometimes see a boys' club as an encroachment on their preserve.

It is an advantage to a boys' club, however, to remain privately sponsored and operated — even though this deprives it of ready funds from the tax dollar. Much of today's recreation for young people is too structured, over-organized, over-supervised. As a city function it perhaps has to be that way. As a privately sponsored function, it can be more flexible.

Boys' clubs are of long standing and recognized benefit in many of the larger cities. We recall as an example that three decades and more ago, Utah Power and Light Co. underwrote the costs of the West Side Boys' Club in the "tough side of town" in Salt Lake City — claiming that the company saved more than the club cost because the boys had something else to do and didn't break so many street lights.

Such clubs are relatively new to the suburbs. But they have a place here, too. We wish success to the Novato Boys' Club in its campaign for clubhouse funds. And we think it's time that something similar got started in San Rafael.

By RUS WALTON:

Sales Tax On Gasoline Wrong Approach To Need

SACRAMENTO — Well, they've done it to you again — the politicians.

At least they are going to — starting July 1, 1972.

A five per cent sales tax on gasoline! That comes out to 1½ to 2.2 cents a gallon. And, that's on top of the 11 cents a gallon tax already there — four cents federal, seven cents state.

So, starting next summer, every time you crank up the family buggy, 40 per cent of your gas dollar goes for taxes.

The idea behind the sales tax on gasoline is to promote local mass rapid transit projects by providing $170 million a year to help pay for trains and tracks and busses, and some additional roads and expressways. That is a worthy undertaking, to be sure.

It's just that they have gone about it the wrong way.

LOOK AT IT THIS WAY. They put in a new rapid transit system — sleek new trains, fancy stations, computerized traffic controls. And, who benefits?

Sure, the commuter gets a service. And maybe — just maybe — there are fewer cars on the roads and less smog. But, the guy who really profits is the fellow who owns land around the train stations and the terminals. He hasn't done a thing and he stands to clean up.

Take BART, for example, the Bay Area Rapid Transit district funded by taxpayer money. Estimates are that the value of the land around BART's 33 stations will jump about $1 billion. A tidy windfall for a few landowners who reap the rewards of socially created, taxpayer-induced wealth! The public pays; they profit.

So, instead of laying it on the motorist, who is already paying for the highways, why not tax the folks who make the tremendous profits for doing nothing — except, maybe, speculating in land? They would still come out ahead.

CITIES WITH MASS transit problems and plans should form special districts and use their sovereign power to tax the land, not the improvements, along the routes and around the stations. Such taxes, along with reasonable fares for the commuter, would go most of the way toward paying the costs of rapid transit.

That's not such a hare-brained idea. It's been done, and it works. And everyone involved benefits.

It's been done for other public works projects, too.

The locally financed, multi-purpose reclamation projects around Modesto and Turlock and surrounding Stanislaus County are landmark examples. Those water projects transformed that area from a semi-arid treeless expanse into a fertile and flourishing plain. And, it was all locally-financed — no federal grants, no cash from Sacramento.

The projects were financed through local irrigation districts which were formed to levy annual assessments on the land, exclusive of crops and improvements. The levies were sufficient to meet district financial obligations. Did it work? Well, today the water and power projects are paid for, in full, and Don Pedro Dam is one of the monuments to their smarts and their guts.

CITIES, OR AREAS, wrestling with rapid transit problems could take a lesson. The problem, of course, is that for such logic to work men must be more willing to support their own efforts. And, politicians must be less prone to skin one cat to get a fur coat for someone else.

It's a matter of honest, rather than expedient, tax reform, of getting off the dime and making intelligent use of the land value tax.

Where Goes Money From Tax Increases?

Along with many taxpayers in Marin, we have been shocked by the enormous leap in our property taxes.

Could you tell us how much money has been raised throughout the county by this extraordinary reassessment and what are the plans by the county to disburse it.

(The Independent-Journal on July 23 carried a story quoting County Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell that the change in assessment ratio from 23 to 25 per cent of appraised value would add $5.4 million to Marin tax rolls without any change in tax rates. How the money is used varies widely among the multitude of taxing agencies. — Editor.)

Plan Doesn't Get Good Marks Here

In reference to your article from Nov. 6, "Corte Madera Plan Gets Good Marks," that depends on the teacher marking the report card.

If Mr. Cooke believes the 1,500-2,000 new residents can be protected by two additional firemen and policemen, he surely has not looked into the current situation at all. His estimate is ridiculous and if it is any indication of his work, I seriously believe the town should replace him as their consultant.

The proposed Meadowsweet Station development does not fit the makeup of Corte Madera and should not be approved in its present form.

Taxes will not be reduced. Maybe Mr. Cooke can cite specific examples of a town or towns where a development of this nature actually reduced taxes.

Suggests Recall Over Mundialization

In letter to the editor, Nov. 3, Norman Leach has taken upon himself to be the spokesman for all of San Anselmo.

By what right has he usurped the office of the mayor to make policy statements for our city?

A small minority of people did attend a strange flag raising ritual on Oct. 25, but this in no way represented the total opinion of the residents of San Anselmo.

Most San Anselmans probably do not know that anything different happened on that day, or even care.

Regardless — how is it possible for Norman Leach to state unequivocally that San Anselmo could not support the stand of the United States Government in the UN, on the China question?

Is he the peer of elder statesmen, telling us that he is more knowledgeable than government, and international statesmen who deal with these problems first hand, day in and day out?

There is such a thing as recall.

DON PONTIUS

Nixon Precipitated Confirmation Fight

A considerable amount of confusion surrounds those people President Nixon has nominated for the Supreme Court. The confusion centers on whether they are or should be liberal or conservative; activists or strict constructionists; or whether or not they are qualified to serve. Liberal and activist are not necessarily synonomous, nor are conservative and strict constructionist.

A liberal justice would probably rule in favor of extending civil rights or voting rights, but if he were an activist he would extrapolate his decision from a particular situation to cover as many similar situations as possible. If he were a strict constructionist he would rule in a similar way, but would restrict it to that specific case.

Similarly, a conservative justice would probably favor the government in a case concerning national security or surveillance of citizens. Likewise, if he were an activist he would try to extrapolate it as widely as possible and if he were a strict constructionist, he would make a narrow interpetation covering only that specific situation. I naturally hope Mr. Nixon really means it when he says his men are both conservative and strict constructionists.

As to qualifications, both men seem to be so. Normally their conservatism would not be a valid issue, except Mr. Nixon made it so in his nominating speech. This was unwise of him for their political views are now fair game for Senate liberals, if they choose to make them so. Mr. Nixon may have precipitated a confirmation fight where none would have taken place if he had been a bit more careful in what he said while nominating them.

Nobel Prize Honors Remarkable Achievements Of Onetime Refugee

WASHINGTON — A candle lighted against the darkness of a troubled world casts a long beam. It illuminates an act counter to the violence and hatred that are symptoms of the sickness of our time.

Anyone predicting 25 years ago that a German would receive the Nobel Peace Prize would have been considered daft. The award this year went to Chancellor Willy Brandt, and it is remarkable not only as tribute to his diplomacy but as a testament to his career.

If no one could have believed in 1946, after the Nazi horde had ravaged so much of Europe and the war crimes trials were revealing the sinister depths of the Hitler conspiracy, that a German would be tapped, certainly Willy Brandt would have seemed a candidate beyond the remotest possibility. The illegitimate son of a waitress in Lubeck, he never knew his father. As the Nazis consolidated their power he fled to Norway, since to have stayed would have meant certain death.

HE WAS GIVEN the Nobel Prize for carrying through a dialogue with the East that has resulted in treaties establishing postwar boundaries in accord with present reality. The chancellor dared to challenge and overcome the lingering belief in Germany that the border with Poland could be pushed back to what it had been before the Nazi invation in 1939.

More daring even, he started a series of talks with East Germany looking to a workable arrangement for the status of Berlin and for the two Germanys. After prolonged discussion among the four occupying powers in Berlin, in which the United States played the dubious role of reluctant dragon, the ambassadors of the four underwrote the Brandt initiative. Chances are good for an agreement stabilzing the rights of the West and enlargint the privilege of passage between East and West Berlin for the Germans.

The power brokers, conspiciously in Washington, frowned on the brash interloper. It was presumptuous, outrageous, for this Socialist to go rushing off to Moscow in pursuit of his ost-politik.

If Brandt was concerned about the frowning visages turned on him, he gave no sign of it. He had the same experience at home, where the Christian Democrats sought to make his diplomacy a cornerstone for their opposition. Short of some untoward event, the treaties will be ratified by a narrow majority in the Bundestag before Brandt's term expires in 1973.

WILLY BRANDT

first push for Brandt came from Danish parliamentarians. He had support at home, and finally it was up to an autonomous committee of the Norwegian storting, with each of six members casting a secret ballot. Three of the six are Socialists, three Conservatives. The vote for the German chancellor was unanimous.

So on Dec. 10 he will go to Oslo to deliver an address before the storting. It will be an emotional homecoming to the country that offered him refuge in time of direst need. The exile from Nazi tyranny will be speaking to the world.

Once before a German statesman received the Nobel Peace Prize. After the first world war, Gustav Stresemann had served as a bridge between the monarchist past and the struggling Weimar Republic. He became foreign minister and took the first steps with Britian and France toward the pace of Locarno, a guarantee by the three powers of the peace of Europe.

The Nobel committee in 1926 divided the prize among Stresemann; Aristide Briand, foreign minister of France, and Austen Chamberlain, the British foreign secretary. They had together brought Europe to a peak of hope. It was not to last for long, as Germany struggled under a load of reparations and the aftermath of runaway inflation. In 1930 the United States went protectionist with the Smoot-Hawley Tariff Act that helped to trigger the worldwide depression. This was made to order for Hitler. It can happen again with the fear of recession haunting Europe today.

Emigration Hints Russia Expects Peace In Mid-East

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

In the first 10 months of 1971 the Soviet Union has permitted some 7,500 Jews to emigrate to Israel, nearly three quarters as many as were allowed to leave the Soviet Union in the preceding 10 years. That total came to 10,330.

The natural question then is what happened to reverse a policy under which the Russian government frowned on the department of any useful citizen.

And what compelling force led so many Jews to apply for exit visas and thus risk government anger?

THE ANSWER to the first question lies in the fact the Soviet Union is in the midst of a campaign in which it seeks to project to the western world a policy of moderation and that it is a question that has been put to Soviet leaders as they barnstormed world capitals.

Outside the government level, other pressures also have been applied.

One has come from the noisy Jewish Defense League as led in the United States by Rabbi Mair Kahane. Probably more effective than the league's harrassment of Soviet representatives in the United States was the Brussels meeting of some 750 delegates from 27 countries that included most of the prominent national and international organizations in Jewry.

That meeting concentrated upon the Soviet Union probably the heaviest international criticism of Soviet internal policy it has experienced since the purge trials carried out by Josef Stalin in the 1930s.

AS TO WHAT HAPPENED to lead Soviet Jews to risk Kremlin wrath not merely by applying for exit visas but by demonstrations to insure international publicity for their actions, observers inside Russia trace it to the 1967 Arab-Israeli war.

It led to increased attendance at synagogues among all levels and to increased interest in the study of Hebrew despite government oppositon.

The Soviet Union denies all charges of antisemitism, although antisemitism has a long history in Russia. It further declares that assimilation is reducing the number of Jews in the Soviet Union. The total is uncertain but is believed to be about 2.7 million. Of these, it is said perhaps 300,000 would like to emigrate.

A UNIQUE BOND links Soviet Jewry and Israel.

Settlers from Russia and neighboring states in eastern Europe played a huge early role in the building of the state of Israel.

Approximately half of the top officials in today's Israeli government have their cultural origins in Russia. Until the Soviet Union broke relations with Israel in 1967, Russian ambassadors serving in Israel had no difficulty being understood in their native tongue.

The lowering of Soviet bars to emigration to Israel has been carried out over the objections of the Arabs, who see in it an addition to Israel's economic and military strength.

This alone has led to the further speculation that Soviet planners are looking ahead to settlement of the Mideast conflict and to a renewal of relations with Israel.

Townhouses, Apartments Show Need For Joint Safety Efforts

There is a proliferation of cluster housing, townhouses, condominium and apartment houses in Novato. The Novato Planning department estimates that there are approximately 2,000 such units under construction, approved, or in various stages of planning.

This is causing some concern in the Novato Fire Department. The city requires a one-hour fire wall of 5/8th inch gypsum board between cluster houses. There is no requirement for fire walls in townhouses, condominiums or apartment houses, according to the city building department.

Fire Chief Jack Kidder said that as long as the units are new, he is not concerned, but he will be in a few years when the shingles and shakes dry out and become weathered.

The chief said one of his major concerns is the shingle and shake construction, especially of the roofs. When these dry out, a grass or brush fire with a strong wind could set many of them on fire.

He was concerned also with the new St. Anthony de Padua Catholic Church at the south end of Cambridge Street. The church sits alone in a wilderness of grass, brush and trees. The plans called for a shake roof, but through the persuasion of the fire department, it was changed.

"With a good wind blowing a grass fire, that church would have been vulnerable to fire," Kidder said.

The city and fire district, which are separate entities, meet occasionally to discuss fire hazards of the buildings, the chief said. However, the city does not ask the fire department for its approval on plans for wooden structures.

With the apartment houses getting larger and larger in Novato, city and fire district should work together in setting up codes for fire protection. Anyone in these larger apartment complexes is at the mercy of everyone else's carelessness with fire.

AT THE TIME, nothing was said, but now the Air Force's role in the recent hijacking of a Boeing 747 in Anchorage, Alaska, can be revealed.

The hijacked plane was never out of the watchful radar eye of the North American Air Defense Command from the time it left Anchorage until it was recovered in Vancouver, B.C.

In addition, fighter interceptor planes always had the hijacked plane in visual sight. Taking part in this portion of the watch were two Delta Darts from Hamilton Air Force Base.

I cannot see what good the fighters could have done. I'm sure that under no circumstances would they have shot down the plane.

Teddy Busy Not Running In More And More Places

WASHINGTON — If the American people are suspicious of Sen. Edward Kennedy's political intentions, they certainly cannot be blamed. Every time you pick up the newspaper there is another story about Teddy Kennedy confirming he is not a presidential candidate in 1972. It isn't the denial that has people confused as much as where Senator Kennedy denies it.

As the campaign heats up we can expect more and more news stories on the subject. They might look like this:

WINDY FALLS, IOWA — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy told a cheering throng of 10,000 persons at the Windy Falls County Fair that he would not accept the presidential nomination under any circumstances in 1972.

The senator from Massachusetts said that the people must defeat Nixon or the country would be faced with inflation, unemployment, drought and financial ruin. He called on the citizens of Iowa to turn out the Republicans in 1972 and elect a Democratic President from the fine list of candidates who were now running, of which he was not one.

After his speech Senator Kennedy visited an Indian reservation, a Mexican-American migrant labor camp, a United Auto Workers communion breakfast, a chamber of commerce awards banquet, and made a short speech during half-time ceremonies at the Iowa State-Nebraska Tech homecoming game, reiterating his determination not to run for the highest office in the land.

NEW YORK — Sen. Edward Kennedy spent 14 hours in New York City yesterday in a whirlwind tour. A Kennedy aide said that the senator from Massachusetts wanted to take his message that he was not a presidential candidate personally to all the five boroughs.

The senator unequivocally denied any higher political ambitions at a rally in Harlem, a Jewish temple in Queens, the Sons of St. Patrick in Staten Island, the Brothers of Italy in Brooklyn and the Save Yankee Stadium Citizens League in the Bronx.

Senator Kennedy also met with Democratic Party leaders of New York State in his brother-in-law Steve Smith's Fifth Avenue apartment, to discuss ways of keeping his name off the ballot.

He then talked for an hour with Mayor John Lindsay in an effort to persuade Lindsay not to start a grass-roots Kennedy presidential campaign.

After the ride Kennedy appeared on the Johnny Carson Show, the Dick Cavett Show, the David Frost Show and the Late-Night Movie, stating he would not even accept a draft at the convention in Miami.

Before leaving the city Kennedy visited a children's hospital, the women's house of detention and made a surprise visit backstage to shake hands with the cast of "Jesus Christ Superstar."

WASHINGTON — A spokesman for Sen. Edward Kennedy said today that while the senator was flattered that he was leading Muskie in both the Harris and Gallup polls and was half a point behind President Nixon, he still would not consider under any circumstances the race for President of the United States.

Sen. Kennedy was unavailable for comment as he was en route to Ireland, Italy and Israel, where he hoped to explain to those countries' leaders why he would not run in 1972.

Auditions For Instrumental Prizes Slated

An opportunity to win a cash prize of $50 in the northern district and a national award of $1,000 will be offered music instrumentalists under the age of 17 in district auditions to be held at Dominican College.

Applications must be received by Feb. 1, and auditions will be held at Dominican College on Feb. 12.

These Stillman-Kelly Awards are offered every four years in the 10-state western region of the National Federation of Music Clubs. This year's winner in the state will compete by tape with winners in the other western states.

The $1,000 national award is divided into $250 for four consecutive years to be used for further study with a teacher of the winner's choice.

Application blanks and further information may be obtained in Marin by calling Mrs. Gustav J. Snelling of Tiburon or by writing Sister M. Dominic, O.P. at Dominican College, San Rafael.

Brazil Due Sales Pitch For Planes

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI)— Both the United States and France like to see the Brazilian air force fly into the wide blue yonder. However, the United States wants the planes made in the U.S.A. while France wants them Air France.

This may be the jet age, but French and American arms specialists have rolled up their sleeves for a knockdown, dragout battle of salesmenship over turboprop aircraft. They are trying to convince President Emilio Garrastazu Medici and the Brazilian air force that they can sell the best antisubmarine patrol aircraft for the money.

NOT LARGE

Military sources said Brazil intends to buy only about six or seven of the patrol planes. France has offered the two-engine Atlantic, the NATO plane used by Holland and Germany, as well as by France. The United States is pushing the four-engine Orion, from Lockheed, now used by Australia and New Zealand.

U.S. diplomatic sources said the airplane sale is important for U.S. security.

"The U.S. overseas bases need facilities that can service the type of planes we use. That's why we're trying to sell the Orion," a U. S. diplomatic source said.

The Orion costs an estimated $7 million, not including spare parts. According to the aircraft supplement of "Jane's Fighting Ships," the Orion has a maximum speed of 413 knots at 15,000 feet, with a range of 4,993 miles. The Atlantic, designed by Breguet, has a maximum speed of 330 knots and a range of 3,6000 miles.

FOR BOAT SPOTTING?

Ironically, if either plane is bought, Brazil is likely to employ them in spotting French and U.S. fishing boats that shrimp within the claimed 200-mile limit. Brazil joined nine sister Latin American republics last year in claiming jurisdiction 200 miles off its coast. On June 1, it began giving fishing boats warnings, but none were seized. France and the U.S. are negotiating with Brazil over the 200-mile claim, but an agreement has not yet been signed by either nation. U.S. arms specialists argue that the longer range of the Orion will allow the Brazilian air force to spot more pirate shrimp boats, while the French point to the lower operating cost of their two-engine plane.

A U.S. salesman said, "that Atlantic flies too low and picks up salt water. The Dutch had a lot of trouble with it."

But economic factors are not the only ones in the sale.

The French argue that Brazil should buy French to give itself more political independence from the United States.

ARMS POLICY

"The will of France is for an independent armaments policy, without foreign injunctions, be it of the United States or Russia," said Gen. Huges de Estoile, chief of a French armaments delegation, in a closed-door talk before officers of the chief of staff in Brasilia.

U.S. diplomats counterattacked by reminding Brazilians of the traditional U.S.-Brazilian alliance in the hemisphere and the "special relationship" which is always present but not written down in U.S.-Brazilian affairs.

Doesn't Wait For Probers' Return

PARIS (UPI)—When three gunmen claiming to be police officers knocked at his door, Javery Mussenalli, 71, a merchant, did his best to cooperate.

When they took jewels from his safe, he became suspicious. When they took the $25 in his pants pocket, he began to fear the worst.

They said they would return Thursday to complete their "investigation," but Mussenalli decided not to wait and went to the police.

COUNTRY LIVING

in the San Geronimo Valley. On a quiet country road, this delightful home has all of the amenities, but in a peaceful rural setting. On a third of an acre, sunny but with a backdrop of tall trees. Three bedrooms, two baths, a huge family room. The large living room has a tall beamed ceiling and a massive fireplace wall. The sunny rear patio has absolute privacy and a heated swimming pool. We think this is tops at $45,900.

Unbelieveably exciting if you prefer the dignified charm of the old world, custom fixtures, wool carpeting, warm paneling, stately trees and the like. The grand music room is acoustically perfect. The formal living and dining room as well as the library have fireplaces. A paneled office, country kitchen and butler's pantry complete the main floor. Five bedrooms, 2 with fireplaces, and a children's recreation room complete the 2nd floor. Servants quarters (or additional bedrooms if you prefer) are on the 3rd level. 5½ baths. Additionally there is a separate house for guests, a real orchid growing hot house, an aviary and a delightful outdoor kitchen and BBQ area complete with outdoor fireplace for entertaining any time of the year. You will agree that this estate is underpriced at $195,000. For viewing call CAL REALTY, 771-4900; evenings & weekends, 456-3398.

HOW TO WATCH YOUR PROPERTY GO DOWN THE DRAIN

Just be a do-it-yourselfer.

If you don't have the know-how, profits could drain away without your knowing it.

A better idea is to put your property in the hands of one of our experts who specializes in property management.

We're Realtors; professionals who'll see that your property is operated in an efficient manner. And all the time you'll know we're working in your best interests, because we're pledged to a strict code of ethics.

Keep us in mind when you have property to manage.

WHAT A REALTOR CAN DO FOR YOU

Many, many things — whether you are a buyer or seller. For instance, a realtor will advise you about locations and give you expert advice on complex matters of maintenance, taxes, quality of construction, adequacy of public services.

'66 OPEL
COUPE
$625

This little Opel sport coupe in baby blue with bucket seats would make the perfect 2nd or 3rd car for some Marin family with teen-agers.

Built in Germany by General Motors and distributed in the US by Buick — we sold this car new in '66 to local family and have taken back on another new Opel.

We've just gone through the engine on this clean little Opel — so you should drive trouble-free for quite awhile. Over 25 miles-per-gallon of gas.

Free Psychiatric Care Offered

BERKELEY (UPI) — Free care for students is being offered by 10 of the 17 persons who were either suspended or resigned from the University of California's psychiatric unit in Cowell Memorial Hospital.

Dr. David Fong, a member of the group, said Monday he expected "we will provide the opportunity for students to come in and talk over whatever they want to talk about just as they did at Cowell."

Meetings will be held, he said, in the university student union.

The suspensions came in a dispute between some staff members and the hospital's psychiatric chief, Dr. D. Harvey Powelson.

Those suspended, accused of refusing to discuss cases with supervisors, contended Powelson had violated the confidential nature of the doctor-patient relationship. Powelson denied those accusations.

Certificates Taken

Her purse, valued at $20, containing $3,000 in stock certificates, was taken between 11:05 and 11:10 a.m. yesterday from her locked car at the Mayfair Market parking lot at Third and Union Streets, San Rafael, Panagoita Morf, 56, of 9 Lido Lane, San Rafael, reported to police.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Fast-Growing Volunteer Group Has Chapters All Over World

Fish — the name of one of our fastest growing volunteer movements — is a loosely organized group of neighbors willing to help others. Its members respond to a variety of appeals, such as temporary babysitting in a broken home, calming the upset, doing chores for the suddenly ill or driving a person to the hospital emergency room.

Their symbol, a fish, is the same as used secretly by early Christians as a means of identifying one another. "Love thy neighbor" is their slogan and they do much of their work by telephone. In this respect, the Fishline is an answering service. Often the person in need will place the fish symbol in his window. Dues are a dollar a month.

Fish was started in England 10 years ago by Rev. Derek Eastman and Dr. Donald Richards, a layman. The two men believed that a prime cause of our modern malaise is the decline of neighborliness. The Fish movement has spread all over the world and it is estimated that there are more than 100 chapters in the United States. Since the organization has no central headquarters, the exact number is not known. Most of the chapters, however, are sponsored by churches. Expenses are nil.

Each month the chairman prepares a roster. The volunteers sets aside one 24-hour period (per month) for answering the telephone or supplying needed services. Volunteers on the night shift usually work in pairs. Reserve or back-up members also are selected. Most Fish volunteers are average people.

Shut-ins (in groups of eight) are contacted to find out how they are getting along. No. 1 calls No. 2, etc., until No. 8 calls the Fish chairman. In this way, each lonely convalescent gets to talk to at least two people a day.

(Questions on medical topics will be answered by mail if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

FALLOUT IN MILK

Mrs. E. D. writes: Is it dangerous to drink milk because of radioactive fallout?

REPLY

No. Tests show that the amount of fallout in milk is at a safe level. The government does these tests periodically to keep tabs on the concentration and will notify us if the level goes up.

EYEBALL PRESSURE

L. W. writes: What is the medical term for increased pressure in the eyeball?

REPLY

Glaucoma (glaw-ko-mah). Send stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on this condition.

BRANDY AND THE HEART

Mr. T. K. writes: Is brandy good for the heart?

REPLY

It does not harm when it is used in moderation and is a good first aid measure should a heart attack develop.

BUERGER'S DISEASE

Mrs. K. C. writes: A friend recently was diagnosed as in the early stages of Buerger's disease. What is the cause and treatment of this disorder?

REPLY

The cause is not known although every victim is a smoker. Many physicians also believe that Buerger's disease is premature hardening of the arteries. The symptoms vary from pain in the calf of the leg to gangrene of the foot.

Pair Faces Obscene Book Trial

Two men, accused of having a warehouse full of obscene magazines in San Rafael almost two years ago, face a jury trial next Jan. 10 in Marin Municipal Court.

Donald Calvin Warnecke, 39, of Corte Madera and Eddie Louis Burleson, 32, of San Francisco are accused of 49 misdemeanor counts of possessing obscene matter with intent to distribute in Marin County.

Judge Peter Allen Smith yesterday set the trial for Jan. 10. The two men were arrested in December 1969 after a raid on a warehouse at 62 Belvedere Street, San Rafael, netted hundreds of racy magazines with titles like "Pussy Willow", "Pleasure Partners" and "Raunchy."

Death Suspects Appear In Court

ROSEBURG, Ore. (UPI) — Two young jail escapers have appeared in court on first degree murder charges in the deaths of three members of a rural Yoncalla family.

Larry A. Harnden, 20, and Darrell Rook, 22, were accused of "unlawfully and deliberately with malice and premeditation" killing Edward Williams, 79, his wife, Mabel, 54, and their deaf-mute daughter, Sharon, 27. Williams was stabbed to death while the women died from gunshot wounds.

District Court Judge Gerald Kabler said Monday a court-appointed attorney would be named for Harnden, who claimed he was indigent. Rook said he had $500 with which to engage or attempt to hire an attorney.

Kabler ordered the two suspects held without bail.

SUMMONS
No. 60127

Superior Court of the State of California for the County of Marin
vs.
SAMUEL I. MOORE, also known as S. I. MOORE, and ALSO ALL OTHER PERSONS UNKNOWN, CLAIMING ANY RIGHT, TITLE, ESTATE, LIEN OR INTEREST IN THE REAL PROPERTY DESCRIBED IN THE COMPLAINT ADVERSE TO PLAINTIFF'S OWNERSHIP OR ANY CLOUD UPON PLAINTIFF'S TITLE THERETO, Defendants.
To the Defendants:
A civil complaint has been filed by the plaintiffs against you. If you wish to defend this lawsuit, you must file in this court a written pleading in response to the complaint within thirty (30) days after this summons is served on you. Otherwise your default will be entered on application by the plaintiffs and the court may enter a judgment against you for the money or other relief requested in the complaint.
The object of this action is to make the above-named defendants set forth the nature of their claim or claims to the real property in the complaint and hereinafter described, if any they have, and that such claim or claims be adjudged to be of no effect and void, and that plaintiffs' title to said real property be quieted against them.
That said real property is situate in the City of Belvedere, County of Marin, State of California, and is particularly described as follows:
Parcel One:
Beginning at a point in the northeasterly line of Beach Road, formerly "Bay View Ave." which point is the most southerly corner of Lot 12, Block 1, as said lot and block are shown on that certain map entitled, "Map No. 3 of the Belvedere Peninsula, Marin County, Cal." filed June 26, 1891 in the Office of the County Recorder of the County of Marin; running thence from said point of beginning along said road line south 38° 21' east 51.36 feet to the most southerly corner of the parcel of land described in the deed from Rose M. Rotchy to Martha M. Morrison, recorded July 25, 1955 in Book 958 of Official Records at page 161; thence along the southeasterly line of the parcel of land described in said last mentioned deed north 38° 26' east 134.72 feet to a point distant 65.02 feet from the easterly corner thereof; thence leaving said line north 77° 51' west 89.22 feet; thence south 28° 26' west 50.0 feet; thence south 27° 23' east 32.89 feet and south 38° 26' and west 20.0 feet to the point of beginning.
Parcel Two:
Beginning at the most easterly corner of the property described above as Parcel One and running north 38° 26' east 65.02 feet to the northeasterly line of Lot 11 in Block 1, map above referred to.
IF YOU WISH TO SEEK THE ADVICE OF AN ATTORNEY IN THIS MATTER, YOU SHOULD DO SO PROMPTLY SO THAT YOUR PLEADING, IF ANY, MAY BE FILED ON TIME.

No. 179350

Superior Court of the State of California City and County of San Francisco
Estate of ADOLPH A. TISCORNIA, also known as A. A. TISCORNIA, Deceased.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on or after the 26th day of November, 1971, the undersigned ALICE B. COPELAND, as executrix of the Will of Adolph A. Tiscornia, also known as A. A. Tiscornia, deceased, will sell at private sale to the highest net bidder, subject to confirmation by the above-entitled Court, all the right, title and interest the estate has, consisting of a remainder interest only, by operation of law or otherwise, acquired other than or in addition to that of the decedent at the time of his death, in and to that certain real property situated in the City of Larkspur, County of Marin, State of California, described as:
Beginning at a point on the southerly line of King Street distant thereon 100 feet easterly from the point of intersection of the southerly line of King Street and the easterly line of Magnolia Avenue; running thence easterly along the said southerly line of King Street 50 feet to the northwest corner of the parcel of land described in the deed from Giovanni Gianelli to The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, recorded May 19, 1955, in Book 942 of Official Records at page 597, Marin County Records; thence at a right angle southerly along the westerly boundary line of said parcel of land 100 feet; thence at a right angle westerly 50 feet along the southerly line of the parcel of land described in the deed from Walter G. Sellmer to A. B. Copeland, recorded June 13, 1935, in Book 298 of Official Records at page 426, Marin County Records; thence at a right angle northerly along the westerly line of said Copeland parcel (298-426) 100 feet to the southerly line of King Street and the point of beginning.
Being the easterly portions of Lots 1 and 2 in Block 15, as shown upon that certain map entitled "Amended Map of the Town of Larkspur", filed October 30, 1906, in Book 3 of Maps at page 83, Marin County Records.
SUBJECT TO:
Current taxes, covenants, conditions, restrictions, rights, rights of way and easements of record.
Bid or offers for the property are invited, must be in writing, and may be delivered to the executrix at the office of her attorney, ALBERT G. EVANS, 111 Sutter Street, San Francisco, California 94104, or may be filed at the office of the Clerk of the Superior Court at any time after the first publication of the instant notice and before the making of the sale.
Terms and conditions of sale: The executrix will entertain bids involving delayed payments, or cash, or grant an option subject to zoning, provided a deposit is made, and cash shall be paid upon exercise of the option. The maximum option granted shall not exceed 180 days.
Taxes to be prorated as of date of recordation. All costs of title search, escrow, recordation and title insurance to be borne by the purchaser.
The property is unimproved.
The undersigned reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to accept a term sale in preference to cash sale if in the best interests of the estate.

INVITATION FOR PROPOSAL

Sealed bids will be received at the office of Marin Municipal Water District, 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, California 94925, until 2:00 p.m., Monday November 22, 1971, at which time they will be opened and read in the Board of Directors room by the Secretary or her designated representative for the furnishing and installation of approximately 3,650 lineal feet of 16" (inch) steel pipe and appurtenances. The work to be done lies in and adjacent to California State Highway 101 in the Manzanita area of Marin County, California.
The general prevailing rate of wages in the locality in which work is to be performed has been ascertained by the District and published under the provisions of Section 1773 of the California Labor Code.
Copies of the prevailing wage rates are on file in the office of the Secretary of the District at 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, and in the office of the Marin County Clerk, and are available upon request from the Secretary at the above address and also from the Marin County Department of Public Works, Civic Center, Room 304, San Rafael, California.
Sundays and holidays shall not be less than two (2) times the above rates. The holidays upon which such rates shall be paid shall be all holidays recognized in the collective bargaining agreement applicable to the particular craft, classification or type of workman employed on the project.
It shall be mandatory upon the Contractor to whom the contract is awarded and upon any subcontractor under him to pay not less than the said specified rates to all laborers, workmen and mechanics employed by them in the execution of the contract.
Proposals will be considered for the complete job only. The proposal must be submitted on the form provided and must be accompanied by a Certified Check, Cash, Post Office Money Order or Bid Bond as a guarantee that the bidder will, if successful, promptly execute a satisfactory contract and furnish bonds as required by these specifications. The Certified Check, Cash, Post Office Money Order or Bid Bond shall be not less than ten (10) percent of the total amount of the bid and shall be made payable to the Treasurer of the Marin Municipal Water District.
Proposals must be submitted in a sealed envelope addressed to the attention of Mrs. Norma L. Smith, Secretary, with the words "Proposal for Relocation South of the Richardson Bay Bridge" clearly marked on the outside of the envelope.
Specifications may be obtained at 220 Nellen Avenue, Corte Madera, the office of the District. The $25.00 deposit required for each set of specifications will be refunded when specifications are returned to the District. It is requested that those Contractors wishing a Water District representative to accompany them on their first visit to the site of the work, notify the District sufficiently in advance so that necessary arrangements may be made.
Progress payments will be made.

NOTICE OF AGREEMENT AND NOTICE TO DEPOSITORS

Notice is hereby given that an Agreement entered into as of March 16, 1971, by and between Union Bank, as Seller and California Canadian Bank, as Purchaser, whereby the Seller sold a portion of its banking business, consisting of its Fisherman's Wharf (San Francisco), Santa Rosa, San Rafael and Pleasant Hill offices (excluding therefrom its trust business) to the Purchaser, became effective, with the approval of the Superintendent of Banks of the State of California, at the commencement of business on November 1, 1971.
Please be advised that the deposit liabilities shown on the books of the undersigned bank, Union Bank, for its Fisherman's Wharf (San Francisco), Santa Rosa, San Rafael and Pleasant Hill offices, as of the commencement of business on November 1, 1971, have been assumed by California Canadian Bank, and that the status of the Fisherman's Wharf (San Francisco), Santa Rosa, San Rafael and Pleasant Hill offices of Union Bank as insured Bank offices will therefore terminate, as provided in Section 8(q) of the Federal Deposit Insurance Act.
You are further advised that California Canadian Bank is an insured Bank, and that your deposits will continue to be insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, in the same manner and to the extent provided in said Act.

An Inmate Is Angel To Family

I-J Special Report

SPERRY, Okla. — Recent prison riots won't change Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Davis' opinion about convicts.

The couple, who has a dairy farm near here, didn't know where to turn for help when their 7-year-old daughter, Mary Lou, mangled in a farm accident, needed $5,000 for surgical care. Medical bills on top of heavy debts for cattle and equipment threatened to wipe them out.

But Leo Darrell Chandler, inmate-artist serving 50 years at Oklahoma State Penitentiary at McAlester for armed robbery, heard of the case and offered along with three other inmates to donate paintings for a benefit art sale. They even bought their own materials.

The 53 paintings put on sale in Tulsa brought in $1,950 and an additional $300 was contributed.

When the money was turned over to Mary Lou's parents, the father said, "You just don't know how to thank them," and Mrs. Davis added, "This certainly has changed my attitude about men in prison."

Rest Of Series Is Announced

The new Marin Concert Association, whose first season opens on Nov. 22 with "Frula," a Yugoslavian dance production, has announced the other programs in the series to be presented at the Veterans Memorial Building.

The programs and dates are Gold and Fizdale, duo pianists, Jan. 25; Soprano Maralin Niska, Feb. 6; Alma Chamber Trio, March 15; and Christopher Parkening, guitarist, April 12.

Miss Niska's concert will be performed at 3 p.m. All the others start at 8:15 p.m.

Job-Training Programs Due Study

The Marin Community College District board will review job-training programs offered at the College of Marin tomorrow at 8 p.m. in Room 101 of the science building at the college.

The board will also consider a recommendation that the proposed classroom center be built near the present office center.

Head Start Meeting

Directors of Marin Head Start will meet at 7:30 p.m. today at 11 Pine Drive in Fairfax to elect officers, according to Ruth Kennedy, vice chairman of the parent policy council of Head Start.

Three Hurt In Two Accidents

Three persons received minor injuries in two separate accidents Saturday in San Rafael, police reported yesterday.

Josephine Mary Hannan, 44, of 216 Mountain View Avenue, San Rafael, and her daughter, Caroline Anne Hannon, 6, were to see their own doctor for minor facial cuts, according to police.

They were westbound on Third Street near Cijos Street at 6:10 p.m. when their car hit the rear of a stopped car driven by Allen C. Anderson, 65, of Shafter, Kern County, police reported.

Dan William Edwards, 20, of Yorkville, Mendocino County, was to see his own doctor for head pains. He was towing a car north on Racquet Club Drive at 1:40 p.m. Saturday when the towed car knocked his car off the road near River Oaks Drive, according to police.

Pair Treated; Minor Injuries

Two Novato women have been treated at Marin General Hospital for minor injuries suffered in an accident on the Ignacio Boulevard overcrossing of Highway 101 in Novato Saturday.

Natsuko Robinette, 42, of 785 Clausing Avenue, suffered a bruised scalp and neck sprain when her eastbound auto collided head-on with a westbound car at 10:25 a.m., according to the California Highway Patrol.

The driver of the other auto, Abner A. Hyden, 34, of 101 Nova Albion Way, was uninjured, officers said, but a passenger, Gisela Hyden, 35, suffered bruises of the left leg.

NAILING IT DOWN

Marin Catholic 'Going Smoothly'

Classes reportedly "went very smoothly" yesterday at Marin Catholic High School, one of seven Bay Area high schools affected by the first faculty strike against Roman Catholic schools in California's history.

Rev. Francis A. Lacey, Marin Catholic principal, said 14 teachers of the 38-teacher faculty stayed out yesterday but that students attended regular classes on a minimum day schedule with nonstriking teachers filling the gaps.

A minimum of disruption took place, he said, with the school's 767 students on a new schedule of five periods instead of seven with not all classes meeting each day.

Of the 14 striking teachers, 10 are lay persons and the others are sympathetic nuns, he said.

The lay teachers are members of the Secondary Teachers Association which went on strike yesterday against the high schools operated by the San Francisco Archdiocese in a dispute over salaries.

In San Francisco, STA Pres. George Killian said negotiations under way for the past nine months have failed to win an adequate pay offer. He said salaries are 18 per cent behind public school pay.

Rev. Bernard Cummings of the archdiocese said the lay teachers were offered a 4 per cent raise each year from 1972 through 1974, but the offer was rejected.

Cummins said he did not know of any nonpublic school system that was able to keep up with public school teachers' salaries.

"We are trying very hard right now to work out a three-year contract so we can tell parents how much it will cost to send their children to school over a two or three-year period," he said.

He also said negotiations would resume with STA "by the end of the week."

The striking teachers are demanding a 6 per cent pay increase this year and next, a limit on class size and a guarantee that paid substitutes will take over when they are sick.

Picket lines were present at all the struck schools yesterday as well as in front of the offices of Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken.

Hardest hit was Sacred Heart High School in San Francisco, where all 32 of the lay teachers failed to show up, leaving 12 brothers and one priest to teach the 940 boys enrolled.

One class was sent to nearby Cathedral High School for girls and others watched educational movies during a shortened school day.

Other schools struck were Cathedral and Riordan in San Francisco, Serra in San Mateo and Mitty and St. Lawrence in Santa Clara County.

Baseball Field Is Gained

Mill Valley gained a new baseball field near the Shelter Ridge development last night, but the outcome of a protest over an overhead telephone cable to the new subdivision was left hanging.

Security Capital Corp., developers of the 114-unit townhouse project, agreed to provide $15,000 worth of labor and materials to install a sprinkling system and turfed ball field on a 1.5 acre, city-owned parcel below the Shelter Ridge subdivision, and to cover a nearby drainage ditch. In exchange, the city eased open space requirements for the subdivision and permitted the developers to relocate their swimming pool and tennis courts to a larger, more central location. The exchange was proposed by Councilman Jerome C. Hauk.

Mayor George E. Wickham questioned whether the donated grass would last five years. Hauke assured him it would.

Councilman Robert H. Andresen voted against the recreation area proposal, and again against the final map of the Shelter Ridge Unit One because, he said, its density was too high.

The telephone cable, newly hung above Kipling Drive as a link to Shelter Ridge, was described by Enchanted Knolls residents as "a three inch conduit" and a "zig-zagging overhead sewer pipe." They handed the council a protest petition bearing 189 signatures.

Franklin Rudolph, recently appointed Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. manager for Mill Valley, said in a letter to Mill Valley City Engr. Stanley M. Bala that "the most logical alternative would be to bury the cable under Kipling Drive." But, he wrote, the estimated $6,500 cost would have to be paid by the city or by an underground utility assessment district in the neighborhood. Utilities in Shelter Ridge itself are buried.

Neither the residents nor the council favored bearing the cost of the "phone company's insensitivity." Councilman Hauke said the city must "instill sensitivity in utility companies to design projects properly."

Councilman Jean S. Barnard said Rudolph "should have notified us first."

The council asked the firm to return to its Nov. 29 meeting with another proposal.

Second Dwelling Opinion Divided

Public opinion on a proposal to legalize some nonconforming uses in single-family neighborhoods was equally divided at a hearing of the San Anselmo Planning Commission last night.

Catherine Mullins, commission secretary, said about 60 residents packed the city council chambers for almost three hours of discussion both for and against the recommendations of the Citizens Committee on Zoning and Housing.

After about nine months of study, the committee in August offered its conclusion that second dwellings on single-family lots provide badly needed low-cost housing in San Anselmo. The committee advocated allowing the now illegal dwellings under some circumstances.

Last night's hearing on the report was the first.

Opponents argued that the dwellings lower the standards of single family neighborhoods, according to Mrs. Mullins. They argued that legalizing the units would increase congestion and lower property values, she said.

The committee's recommendations were supported by the League of Women Voters, Mrs. Mullins said.

The committee was established last November after the city council abated the home of Gay Kagy at 280 Redwood Avenue.

Mrs. Kagy supported herself and her four-year-old son by renting out her house and living in an apartment behind, — an arrangement the city council ordered abated. However, Mrs. Kagy won so much public support that the council set up the committee to study the zoning ordinance, which makes such apartments illegal.

The planning commission delayed a public hearing on the use permit of the Lion's Share, Mrs. Mullins said. The delay was granted to Michael Considine, who took out the use permit for the night spot at 60 Red Hill Avenue, so that the city attorney can make a rule whether the hearing must be confined to parking problems or be expanded to include neighbors' complaints about garbage and noise as well.

Education Board Moves On District Workers' Pay

The Marin County Board of Education moved last night to thaw wage negotiations with administrators and clerical workers stuck in the national wage-price freeze.

Robert E. Spain, assistant superintendent, said the board met in closed session to instruct its negotiators, but drew up no firm proposal pending guidelines on Phase II of the wage-price freeze.

Clerical workers had requested an 8 per cent raise, but its move was trapped in the wage freeze so negotiations stopped, Spain said.

The board in August suggested raises of less than 2.5 per cent.

Administrators are seeking a 2.5 per cent raise through negotiations with the board, Spain said.

Administrators and clerical workers are now working without a contract, he said.

Marin County Board of Education Also:

READING TEACHER — Hired Marion Peller as a reading teacher for six hours a week at $7 an hour.

BUS DRIVERS — Hired Rosemary Lara and David Lim to drive school buses for $2.87 an hour.

CASH GIFT — Accepted $4,800 from the Marin Ballet-Aquacade for the Marindale School program.

DENIAL — Rejected an appeal by Dollie Ford of Sausalito to transfer her three children from the Sausalito School District to the Mill Valley School District.

APPROVAL — Approved an appeal by Carol Pukis to transfer her son, Anthony, from the San Anselmo School District to the Sausalito School District.

ADJOURNED MEETING — Set an adjourned meeting for Nov. 29 at 8 p.m. at the district office in Corte Madera to discuss board policies on employer-employee relations.

Ross School Suffers Second Grade 'Bulge'

Faced with a "bulge" of second grade pupils, the Ross School District board last night decided to create a third class in that grade and hire an additional teacher.

Supt. Thomas A. Anderson said that although this year's total enrollment at Ross School is down slightly (479 as compared to last year's average daily attendance of 487), there were more than 30 children in each of two second grade classes.

The Ross School District board also:

CLOSED — Went into closed session for four minutes to discuss the recent suspension of a pupil for two days for misbehavior.

TRANSFER — Agreed that Susan Doolittle be allowed to attend school in the San Anselmo School District.

COUNCIL — Approved a $10 institutional membership in the Marin County Industry-Education Council.

HIRING — Discussed methods of teacher selection.

SOCCER — Postponed to the Dec. 22 meeting a report from the Ross Soccer League.

MONEY — Learned that $800 in federal funds had been received for audiovisual equipment and materials for humanities studies.

REVIEW — Set a special meeting for 7:45 p.m. Dec. 13 for a closed board review of the school's administrators.

200-Acre Annex Plea Rejected

The Rohnert Park City Council last night denied an annexation request for more than 200 acres despite pressure from several organized groups.

City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said the council by 24-to-1 vote rejected the request by Land Investors Research to annex property adjacent to Sonoma State College. He said the council considered the plan too large and premature since a great deal of land within the city is undeveloped. Councilman Vernon P. Smith was the only council member to favor of the proposal.

The plan included development of student apartments, a subdivision of homes in the $25,000 to $30,000 price range for faculty members and dedication of some acreage for the college botanical gardens.

The developers had spoken before several groups and received endorsement from the Rohnert Park Homeowners Association, chamber of commerce and Sonoma State planners. Callinan said the support failed to sway the council.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

REZONING — Approved the rezoning of 16 acres on the northeast corner of Commerce Boulevard and Rohnert Park Expressway to regional-commercial for a shopping center.

LOTS — Introduced an ordinance reducing minimum residential lot size from 6,500 square feet to 6,000.

SALES — Rejected the design for a building for marine, bicycle and camper sales and service on Commerce Boulevard, saying a steel building would be unattractive.

MARKET — Rejected the request of Everett Giffin for a convenience market on Snyder Lane because of traffic congestion.

GOLF — Heard that golf professional Robert Porter will not renew his contract with the city after Jan. 30 and directed Callinan to seek a replacement.

COMMISSION — Set a special meeting for Nov. 29 to interview candidates for the newly reactivated planning commission. Interviews will be in closed session followed by public questioning.

Plans For Apartments Given Nod

The Novato Planning Commission last night approved precise development plans for 180 apartment units on the east side of Marin Valley Drive, south of Bolling Drive.

The plan by Leo S. Wout and Associates is for an apartment complex on 8.89 acres with the layout designed to minimize building on slopes.

The Novato Planning Commission also:

OAKS UNIT NO. 2 — Approved precise development plans by A. K. Condiotti Enterprises for 80 single-family dwellings on 37.5 acres adjacent to Oaks Unit No. 1.

PLEASANT HILL — Continued indefinitely review of precise development plans by Condiotti Enterprises for 50 townhouse and two single family units at the south end of Libra Drive.

HOUSING HEARING — Set Dec. 13 at 8 p.m. at the Novato Community House for a public hearing on the housing element of the Novato General plan.

SCOTTSDALE — Continued until Dec. 6 at 8 p.m. at the Novato Community House a hearing on the Scottsdale-Crossroads area study in connection with revisions to the general plan.

CONTINUANCES — Continued 10 other items on the agenda including a proposed amendment to the Loma Verde Master Plan until its Dec. 13 meeting.

10:58 p.m., Marin City — Open fire at 720 Drake Avenue, cause unknown; Marin County Fire Department responded.

Miller Avenue Will Get A Facelifting

Mill Valley City Council voted 4-1 last night to begin a $350,000 to $400,000 facelifting project for Miller Avenue, after resolving objections that it would remove at least half the existing parking along part of the thoroughfare.

Councilmen Edward J. Boessenecker and Robert H. Andresen insisted the plan be amended to provide alternative parking areas for the spaces lost. The plans were approved 4 to 1, with Mayor George E. Wickham dissenting.

The plan will provide a green belt with pedestrian and bicycle paths in the center of Miller Avenue from Reed Street to Willow Avenue. Edmond C. Kagi, planner for the Sasaki Walker Associates landscape architects, said the project would "rejuvinate one of the seediest streets in Marin County" but primarily would improve traffic flow rather than be merely a beautification scheme.

Residents objected both to the loss of parking spaces, and to the plans for a park in front of Brown's Hall and the 2 A.M. Club.

First stage of the project will be a $65,000 improvement of the Miller Avenue-La Goma Street intersection. The council voted $6,000 for City Engr. Stanley M. Bala to complete preliminary plans for the intersection by Jan. 1 to qualify for participating state and federal funds.

The Mill Valley City Council Also:

EXTENSION — Heard a report from Supervisor Michael Wornum and Raymond W. Foreaker, county public works director, that no progress had been made on the extension of Miller Avenue through Tamalpais Valley junction. The topic again will be discussed Dec. 6.

FREEZE — Approved vote of confidence for city employees to receive pay increases in accordance with Phase II of the Federal wage and price guidelines.

APPOINTMENT — Appointed Normand Black as new sentative to the city's architectural advisory committee. Councilmen Jerome C. Hauke and Jean S. Barnard dissented. Placed the name of Eldon Beck in nomination for the committee.

OVERPAYMENT — Appropriated $3,093 to reimburse the state for overpayment of costs for 1968-69 storm damage projects.

RETIREMENT CENTER — Approved filing a condemnation suit against property owned by K.S.W. Properties if the Community Church Retirement Center has not taken title to the land by Nov. 22.

MASTER PLAN — Declined to have the county planning department make a presentation of the Preliminary Marin Countywide Plan to the council.

HOOKUP — Told the Citizens Assistance League to County Sanitary District that one year remained before new sewer hookups would be granted and that the league could work out a priority list with the city.

RETIREMENT — Approved a contract allowing city employees to participate in the Public Employees' Retirement System.

TEST — Granted $6,200 to begin testing of city's sewer system.

SEWER BONDS — Accepted the Bank of Marin's 4.99 per cent bid on $250,000 worth of sewer bonds.

NEXT MEETING — Adjourned to 8 p.m. Nov. 29 when the council will hold a special "town council" open meeting on citizens' complaints.

Mill Valley Sign Grace Period Ends

Mill Valley merchants were warned last night that a long grace period on their nonconforming signs has come to an end. The sign ordinance, passed in 1967, required removal of nonconforming signs by July 1971.

Councilman Jean S. Barnard last night told fellow councilmen and the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce that the city should start enforcing the ordinance with a citation ordinance like that used in Novato.

Granville L. Beedle, chamber manager, suggested that merchants first be warned about their offending signs before being cited on misdemeanors. Councilman Robert H. Andresen agreed, proposing that Beedle and Thomas W. Newton, director of community development, draft a form letter.

Newton objected that the process would take too much of his time. "Over 50 per cent of Mill Valley's signs are illegal now, anyway," he said. Mrs. Barnard agreed, but Andresen said the city would have to compile a lit of nonconforming signs in any case.

Beedle and Newton were instructed to submit proposed enforcement procedures to the council Dec. 6.

British Lord Rebukes Martha's Uncouthness

LONDON (UPI)—A British lord, the Earl of Lindsay, has written to Martha Mitchell, wife of the U.S. Attorney General, rebuking her for "uncouth behavior" in refusing to curtsy to Queen Elizabeth at a Buckingham Palace garden party.

Mrs. Mitchell, writing in the Ladies Home Journal, said she did not curtsy, a traditional mark of respect, because she did not feel an American should bow to a foreign monarch.

"On this principle," Lord Lindsay wrote in his letter to Mrs. Mitchell published today in the Daily Telegraph, "I take it that it is your considered opinion I should remain seated during the playing of the "Star Spangled Banner"'.

"It has never entered my head not to stand" when the U.S. national anthem was played, Lindsay said.

Knowing "how to behave in polite society was something which has obviously been omitted from your education," he wrote.

"You have merited a stern rebuke for your uncouth behavior, but do not despair—I am confident that if you keep your eyes open or apply your mind to the problem you will learn in time and, who knows, one of these days you may find yourself a credit to your husband," Lindsay said.

Lindsay suggested to Mrs. Mitchell "that you refrain from visiting Buckingham Palace or any similar establishments in the future, but remain at home in Keokuk, Iowa, or Kalamazoo, Mich., or wherever it was you originated. In such places it is unlikely you will be able to perpetrate any social solecism."

Mrs. Mitchell is from Pine Bluff, Ark.

Auto Stolen

His 1964 Volkwagen was stolen between 9:55 and 10:10 p.m. yesterday from 917 C Street, San Rafael, Fredrick W. Ulrich of 990 Idylberry Road, San Rafael, reported to police.

80 Urge Preserving Of Lagoon

About 80 West Marin residents called last night for preservation of Bolinas Lagoon and urged prohibition of development around it.

According to Pierre W. Joske, county director of Parks and recreation, the meeting at the Stinson Beach Community Building was a repeat of one held last week in Bolinas.

"They are concerned about any development in the area," he said today, adding that the county development plan for Bolinas Lagoon may undergo modification as a result.

The plan, to be considered along with modifications tomorrow by the county parks and recreation commission calls for observation points and parking areas and nature interpretation centers along the lagoon.

Joske said several of the parking areas may be eliminated and boat-launching facilities moved.

The plan also calls for an ecological reserve status for all tidal areas of the lagoon.

Joske said the residents also voiced strong opposition to proposed improvement of Highway 1, which follows the scenic coastline through their communities.

Marinites' Trial Opens In Marijuana Case

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A federal prosecutor said here yesterday that two Marin County men, two other westerners and two Pennsylvanians plotted to fly in a ton of marijuana that federal agents seized here March 15.

U.S. Attorney Jeffrey Miller outlined his case in opening remarks for the federal district court trial of five men in the alleged conspiracy to smuggle $4 million worth of pot from Mexico, by hiring a Brownsville, Tex., pilot.

Miller said that Leonard M. Glassberg, 35, of Novato, was among the six indicted in April, but already had pleaded guilty and was scheduled to testify for the government. Among the five still on trial are David Miller, 34, of Corte Madera; Edson L. Whipple, 45, of California, and Pennsylvanians Thomas P. Vallejo, 24; Norman Kein, 34; and Charles C. Cornet, 44, of Las Vegas, Nev.

The prosecutor said the pilot, Al Seltzer, notified customs officials in Brownsville after Whipple asked him to fly in "some goods" belonging to David Miller.

The attorney said the alleged plot dated back to a Jan. 2 meeting between Glassburg and three others in a Mexican hotel room, and that Glassburg and a girl friend later met Whipple in a Florida hotel to arrange for a pilot.

Three Injured In Crash Of Three Vehicles

Three persons were injured in a three-car accident yesterday in San Rafael, police reported.

Marlene J. Perry, 39, of 8 Lagoon Place, San Rafael, was treated at Marin General Hospital for neck and back strain. Jill Perry, 8, of Anacortes, Wash. was treated at the same hospital for a bruised nose. Ethel Craig, 40, of Richmond was treated at the same hospital for neck and back sprain.

Mrs. Perry was stopped in her car on Second Street at Hetherton Street at 8:45 a.m., according to police, when it was hit from the rear by a car driven by Richard Andrew Duste, 18, of 43 Terra Linda Drive, San Rafael. The impact knocked the Perry car into another stopped car driven by John R. Oliveira, 40, of 2416 Fifth Avenue, San Rafael, police reported.

Coroner's Helper Jailed For Theft

REDWOOD CITY (UPI)— Coroner Paul Jensen suspended an employe Monday who had been arrested in the theft of a belt buckle and a tie clasp from the body of a heart attack victim.

The San Mateo County coroner said the suspended man, John Devlin, 52, had been employed for two months in a temporary capacity.

Devlin is charged with petty theft.

Coast Building Hearings Set

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The Department of Navigation and Ocean Development has announced hearings in six California cities on coastline development.

In announcing the hearings Monday, the department said they were part of its preparation of a comprehensive ocean area plan for Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The location and dates of the hearings: Santa Monica, Nov. 22-23; Santa Barbara, Nov. 29-30; Fresno, Dec. 1-2; Eureka, Dec. 8-9; San Francisco, Dec. 13-14; and San Diego, Dec. 15-16.

Borrower Takes Screwdriver Along With Cash

Officers said the suspect, a slender man in his 20s about six feet, six inches tall, had borrowed a screwdriver from the attendant supposedly to work on his car at about 5:30 p.m.

While returning the screwdriver, he loitered near the cash box at the gasoline pump island until the attendant told him to leave. The box had been pried open, police said. A check of the station's books at opening yesterday morning revealed that $80 was missing, police said. He also took the screwdriver, making the total loss $85.

Methadone Bill Signed Into Law

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A bill allowing persons released from the California Rehabilitation Center to participate in methadone maintenance programs for drug addiction was signed Monday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The measure by Assemblyman John Vasconcellos, D-San Jose, requires a person taking methadone to receive approval from the Department of Corrections and the Narcotic Addict Evaluation Authority.

Experimental School Program Bill Signed

The programs authorized under the measure by Assemblywoman March Fong, D-Oakland, will be established in two or more school districts selected by State Superintendent of Public Instruction Wilson Riles.

SPORT NOTES

Other Side Of Rohde Revealed In Marin

By RALPH CHATOIAN

The two faces of Len Rohde. Members of the Marin Chapter, 49er Goal Rushers yesterday saw the face that few defensive linemen in the National Football League ever see — the smiling linemen in the National Football League ever see — the smiling one.

Rohde, 6-foot-4, 248-pound offensive tackle for the 49ers, doesn't do much smiling on the field, but off it he shows a great sense of humor. He's a funny guy.

IN ADDITION to Rohde, 49er promotions director Dick Berg came to the luncheon at Holiday Inn, and brought with him one of the Niner Nuggets, pretty Brenda Davis of Sausalito, an airlines stewardess when she's not riding around in a fire engine at Candlestick Park during 49er games.

Rohde shrugged off the 49ers' 26-20 loss to the New Orleans Saints Sunday. The loss didn't mean the end of the world to him.

"WE'RE STILL in first place," he said. "We still have to beat Los Angeles Sunday. I don't want to back into any championship . . . we'll just have to beat L.A." The Rams are trailing the 49ers by just one-half game in the Western Division standings in the National Football Conference.

Rohde was asked his estimation of the New Orleans Saints. "I have to think their offensive line is good. They gave Edd Hargett time to throw. I've tried to block Cedrick Hardman in practice and he's so fast," he said about the S.F. defensive end who got to Hargett just twice, once too late for a costly penalty.

IN EXPLAINING how an offensive tackle judges the other team's toughness, Rohde quipped, "They put a big guy across from you and tell you his number. If he's tough, the whole team is tough to you."

When asked to name the biggest "cream puff" he ever played against, Rohde, a 12-year pro out of Utah State, deadpanned, "Jim Leo," obviously pulling the leg of his questioner. Offensive linemen are the last persons on earth who want to antagonize defensive linemen. He wasn't about to name a real, honest to goodness player as an easy mark.

ATTORNEY ROGER P. Garety questioned Rohde about the need of offensive changes in pro football to catch up with the defense.

"When you try new things if may work for awhile, you can move the ball, but it lacks consistency," he said. "But there is more chance for error. The more basic you can get, the less chance of mistakes."

WHEN ASKED by Goal Rushers president Ray Bennigson his opinion of Joe Reed, the 49ers' taxi squad quarterback, the 33-year-old Rohde said, "He throws the ball well in practice, he's an easy going guy, and he really has a great voice." He didn't say whether he was a tenor or baritone.

Leonard Emil Rohde is a man who doesn't hurt easily. When he takes the field against the Rams Sunday in L.A., it will be his 162nd consecutive conference game. He played in the Pro Bowl last year and was second team All-NFL selection the year before. Married, he and wife Beverly have a 2-year-old son.

COMING OUT AHEAD — Drake High School played "heads up" soccer yesterday to defeat San Rafael High, 1-0 and win the Marin County Athletic League championship, as this "header" by an unidentified Pirate indicates.

UNANIMOUS PICK

Duncan Tops All-League

Scott Duncan of co-champion San Rafael was a unanimous selection on both offense and defense on the Marin County Athletic League all-star football team announced today.

Duncan, a 5-foot-10, 176-pound senior, was named as a running back and defensive back. He heads a group of six players who were picked both ways by the MCAL coaches.

Joining Duncan in this iron man role are his teammates Dirk Correnti and Bill Lechner, both linemen. Russ Weklych of co-champion Novato was named at offensive tackle and defensive lineman, and Mike Connor of Redwood made both teams at running back and defensive back. Connor's teammate Dan Young is a lineman both ways.

Duncan was the only unanimous selection on offense. Defensively, Weklych, Correnti and defensive back John Buckley of Terra Linda were unanimous, in addition to Duncan.

Connor was the only junior on the offensive unit. Defensively, lineback Steve Withers of Terra Linda and defensive back Hoza Wright of San Marin were juniors, in addition to Connor. All other selections were seniors.

Four running backs were selected, due to the difficulty in choosing among the top runners. They were Duncan, Connor, Mark Farrar of San Rafael and Leo Magers of Novato. For similar reasons, four interior linemen were tabbed on defense — Weklych, Lechner, Don Seward of Drake and Dan Young of Redwood. Consequently, there were 12 selections on offense and 13 on defense.

Marty Moroski of Novato, who overtook Terra Linda's Kevin Donohoe in the passing statistics last week, was named quarterback.

San Rafael dominated the team, filling five spots on offense and four on defense. Novato placed four players on offense and one on defense, while Redwood filled two spots on each platoon. Terra Linda had three defensive players, Drake two defenders and San Marin one. Tamalpais placed one offensive star.

DRAKE BOOTERS WIN TITLE

Harnsberger Goal Tips San Rafael

Although Drake High School needed only a tie yesterday to win the Marin County Athletic League soccer title, the Pirates played their usual aggressive style and defeated San Rafael, 1-0.

Doug Harnsberger scored the goal late in the third quarter on a short shot directly in front of the goal mouth. A pass by Rolf Bell set him up.

The victory at San Rafael gave Drake an 11-1-2 season record for 24 points, while San Rafael finished second at 9-2-3. The game was a replay of their disputed 0-0 tie Oct. 1.

"It sounds like a cliche, but the best defense is a good offense," said Drake coach Imants Abers. "We've been playing that way all year and saw no reason to change now. This is quite a change from last year, when we played defensively." In 1970, the Pirates tied for third with Terra Linda while San Rafael won the championship. This is Drake's first title.

Abers cited good play on offense and defense by halfback Bradley Herbert. "He came up with some good heading (hitting the ball with his head) and was always in position," Abers said.

The coach also liked the play of goalie Eric Hein, who made several fine stops including one late in the game in which he advanced far out of the goal mouth to make the play while surrounded with red San Rafael jerseys.

"We had our opportunities, but we missed on two or three," said San Rafael coach Bill Monti. "It just wasn't our day.

"It might have made a difference if we'd played the other man, but Drake beat us fair and square and deserved the championship on the strength of it."

Monti was referring to the San Rafael player who was ejected Oct. 1. The referee's refusal to allow the Bulldogs to substitute for that player touched off the dispute that caused yesterday's replay.

The player was not allowed to play yesterday, either, although the game was replayed from the beginning. "I consulted soccer officials in San Francisco and Oakland over the weekend," said league commissioner George Corson, "and determined that this is the way the situation is handled at the high school and college level. International rules are different."

World Series Play May Feature Japan

NEW YORK (UPI)—Baseball commissioner Bowie Kuhn disclosed today that he has taken the first steps toward creating "an international World Series" of baseball between the champion of the U.S. major leagues and the champion of the Japanese major leagues.

"I wouldn't care to make a guess as to what year this might come about," Kuhn said after returning from a trip to Japan. "There are a number of problems, but I believe the problems can be solved."

Kuhn said the first step was taken during his trip when he reached an agreement with Nobumoto Ohama, baseball commissioner of Japan, for a joint "feasibility study" of an international World Series.

"We are both going to begin a study of the problems that need to be solved in order to bring this about," Kuhn said. "And then at an early date we are going to get back together again and at regular dates get together to determine what progress we have made."

The commissioner, who spent 2 1-2 weeks visiting Tokyo and Osaka, identified the two chief problems as the quality of the competition and travel.

How far the Japanese leagues have to go in order to produce teams that would be a match in quality for the U.S. champion may be measured perhaps by the results of the tour of Japan by the Baltimore Orioles, the losing team in this year's U.S. World Series. Of the first 16 of their scheduled 18 games against various teams in Japan, the Orioles won 11, tied four and suffered only one defeat.

Marin's Pop Warner Teams Win 3 Contests

Marin County Pop Warner football teams won three of four post-season bowl games over the weekend at the expense of Northern California opponents.

Terra Linda's teams traveled to Anderson and swept two games, with the Trobabes defeating the Anderson Wildcats, 21-6, in senior pee wee and the Junior Trojans edging the Yreka Cyclones, 12-7, in senior midget.

Redwood hosted two games at College of Marin, with the Junior Giants of the senior midget division beating the Paradise Golden Saints, 12-0, and the Gremlins losing to the Corning Cubs, 30-13.

The touchdown scored by Anderson against the Trobabes was the first score in 13 games over two seasons. Terra Linda had an 8-0-1 record this year, with 140 points scored and zero surrendered.

The Junior Giants' defeat of Paradise marked the first time in 31 games over three years that the Golden Saints have been beaten.

Drake Puts 3 Booters On All-Stars

Champion Drake High School, runner-up San Rafael and third-place Redwood each landed three men on the Marin County Athletic League all-star soccer team announced today.

Drake's selections were forwards Rolf Bell and Richard Larsen and halfback Bradley Herbert. San Rafael had forward Adalpho Flores and backs Misak Pirinjian and Dave Mason. Redwood placed forwards Sariar Sarabi and David Harvard and back Jeff Cox.

The team:

Forwards — Rolf Bell, Drake; Bob Nissen, Novato; Adalpho Flores, San Rafael; Sariar Sarabi, Redwood; Richard Larsen, Drake; Bill Aaker, Terra Linda; Ken Niebur, San Marin; David Harvard, Redwood.

Goalie — Mick Simmons, Marin Catholic.

Farley Nets 24 To Pace KSJO

Craig Farley scored 24 points to lead KSJO to a 61-49 victory over the San Rafael Teachers in play last night in the adult basketball league run by the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Dept.

Bill Letterman scored 20 points as Kettle defeated Harvey Wallbanger, 85-45..

SAN JOSE STATE BOSS

King Named Year's Top Coach

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI)—San Jose State's Dewey King was named coach of the year Monday by the Northern California Sportswriters Association.

King led the Spartans to three straight upsets after a slow start this season, climaxing the string with a stunning 13-12 victory over tenth-ranked Stanford last Saturday.

"I was speechless after the game Saturday," King said after his selection, "and I'm even more so now. I never dreamt this could happen. I believe so strongly in our kids and in college football, and I'm very proud to be a coach."

Before the Stanford victory, the Spartans, now 4-4-1 for the year, knocked off University of Pacific, 28-18, and overwhelmed defending Pacific Coast Athletic Association champion San Diego State, 45-7.

"Beating Stanford has to be the biggest victory in San Jose State's history," King said. "I looked back through the records and no team at San Jose has played the defending Rose Bowl champion and the No. 10 ranked team in the United States."

The Spartans play ninth ranked Arizona State Saturday.

Meanwhile, Stanford's John Ralston and California's Ray Willsey were talking about Saturday's "Big Game," the 74th meeting between the Bears and Indians.

"I think Stanford is probably the best team we will play this year," Willsey said, "and that includes Arkansas and Ohio State."

California running back Steve Kemnitzer and San Jose State linebacker Dave Chaney were chosen as offensive and defensive players of the week.

Kenitzer, the Bears' rushing leader, ran for 95 yards in California's 17-10 victory over Oregon. Chaney practically demolished Stanford with 17 tackles, two fumble recoveries and a tackle of the Stanford punter on the Indians one-yard line to set up a Spartans touchdown.

In the college division, Santa Clara quarterback Clyde Lebaron was honored as the top offensive player for his five touchdown passes—a school record.

Redwood Harriers Seek Sectional Championship

Division III champion Redwood High School will send "our strongest team ever" to the North Coast Sectional cross-country meet tomorrow, but it is a team that is being steadily chewed up by injuries.

The meet will be held at 3:30 p.m. at Lake Elizabeth in Fremont. In addition to the Redwood varsity, Novato's Don Hutton will run as an individual. On the freshman-sophomore level, both Redwood and San Rafael have full teams and Tamalpais has an individual, Joey Biancalana.

The best performance by a Marin County Athletic League team at the meet in recent years was Redwood's seventh-place finish in 1969. "This team is stronger than that one," said coach Doug Basham.

But Redwood's hopes received a severe blow when Bryan Tracy, who normally runs fourth or fifth, injured his knee in an automobile accident over the weekend.

This may force Basham to bring up Kevin Glasner from the frosh-soph, a move which would severely weaken that squad. Glasner ran with the varsity during the dual meet season but was dropped to frosh-soph for the post-season events and responded with a victory in the MCAL meet.

But the younger team is already hurting because of heel injuries sustained by fourth and fifth men Lars Moller and Tim Killeen.

FISH AND GAME

No Weather For Pheasants

By AL GIDDINGS

The pheasant season opener was considered from poor to fair in most areas. In checking Black Point to Vallejo, most of the hunters were trying for ducks. Out at St. Vincent's Pheasant Club, quite a few hunters showed at one place. I saw three roosters running along a levee there but no hunters in sight. The rain and the mud didn't make things easy.

At the state shooting areas, pheasant hunting was slow — duck hunting was great. The heavy winds moved the ducks, but made pheasant hunting tough.

KEITH SOWARD of Oakland, my wildlife painting friend, came over to try for salmon or stripers out at Tomales Bay near Inverness on Saturday. I had spent a little time there Friday, catching a striper on a daredevil casting from shore, and Kay Schneider took a salmon and a bass fishing next to me. Two boats trolling took three salmon.

Keith put in about two hours Saturday without so much as a touch. Kay Schneider then showed up, naturally taking a salmon and two bass fishing right next to Keith. Keith was ready to explode and now has an idea for another funny cartoon — on himself. Kay gave him a salmon — nice guy that Kay — so all ended well.

NORM QUADROS called saying he was taking his son, Tony, out on their yearly sturgeon trip. It went the same as last year when Tony hooked a big one and lost it at the side of the boat during the landing process. This year, his fish took two jumps, then headed south toward the net depot off Tiburon. The last I heard it was still going. It had stripped Tony's reel of 200 yards of line.

I asked Quadros why he didn't pull the anchor. His answer, "I didn't have time to even think about anything." I said it was lack of experience. Quadros called me a few minutes ago to saythat his son says he isn't fishing with him anymore because he lacks experience! That's what the kid told his mother too, when they got home. I guess he must have overheard my remark. These kids!

Another boat fishing close by caught two nice stripers. From shore, it looked like most of the boats were trolling or drifting live bait below the Richmond Bridge near the white buoy.

THE SALMON season ended Sunday with Chuck Ibbotson of Danville, taking the top party boat derby prize with his 44½-pound salmon. He caught the fish off the New Vera II. The grand prize — a seven day six night trip and stay in Hawaii included taking three other persons. All expenses paid. Who did Chuck take? He took the boat skipper of the Vera II and the wives along too. You can't beat that!

The fishing changes to be determined by the California State Fish and Game Commission were announced this past week. The changes will be studied and discussed, then voted on at the Fish and Game commission meeting Dec. 1. These two new sections may be added to the Fish and Game regulations if passed.

SECTION 57 reads: "Point Reyes Headlands Reserve (Marin County). No form of marine life may be taken from the ocean area within 1,000 feet of the high tide mark in the Point Reyes Headlands bounded on the west by a line extending due west (true) from the Point Reyes Lighthouse and on the east by a line extending due east (true) from Chimney Rock, without a written permit from the Department."

Section 58 will be added to read: "Estero de Limantour Reserve. (Marin County). No forms of marine life may be taken below the high water mark in Esterode Limantour without a written permit from the Department. Estero de Limantour includes all tideland waters to the high water mark in an easterly direction from a line drawn due north (true) from the extreme westerly point of Limantour Spit." Any questions? If you have none, you better read the above again!

Fuel Added To Fire For 49er-Ram Game

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —A bit of extra ingredients, as if any were needed, has been added to the do or die game Sunday in Los Angeles when San Francisco meets the Rams.

A Los Angeles sportswriter has said the 49ers, who now find themselves fighting for their lives in the National Football Conference Western Division, lost the first game to the Rams because they "don't enjoy contact."

To add salt to the wounds, Hugh McElhenny, a former 49er and now a radio commentator for the 49er games, groaned last Sunday on the air that San Francisco fell to lowly New Orleans because the team tried to finesse the Saints.

"Why not take it to them," McElhenny said.

Jerry Rhome, a backup Los Angeles quarterback, didn't win any friends in San Francisco either when he said the Rams won the first game because they "outphysicalled the 49ers."

San Francisco quarterback John Brodie's response to Rhome's remark was a short "how would he know?"

Asked about the Los Angeles writer's comments at a boosters club luncheon Monday, San Francisco coach Dick Nolan said, "I don't agree with it. I haven't talked to the writer in three years, although he sometimes quotes me."

Unknown Receiver Buie Triggers Raider Burst

OAKLAND (UPI) —The Oakland Raiders have finally exploded with some of the fireworks of past years, but it took a relatively unknown receiver from Catawba College to help them do it.

Drew Buie, who has been playing in the shadows of the more well-known Oakland receivers for three years, caught touchdown passes of 63 and 25 yards Sunday in the Raiders 4121 wipeout of Houston.

But Buie, a starter in the last two games, has taken his newfound glory with an uncanny calmness.

"I don't think one game makes a season," he said. "I was just glad I could make a couple of catches because we had to win the game."

Daryle Lamonica, who threw the touchdown strikes, says the catches will help Buie's confidence, but Buie says he already has that.

"I've always felt I can catch any ball I can get to," he said. "I don't worry about pressure. I never think of dropping the ball."

With the Houston victorsan the Raiders increased their record to 6-1-2 and remained ahead of Kansas City (6-2-1) in the America Football Conference West.

Golden Seals Visit Montreal

MONTREAL (UPI) —The California Golden Seals are having a good National Hockey League season thus far in comparison to earlier years, but they still haven't won a game on the road.

Rose Bowl Picture Unclear

SAN FRANCISCO — The printers are preparing the Rose Bowl program — with Stanford and Michigan getting top billing — but there could be a late cast change if California beats the Indians Saturday and gets a court injunction to go with it.

And Pacific-8 conference executive director Wiles Hallock said yesterday he doesn't know what will happen if those two "ifs" become realities.

If the Bears defeat Stanford in the "big game" Saturday, the two teams would finish the season with identical 5-2 records. If this happens, a meeting of the conference council probably would be required to determine the Rose Bowl representative.

Football

KANSAS CITY, Mo. — Hampton-Sydney (Va.) College accepted a bid yesterday to play in the third annual Knute Rockne Bowl Nov. 26 at Atlantic City, N.J.

Bowling

BERKLEY, Mich. — Don Johnson of Akron, Ohio, captured his fifth title of the year and moved his prize winnings to $67,799 when he coasted to victory last night in the $50,000 Bellows-Valvair Open bowling tournament.

Auto Racing

Tennis

TORONTO — Four tennis tournaments, worth $50,000 each and featuring stars under contract to Texas millionaire Lamar Hunt's World Championship Tennis, will be held in Canada next year.

Breeding

LEXINGTON, Ky. — A total of 127 head brought $1,395,600 yesterday in the opening session of the 28th annual Keeneland fall breeding stock sale. Top individual price was the $107,000 paid by agent E. Barry Ryan for a four-year-old daughter of Gunbow.

Basketball

DALLAS — Club owners and trustees of the American Basketball Association will hold their annual fall meeting here tomorrow and Thursday with the Dallas Chaparrals as host.

MARIN BASKETBALL PROSPECTS

Trojans Change Look

(First in a series on Marin County Athletic League basketball prospects.)

By LEW CODDINGTON

If you go to see Terra Linda High School play basketball this season, be sure to buy a program, because you won't recognize many of the players.

The five starters responsible for last-season's third-place finish in the Marin County Athletic League have graduated, leaving the Trojans with a collection of ex-reserves and ex-junior varsity players.

But nobody is grieving. The young Trojans, while unsung, are not unskilled, and they will beat some people this year.

"Our JVs finished second in the league at 11-3 last year," said coach Bob Corley. "We've got some good athletes coming up. We'll have fair height, but we won't be as quick as last season."

The sixth and seventh men from last year's 8-6 team, who saw a lot of playing time, will form the nucleus for Terra Linda. They are John Buckley, a 5-9 guard, and Todd Young, a 5-11 forward. Both are seniors. Buckley is a fine all-round athlete who starred at flanker and played occasional quarterback for the football team.

There are three other seniors who were varsity reserves last year — 6-1 forward Andy Mora, 6-0 guard Eric Borcherding and 6-3 forward-center Rick Love.

The JVs offer a potential starting center, 6-4 Mark Lowey, who caould provide the essential rebounding and defense. Other talented former junior varsity players include 5-9 guard Nick Mattos, 6-3 forward Mike Bodeen and 6-0 Rich Mullin.

If these players do as well at the varsity level as they did for the JVs, Terra Linda will be tough indeed. While they are learning, the Trojans are likely to be erratic.

On offense, Terra Linda will use the same "controlled break" style that characterizes Marin County basketball — the Trojans will fast break if they can, but won't be reckless about it. Defensively, they play man-to-man.

ONE-POINT LANDING — Larry Willingham of the St. Louis Cardinals got 20 yards and a headache yesterday when he was upended during a kickoff return. San Diego Chargers' defensive end Lee Thomas (73) made the play during a game won by the Chargers, 20-17.

Partee Boot Saves Rook From Being Charger Goat

SAN DIEGO (UPI)—A rookie National Football League halfback named Mike Montgomery had to be the happiest man in San Diego Stadium Monday night when Dennis Partee kicked a 45-yard field goal as the gun sounded.

The kick gave the San Diego Chargers a 20-17 win over the St. Louis Cardinals, a win Montgomery almost blew 1:25 earlier by fumbling on his 33 with a 17-10 lead. But Montgomery was the hero of the game before he almost became the coat, accounting for 208 yards for the Chargers.

St. Louis middle linebacker Jamie Rivers recovered and Cid Edwards tied the game 17-17 five plays later with a one-yard plunge with 17 seconds left. An onside kick backfired, however, and Partee's kick won it.

"About 20 seconds earlier I felt so bad I could have crawled out of the stadium," Montgomery said. "Then I felt so good I can't describe it."

Starting in place of veteran Mike Garrett, the 6-foot-2, 205-pound Montgomery stood the Cardinals on their ear, running for 98 yards in 17 tries, catching six passes for 77 yards and completing one for 33 yards.

Coach Sid Gillman gave him a game ball and said, "What a fine football player."

Cardinals coach Bob Hollway, fighting to stay in the National Conference Eastern Division race, said he went for the onside kick for two reasons:

"We wanted to gain possession of the ball and we wanted to run off the clock."

Lee Thomas recovered the kick on San Diego's 47.

Merger Skeptic Speaks

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A skeptical senator will have to see the income tax returns of professional basketball teams and their owners before he is convinced a merger between the American and National Basketball Associations is necessary.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, Jr., D-N.C., called for the financial reports Monday as he directed a subcommittee hearing on a bill that would allow the merger of the ABA and NBA by granting an exemption under the anti-trust laws.

Wendell Cherry, one of the owners of the Kentucky Colonels, told the Senate Anti-Turst and Monopoly Subcommittee the "very future existence of professional basketball is at stake" in the merger bill.

Cherry said the 11 ABA teams lost more than $20 million in the four years the league has been in existence. NBA figures showed $8.2 million in losses for 13 of the 17 teams over the same period.

The NBA Commissioner, Walter Kennedy, testified the biggest factor in financial losses has been "the intense interleague fight to sign college superstars ..."

But Ervin questioned Cherry closely about figures the Colonels' executive game for his team. The North Carolina senator cited salaries and bonuses totalling $260,958 paid in 1970 against losses totalling $466,747.

"If the players had played for nothing at all —no salaries at all —you still would have lost money," Ervin said.

The subcommittee chairman said he wanted to see the income tax returns of all owners of the professional clubs as well as financial data of the clubs themsleves. Cherry said he would turn over his personal income tax returns. But he said he could not speak for the others.

JACK HANLEY

Bob Murphy Among Top TV Broadcasters

If he isn't the best TV sports commentator, Bob Murphy certainly rates among the Top Ten. And as an interviewer the man from Stanford is superb.

Murphy does the weekly 49er Huddle show each Saturday afternoon on Channel 2. He knows all of football's technical stuff but never gets ensnarled in technical explanations of complicated plays. Murphy's comments are incisive and crystal clear.

More importantly, Murphy knows when to keep his mouth shut and let the game film speak for itself. "How's this for a play," he will say and then remain silent as the play unfolds.

MURPHY NEVER talks down to his viewers, never creates the impression that they are lacking in intelligence. He makes his points with a minimum of words devoid of clichés.

"It looks like he has a little margarine on his legs the way those Vikes are slipping off them," was Murphy's comment on a fancy punt return by Bruce Taylor in the 49er-Viking game.

ON A CLASSY run by Vic Washington in the same game, a run Washington started outside Minnesota's left end and finished with a cut inside, Murphy said: "He can run against the grain, too."

On the grass-top pass of John Brodie to Gene Washington — the pass that won the game — Murphy didn't rehash the controversy the pass provoked. "We ran the film on that one a dozen times," Murphy said simply. "He caught it cleanly."

When Murphy's guest, Mike Giddings, commented that the ex-Stanford star was "a great one," Murphy didn't give it a "That's right, Mike," treatment. What Murphy did say was this: "Gene's understudy at Stanford, Randy Vataha, is doing a pretty good job, too."

MURPHY DIDN'T belabor his top o' the hat to Vataha with an unnecessary explanation that Vataha now is catching passes from his ex-Stanford teammate Jim Plunkett for the Patriots. Such an explanation would have been an insult to the background knowledge of local football fans.

Murphy has the good grace and wisdom to avoid superfluous comments that some of his fellow commentators are unable to resist. Murphy never talks himself into a see-how-smart-I-am-corner.

And when Murphy puts questions to his guests he doesn't preface them with long-winded, built-in answers. He asks questions simply and lets his guests supply the answers.

Series Monies Divided

NEW YORK (UPI) —The players on the 13 first division teams in major league baseball have divided up $1.7 million in World Series loot.

The commissioner's office released the final money statistics Monday and the world champion Pittsburgh Pirates and the American League champion Baltimore Orioles got to divvy up $1.1 million of the funds.

Both champions gave out 31 full shares with the Pittsburgh share amounting to $18,164.58 and the Baltimore Share to $13,906.46.

The playoff losers, Oakland and San Francisco, each got $217,790.66 to divide. However, a full share for the Oakland players was worth $6,365.58 while a San Francisco full share was worth $6,198.29 because the Giants included more players in their winnings.

The shares for the other National League teams included $1,140.28 for Los Angeles, $1,101.02 for St. Louis, $278.04 for Atlanta, $138.73 for Chicago and $134.43 for New York.

The shares for the other American League Clubs included $1,182.90 for Detroit, $1,168.24 for Kansas City, $286.57 for Chicago and $294.32 for Boston.

Sharon Walsh Takes Net Win In Comeback

She teamed with instructor Paul Wilkins to defeat Pauline Peischov of Isreal and Bob Foly of Phoenix, 7-6, 6-4.

PREP OF THE WEEK

Injuries Boon To Connor's Career

Mike Connor once had dreams of being another Gene Washington. The Redwood High School coaching staff saw him as another Vic Washington. Last Saturday against Tamalpais he was another Frank Merriwell.

Connor set a Marin County Athletic League record by scoring five touchdowns to lead the Giants' 45-18 romp, thereby earning Independent-Journal Prep of the Week honors.

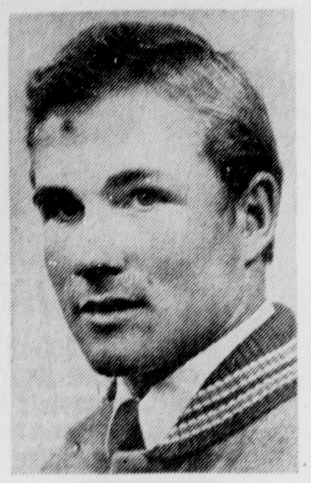
"I always wanted to be an end," said the 6-2, 185-pound junior. "I kind of patterned myself after Gene Washington of the 49ers."

Indeed, Connor was a flanker for Redwood the first two games of this season before he was switched to halfback. "Injuries dictated the move," said head coach Phil Roark, although backfield coach Al Endriss insists he had his eye on Connor from the start.

Connor was pleased. "I was all for it; I wanted to see more action," he said. Redwood's normal strategy calls for quite a few passes to the backs, so Connor actually was having his cake and eating it, too.

Mike proceeded to learn how to play his position in nothing flat, to the delight of his coaches. The Redwood coaches tend to rhapsodize when asked about him. . ."most coachable boy I ever had" . . ."tremendous self-discipline" . . ."he sets his goals very high and then attains them" . . ."very hard working."

Connor didn't go out for football last year as a sophomore because he wanted to direct his full attention toward basketball. He was a starting guard for Redwood's league champions. This makes his quick assimilation of football even more remarkable.



MIKE CONNOR
Rushing whiz

Connor's attitude draws as much praise as his ability, which is a lot of praise. He fits perfectly the All-America mold that supposedly was thrown away in the mid-'60s — quiet, polite, respectful, modest and generous in his praise of others.

He is also highly intelligent, carrying a perfect 4.0 average. "I want to go into medicine eventually," he said, "either as a general surgeon or a neurosurgeon. The high school courses I like best are the ones related to medicine, like chemistry, biology and advanced algebra."

Most of Mike's interests center around sports. In addition to basketball, he started in centerfield for the baseball team. In a league last summer he was switched to catcher and says he prefers it: "You're into the game more at catcher."

A good swimmer, Mike taught swimming last summer for the Paul Daly Swimming School in Larkspur. "Mostly I taught little kids," he said, quietly indicating that he enjoyed the experience.

"I'd have to admit that playing college football has crossed my mind," he said. The only letter he's received so far was from the Naval Academy, but that figures to change next year.

He is drawn to Stanford. "My sister goes there, and I like the campus," he said.

A few more performances like Saturday's and he'll be overwhelmed with dozens of competing schools. He scored on runs of 75, 54 and 9 yards and caught two scoring passes of 67 and 38 yards. He rushed for 190 yards in just nine tries, which comes out to a staggering 21.1 yards a whack. Another touchdown was nullified by a penalty.

Two of the runs were off-tackle traps, and the other was an option outside. In the Redwood scheme of things, he does most of his running off-tackle or outside. He generally carries six to eight times a game; nine was his season high.

"I'm generally satisfied with the progress I've been making at halfback," he said. Then, characteristically, he added, "The Redwood coaches are good teachers."

He says the toughest problem he has as a back is hitting the hole quickly. His best assets? "I've got pretty good balance," he said, "and a good line in front of me."

Mike also plays defensive back, and well, but prefers offense because he can get his hands on the ball. And when he does, things happen.

ON ROAD

Golden State Seeks End To Losing String

DETROIT (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors try to snap their longest losing streak of the season — a mere two games — tonight when they meet the Detroit Pistons.

The Warriors, coming off two days of rest, have a 11-6 mark in the young national basketball association season and are tied with Seattle for second place in the Pacific division, three games behind Los Angeles.

Golden State defeated Detroit, which has also lost two straight, in an overtime game last month in the two teams' first meeting of the year.

Since that game, the Pistons have had a coaching change. Bill Van Breda Kolff ended his short NBA career when he quit, and Earl Lloyd, a former pistons player and former office executive, was named to replace him.

The Warriors, a scrambling outfit which has improved dramatically with the addition of high scoring forward Cazzie Russell, are seeking to make another run at the pacesetting Los Angeles Lakers. To accomplish this, the Warriors must slip by two "down" teams, the Pistons, and the expansion Trailblazers of Portland.

Washington State Sets Pass Defense

By U. P. INTERNATIONAL

PULLMAN — Pass defense was stressed most during a strenuous two-hour workout by the Washington State Cougars Monday as they began preparation for Saturday's game at Husky Stadium against the University of Washington.

"No one we have played has better execution and versatility in the passing game than the Huskies," Cougar coach Jim Sweeney said. "We have great respect for their running attack, but our first concern is the aerial attack."

Washington

SEATTLE — Washington's football squad will be missing three men Saturday when the Huskies wind up the 1971 football season against traditional cross-state rival Washington State.

Oregon

EUGENE — The University of Oregon held a light workout stressing conditioning Monday as the Ducks began preparations for their annual "civil war" with Oregon State Saturday.

The defense worked out on Beaver offensive sets while the offense worked on the passing game with Dan Fouts doing the throwing.

Coach Jerry Frei said all is well in the injury department and Leland Glass and Maurice Anderson, who have been sidelined for two weeks, should be ready to go Saturday.

Oregon State

CORVALLIS — Coach Dee Andros let his Beavers work out on their own Monday as Oregon State warmed up for its cross-state battle with Oregon at Eugene Saturday.

Andros said the Beavers did not suffer any injuries in their 21-14 win over Washington State last Saturday.

Monday's practice consisted mostly of light conditioning.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Gulfstream Key To Grumman's Future

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. I bought Grumman Corp. (NYSE) at 14½. What is the present outlook? — F.T.

A. Near-term, Grumman shares are hampered by reduced government funding, runaway costs and sluggish commercial demand. In 1970 more than 90 per cent of sales were to the government, military orders accounted for the bulk of business. Commercial orders, which contributed only 7 per cent of sales last year, are derived substantially from a $3 million executive jet, Gulfstream II. Demand dropped off sharply in 1970 with only 16 planes delivered compared with 36 in 1969. Production, which had been reduced drastically, was recently doubled to one plane a month.

Longer-term outlook is more optimistic particularly if the economic pace accelerates. The Navy has ordered an additional 48 F-14 fighters as well as 11 E2C reconnaissance planes. Although the initial 38-plane order will be modestly profitable, skyrocketing costs have forced Grumman to request contract renegotiation.

The program originally called for 722 aircraft but may be curtailed to 300-400 units because of cost overruns. This in itself would increase unit cost. A more favorable contract is probable. With time and patience Grumman could prove to be a rewarding investment.

Q. In a recent column a man was advised to hold his shares for their 6.8 per cent yield. His stock cost $25 and the dividend was $1. Why wouldn't his yield be 4 per cent on his investment? — J.P. & J.C.

A. Although you are correct in stating that yield figured on the reader's cost would be 4 per cent, figured on his investment's present value — $14.50 per share — is 6.8 per cent. In discussing yields the latter figure is more meaningful, since it represents the return on his capital as it stands at the present. In other words, if he sold his shares he would have only the reduced amount of principal to reinvest for income. Thus, for the purpose of comparison with other potential investments, the yield is calculated on current share price rather than on cost.

PLANS RETIREMENT — Armando J. Zirpoli of Greenbrae, a veteran of 46 years with Bank of America, will retire Dec. 31. For the past five years he has been vice president and manager of the Columbus branch in San Francisco and has spent his entire career with the bank in that city, except for four years as head of the Westlake branch in Daly City. He has been a vice president and director of the San Francisco Market Corp. and active in many other San Francisco civic organizations.

UNICOA Report

No Growth Advocates Under Sharp Attack

SAN FRANCISCO (BW) — The president of the American Petroleum Institute has criticized advocates of a "no-growth" national policy, pointing out that continued economic growth is necessary if national goals are to be attained.

In an address before the API's annual meeting yesterday, Frank N. Ikard struck at what he called "cipher Cassandras" who preach "zero population growth, zero economic growth, zero technological development and zero energy growth."

He asserted that "no growth" proponents argue that "further economic growth will exhaust our resources, destroy the amenities of life, and lead to the eventual disintegration of the planet."

Ikard pointed out, however, that many nations of the world have per capita incomes barely above subsistence level. "They are the 'have not' nations and peoples," he said, "And what they 'have not' most of all is inanimate energy — the energy to pull themselves away from the human toil and the primitive conditions that, surely, are alien to the better world we all seek and desire . . . for them, as well as ourselves."

He added that "It is surely no accident that countries with low per capita income are those with low levels of energy consumption.

And, conversely, countries — like the United States — with higher standards of living are those that have harnessed mechanical energy courses."

Ikard asserted that one major goal must be "the alleviation of poverty," and pointed out that "energy is essential if we are to provide the jobs, supply the food, and construct the housing that will raise up those among us at the lower end of the social and economic ladder."

Another national goal, he said, is a secure nation, "economically and militarily strong enough to repulse or discourage outside attack."

OTHER PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

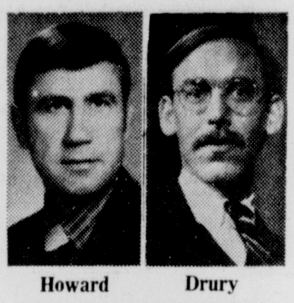
By HARRY CRAFT

Bank Of Marin Opens Seventh Branch For Larkspur, Kentfield

Now open is Bank of Marin's newest office (its seventh), located at 1177 Magnolia Avenue at the Larkspur-Kentfield line and serving both areas.

An open house is scheduled, starting next Friday and extending through the balance of November.

Kenneth B. Howard of San Rafael has been appointed manager of the new branch facility. Before joining the bank in August of last year as an assistant cashier he had been several years with Bell Savings and Loan Association and its predecessor, Marin County Savings. He was made an assistant vice president last July.



Howard Drury

SAMUEL S. DRURY JR. of Tiburon has been named assistant vice president and manager of Wells Fargo Bank's training department. With the bank since 1964, he was at the New Montgomery and Golden Gateway offices in San Francisco before being assigned to the training department in 1968.

SHERMAN CLAY, which is phasing out all its lines of band instruments and general musical instruments to concentrate on and expand its organ and piano business, is now selling out its stocks at the special instrument store in San Rafael at 1408 Fourth Street.

TWO OF Northgate Industrial Park's occupants have had to expand their facilities. Sta-Power Industries, Inc. at 70 Mitchell Boulevard has taken another 1,120 square feet of warehouse at 55 Mitchell. Professional Real Estate Publishing Co. at 55 Mitchell has taken another 600 square feet at 45 Mitchell. Leases were made through William Hoey Co.

THE ROBERT KUNST PAINT CENTER, San Rafael, has added the Pratt and Lambert line of paint products, available both at retail and for the contractor. It is continuing its line of Glidden paints. The center is now open on Sundays from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m.

LOUIS W. NIGGEMAN of Kentfield, president of Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies, has been elected treasurer of the California Chamber of Commerce. He is chairman of the chamber's statewide insurance committee and is also president of the Greater San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and is active in several insurance associations.

MEANWHILE, another Fireman's Fund officer and Kentfield resident, executive vice president Stuart D. Menist, has been in Chicago speaking his mind on risk control before the annual insurance conference of the American Management Association and in Los Angeles talking to the Chartered Property and Casualty Underwriters.

He told the first group that the "no-fault" concept being tried in automobile insurance may also be extended into personal and commercial insurance lines in coming years. To the second group he recommended a new attitude of closer relations with government individuals by the insurance industry.

REAL ESTATE: Nicholas Ortner of San Rafael has joined Don Timmer, Realtor. He has been in real estate since 1960, including seven years with Nipper and Marchant . . . Henry C. Jacobson of San Rafael has joined the staff at Nipper and Marchant, Realtors. He has been a broker for several years in Marin, recently associated with John C. Reynolds.

Dividend Declared

LOS ANGELES (BW) — Unionamerica Inc. has declared a regular quarterly cash dividend of 20 cents per share for the quarter ended Dec. 31, payable Jan. 3 to shareholders of record Dec. 1.

Market On Quiet Side

NEW YORK (UPI) —Stocks trended easier in quiet trading through the first two hours today.

Traders and investors generally appeared to be "playing a waiting game" prior to Treasury Secretary John Connally's speech tonight, which has been billed as a major economic address.

On the Big Board, stocks on the most active list generally surrendered fractions. American Telephone and Ford lost 1-4 each, and Penn Central gave up 1-8.

Steels and chemicals were fractionally mixed, as were rails and airlines.

You'll be hard put to find a Christmas gift like Forecast molded luggage at prices like Sears. Forecast has a molded Titanite shell that's so tough it won't peel or chip. Non-tarnish chrome-plated lift-locks; interlocking aluminum frame that keeps out dirt and dust. Washable, too, inside and out. Nifty colors that stay nifty because they are impregnated throughout the entire case. Give Forecast . . . it's the hard-to-beat luggage.
